Work release supervisor back to work

By: Mike French Editor

Perry Wade Mason, 48, of Mount Vernon, is back to work for the Rockcastle County Road Department.

Mason had been arrested and accused of assisting in the escape of a Rockcastle County Detention Center inmate, who escaped while Mason was serving as the work crew supervisor.

According to reports, police became suspicious after several interviews with other inmates as well as Mason and then began an investigation which culminated in the road department employee's arrest.

Mason bonded out of jail but hand to wear an ankle monitor as part of the conditions of his release.

However, in court Monday, Mason's ankle monitor was removed and a judge asked the county attorney's office to provide discovery in September.

Jeremy Rowe, Rockcastle County Attorney, said he will present evidence against Mason in September and then make a decision about how to move forward.

"When we have all the discovery and present it to the judge, we will decide if we need to go to trial or work out some other resolution at that time," Rowe said.

Rockcastle County Judge/Executive Howell Holbrook said he expects Mason to return to work immediately.

"It's my belief that everyone is innocent until they are proven guilty," said Holbrook. "He will be back with the road department and cutting grass along the

Computer hacker rumor has been greatly exaggerated

By: Mike French Editor

After a newspaper ran the obituary of Mark Twain, he was quoted as saying "Reports of my death have been greatly exaggerated." A similar report can be made this week about a recent non-event at Rockcastle Regional Hospital.

Rumors ran rampant this hospital's computer system had been hacked and that the hackers were holding the system hostage in exchange for millions of bitcoin.

However, Jana Bray, Community Relations Director at the hospital, says "There has been no such breach."

Bray had apparently heard the rumors as well and wanted to assure the community that "the hospital is fine, we are seeing patients as always and there is nothing newsworthy here."

According to Maleigha Amyx, Information Technology Director, the hospital experienced software issues which forced them to reinstall many applications. "The issue has not caused any disruption to our patient care and absolutely no information has been breached," she said. "We have continued to serve patients throughout this time and all operations have remained business as usual." Stephen A. Estes, president and CEO of the hospital said he too was aware of the misinformation that had been spread. "We understand there has been some misinformation shared about the computer difficulties our organization has recently experienced," he said. "We are sorry for any inconvenience this inaccurate information has caused. It is

Farmers Market building moving ahead

By: Mike French Editor

Rockcastle County Board of Charges against

Lovell dismissed

By: Mike French Editor

The case against Andrew Lovell, 41, of Mount Vernon has been dismissed at the request of the commonwealth attorney's office, according to the Rockcastle County Clerk's Office.

Lovell was accused of endangerment of a minor child in January when reports say a minor child called police stating Lovell had left the child alone and was intoxicated.

Rockcastle County Deputy Sheriff Kirk Mays arrested Lovell and transported him to the Rockcastle County Detention Center where his bond was set at $10,000.

However, according to the circuit clerk's office, the commonwealth attorney's office recommended that all charges be dismissed against Lovell at a pretrial conference on July 24th.

Education building.

According to Bray, the city, the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority (RCIDA), the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court and the Extension Office met recently to discuss plans for the new structure.

RCIDA has already approved for a $100,000 grant for the new building and the entities have also applied for an additional $175,000 grant for the project that is expected to cost about $350,000.

The structure will be a permanent building with five garage doors and an HVAC system and will also be available for public use which officials hope will include many different types of functions. Bray said with all doors open, the structure can be used as an open air structure but then when closed, it will be a fully heated and cooled enclosed building for multiple uses.

Bray said RCIDA will be in charge of administering the project as well as the building, once it is com-

Heather J. Embry, 30, of Stanford pled guilty and was sentenced to eight years in prison for the offense of firstdegree trafficking in a controlled substance.

ramblings...

OBV by: perlina m. anderkin and this past Monday, the Anderkins - me, four of the daughters, on last Thursday and three on the following Monday, and the Coguer grandchildren - accomplished the feat of freezing forty dozen ears of corn.

The corn was excellent and our number of messes was amazing.

We all love creamed corn and the time spent, about 12 hours total, was certainly worth it, especially with the labor shared. Okay, at one point, daughters Jamie and Paige fussed at me because while scraping my cob I was throwing a few kernels on them but, in my defense, we were standing very close.

Anyway, we are all pretty well set for this winter as far as the frozen corn is concerned.

We managed all that during a traumatic time of having youngest daughter, Allison's five-year-old in UK Children's Hospital for a couple of days.

She has been dealing with rashes, a slight on again, off again fever and joint aches for some time and her local doctor finally threw in the towel and told Allison to take her to UK last Friday.

After numerous tests, several illnesses, including cancer, lukemia, malignancies, seventeen different viruses were all ruled out but it is still up in the air as to what is causing the rashes, fevers, joint pain, etc.

There were still a couple of test results outstanding when they left UK Saturday afternoon so, hopefully, those results may shed more light on her problem.

Allison's husband, Daniel, got his first taste of how freaked out we all get when someone in the family is in the hospital as Jamie, Jane, Paige, Sara, Travis, granddaughter Kayla and I all descended on UK and left him and Allison with absolutely no peace and quiet, which in my opinion is highly over-

Besides, I have always appreciated the fact that if you need an instant crowd for anything we are there and that's actually been a perk, many times, of being part of a large family.

I have watched with

Between last Thursday Some amusement Democrats and the main stream media's reaction to President Trump's criticism of Rep. Elijah Cummings' representation of Baltimore. Pointing out, quite rightly, that it is rat infested and has one of the highest murder rates in the country, not to mention the horrible poverty rate.

What was so amusing was that popular Democrat presidential candidate Bernie Sanders had said the same thing just a few years back, even comparing it to a third world country and saying residents have a lower life expectancy than people in North Korea. Plus, there were several documentaries aired about the deplorable conditions in Baltimore that were also very derogatory to the city.

Of course, the Democrats first reaction was to label President Trump racist once again. They do not understand, or pretend not to, that his comments had nothing to do with Rep. Cummings' race -- it had to do with Cummings attacking the government

Aces Over

By: Mike French

There are a lot of things I did as a child that just wouldn't be okay anymore.

Of course, as I have said before, riding in the back of a pick-up truck was just standard, everyday behavior. Everyone did it. Even the grown ups.

I used to drive, on the road, when I was 12 years old. But, everyone did it back then. By the time I was 16 and tried out for my license, I had been driving four years. A lot of things were different then.

I would get on my bicycle and take off. I wouldn't check in or show back up at the house until dark. That was my curfew.

Everyone in the neighborhood took care of the kids that were running around and if we got hungry, we just went up to someone's door and knocked and said, "what do you have to eat?"

I used to sit in Delores Flannery's kitchen and eat breakfast before school. But on many occasions, some neighborhood kids would be at our house eating cereal before school.

I know it sounds cliche, but I walked to school as a young lad. Up the road and onto the main highway (US25) and to Athens Elementary School.

Back then, famous people didn't really have the gated mansions and security either.

After a particularly good UK game one night, I looked in the old phone book for Head Coach Adolph Rupp's phone number. There it was.

I called him. He answered. "This is Adolph," he said. "I just wanted to tell you that you did a good job today and I love the Cats." I said. He answered something to the affect "Why thank you young man."

I once tried to call President Nixon. He didn't answer but I got hold of some nice lady who said she would give him a message. Apparently, she did just that because very soon the draft ended and I was certain it

"Vicariously" is the experience of watching or reading about someone else do something and pretending, or feeling like, you are doing it yourself. A lady reader recently emailed to tell me that I rarely wrote a column that didn't have at least a couple of words that she had to go look up. She was not impressed with my vocabulary and, essentially, told me to "keep it simple, stupid".

Since I can't seem to think of any other way of saying that I garden, "vicariously", through my younger brother, Andy, I thought I'd just go ahead and save her a trip to the dictionary.

Gardening, through Andy, has been a transition that evolved over the last four years. In 2016, once he had the garden tilled up with the Troybilt Horse, I could get everything seeded or transplanted and, essentially, take care of it with a little tiller and a rake or hoe. Throughout 2017 I could still do well over half the gardening under my own head of steam. By 2018 I could still fire up the little tiller and handle a lot of the cultivation and harvesting. I saved seeds galore, dried shuckey beans and even helped Loretta get vegetables ready for canning and freezing.

Earlier this year, in March and April, I even planted some peas, beans and lettuce without much assistance, but, by mid-May, I found out that I couldn't even fire up the little tiller, much less run it. A third stroke, that seemed very mild at the time, has turned out to be having far more neurological issues than anticipated. Either that, or Mr. Parkinson has decided to put his pedal to the metal. Suffice to say that the medical profession isn't of much assistance to me these days.

In the meantime, I have a fall garden planted while the spring garden is still yielding way more sweet corn, peppers, onions, Yukon Gold potatoes and 6 varieties of heirloom tomatoes than we can take care of. A short row of lazy wife beans are just now bloom-

I found the seeds, last Wednesday, while Andy tilled up and planted forty row-feet of red-eye and black satin fall beans, thirty feet of Oregon Sugar Pod snow peas, sixty feet of Bodacious sweet corn, a hoop of English cucumbers, from last year's seeds and a short row of butter crunch lettuce. He also scattered a heaping hand full of turnip seeds around but we won't know how large the patch is until they start sprouting. We hope to have planted some summer squash, radishes, spinach, mustard and green onion sets by the time you are reading this column.

Andy also stretched electric fence around the beans

T.J.'s Journal By: Tonya J. Cook

Quite often over the years I've written about Terry, our eastern box turtle. He showed up in our flower bed about five years ago as best as I can remember. He started coming around about every day, so I began to feed him. I'd leave out tomatoes, various melons, peaches, cucumbers, strawberries, etc.

It was the spring/summer leading to my brain tumor surgery in the fall. He liked the food we left out for him and we liked his company. I sat on the porch quite a bit around that time since it was one of the few things I could do. The next spring I was given the diagnosis of cervical-uterine cancer with chemo and radiation to follow. I drove myself to the doctors, chemo and radiation appointments as long as I could. One of the last times I drove I was walking across the porch and looked over and saw Terry waving and smiling at me. I know you don't believe it and it does sound impossible, but he did. He even opens his mouth and it looks like he is saying, "Hi". Terry has been my special little friend for several years now. He put a smile on my face when I had little to smile

Cooked Cabbage When my mother (Bee) and I moved in with my grandparents, Mommie Katie had a wooden cook stove in her kitchen. It was near her electric range. She used both when she was concocting a meal for all of us. One of the dishes I remember her preparing on that wood stove was her wonderful, silky sweet cab-I believe that my grandfather (Pop) grew the best tasting cabbage I have ever sampled. He knew just when to harvest the green, round heads to make slaw, sauerkraut, and my favorite, Mommie's cooked cabbage. She always boiled her cabbage because it created slightly firm leaves that were tender, full of flavor, and even the juice tasted so

This is my recollection of how she made boiled cabbage: She began by selecting a medium-sized head, which she cut into quarters and then sliced the sections into one-inch strips. She covered these strips with water and either small bits of cooked bacon or about a half cup of bacon drippings, which she always kept in a coffee can on her stove. The mixture was slightly salted, and about five minutes before the dish was fully cooked, she added a tablespoon of ways look forward to his arrival every year with great anticipation. Around late March we begin to look every day and then, one day, there he is. I often say that I've reached the age when it doesn't take much to excite me...just the appearance of a little turtle.

Poor, little old Terry. As far as I know, he is the only turtle around our house. They never travel but about a mile or less from where they were born their entire life. Terry must have been lonely for many years. Fortunately, those days may be gone. Last week, Stanley saw two turtles in the flower bed and the new turtle was a female. Of course we put food out for her and named her Tilly.

Hopefully, Terry's lonely days are gone and he will not have to hibernate alone this winter. By next spring, we may have a flower bed full of little turtles.

over the facilities at our southern borders for housing illegal immigrants. The President doesn't let anyone attack him without hitting back. It wouldn't have mattered if Cummings had been whiter than snow, Trump's reaction would have been the same.

I do not understand how the Democrats can accuse President Trump of dividing our country and causing violence and hate when it was Trump-hater Kathy Griffin who held up a likeness of the President's severed bloody head on TV and Rep. Maxine Waters (D) who urged her constituents to "get in the face of Republican leaders" and caused several Republican congressmen to be accosted in public. They also refuse to condemn the Antifa group who run around in masks *brandishing weapons and physically attacking conser-

The beans aren't up yet but that has not stopped at least 4 rabbits from attempting to check their progress. If you want to see how high a rabbit can jump and how fast it can run, just watch it touch its ear to an electric fence. I've seen the results 4 times last weekend

Call me sadistic, if you must, but there a very few things with more entertainment value than a just juiced rabbit wishing it had stayed out of our bean patch. As far as I'm concerned, the electric fence is more far humane than a shotgun. Somebody told me that rabbits have to eat too. My reply was "so do buzzards and coyotes and more than one rabbit has been on their menus as a result of trying to destroy my garden."

In the meantime, as long time readers of this column already know, I believe that most vegetables grow better and faster and taste much better when they ripen in late September and early October than they do in July.

was because I had called and asked him to do that. At least I told his secretary he should do that.

The phone of course was a rotary dial phone and I had to wait till the neighbors were through talking before I could call my old buddy Richard.

I used to take my .410 shotgun and head out looking for things to shoot. I've had a gun close by since I was about 10 years old. We had a bunch of tiny birds that my dad called Martins that damaged our garden every year and had attacked me and mom. So I had standing permission to shoot any Martin that I saw. It was good practice since they are fast little rascals. And now one of my few talents is shooting clay pigeons.

Smoking used to be just accepted. Back when I started smoking, doctors and lawvers and movie stars spent every day on tv telling me how good it was for me and how I simply could never grow up to be a real man unless I smoked.

Every seat in airplanes, buses, courthouses and movie theaters had ash trays. It was perfectly acceptable and greatly encouraged. Of course, by the time they had me completely. hopelessly addicted, it was suddenly a terrible thing and I am considered an outcast standing in the cold rain outside motels at night. Fig-

If it were any other handicap besides a smoking addiction, the government would step in and force motels to provide a warm, dry space for me. But we evil smokers are forced to gather outside by the dozens huddled up like lepers.

We were also punished when we did bad things as a youngster. One thing that is very different today than it was then was that if my father said he would spank me if I did something again, he didn't just turn away and laugh about how cute it was when I did it again.

My dad never once lied to me about what he was going to do if I broke a rule a second time.

Back then we also believed in helping those in need. But never those who refused to try to help them-

We believed every American had the right to have whatever weapon he wanted and as many of them as he wanted. But that was back when people believed in the United States Constitution.

We believed God was a part of our system of life. Our laws and our traditions were based on God's laws. Life was sacred no matter how old a person was. But that was back when people believed in the Bible.

We rewarded good behavior and didn't give the same award to someone who didn't work hard as we gave to the one who worked hardest and actually won the roadsides of our county." One condition of Mason's release is that he may not have contact with any detention center inmates until after the September court date.

Mason had been accused of assisting in the escape of Joseph D. Morris on June 28. According to Nathan Carter, Rockcastle County Jailer, Mason had been trained for that position.

"No one may serve as a work release supervisor until they have completed the Department Of Corrections Training program and Mr. Mason had completed that training," said Carter.

The Work Release Supervisor is hired by the fiscal court, according to Carter. "The county hires the person and then sends them to the jail and I set up their training," said Carter. "that's really all the jail has to do with it."

Rowe says once the discovery date is closer, he will have a better idea about how to proceed with the case. In the meantime, Mason is free and back to work as a Rockcastle County employee.

Police force. The new K-9 is expected to help Sergeant Adam Stallsworth in several types of police investigations.

Mayor Mike Bryant reminded those present that this is the time of year that the City of Mount Vernon has fought the bad taste and odor in the water system and so far the changes to the system seem to be working.

"We are approaching this time of the year with cautious optimism," he said. The city has worked on the issue for several years but last year added a new filtration system and is still working on upgrades and improvements that should eliminate the problem.

According to officials, even if the recent improvements stopped the bad taste and odor, more improvements and additions to the water system are planned just to ensure that it doesn't happen again. "Our citizens deserve good, fresh drinking water and we will not stop until that is what they get," said Bryant."

The city also accepted and approved the only blacktopping bid received for the city which was from ATS Construction.

The new bid lists asphalt base at $59 per ton, Asphalt surface at $62 per ton and hauling, placing tackcoat and asphalt city street at $19 per ton.

Members of the council heard the monthly police report which showed 364 calls for service in June. "Calls are down considerably this month," said Chief Brian Carter. "We aren't certain why just yet but it is definitely a good thing."

The reports shows 43 arrests and 23 traffic violations with 30 warrants served and five grand jury indictments.

David Bales, Mount Vernon Fire Chief, reported 33 runs in June but said his department used no water at Fourteen of the calls involved vehicle accidents and nine calls concerned a fire alarm.

Wayne Bullock, Coordinator of the All-American Club reported picking up 16 bags of trash in Mount Vernon in July. Twelve of those were from the Mount Vernon Elementary School grounds.

New plan passed to provide pension relief

By Jared Carpenter State Senator

The anticipated special session to tackle public pensions has come to a close, and the General Assembly has passed a new plan to provide relief for over 100 quasi-governmental agencies-includlocal health departments, regional universities, domestic violence shelters, mental health providers, and others.

Everyone can agree that Kentucky has a real pension problem. Prior to this fiveday session, quasi-governmental agencies allowed into the Kentucky Employees Retirement System (KERS), were facing dramatically high costs due to the lack of funding.

These agencies provide critical services to citizens across our commonwealth. While inaction is never an option, the legislature went to work to construct a plan that will help place these public employees on the path to fiscal soundness.

The new plan, officially passed as House Bill 1, is a legislative attempt to get a handle on the statewide pension crisis. HB 1 provides relief and flexibility to those quasi-governmental agencies by allowing time to decide which retirement option best meets the needs of its organization. Starting April 1, 2020, each agency will opt in to one of the five alternatives:

- Stay in the KERS plan • Provide a lump sum payment
- Pay with installments • Keep Tier 1 and Tier 2
- employees in the system

• Fully exit with all accrued benefits guaranteed

Final selection is not required by each entity until April 30, 2020, which allows the legislature time to make any necessary changes during the 2020 Regular Session.

To clarify, this legislation protects the KERS nonhazardous plan and does not further contribute to the

Climax Volunteer Fire Department acquires all terrain vehicle

After a year of hard work by the firefighters helping home owners clean out gutters and flammable debris around their homes, plus many fund raisers and a $2,200 donation from the Tri-County Cycle Sales in Corbin, the Climax Fire Department now has a multipurpose all terrain vehicle. A grant from Firewise/USDA Forest Service will be used to buy a 60 gallon (removable skid unit) engine powered water/foam sprayer that fits in the bed of this Honda 700 Pioneer. In addition to fighting fires this 4 passenger ATV will serve as a search and rescue vehicle for areas only accessible by this type of equipment. Pictured from left are: Ken Holt - C.V.F.D. Drug Awareness Resistance Education (D.A.R.E.) is a national program that "dares students" to stay clean and away from illegal drugs. The program was founded in 1983 and is now used in all 50 states and 50 other countries.

And now, the Mount Vernon Police Department is about to get involved, as well.

Assistance Police Chief Joe Rush is headed to the training program in September and plans to join thousands of other police departments in finding even more ways to keep local youth off of illegal drugs.

Chief Brian Carter is also planning to attend the training as a back-up for Rush. "It can be a hectic schedule to keep and if something should happen

Nominations Open for the 2019 County Committee Elections

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) encourages all farmers, ranchers, and FSA program participants to take part in the local County Committee election nomination process.

FSA's county committees are a critical component of the day-to-day operations of FSA and allow grassroots input and local administration of federal farm programs.

Committees are comprised of locally elected agricultural producers responsible for the fair and equitable administration of FSA farm programs in their counties. Committee members are accountable to the Secretary of Agriculture. If elected, members become part of a local decision making and farm program delivery pro-

A county committee is composed of three to 11 elected members from local administrative areas (LAA). Each member serves a threeyear term. One-third of the seats on these committees are open for election each year.

County committees may have an appointed advisor to further represent the local interests of underserved farmers and ranchers. Underserved producers are beginning, women and other minority farmers and ranchers and landowners and/or operators who have limited resources.

All nomination forms for the 2019 election must be postmarked or received in the local USDA service center by Aug. 1, 2019. For more information on FSA county committee elections and appointments, refer to the FSA fact sheet: Eligibility to Vote and Hold Office as a COC Member available online at: fsa.usda.gov/elections.

KRISTIE'S CABBAGE SALSA Jeff (Kristie's husband) and I worked at Atlantic Credit

Union in Malvern, PA. Head of cabbage, shredded 1 or 2 cloves of garlic, finely minced

1 jalapeno finely, chopped Juice of 1 or 2 limes 1 red onion finely, chopped 5 to 7 plum tomatoes, seeded and chopped Cilantro to taste

Mix everything together. Add salt to taste. Add the chopped jalapeno to taste. FRESH TOMATO SALSA I sweet onion, chopped Juice of 1 lemon

1 small can black olives, sliced, optional 1 clove garlic, minced

Cilantro - if desired

1 jalapeño, minced 2 large tomatoes or 1 pint cherry tomatoes, chopped

Mix all together. I sometimes use a banana pepper because jalapeños are too hot for me. I have also added chopped cucumber and green pepper. As usual, home grown tomatoes are the best for this. In the winter, I use the cherry or grape tomato as they have the better flavor. For the guacamole and fresh tomato salsa, I use mild fresh or pickled banana peppers instead of the jalapeño if I am just making it for me and Will. The jalapeños are just too hot for me.

GUACAMOLE 2 Haas avocados Juice of one lemon

1/4 cup finely chopped onion Garlic, minced

Jalapeño chopped, optional Cut ripe avocado in halve and remove seed. With dull side of knife, cut crisscrosses in the avocado meat. Usually the meat will come out with a slight squeeze on the peel. Using a fork, mash the avocado to desired consistency. I like a few lumps in mine. Add the juice of one lemon and stir-this keeps the guacamole from turning brown as well as adding a fresh flavor. Add salt, onion, and garlic and jalapeño, if desired. Mix well and serve with tortilla chips.

NOTE: If you like tomato in your guacamole, just add a tablespoon or two of the fresh tomato salsa.

Hindered Prayers

In Proverbs 1:24-33 Because I have called, and you refused. I stretched forth my hand and no one regarded. Because you disdained all my counsel and would have none of my rebuke. I also will laugh at your calamity. I will mock when your terror comes. When your terror comes like a storm, and your destruction comes like a whirlwind, when distress and anguish come upon you. Then they will call upon me, but I will not answer, they will seek me diligently, but they will not find me. Because they hated knowledge and did not choose to fear the Lord, they would have none of my counsel and despised my every rebuke. Therefore, they shall eat the fruit of their own way, and be filled to the full with their own fancies. We can see here why most people never have their prayers heard by God. It is God who has called, but most people never come. It is God who stretches out his hand, but most pay no attention. It is God who has poured out his heart, and made known his thoughts, given his counsel and rebuke. Still, it seems the majority live out their lives feeling they have no need of God's direction or counsel and fall into many foolish and disastrous calamities. Yet many still ask the question, why doesn't God answer my prayers? The reason is simple. There are obviously some things that can hinder our prayers. The first thing we need to realize is that these hindrances have been caused by man and not by God. Proverbs 1:29-31 Because they hated knowledge and did not choose the fear of the Lord, they would have none of my counsel and despised my every rebuke. Therefore they shall eat the fruit of their own way, and be filled to the full with their own fancies:

First of all, prayer is a privilege for those who are in fellowship with God. God hears those whose lives are marked by such traits as obedience to God's word and submit to God's will. Those who choose to disobey the word of the Lord and reject God's will, by living a life as a habitual sinner, prevent God from hearing and answering our prayers. Proverbs 15:26 The Lord is far from the wicked, but He hears the prayers of the righteous. The way we ask can also hinder our prayers, James 4:2-3 You ask and do not receive, because you ask amiss, that you may spend it up on your pleasures. James says the most common problem that Christians have when it comes to prayer is failure to ask. That we don't talk to God, we fail to recognize that God is almighty the first and the last the, Alpha and the Omega. The next point is when we do ask, we ask amiss, because we ask to spend it own our pleasures. When you pray to God is it to just satisfy your pleasures and desires. Our prayers can and should be powerful and great, when we put God's will first. 1 John 3:22

And whatsoever we ask we receive from Him, because we keep his commandments and do those things that are pleasing in sight. If you want God to hear your prayers change your life, be born again of the water and the spirit, as the word of God teaches in

John 3:5. Humble yourself before the Lord and he will lift you up. Thank you so much for reading this article, I hope you enjoyed it and pray, that you are well and counting your blessings everyday because we have so much to be thankful for.
