dence that the items had previously been loaded inside the vehicle since stray ammunition and cartridge primers were found inside.

While Dean was speaking with the subjects and checking them for outstanding warrants, Dooley fled the scene on foot. Dean and Peters searched the surrounding area for several minutes and were unable to locate Dooley.

Peters then took Sheldrick into custody and transported her to the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Office in Mt. Vernon for further questioning. While assisting Sheldrick from his vehicle in the parking lot, she fled on foot, still handcuffed. Peters pursued Sheldrick and saw her enter a residence on Floyd Street near the sheriff's office. Peters arrested her at the residence.

After being transported back to the sheriff's office and being Mirandized, Sheldrick told officers that she and Dooley were out driving around when he told her to pull off at the church into the field to help him load the stolen ammunition into the vehicle.

The recovered ammunition and reloading equipment was later identified by Donald Adams as the same items that were stolen from his residence last Tuesday. Police recovered approximately seventy-five percent of the items and approximately twenty-five percent of the loot is still reported as missing.

Police are asking local pawn shops, sporting goods stores and gun shops to notify them if anyone tries to sell a large amount of ammunition, primers or reload casings.

Sheldrick was charged with escape, fleeing or evading police and receiving stolen property $10,000 or more. She remains lodged in the Rockcastle County Detention Center on a $10,000 cash/property bond.

Police are also asking for anyone who has information on Dooley's whereabouts to contact Rockcastle 911 or the Rockcastle County Sheriff's Department at 606-256-2043. Dooley is described as 5'6", approximately 160 pounds with brown hair and blue eyes.

the Lord Jesus Christ as their savior,” Todd said. “I feel it's my job as a recovered addict and Christian to help someone find a relationship with Jesus and find a local church to attend. There will be many struggles to overcome but I want them to realize they can overcome them and that there is hope.”

Yates went on to say that Todd's story is a prime example of the hope and success they want to show people who are currently struggling with an addiction.

“We know that individuals and families struggling with addiction are experiencing a lot of pain and believe they have nowhere to turn for help,” Yates said. “But once you make a decision that you want to turn away from the destructive path of drugs and begin your recovery journey, we want people to know it's possible to find hope and rebuild your life just like the people displayed on the Hope Wall.”
