

I-75 closed for 4 hours Saturday

Firefighters - "It wasn't our call"

Smoke was seen for over a mile when a tractor trailer fire caused the closure of I-75 Saturday for four hours.

There may have never been a more fitting phrase concerning I-75 in Rockcastle County than "when it rains, it pours!" Reports indicate a four-hour closure on I-75 in Rockcastle County Saturday, caused traffic jams in most cities from Berea to Corbin, with about 30 miles of backed up traffic and countless clogged exit ramps as motorists grew angry at the closure.

Once again this weekend, just after rain started falling in the area, the Mount Vernon Fire Department, assisted by the Brodhead, Livingston and Brindle Ridge fire departments, responded to 15 vehicle accidents in two days. But the massive traffic jam, causing social media tirades and angry motorists for countless miles, came when a truck pulling a trailer filled with PVC piping, caught fire due to faulty brakes Saturday.

Officials from the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet (KYTC) made the call to keep two northbound lanes of I-75 closed due to road damage, after the intense fire, but first responders received the brunt of the ire from motorists upset over the excessively long closure. Social media posts, as well as angry motorists on the highway, expressed outrage over the four-hour road closure stating concerns over motorists on their way to the hospital, pregnant motorists, no restrooms

Intense shooter training held at Brodhead school

By: Mike French
Editor

It is a very unpleasant subject but officials at the Rockcastle County Schools are facing it head on. "We have done extensive training for all our staff to avoid any potential dangers such as an active shooter or hostage situations," said Director of Student Services Marcus Reppert. "We have gone through a lot of exercises and installed safety measures throughout the district to keep our students and our staff as safe as possible."

However, no plan is perfect. With that in mind, the local school system spent part of this week involved in "active shooter training."

Attorney General pays surprise visit

By: Mike French

Candidate for Governor in the 2023 general election, Attorney General Daniel Cameron, made a surprise visit to Rockcastle County last week.

On his way to Corbin for a different event, Cameron found himself ahead of schedule and made an unscheduled stop at the Rockcastle County Courthouse Thursday afternoon. "He just called and said he was on his way," said Judge/Executive Howell Holbrook.

The 51st Attorney General of Kentucky, Cameron won 113 of 120 counties during his election for the office.

With such short notice, only about 12 people attended the local event where the Attorney General spoke about his views, including his fight to defend law and order in Kentucky and his efforts

A giving heart Rockcastle County volunteers playing big part in Eastern Kentucky rescues

By: Mike French

"I know people talk about the world heading in the wrong direction and about all the bad things going on. But when there are those in need, people still step up to help. And nowhere anymore than in Rockcastle County." These were the proud words of the county's highest elected official, Judge/Executive Howell Holbrook, Jr. "It is a good feeling to see the countless number of people who have stepped up to help those in need in Eastern Kentucky. And you know what? Not one of them that I know of were asked. They just did it."

Fire Department volunteers, churches, individuals, groups, clubs and businesses in Rockcastle County have made many trips to Eastern Kentucky after the massive flooding event two weeks ago that caused 37 deaths and over 16,000 residents to be homeless. Stories about the devastation have circulated across the nation but, though the national news media has generally stopped or slowed down on reporting on the destruction in the area, Rockcastle County residents are still heavily involved in rescue efforts and humanitarian relief every day. "It is wonderful to see how many people are willing to jump into the efforts to help those who are suffering," said Holbrook. "We have teams still making trips to Eastern Kentucky every day."

Members of the Mount Vernon Fire Department, who have made several trips already, is taking do-

As I reflect on the 19 months that the present administration has been in office (illegally in my opinion) I have been trying to think of ONE THING they have done to benefit the average American -- it has been a classic example of an exercise in futility.

But, not only have they not done ONE THING for the betterment of the average American, except to cause the highest inflation in 50 years, they have now definitely crossed the Rubicon because of their hatred for former President Donald Trump.

Monday night, 30 FBI agents staged a raid at the former President's home Mar-A-Lago in Palm Beach, Florida.

The raid was reportedly tied to classified material the President took with him when he left the Whitehouse in January of 2021. Agents also broke into the President's safe but there was nothing inside, according to the President's son, Eric. The former President was in New York at the time of the raid.

According to a reporter on Fox News Monday night, the material in question was boxed up by the General Services Administration and transported to Mar-A-Lago where they were kept in a locked room.

Agents reportedly swept up whatever they wanted and took them from the home for later review.

This is the first time in the history of this country that anything like this has been done to a former President.

The FBI was not so swift to investigate the 33,000 e-mails that Hillary Clinton wiped from her computers and no investigation was ever made into her use of a private server while she served as secretary of state under Obama.

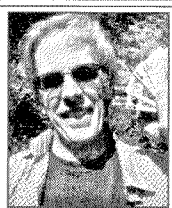

It seems that as much that has been thrown against the wall hoping something would stick, in the Democrats' efforts to stop a 2024 Presidential run by the former President, from the millions of dollars for the Muller investigation to the efforts of the New York District Attorney to come up with something to indict Trump for, there has never been anything criminal found. Rep. Adam Schiff (D) said time and again, during the two years of the Russian hoax, that he had personal proof of President Trump's involvement with Russia that helped him win the 2016 election, yet, when everything else failed, he never produced this "proof" and nothing was ever said about it again.

The raid is reportedly just another effort to keep the former president from launching a campaign for the office in 2024. Evidently the Democrats are really worried that he would

Aces Over

As several of us played in the yard or climbed the trees in the neighborhood, we were being watched.

Some of our parents were working or gone somewhere but people in those days watched out for each other's kids. It didn't matter whose house we went to, the adults in that house made sure we were fed and found our way home at night.

I have talked before about "old Tom," a neighbor that sat on his porch most everyday watching out for us kids. But he wasn't alone. As long as an adult was at home anywhere, they would look out their window occasionally and make sure the kids in the neighborhood were safe.

I was one of those with working parents and I just hung out most days with the kids in my neighborhood till mom and dad got home from work. If I got hungry, I would just go home with old Ricky Flannery at about noon and his mom would make sure I had a place at the table. When my mom was home, she did the same for him.

But it is difficult to explain how all us kids would act when we first heard the jingle. It was always in the distance and it took us a minute to figure out what that noise was.

Soon, the jingle would get just a little louder. "Oh yes! It is coming this way!" We would look at each other and then run to the nearest adult. "Can I have a nickel please?"

Whatever unfortunate parent was home that day had to reach in their pocket and pull out a hand full of change. If it was Old Tom or my friend's parents, they usually had a tiny little rubber change purse in their pocket, shaped like a very small football. You squeezed the side of it and the opening in the center would get wider and display all the change inside. They would stand there handing out nickels to each of us one at a time.

By that time the jingle was louder and we were having to hurry before we missed it. Still, we were taught common courtesy. We didn't grab our nickel and run. We always waited until the last one of us kids got their nickel before we ran off. If we all didn't have a nickel, none of us would go.

By the time we got outside the jingle was very loud and we could see lights flashing as we sang along with the familiar tune.

Just about the time we got to the road, there it came. Bright colors shining through the fence

More Like Pop (Vol 2)

Last week I wrote about being a "senior citizen" and becoming like my grandfather (Pop). As I look back on Pop's life, I am amazed how much we became alike in our advanced ages.

When I was a little boy, following Pop around our small, hilltop farm, I realized how much he taught me. Pop loved to burn wooded trash as he cleaned our yard and garden. He taught me how to prepare the sticks and kindling so the fire would burn completely and not have to be re-started. He would say, "The fire must have air to burn." He would show me how to stack the wood so it would breathe.

My wife and I spent a lot of time camping when we were younger, and she was always impressed with my fire-making skills. On more than one occasion, our fires would still be burning in the morning after we slept all night.

When I was young, I noticed how Pop spent time listening to his wooden, floor-model radio. He would pull his rocking chair up to the radio and place his hands on the top. There he selected the right stations as he listened to his gospel music, comedy shows, and news. He was especially fond of Lowell Thomas.

I too, have had a fond relationship with radios for my entire life. I acquired my first radio when I was about eight-years-old. It was a pocket-sized transistor model that I kept with me constantly. At night, I would select a station (WLS in Chicago) that was playing rock and roll music and put the radio under my pillow.

That was how I went to sleep most nights. My mother (Bee) would sneak into my bedroom and turn off my radio after I went to sleep.

Now that I am in the winter of my years, I

When Will the Rain Stop?

Dear Journal,

This weather reminds me so much of Florida. It is hot and humid with a storm every day at some point. The humidity is the worst. I'm just about ready to give up and want winter. Not really. However, I would like a nice fall with pretty leaves and crisp mornings and nights. I'm ready for some fall food and football, too.

Things could be so much worse. I could be living up in eastern Kentucky and have everything I own washed away in the recent flood. From time to time during the day I think about those people. It is hard to imagine something like that

(Continued from A2) again win election, if their 'steal the election apparatus' fails, and their corrupt regime, which in my humble opinion includes many Republicans also, would be exposed once and for all by his administration. You know, maybe we would even find out how former bartender Alexandira Ocasio Cortez (D-NY), who was elected to the House of Representatives a few years ago, has managed to amass a $29 million fortune in a few short years.

Rep. Thomas Massie (R-KY) had an interesting take on the raid on his Twitter account, "In third world countries, and banana republics, they prosecute the former presidents/leaders and their staff. Right now, we look beneath them. We are in a race to the bottom."

Of course, we haven't heard from our esteemed Representative Harold Rogers on the matter, and don't hold your breath until you do.

But, along the same thoughts as 'what have you done for me lately - Creepy Joe', the Inflation Reduction (Ha! Ha!) Act, was approved in the Senate this weekend in a 51-50 vote - the clincher a tie-breaking vote by VP Kamala Harris.

Democrats claim this over $700 billion spending bill will reduce the national debt by $300B but the Congressional Budget Office disagrees and says the bill, which includes tax hikes for all, will actually fuel inflation and add to the national debt.

One of the main features, includes authorization to add 87,000 IRS agents to conduct more audits.

Native and former Mt.

Vernon resident Dwight Griffin, CPA, posted on Facebook Monday that the bill is "bad for small businesses and will also target those making $200,000 or less." Of course, this breaks a campaign promise of president Biden's which was that no one making less than $400,000 will see a tax increase.

Arizona Democrat Senator Kristen Sinema was the last hold out on the "Climate, Tax and Health Care" package. To win her support, Griffin noted, Democrat leaders agreed to drop a $14 billion tax increase on wealthy hedge fund managers, change the structure on a 15% minimum tax on corporations and include drought money for the benefit of Arizona. Oh, well, Senator Joe Manchin got a gas pipeline for a wealthy donor in his home state of West Virginia so it's just a matter as usual of 'what's your price?'

Griffin's last bit of advice was that, 'as soon as the bill is finalized, you should get with your tax advisor and map out your 2022 tax plan.'

The hiring of more federal employees en masse is a Democrat trait since Obama hired 75,000 new federal employees within days of taking office in his first term. Besides being able to count on their support politically, you will usually get their families and friends also.

I was relieved recently to find out finally that the dreaded "Red Flag Law" will more than likely never effect we Kentuckians. I thought it was a law passed along with the recent gun control law - backed by our own Senator McConnell. But, actually it was a financial incentive nudge for the law to be passed state by state.

The law allows anyone to call law enforcement and tell them they fear for a person's mental health and possible actions and, if they are a gun owner, law enforcement can step in and remove any gun/s from their home with the chance of getting them back, slim at best.

However, I spoke with Rep. Josh Bray Tuesday who assured me that 'as long as Kentucky keeps a Republican-controlled House and Senate, the law will never be passed in our state.'

This was a relief because the law goes completely the opposite of innocent until proven guilty and surely would never stand a constitutional test.

As each day goes by, this country gets harder to recognize. Very few politicians tell the truth anymore. We allow leaders to take office that have no other aim in mind except to destroy our country by destroying the middle class. We have many national, and state, leaders who follow the mantra "laws for thee but not for me." We have Drs. Fauci and Birx who have looked us in the eye and told us that if we take an experimental vaccine we will not get Covid yet all the current cases seem to be people who are vaxed. It's an upside down world and, personally, I am too old and too feeble to physically do anything about it but, something must be done. Hopefully it can be handled at the ballot box, as it should be but...

Aces

(Continued from A2) rows as it moved up the lane with the loud jingle playing over speakers mounted on top.

It was the ice cream truck and on a real hot day, there was nothing better than that first sound of a jingle in a distance.

The poor fellow running the truck was swamped with us neighborhood kids but he would wait on us one at a time and before we knew it, we were all sitting under the huge oak tree, avoiding the hot summer sun, with drips of ice cream on our shirts.

It was the same ice cream man every week, and he always had the same white outfit and the same white hat. It got to the point where he knew us by name and knew our favorite flavor of ice cream.

We would listen for the sound of that jingle every day but dad would only give me 15 cents so I had to pick which three days I could get ice cream. Sometimes on those 'days', without my own nickel, a buddy's mom would toss in the extra nickel so I wouldn't be left out. On days that one of them didn't have a nickel, my mom would toss in the extra funds.

It was a nice small town atmosphere and the ice cream truck is one of the thousand parts of life that I miss from the 60s. They are still around, but a lot more rare these days.

I'd love to see an ice cream truck comeback. But I'd bet my last dollar that the treat would cost more than a nickel today.

In fact if there is ever an ice cream truck comeback, I'd be willing to bet there would soon be an ice cream tax.

T.J.'s

keepsakes, family heirlooms and other things completely gone. All of your records of business transactions, business letters on file, and even money and jewelry around the house are gone and probably will never be found. Some of those families have lost other family members. I have even heard that one family lost all of their children in the raging water. People have lost their poor pets and livestock in the flood. I've thought about the poor animals as much as anything. You know that if they did survive they may never see their homes and owners ever again. I hear that several have been rescued and are in shelters here and there. I sure hope they get reunited with their families.

Stanley and I got a few things at the store that were being collected by the church where we attend. I know these things will come in handy and are essentials right now, but how do you help people recover the things they can't ever recover? There must be so much depression and sadness that will take years if ever to overcome.

I have to wonder why Kentucky has been so hard-hit with such horrible natural disasters in the last few months. It has only been a few months since that big tornado hit western Kentucky and stayed on the ground for one hundred twenty seven miles. It will take a generation or two to get things back in order. Again, some losses cannot be replaced. This makes me wonder what is in store for here in central Kentucky.

I guess we all should be more thankful for what we do have and pray more for the ones who don't have but very little and it is sometimes taken away. I know that eastern Kentucky is one of the poorest areas in the country. But they are a strong and proud people and won't take defeat easily. Be Kentucky strong.

have AM-FM radios all over my home. Presently, I have five radios positioned around my house. At all times, these radios are tuned to the same old-time, rock-and-roll stations and are never turned off. You can move from room to room and never miss a single verse of a song.

Another way Pop and I were alike is with the use of numbers. Pop was a drummer for Louisville Grocery Company and Aubry Feed Mills, which were both located in Louisville. He called on grocery and feed stores over a five-county area. I was always aware of what a whiz he was with numbers, knowing that he only attended school through the eighth grade.

When I left home for UK in May of 1962, my majors were to be in Chemistry and Biology. I quickly determined that I, too, was not bad at math. After receiving my degree, I taught high school chemistry for 38 years. Math skills are necessary for good chemistry teachers.

One final way that Pop and I were alike was in our dedication to the field of education. Pop and I both served as members of the local boards of education.

After I retired from teaching in 2005, many teachers talked me into running for the local school board. I was successful for two terms (8 years) and decided not to run for a third term. I also served as chairman of the board for two years.

I loved my grandfather, and I am proud that we were a lot alike. He went to be with the Lord in 1974. He was 83. I still miss him terribly.

Nell Wanda Craig

Nell Wanda (Parsons) Craig, 87, died Monday, August 1, 2022, at The Terrace Nursing Home in Berea. She was born April 20, 1935, in Mt. Vernon, to the late Monroe (Rodey) Parsons and Jewell (Chasteen) Parsons. She was united in marriage to the late Evans Gatliff Craig on November 21, 1955.

Nell obtained her teaching degree from Eastern Kentucky University and taught for 35 years in various schools in Rockcastle County. Her last teaching years were at Roundstone Elementary School where she taught first grade. One of her greatest delights was catching up with her former students after they were grown.

Nell was a hospitable person who always made sure there was plenty of home cooking or an extra bed for any of the neighbors, friends from church or family from out of town. She worked tirelessly to make sure the kids' friends felt welcome and was always willing to offer sage counsel to any who needed it. She was diligent to model commitment to her family, to God and to her church family at Providence Church of Christ, where she was a member for over 65 years. She was perhaps best known as a mother, grandmother and as a devoted wife of Gatliff for 63 years. She was gentle and patient, always doing her best to spoil those around her by whatever means she had available. She always had time to sit and talk about Bible subjects or principles that would help them live a better life.

Besides her parents, she was preceded in death by her husband, Gatliff. Those left to celebrate her life are: her children, Dana Lynne Sanders (Dave) of Atlanta, GA, and Patrick Evans (Ann) Craig, and Christopher Joseph (Mary Lee) Craig, both of Brodhead; her grandchildren, Anjelica Rae Craig-Johnson (Brad), Mackenzie Lynn Rogers (Dalton), C.J. Stanford, Duncan Reed Stanford, Molly Elizabeth Craig, and Keaton Patrick Craig; three great granddaughters, Ella, Raegan, and Emma; as well as a host of nieces and nephews, friends, and neighbors.

Funeral services were held Saturday, August 6, 2022 at Providence Church of Christ. Interment was at Providence Cemetery.

Casket bearers were: Duncan Stanford, CJ Stanford, Keaton Craig, Brad Johnson, Dalton Rogers, and Corey Craig.

Condolences to the family may be made at www.marvineowensfuneralhome.com.

Estill Wayne Hopkins

Estill Wayne Hopkins, 55, of Brodhead, died Monday, August 1, 2022, at UK Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington. He was born July 1, 1967, in Mt. Vernon, a son of Minnie Mae (Barnes) Hopkins, and the late Robert Estill Hopkins. “Training”

The intense training involves conversations that most never have and training that many never learn. But, according to Reppert, and Superintendent Carrie Ballinger, the local school system will stop at no lengths to keep Rockcastle County students safe.

Kentucky State Police Detective Ryan Loudermilk with the help of KSP trooper Scottie Pennington and others spent time Monday at the Brodhead Elementary School teaching teachers and staff about how to deal with an active shooter.

“We have done preventive training and such situations as this should never come around. But just as an extra precaution, we are taking this extra training to know how to deal with the situation should anyone get inside with a weapon,” said Reppert.

KSP professionals even fired guns inside the school to acclimate teachers and staff to the sound as well as make certain the sound of a shot fired could be recognized, according to Reppert. “It is very intense training,” he said.

Teachers and staff were taught many aspects of emergency situations that could arise including how to deal with injured parties as well as different life saving techniques.

One teacher at the training said she was glad to be a part of the training. “I would rather be trained to deal with such things and not need it, than to need it and be unprepared,” she said.

Kentucky State Police Detective Ryan Loudermilk, and Trooper Scottie Pennington along with several other KSP officials, spent Monday training local teachers and staff at Brodhead Elementary School on Active Shooter Training. The intense training lasted most of the day and shots were fired inside the building to acclimate everyone to the sound of an indoor gunshot. Those present also received emergency medical training and how to deal with a shooting victim.

“It wasn’t the fire department’s call. We didn’t unnecessarily close the interstate,” answered one fire department social media post.

The incident began Saturday when first responders were called to mile marker 72 northbound after a tractor trailer, hauling PVC piping caught fire. Upon arrival, firefighters found a massive fire since PVC piping can be an accelerant. The excessive heat from the fire forced firefighters to approach the fire cautiously, with the use of much more water than normal and some foam used for extinguishment. First responders say trucks were forced to bring extra water down I-75 from Berea by driving south in the northbound lanes.

Eventually, the fire was controlled but the extensive heat from the burning PVC, destroyed parts of the slow lane and severely damaged the center lane, causing officials to be concerned about the safety of motorists. First responders then contacted the KYTC by sending photos of the damage and seeking guidance. Officials with the fire department say they were instructed to keep I-75 closed until engineers from KYTC could arrive, from two counties away, and assess the damage.

Once on the scene, KYTC officials decided to close both lanes until they can be repaved. Firefighters were then asked by KYTC to keep the lanes closed until KYTC workers could place signs, barrels and cones, directing traffic to the only remaining open lane.

Seeing firefighters keeping the lanes closed, sparked rants and tirades on social media blaming fire officials for the “unnecessarily long closures.” However, local firefighters hastened to inform the public that “fire departments do not have the authority or the jurisdiction” to close I-75 for that length of time and they were “simply doing our jobs.”

The Mount Vernon, Brindle Ridge and Brodhead fire departments continued to clean the roadway but since roads were still wet, Livingston was forced to respond to a separate accident on I-75 at the same time.

Members of the Kentucky State Police and the Brindle Ridge Fire Department were forced to close Exit 62 onto the interstate and reroute that traffic in an effort to ease the I-75 backup but this caused US-25 between Mount Vernon and Berea to also backup for many miles.

After the four-hour closure, the fast lane of I-75 northbound was reopened and the other two lanes remained closed until crews could repave the damaged area.

Officials say I-75 was still backed-up over 15 miles Sunday evening.

No injuries were reported in the accident and the truck was not damaged, since the driver detached from the trailer when the fire began, according to reports.

Assisting at the scene was the Mount Vernon, Brindle Ridge and Brodhead Fire Departments, the Kentucky State Police, the KYTC, Kentucky Energy and Environmental Cabinet and Thoroughtrucking Towing Company.

City Commissioners volunteer to work at the gate, and in other areas of the event, while Mayor Walter Cash will continue to handle all the electrical concerns at the fair as he does every year.

The City Commission and the Brodhead Fire Department wish to invited everyone to visit the event.

The commissioners also commended the Brodhead Fire Department for spending seven days in Eastern Kentucky helping with the rescue efforts and clean-up after the massive flooding.

The Brodhead Fire Department’s Swift Water Rescue team has become a premier rescue team in Kentucky and is used for special rescue needs throughout the state.

Having no further business, the meeting was adjourned. The next regular monthly meeting of the Brodhead City Commission is scheduled for Monday, September 12 at City Hall at 7 p.m. and the public is invited to attend.

Livingston

At the Livingston regular monthly City Commission meeting, the agenda called for time for visitors to speak or voice concerns about the city. However, according to City Clerk Amanda Thomas, no resident visitors attended the meeting.

The commissioners did approve a Letter of Intent to hire Shad Allen CPA to conduct the latest city audit.

The City of Livingston has not had an audit since 2009, according to Thomas. However, city officials have spent the past several months, even closing City Hall for two weeks, gathering and preparing financial paperwork that had not been completed in many years.

Now that the city paperwork is “caught up” the latest fiscal year audit can be completed.

Thomas said the audit will cost the city $12,000 but will bring the city into compliance with the Department of Local Government and will meet requirements that places the city in line for potential grant funding.

“We have worked really hard catching the city up on the paperwork that hasn’t been done for many years,” said Thomas. “There are forms and reports and financial statements and budgets that are required by the state for all cities and they have not been done in Livingston since 2009. This administration has spent a lot of time working all day and through the night to get the city in compliance and this audit should have us caught up.”

The audit will deal with all financial reports over the past fiscal year beginning July 1 of 2020 through June 30 of 2021.

One of the biggest benefits to being in compliance with state requirements is having access to available grant money. “We did all the paperwork over the past several months and now this audit should make the city eligible for grant funding,” said Thomas.

Thomas and Mayor Dwane King say they have more than one state grant in their sights once the audit is complete.

“There are grants that we should be eligible for that can make a huge impact in our city, our water and sewer and general operations,” said Thomas. “We will apply for every grant we find that we are eligible for once this audit is complete.”

Having no further business, the commissioners adjourned the meeting. The next regular monthly meeting of the Livingston City Commission is scheduled for Monday, September 12 at 6 p.m. in City Hall. The public is invited to attend.

“Flood”

Livingston Police Chief Mikie Ashurst gathered a truck filled with donations and spent the day last week delivering rakes, brooms, trash bags and countless other items to those in need.

Brodhead Fire Department volunteers are still making trips back and forth, delivering donated items and offering assistance in rescue efforts.

The Climax Fire Department requested the use of a county truck to deliver items but, instead, Holbrook took his personal truck filled with donated items, along with the Cimax volunteers, to Letcher County.

The Pongo Fire Department has also made trips to deliver items and help with rescue efforts.

The Brindle Ridge Fire Department has provided donation information and suggest monetary donations, since items donated can do more harm than good, according to officials at the Brindle Ridge Fire Department.

The American Red Cross agrees saying unsolicited donated items can cause disruption and turn into piled up unused trash, as well as causing volunteers on site to have to be used to manage the unused items. Officials say those resources could have been used for rescue efforts instead of stacking, organizing and storing unsolicited items. Officials say in many natural disasters, resources are taxed in attempts to deal with unsolicited donated items causing more disruption and can slow recovery and rescue times.

Holbrook agreed. “I spent 13 years with the federal government dealing with natural disasters and I can tell you people should not send items unless they have a contact for delivery and a staging area,” said Holbrook. “Unless the effort is organized, you can end up with piles of unused, unneeded items that causes even more disruption.”

Still, with a contact and a well organized plan, Rockcastle Countians are giving every day through requested items or rescue efforts as well as volunteer labor to clean up and rebuild.

Rockcastle Regional Hospital is also helping in several ways, including a partnership with Magic Monograms to sell shirts, sweatshirts and hats to help those in need. All proceeds will be donated to the Appalachian Regional Healthcare (ARH) to directly help. Anyone interested should go to rockcastlecares.itemorder.com/shop/home. Those interested in donating may also go to Teamkyfloodrelieffund.ky.gov.

As usual, there are also those who are attempting to take advantage of the disaster to make money. “There are already scams out there going around,” said Holbrook. “It is a shame but it always happens and people should be alert and never give their personal information over the phone.”

Those wanting to help should contact a local fire department, the local government or the hospital to be certain they are avoiding scams.

“No one that I have met during these efforts is helping for the recognition or to help themselves in any way,” said Holbrook. “I have seen it first hand and we have a lot of good, caring people in our county who have stepped up for no other reason than to help those in need.”

Many other groups, clubs, organizations, churches, businesses and individuals throughout the county are helping with flood relief donations besides those listed here.

Kristen Kirby shakes hands with Attorney General Daniel Cameron at the Rockcastle County courthouse as Amy Mink waits her turn. Cameron stopped by the Rockcastle County Courthouse last week unannounced. The candidate for Governor was on his way to a function in Corbin but found himself early and decided to stop by the Rockcastle County Courthouse last Thursday. Cameron spoke to a small crowd for about 30 minutes and then moved on to his next appointment.

“Visit”

Cameron also mentioned his advocacy for the protection of the unborn and his defense of Kentucky’s Pro-Life laws. Cameron also fought to keep churches open during the pandemic and actively fought the possible vaccine mandates that some attempted to have installed in the state.

Cameron has been a longtime supporter of law enforcement and is endorsed by the Fraternal Order of Police as well as Donald Trump. Cameron has said he believes in placing priorities on victims instead of on criminals.

The candidate stayed only about 30 minutes, before continuing his trip to Corbin. “We were glad to have Daniel Cameron stop by and talk with us,” said Holbrook. “We didn’t have enough notice to let the public know he was coming but he spoke to several people in attendance at the courthouse.”

REFRIGERATOR GREEN TOMATO CHOW-CHOW

1/2 head small cabbage, cored and shredded
4 large hard green tomatoes, chopped
3 green peppers, chopped
3 red or yellow peppers, chopped
2 medium onions, chopped
1/2 cup chiles, diced small, optional
1/3 cup salt
3/4 cup brown sugar
3/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon celery seed
1 tablespoon mustard seed
1 teaspoon turmeric
2 cups apple cider vinegar
1/2 cup distilled white vinegar

Chop all the vegetables. If doing by hand, dice small. A food processor can speed the process but will extract more liquid from the vegetables and make for a runnier relish. Note: the size of the dice will make a finer or chunkier relish. The chopped vegetables should equal about 2 1/2 quarts. In a non-reactive bowl, mix the chopped vegetables with the salt. Cover and let sit at room temperature, out of direct sunlight, for about 12 hours or overnight. In a colander, drain and rinse vegetables. Squeeze to remove excess liquid. In a non-reactive pot, bring the vinegar, sugars, turmeric, celery and mustard seeds to a boil. Add the drained vegetables and return to a boil again. Reduce heat and simmer for 45 minutes; stirring occasionally to prevent sticking. Let cool and pack into jars. Refrigerate. Like most things pickled, it'll be better after it sits a day or two and should keep for several weeks in the refrigerator.

GRANNY'S CHOW-CHOW

12 medium onions (4 cups)
1 medium head of cabbage (4 cups)
10 green tomatoes (4 cups)
12 green bell peppers
6 sweet red bell peppers
1/2 cup coarse salt
6 cups granulated sugar
2 tablespoons mustard seed
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 and 1/2 teaspoon turmeric
4 cups white vinegar
2 cups water

Chop vegetables finely using food processor or grinder. Place chopped vegetables in porcelain or glass container; sprinkle with the salt; cover and let stand overnight. Place vegetables in large colander and rinse very well under cold running water. (Divide into smaller batches if necessary.) Drain thoroughly and place in large stockpot. Combine remaining ingredients and pour over chopped vegetables. Heat to boiling and then boil 4 minutes. Ladle into clean pint jars which have been sterilized in boiling water. Seal with sterilized lids according to manufacturer's instructions. Process in boiling water bath for 10 minutes. Makes about 8 pints.

WHAT MUST I DO TO BE SAVED? LET US EXAMINE THIS QUESTION

- (1) WHAT: This suggests that there is something required of man in being saved.
- (2) MUST: It is not a matter of option. It is an absolute necessity.
- (3) I: This denotes the individual responsibility in human redemption. God had done his part.
- (4) DO: This word suggests activity on the part of the man being saved.
- (5) SAVED: This is the object sought by the sinner. The saving is done by another. But what must man do to be saved by the Savior?

HOW SHALL WE ANSWER THIS QUESTION?

- (1) Not from feelings, opinions or prejudice.
- (2) There is no surer way than turn to the Bible and read the question every time it is found.

(A) The question was asked by the Jews on the day of Pentecost: (Acts 2:37) Men and brethren what shall we do. Peter answered: (Acts 2:38) Repent and be baptized everyone of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of your sins. According to the answer, baptism is just essential as repentance. They are joined together by the conjunction "and", (Repent and be Baptized), and point to the same object, which is the (remission of sins).

(B) The next question was asked by Saul, later called Paul: (Acts 9:6) And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise and go into the city, and it shall be told thee what thou must do. We find in (Acts 22:16) And now why tarriest thou? Arise and be baptized and wash away thy sins.

(C) The question was asked by the Philippian jailor: (Acts 16:30) And brought them out, and said, Sirs, what must I do to be saved. This man was an unbeliever who was alarmed by the earthquake. There is no evidence he had ever heard a gospel sermon. The answer given to this unbeliever is: (Acts 16:31,33) And they said, Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved, and thy house. And they spake unto him the word of the Lord, and all that were in the house. And he took them the same hour of the night, and washed their stripes; and was baptized, he and all his, straightway.

WE HAVE THREE DIFFERENT ANSWERS TO THE SAME QUESTION

- (1) The explanation is easy. The jailor was an unbeliever; so, he was told to believe. They preached to him to develop his faith. He then repented and was baptized.
- (2) The people on the day of Pentecost did believe; so, they were told to repent and be baptized for the remission of sins.
- (3) Saul was a believing penitent man; so, he was told only to be baptized and wash away his sins.
- (4) They were all given different answers to the same question, because they were at different places on the road to salvation. The Bible does not contradict itself!

Inspiration, Where Do We Get Ours?

The definition of the word inspiration is the process of being mentally stimulated to do or feel something, especially to do something creative. Inspiration comes in many forms, shapes, and sizes. We may be surprised at what might inspire us to do something. We all should ask ourselves what inspires us to do the things we do? I imagine the Wright brothers were inspired to fly by seeing a bird or maybe a hawk or eagle glide across the sky. Young students are inspired by teachers who have the knowledge to share with them. I am often inspired by my children and grandchildren and hope that they are inspired by me.

I would like to focus on where Christians get their inspiration! If you're a Christian, have you ever thought about that? If you are not a Christian, where do you get your inspiration? Hopefully this article will help all to understand that there is a source of inspiration, if we would but receive it. 2 Timothy 13:16-17 says, All scripture is given by the inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: VS 17 That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works. So, everything we need to be pleasing to God, has been given unto us through his inspired word. We need to accept the word of God as being inspired and breathed by him. Paul exhorts Timothy to continue in the things he had learned, and, in the things, he had been assured of, the things of which he knew the source of, where they came from, which was the holy scriptures. It was known that these things would make him wise unto salvation.

The scriptures were given by the inspiration of God, "God breathed" and came by the authority God.

Titus 2:11 says, For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and Godly, in this present world. 1 Corinthians 2:12-13 also says, Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God: that we might know the things that are freely given us of God. Which things we also speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teaches, but in the words which the Holy Ghost teaches comparing spiritual things with spiritual words. Finally, Revelation 22:19 says, And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things that are written in this book.

Rockcastle FFA Chapter named 3 Star Chapter

The Rockcastle County FFA chapter of Mt. Vernon has been recognized in 2022 National Chapter Award Program from the National FFA Organization. The program recognizes outstanding FFA chapters from throughout the country that actively implement the mission and strategies of the organization. These chapters improve chapter operations using the National Quality FFA Chapter Standards and a Program of Activities that emphasizes growing leaders, building communities and strengthening agriculture. Chapters are rewarded for providing educational experiences for the entire membership. Chapters that received star ratings during judging this summer and will be recognized at the 95th National FFA Convention & Expo, Oct 26-29. All star-rated FFA chapters receive honors made possible by corporate sponsor John Deere. "Feeding some 9 billion people by mid-century brings with it unprecedented challenges for today's farmers," said Amy Allen, manager, national corporate contributions for John Deere. "The skills and experiences learned though the National Chapter Award Program will help meet the critical needs."

The National FFA Organization is a school-based national youth leadership development organization of more than 735,000 student members as part of 8,817 local FFA chapters in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

The Mt. Vernon-Rockcastle Tourist Commission, Kentucky Music Hall of Fame and Museum and The Lair hosted a free Back to School Bash last Thursday which included inflatables, face painting, Kid Yoga, games, food trucks, vendors, movie under the stars and giveaways. Above, the Rockcastle Sheriff's Department had a booth that included fingerprinting for the children and giveaways.

Daniel Boone CAA Open Enrollment for LIHEAP Summer Cooling

Electric bill payment assistance available to qualified households in Clay, Laurel, Jackson and Rockcastle Counties

Daniel Boone CAA is accepting applications for the Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) Summer Cooling Program: Subsidy and Crisis Components. Applications will be accepted on a first-come, first-serve basis through September 30, 2022, or until designated funds are depleted.

Daniel Boone CAA collectively operates outreach offices in Clay, Laurel, Jackson and Rockcastle Counties. Applicants should apply at their local Community Action outreach office. To locate your local office, please call 606-598-5127.

Income eligibility for the program is up to and including 150 percent of the federal poverty guidelines. Households may be eligible for electric benefits up to the maximum allowable from one or both components. Benefits are paid directly to household's electric vendor.

150% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines (POP)

Household Size	Gross Mo. Income	Household Size	Gross Mo. Income
1	$1,699	5	$4,059
2	$2,289	6	$4,649
3	$2,879	7	$5,239
4	$3,469	8	$5,829

For each additional household member above 8, add $590 to the monthly income limit.

The Subsidy component helps households offset electric costs by providing a one-time benefit ranging from $100 to $400 depending on income levels and housing categories.

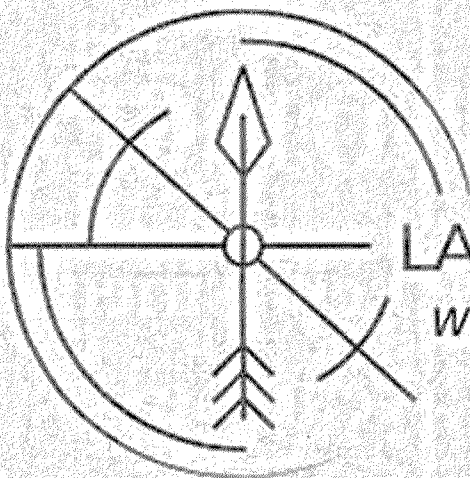

The Crisis component can assist households who demonstrate a home energy crisis situation, with the minimum needed to alleviate the crisis not to exceed $600. Households can reapply each time they experience a crisis situation until they have reached their maximum benefit.
