The Farmers Market project is showing progress each week now as workers are present when the skies are clear. The steel package has been ordered and officials hope to have the multi-use facility ready for vendors before the end of summer. Announcements will be made soon concerning any group or organization who wishes to use the facility for other purposes.

School board prepares for high-tech attacks

Discusses energy savings

In a special called meeting Monday night, Rockcastle County School Board members heard new plans to avoid, and/or provide insurance for, the cost of a possible cyber attack.

In recent years, businesses, federal and state government and school systems have become dependent upon the digital world. One of the most negative effects of the digital world are cyber attacks that steal information from computer systems or hold vital information hostage for ransom.

Businesses and school districts nation wide have been forced to pay ransom to have their digital system restored.

Board members heard from insurance adjusters and guests concerning programs that cover such "hacking" events.

Travis Anderkin, of VanMeter Insurance in Lexington, told the board the Scott County School System recently paid expensive ransom to retrieve their system. "Private information of students, teachers and of staff, as well as operations can be attacked and it is happening every day," he said. "There is a good chance some of your systems are under attack right now."

When such attacks occur, Anderkin said, there are a lot more expenses involved than the ransom. "The average claim payout is about $200,000 and officials predict 61 cyber attacks per day and they are all paying the ransom

School Board considers using saved funds for long-awaited projects

In a special called Rockcastle County School Board meeting Monday evening, what began as a "historical preview of district finances," turned into a hopeful discussion of a school system make-over, including tennis courts, a swimming pool and a new Middle School.

Finance Director Jenny Sweet began the conversation saying some members of the board had asked her to provide an historical comparison of school finances over the past few years.

Sweet showed a continual decline in SEEK funding, as well as the loss of grants over the years. "In the period from 2015 to 2018, we lost $879,000 from forecasted SEEK funding to final SEEK funding, including other lost revenues."

The discussion included many aspects of school finances delving into management, hiring, kindergarten, teacher/student ratios, SBDM coun-

17-year Cicada is back in Rockcastle

By: Mike French
Editor

On the moist ground, covered in dew, he slowly rises from the dirt after he has lived in waiting. For years, he/she did very little except eat and wait and eat more. For 17 years he waited. But now, the Cicada has risen again.

The Cicada, which is not a relative of the Locust, lays her/his eggs in tree branches. The larva then hatch and live off the fluids within the branch, usually killing the branch if not the tree.

Then, within weeks, that same larva falls to the ground

Possible conflict of interest

Local school board member investigated by Attorney General

By: Mike French
Editor

The office of Attorney General Daniel Cameron is currently investigating an issue related to Rockcastle County Board of Education member Larry Hammond.

The week after the 2020 elections, several local residents and officials began to suggest that newly-elected school board member Hammond may not have been eligible to run for a seat on the board. However, none of them were willing to "go on the record" with their beliefs.

In fact, a letter from Robert L. Chenoweth, Assistant Attorney General was anonymously delivered to the Mount Vernon Signal office stating an opinion concerning an acting school superintendent serving on the school board of a different district.

According to the anonymous letter dated June, 1978, apparently from the Office of the Attorney General, the opinion stated "It is the opinion of this office that not only would the holding of a local school board membership and, at the same time, a superintendency in another school district create a functional incompatibility but would also violate a statutory proscription."

The letter further stated, "We believe further that it should also be clear that one individual could not serve the welfare of two school systems by holding these two positions at the same time."

The issue arose because Hammond is currently Superintendent of the Gallatin County School District and a member of the Rockcastle County School Board.

But, according to state news reports, last week, Cameron's office announced they are investigating a conflict of interest and possible violations of ethical standards against Hammond's position with two school districts, after a complaint was made to his office..

If they so choose, the attorney general's office can remove Hammond

Rockcastle in orange zone

Finally, Rockcastle County is out of the "red zone" and into the "Orange Zone" due to a drop in the COVID-19 incident rate. Two new confirmed cases have been reported this week but the incident rate dropped from 25.6 to 12.8 in the past seven days. Officials warn that the virus is still around and unvaccinated residents can still catch COVID-19.

Local police focus on DUIs in county

Deputy receives award

By: Mike French

Police officers and deputies have a lot of duties as part of their job, but one of the most time consuming efforts of all local police entities, is watching for intoxicated drivers. Those drivers include drug or alcohol-related driving, according to local police officers.

In Rockcastle County, the vast majority of DUI arrests are drug-related, according to Sheriff Shannon Franklin and Assistant Mount Vernon Police Chief Joe Rush. "I will say though that we have seen an uptick in alcohol-related DUI arrests in the past year," Franklin said.

Every monthly report by the Rockcastle County Sheriff's office and the Mount Vernon, Brodhead and Livingston Police Departments lists arrests of intoxicated drivers.

"Keeping our citizens safe is always our number one priority" said Sheriff Shannon Franklin. "And highways are among the most dangerous places for our citizens to be."

Sheriff's Deputy Kirk Mays takes the issue very seriously. "Deputy Mays has made a difference in traffic safety in our county," said Franklin.

In fact, that difference was noticed last month when Mays received the Kentucky DUI Award for the most DUI arrests in counties similar in size to Rockcastle.

"Deputy Mays has been diligent in his efforts to make the highways of Rockcastle County safer by identifying and arresting drivers under the influence of intoxicants," said Franklin. "We are proud of Deputy Mays' accomplishments as well as the efforts of all members of our office."

Livingston's new Police Chief, Mikey Ashurst, has stated for the record that drug-related issues, including intoxicated driving, are among his priorities in his city.

Brodhead Police Chief Richard Reynolds said his department also places keeping a watchful

Whether or not it is legal for former Superintendent Larry Hammond to serve on the local school board, while also being acting superintendent of the Gallatin County School System is now a question for the state attorney general.

Hammond assured our editor, Mike French, Monday that he researched the question thoroughly before declaring himself a candidate for the local position and has no qualms about how the question will be resolved.

The original 1978 case cited reportedly involved a superintendent of an independent school district who wanted to serve on the school board of the county school system in the same county his independent school district was located.

Personally, I cannot imagine Mr. Hammond being anything but an asset to the local board especially with his extensive knowledge of the system because of the varied positions he held during his long tenure as an educator in Rockcastle County.

We'll just have to wait and see but cannot imagine what conflict there could be between the elected office and his present position.

I was very happy to see where, according to our Senator Rand Paul, a Cleveland Clinic study of 52,238 employees showed that unvaccinated people (such as myself), who have had COVID 19, have no difference in re-infection rate than people who had COVID 19 and who took the vaccine.

These columns get harder and harder each week to write since there are so many things going on with our federal government, and state also to some extent, that I am in a perpetual state of outrage. Because of such news items as:

The lies of NIAID Director Dr. Anthony Fauci about his funding of gain of function research in the Wuhan lab and the proof now coming out that the virus was a leak from the lab and not from wet market bats; to a warning from Senator Rand Paul, who was the senator that called Fauci's hand on his lying, who warns that the Chinese scientists that Fauci says he "trusts" are experimenting on viruses that have 15x the mortality rate of COVID-19; to the fight of Senate Dems to do away with the filibuster after using it over 300 times (to the Republican's zero); to our VP Kamala Harris refusing to visit the southern border, after being put in charge of it by President Biden, but she sure visited it in 2018 when Trump was President; to our President or VP neither one issuing any statement on D-Day concerning our troop's sacrifices in freeing Europe in WWII; to the fact that Biden supposedly added 337,000 new voters to the historic Democrat totals in Maricopa County Arizona in 2020 but when he went there for a "campaign rally" no one showed up except reporters and the fact that, according to Judicial Watch, in 353 counties in 29 states voter registration exceeded 100% of population; about the fact that millions of taxpayer dollars, free groceries,

I am so sick of being misled.

This government has mastered the art of lying to the people but the rest of us do it also. I thought those who were supposed to be our public servants, would go out of their way to tell us the truth. But nope, they lie every day.

Bills are the perfect example. They will create a bill with astronomical spending for projects that mean absolutely nothing, unless you are a corporation who donated to their campaign. Then they will name the bill "Helping Little Puppies Act of 2021."

Did you know the government -- THIS government -- YOUR government, approved the spending of $500,000 to study how long it takes a Panda to poop?

They actually take your money from your check that you would use to buy groceries or pay your rent, because they believe it is more important to study panda excrement.

Your government must really be fascinated by bodily functions. They also used about $700,000 to study cow burps.

There is even more. Did you know monkeys throw their excrement at each other? I didn't either.

Well, your government does. They spent about $170,000 to find out why they do that. They still don't know.

Not one of these bills that included these funds were called "Poop Studies." Instead they use names that have nothing to do with such studies.

They are such word-masters and they don't care to use that against us.

Andy Beshear keeps throwing the big smile with a tear on the cheek saying 70-plus percent are vaccinated, blah, blah, blah.

Government thinks you are too stupid to do what you believe is right. Andy thinks you will do whatever the crowd does and conform. So, he picks out a group (like those over 70 or something like that) and points out how many are vaccinated.

It's just a game to them of how to twist words to get you to do whatever they want and it has become an art form.

The truth is, about 1/3 of Kentucky is fully vaccinated. Almost seven out of every ten people you see on the sidewalk is unvaccinated. The actual number is something less than 40%.

I'm not promoting or denying vaccines. I don't care what you do with your medicine. It's none of my business. But, it's just the truth. Make up your own mind.

The honest truth is, the reason the state moved from Phase I to Phase II so quickly is because people who were supposed to get the vaccine in Phase I didn't show up.

Fun Around Fire Rings

My fondness for tending a fire in a fire ring began when I was about eight-years-old. My initial outdoor fire experiences were with my grandfather (Pop) as he burned sticks that fell from the hardwood trees in our Rockcastle County yard. He would gather those limbs and sticks and put them in his fire ring. When it was full, he carefully set the wood on fire as we enjoyed the scene. Watching a fire can be mesmerizing.

My wife and I started sitting around fires when we bought our first van camper in 1984. Over the years, we owned five campers, ending with a Class C camper in 1994. We were serious about our weekend camping, and even took several cross-country trips to the Smokies, Glacier National Park in Montana, Rocky Mountain National Park in Colorado, and Denali National Park in Alaska.

During that time, we built fires that became particularly memorable to us. One of those fires happened when we were camping in our own woods on Furnace Mountain in Powell County. It was very cold and late in February. We were both bundled up and quietly sitting quite close to the fire. We heard something coming toward us as it was rustling the leaves with each step. Neither of us spoke. When the sound got very close, I turned on my flashlight and was surprised to see a Kentucky wildcat. As the light hit the cat, he stood perfectly still, looking momentarily as if trying to figure out what had just occurred. Then he very quietly and carefully walked away into the darkness. That was an experience for sure.

Another one of our best fires was at Glacier National Park. The

How I Love Those Easy Open Containers...Don't You?

Dear Journal,

I'm almost worn out from trying to open the various things that need to be opened in the course of a day. I remember when all of this sealing stuff started. It was way back in the early 1980's when some nut decided to poison some Tylenol and it caused some people to get sick or die. Then the whole thing started. We now must seal ever thing to keep the nuts out of it.

I remember back when the most trouble you had was getting the lid off of a new jar of jelly, mayonnaise or pickles, etc. After finally learning the various secrets of breaking the seal and getting the lids off, they go and change everything. It takes a good ten minutes in the preparation of a meal to just open the packaging. I have started buying some "brought on" (go ahead younger generation, you figure out that term) lemonade and trying to cut back on so much pop. Yes, pop. Soda is that stuff you use in baking. I want you to know they had a pull seal on that bottle under the lid I worked with at least five minutes. I sure needed something cold to drink when I was done.

The packaging I love the best is those press and seal bags. They have you coming and going. You can't seal them and then you can't open them. It seems that bacon packing is the worst. You tear off one strip and then you have to open the actual seal. I'll have you to know I wrestled that pack of bacon all over the free marijuana joints, etc. are being given away to the public as an incentive for more people to get the COVID vaccine and that colleges are getting away with mandating that all students be vaccinated, along with faculty and staff, for the 2021-22 school year even though the vaccines are not U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved and only available via Emergency Use Authorization. Never before has a vaccine been authorized for the entire population under a EUA.

And these are only the ones I can come up with off the top of my head.

Do you realize how traumatizing these issues are for someone my age and how we, as supposedly free citizens of this country should be in the streets protesting these abuses of government instead of meekly going along with them?

Oh, and I was about to forget one of the most outrageous actions of our government, the imprisonment of over 400 “insurrectionists” in Washington, D.C. jails where they are reportedly being kept locked down for 23 out of 24 hours each day and even being tortured for the crime of “meandering” through our capitol on January 6th with no weapons, as confirmed by a report from our own Department of Justice. However, no one is being held accountable for the looting, burning and killings that has been going on for almost a year in several of our major cities by BLM and Antifa.

Frankly, I'm too old to protest anything except with my wicked keyboard but I certainly hope that these government excesses finally reach a point where the average citizen says “no more” in some manner, since we can't really depend on righting the ship at the ballot box any more can we?

They had a bunch left and it was going to waste because Andy WAY over estimated how many would run to get it.

A mobile unit came to Mt. Vernon recently and two people showed up to get vaccinated.

Again, I'm not suggesting you don't get vaccinated. By all means, jump right in there. I just think you deserve the truth instead of propaganda campaigns.

There is just a lot of untruths floating around. So much so that society has begun to accept it as normal. It's not!

Dr. Fauci actually said, in one of his released emails a year ago, that masks are basically useless. He said that out loud in the beginning but someone, somewhere made him change that tune completely in public.

After telling us all that masks were useless and do not prevent COVID-19, he suddenly changed and masks became the most important thing since cultured butter.

But he knew they were useless a year ago.

Of course it doesn't take a rocket scientist to figure out anyway. Statistically, (Googly) according to COVID numbers, 70% of people who caught COVID were avid mask-wearers. Only 30% didn't wear masks. It sounds safer to NOT wear a mask to me.

Just the truth.

Anyway, I just wish people who are supposed to be our public servants would stop with all the word-twisting rhetoric. Just tell us what is happening.

Then again, I guess everyone does it. Compare the burger in your hand with the photo of that burger on the menu.

Apparently we all play that game. The government has just mastered it.

kitchen one morning. However, I did have a great sense of personal satisfaction when I took a great big sharp butcher knife and jabbed the pack and started cutting. There you nuts, take that. The manufacturers taunt you with how they put “Easy open packaging” on the label. Makes me just want to haul off and wring their jaws ‘til they ring like dinner bells.

Then, there are the medicine bottles. It's been years since you could open one without having to call a three year old to help you. I always ask the pharmacy to put on the non-childproof caps. Quite often they don't put the lid I requested on my bottle. Makes me wonder how accurate they are with the medicine if they can't follow something that simple.

There is something new that has come about in the last few weeks I've experienced. I can't get the mail out of the envelope. No, I can tear the top off of the envelope and try to pull out the letter or bill, etc. (A letter, who am I kidding. Nobody sends an actual letter, anymore.) Whatever is inside will not be pulled out of the envelope.

You have to tear the envelope away from whatever is inside. In the last few weeks I've noticed that I can't get the return billing return portion back into the envelope that they provide with my check. I just have to shove it all in their envelope all crumpled, press it out and send it along its merry way.

I've decided that as long as I have a good sharp butcher knife, some scissors handy and maybe a chain saw, I can get into almost anything.

campground provided a beautiful setting, with a fire ring surrounded by huge trees. As we drove into the park, we noted a sign that read: “Bears have killed campers in the park.” That night we sat close together and very close to the fire. We kept our eyes wide open that night for sure. Finally, we went into our van and went to sleep. The next morning, a Ranger advised us that a Grizzly and her cub had walked through the campsites down near the water's edge.

The most unusual fire we ever built had to be while staying at a campground at Laurel Lake here in Kentucky. We found a huge log that was hollow and carefully placed it on the top of our fire. It was quite late that night before the end of the log began to burn, and the flames came out the other end toward the sky. We watched most of the night as the log was being consumed.

The ashes were still warm the next morning. It was so cool!

We also fondly recall a fire built while camping at Lake Cumberland State Park. Todd, our son, was with us. He asked if he, and only he, could tend the fire that night, and I, of course, gave my permission since I was always available if things got out of hand. Todd became addicted to tending outdoor fires that very night. He was probably no more than ten-years-old. I can't tell you how many times he said that was his favorite camping trip.

[Todd was killed on Memorial Day weekend in 1992 in an automobile accident at the tender age of fifteen. We all still miss him so much, even after twenty-one years has passed. He never forgot that camping trip.]

When we lived on Furnace Mountain, we took great pleasure in our fire rings over the many years that we lived there. Therefore, when we moved to Mt. Sterling in 2019, we were in need of a new one. I set about building a big fire ring in our large back yard right away. In that fire ring are stones from our woods on Furnace Mountain, a stone from Montana, and a rock from Alaska. When I see them, I am reminded of fabulous fires we have experienced over the years.

FEMA assistance going to waste in Rockcastle County

Last week the Mount Vernon Signal published an article about grant money available to anyone who may have suffered flood damage in Rockcastle County. Judge/Executive Howell Holbrook, Jr., said local residents are not taking advantage of that grant.

“People should be aware, a grant does not have to be paid back and is there to help anyone who has any flood damage,” he said. “We had 37 homes that I am aware of damaged in the flood in March. They need to be getting this free help from FEMA.”

If the money is not used, officials say it will not be offered again and local residents who experienced any flood damage at all is encouraged to call FEMA and request the funds that have been set aside for Rockcastle County.

Anyone interested in the free assistance should call 1-800-621-FEMA (3362). “It's there for us to use but unless people call them, they will never get the money,” said Holbrook.

Lack of Knowledge

In the long ago, God visited a core reason why his people had become weak and failed in their life service on this earth. Truth had eluded them at their own choosing. Hosea 4:6 My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge. To be free we know we must obey the truth. John 8:32 Ye shall know the truth and the truth set you free. A lack of truth will put one into slavery and spiritual bondage. Bondage of the soul gains dominance from a lack of study. Throughout the Bible there are warnings for those who fail to read and study the Bible. We need to exhort one another to read and study our Bibles.

There is not enough time spent today in studying the holy scriptures Jesus said once, John 5:39 Search the scriptures for in them ye think ye have eternal life, and they are they which testify of me. And ye will not come to me, that ye might have life. Any man who will not search the scriptures to see that Jesus Christ is who he says that he is, truly does not want eternal life, because there is evidence of who Jesus is, from beginning to the end.

The Bible tells us the Bereans were nobler than those at Thessalonica, in so much so they searched the scriptures daily to see if those things the preacher was preaching was so. Acts 17:11. I wonder how many folks pick up their Bible on a daily basis and studies the word of God, or how many checks to see if what the preacher has preached, is true.

The apostle Paul in his training of Timothy told him, 2 Timothy 2:15 Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. I wish we could see how important it is to study the word of God and grow in the knowledge of this Book, how much better our lives would become. And again, he told Timothy to give himself to reading the scriptures.

We need to remember knowledge is not given, but it is gained through study and prayer, of this holy book. Hopefully we remember what God told his people of long ago in Hosea 4:6 My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge. (Knowledge speaks, but wisdom listens). ## The Difference Between Mary and Martha

In Luke 10:38-42 Now it came to pass, as they went, that He entered into a certain village; and a certain woman named Martha received Him into her house. V39 But Martha was cumbered about much serving, and came to Him and said, Lord dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve alone? Bid her therefore that she helps me. V41 and Jesus answered and said unto her, Martha, Martha thou art careful and troubled about many things: V42 But one thing is needful: and Mary hath chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

Martha was anxious and troubled with the cares of the moment, but Mary was more at peace with herself because she had the right relationship with Jesus. That provides a peace that helped Mary and will help you and I. We, too, often become anxious and worried with our immediate needs and it starts stressing us and distracting us from the things that are important. We choose to let the things that are temporal in nature override the things that have lasting value. Matthew 6:33 Christ told His disciples Seek you first the Kingdom of God in His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you.

Martha was a good person, but she put more emphasis on the physical needs and material things that will perish with time. Mary on the other hand was concerned with the spiritual things as it pertains to Christ. At the end, which will matter the most?

If removed from the board position locally, officials say the local board would advertise the vacant position and then, based upon applications received, vote for Hammond's replacement.

According to KDE guidelines, the board would only need a majority vote for the replacement position and the new board member would hold the position until Hammond's seat is up for re-election in 2024.

The issue has been discussed at the KSBA (Kentucky School Board Association) as well, but that board is mainly advisory and cannot take action over a possible violation, according to news reports.

The KDE (Kentucky Department of Education) has also been informed of the possible conflict and referred the issue to the attorney general's office.

Hammond, who has expressed concern over the local school board's salary structure since his first meeting in January, has been a longtime Rockcastle County resident and served as superintendent of the local district for 17 years.

In fact, Hammond's history in Rockcastle county includes elementary school teacher, high school teacher, director of transportation, facilities management, director of personnel and director of student services before becoming superintendent of Rockcastle Schools.

The KSBA named Hammond as Superintendent of the Year during his tenure in office.

Since retiring from the Rockcastle County school system, Hammond has served in Breathitt County and is currently, Gallitin County school Superintendent.

As expected, since the investigation is currently underway, Superintendent Carrie Ballinger said she could not comment on the matter.

Hammond responds

However, Hammond had plenty to say about the investigation. "I have documentation from the county attorney's office, letters from and to the school board, from my own attorney and many other documents that show I am indeed eligible to serve on this board," he said. "I didn't just ignore all this when I threw my name in the race. I researched every detail of the issue and have the documentation to prove it."

Hammond said the 1978 finding by the Attorney General's office was a different scenario. "I read that case before I ran for this office," he said. "That case was under completely different circumstances and does not apply here. I am absolutely confident the attorney general will find that I am eligible for both positions."

Hammond said he is not concerned about this situation. "I am certainly no stranger to controversy," he said. "When someone is in there to do the right thing and to help the district because they care and not for money or power or position, a lot of people don't like that. Controversy is bound to follow close by when one is trying to fix things that should be fixed. I didn't need this position. I saw some things that needed changed for the betterment of the entire community and the school system and I am in this seat for that reason and that reason only."

Hammond continued to say he believes in complete transparency by elected officials. "You (the media) are fully entitled to documentation that shows what I and the school board do," he said. "Where every dollar is spent, what decisions are made concerning the students' education and safety, school finances, correspondence to the school, complete audits, and anything the school board does. I will happily open my records about this issue to the public and everyone can see that it has been researched and vetted and there is nothing hidden here, except possibly some hidden agendas."

Hammond said he is in one way surprised by the investigation. "it's funny that I talked with so many people about holding this office before I ran and they were supportive."

Hammond said there are more documents on hand at the school board that he believes should be made public. "I believe in full transparency with all elected officials," he said. Hammond said all the details of this investigation, and other local issues within the school district, should be made public.

No timeline was given by the attorney general's office for a decision but Hammond said he will be the first to inform the public when a decision is made. Hammond also promised follow-up documents in the coming days for future news reports.

eye out for intoxicated drivers at the top of their priority list.

Deputy Mays has now resigned from the Sheriff's office and has taken the position as Brodhead's newest police officer. "Now that Kirk is with us, we can put even more effort into keeping the streets of Brodhead safe from intoxicated drivers," said Reynolds. "He has done this for years and there is no reason to change what he does."

and burrows beneath the soil. He/she does not hibernate and is not inactive. For 17 years he/she eats roots from grass, weeds, bushes and trees.

Then, for a reason that has scientists, biologists and the agriculture world baffled, in the 17th year, they rise from the ground, shed their exoskeleton, mate and start the cycle all over again.

While aboveground, the Cicada does three things. They mate, they eat and they sing. That's all. Scientists say if you see a Cicada doing anything else, it is an effort to find a mate or something to eat. It is the male Cicada that sings.

"They haven't shown up much in Rockcastle yet but they may before the summer is over," said Garrard Coffey of the Rockcastle Extension Service.

Farmers in Rockcastle County have reported spotting a few but not as many as expected.

In some years, crop damage from the Cicada is slightly noticeable, according to Coffey, but in others, very little damage occurs. Officials say they do not know how much damage to expect from cycle to cycle but Cicadas rarely do a lot of damage.

Officials say the Cicada is no danger to humans or to pets. Newly planted trees are the most susceptible since their roots are still tender.

Experts say Sevin Insect powder or spray is effective in keeping the pests away but the chemicals must be directly on the plant leaves.

Rockcastle County Judge/Executive Howell Holbrook, Jr., said he hasn't heard major complaints about the creatures this year but he, and other officials, are keeping an eye out for them.

"I have seen several this year but not as many as usual," he said. "So far I haven't had any complaints about damage from Cicadas but we still have a long summer to go."

Coffey said he doesn't expect crop damage this year. "If we start to see them coming out this summer, they are just going to reproduce and make noise, That's about it," he said.

"Project"

cils, administration and many other expenditures. Also discussed was revenues and the tax base as well as funding through grants.

Discussion bounced from one subject to another with occasional disagreements and periodic mass discussions of different conversations at the same time.

After discussing the projected $800,000 cost of all day kindergarten, the $4.2 million salary expense in a three-payroll month, the interest rate on CDs, district investments, cash flow, grants, contingency funds, employee retirement systems, facilities and employee moral, board member Misty Lakes focused attention on the CDs and the contingency fund.

"I don't know why we are keeping an extra million dollars in the contingency fund or why we are investing the money coming into the system," she said. "We are not a financial institution. We are a school system and I believe any funds that come into the system should be used for our kids and not for investments."

Lakes continued to point out some of her wishes for the district. "We have a tennis team don't we? Well the football team and the baseball teams have baseball and football fields. Why are there no tennis courts?"

Chairman Angela Mink said finances play a part in those decisions. "For the same reason our swim team doesn't have a pool and our golf team doesn't have a golf course," she said.

However, Lakes continued to suggest that any money the school has currently aside for contingency or investments, should be partly used for more student services. "I just believe instead of investing in CDs, we should be using the money for our kids."

The discussion eventually moved to several new positions and pay increases created this fiscal year and how the funds for those positions are expected to end.

"If we didn't think we could afford it, we wouldn't suggest a raise for anyone," said Superintendent Carrie Ballinger. Board member Larry Hammond said he understands the process of hiring temporary positions due to temporary grants but he dreads telling those people to leave. "It all looks good on paper but there comes a time when we have to go to that person in that position and tell them goodbye," he said.

Mink said she has been bothered over her years with the board that temporary positions become permanent. "I wish people would be honest with me," she said. "So many times I was told a position was temporary but then ten years later, they are still here. Just tell the truth."

Hammond then defended recent pay raises saying "If you aren't competitive with surrounding districts, you can't keep the best people on board," he said.

Somehow, the conversation then turned to variable school calendars. "I just want to put it out there, you had better be careful with variable school calendars," he said. "It is possible for a teacher to get in their time and there still be school left at the end of the year. They can cause us a real problem with that if they want to."

However, Ballinger said the contracts for teachers were written in a way that prevents that event from taking place.

Lakes then spoke up again. "I want to talk more about this million dollars that we aren't spending on our kids."

Eventually, Ballinger said she has discussed the issue of a new middle school with some department heads and others. "If we are going to start talking about using that money, we need to discuss a new middle school. Not remodeling or upgrading but a new middle school."

Hammond warned about discussing the subject this early in the process. "I'm not against that idea, but I can tell you that if we do that, you had better be ready for all those who know exactly how old every other building is and John Doe driving down the road thinking the current middle school looks fine to him," he said.

Board member Anna Goff agreed. "Yes you have to approach these things carefully. Everyone doesn't understand the reasons behind such decisions," she said.

Eventually, discussion about possible ways to use saved funds began to abate but most board members were able to insert their own "wish list" into the conversation before it was over.

Having no further business, the meeting was adjourned until the regular meeting the following evening. See next week's issue of the Mount Vernon Signal for details of that meeting.

"Tech"

to get their information back. According to Anderkin, there is currently no perfect system that can prevent a cyber attack. "It can be disguised as a nice photo.

Some picture a teacher may need for a lesson plan," he said. "But when you click it, it opens the door for the cyber attack and it is too late."

According to Anderkin and Finance Director Jenny Sweet, hackers could potentially gain bank account information and actually transfer money from the school district's accounts into their own account.

The board discussed many details of possible cyber attacks and agreed to place the cyber attack insurance issue on the agenda for Tuesday's regular monthly meeting.

Brian Mason, of CMTA Energy Solutions, also attended the special meeting to congratulate the board on their decision to use the new energy savings project.

The project, discussed over the past several meetings, is expected to be a $4.2 million project with $225,000 coming from the general fund and most of the remainder coming in the form of energy savings.

Apparently the complex contract will be paid as the school system saves money in energy so that the funds are not directly pulled from the district at once. Mason said he expects the system to work very well for Rockcastle County. "This is a pure win/win for this county," he said. "We look forward to coming back to you and showing how the projected savings was actually a massive understatement. We expect much more than what we have projected as savings."

According to Mason, the project will include data and fire system upgrades, Mount Vernon HVAC upgrades, Bipolar ionization district wide, solar panels at the high school and better controls at the high schools and LED lighting throughout the district in all buildings among other projects.

The plan goes into future-year renovations that continue to save more in energy with each project. Part of the project includes education and may include a large screen tv in a school foyer to show students the energy being saved and how many trees are spared each hour.

The board agreed to also place this item on the agenda for a vote Tuesday. If adopted, the KDE will receive the information and then, if the project is approved, contractors hope to begin construction in mid July.

Double regional champion

RCHS freshman Lexi Dotson scored 20 points and had two outstanding state-qualifying performances at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships last week at Harlan County. Lexi ran an amazing race in the 1600-meter run, winning the regional title in the event with an awesome time of 5:06.27, just missing her all-time RCHS record in the event. She automatically qualified for state with the win. In the 800-meter run, she once again came through with an awesome performance, winning her second regional title with an amazing all-time personal best of 2:16.63. She also automatically qualified for state in the 800 with the win. Entering the Class 2A State Championships this Friday at the University of Kentucky, Lexi has the top times in both the 1600 and 800. Without a doubt, she's a heavy favorite for Class 2A state titles in both events.

State qualifier in three events

RCHS junior Allie Martin scored 19 points and had four outstanding performances at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships last week at Harlan County. In long jump, Allie qualified for the finals and placed 3rd with an awesome leap of 16'1", qualifying for state in the event. In the 400-meter dash, she placed a very close 5th with an exceptional time of 1:03.52, also a state qualifying performance. In triple jump, Allie qualified for the finals and finished 4th with an awesome jump of 32'8.75" which also qualified her for state. In the 200-meter dash, she came through with a 5th place finish in another close race and a great time of 28.31 seconds. She just missed state qualification in the event, which was made much more difficult due to her having to go back-and-forth between running and field events. At the Class 2A State Championships this Friday at the University of Kentucky, Allie has an excellent chance to score well with some high finishes in her events.

Qualifies for state in two events; breaks RCHS 200m record

RCHS sophomore Nik Chasteen had two outstanding state-qualifying performances at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships last week at Harlan County. Nik led the Rockets in scoring with 14.25 total points and a regional runner-up performance. In the 100-meter dash, he placed 4th, finishing with an awesome all-time personal best of 11.40 seconds. He easily qualified for state and was only five hundredths of a second away from second and fourteen hundredths away from the regional title win. In the 200-meter dash, he finished as regional runner-up with an amazing new all-time RCHS record and all-time personal best of 22.82 seconds, breaking his own school record by eleven hundredths of a second. He was only twenty-three hundredths of a second away from winning the region title in the event and he automatically qualified for state. He had previously broken RCHS all-time great Peyton Bowman's 200-meter record of 22.96 seconds at the CKC Championships in late May where he clocked an awesome time of 22.93 seconds. Entering the Class 2A State Championships this Friday at the University of Kentucky, Nik has an excellent chance to place high and score well in both events.

Track team places fourth at region

The RCHS girls' track team placed 4th at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships last week at Harlan County. With four girls that scored out of only 5 competing, the Lady Rockets only missed 3rd place by one point. The team sorely missed senior thrower Valerie Kendrick who was unable to compete due to illness. She was the top shot put and discus thrower in the region, as well as the state in Class 2A. The team also missed 8th grade hurdler Learn Reagan who's been out for several weeks with an injury and was ranked in the top seven in the state in both hurdle events earlier this season, including 2nd in the 100-meter hurdles. Even without these two highly-ranked athletes, the team had several outstanding individual performances and put forth a great team effort, despite only competing in 9 out of 18 events. Team members are from left: Jessalyn Burton, Lexi Dotson, Allie Martin, and Emma Watson. Not pictured: Paige Cash.

Places fourth in triple jump at state

RCMS sixth grader Maliyah Swinney had two outstanding performances at the KTCCCA Middle School Outdoor State Track Championships at Eastern High School in Louisville on Saturday. Maliyah qualified for long jump, triple jump, and the 400-meter dash. She decided not to compete in the 400 at state for this season and focus all of her energy on the jumping events. In her first event, long jump, only 15 competitors met the qualifying standard including only three 6th graders out of the entire state. Maliyah had a great series of jumps, placing 12th overall with an awesome jump of 14'2". She followed that with an amazing performance in triple jump. Only 17 competitors met the triple jump qualifying standard including only two 6th graders. Maliyah easily qualified as one of the top nine for the finals in the event with a great jump of 30'00.75". In the finals, she came through with an awesome all-time personal best jump of 31'9.25" and a 4th place finish. She missed 2nd place and a state runner-up finish (as only a 6th grader) by a slim margin of only 5.5". She finished the season as the #1 ranked 6th grade triple jumper in the United States.

State qualifier in shot put and discus

RCHS senior Jessalyn Burton scored 9 points and had two outstanding performances in the throwing events at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships last week at Harlan County. In discus, she placed 5th with an awesome throw of 85'6", qualifying for state in Class 2A. She followed that with an awesome performance in the shot put competition where she placed 4th overall with an exceptional throw of 28'3", also qualifying for state in the event. Jessalyn has an excellent chance to place high and score well in both events at the Class 2A State Championships this Friday at the University of Kentucky.

Places sixth in discus at state

RCMS eighth grader Caitlyn Kirby had two outstanding performances in the throwing events at the KTCCCA Middle School Outdoor State Track Championships at Eastern High School in Louisville on Saturday. Caitlyn qualified for discus and javelin. In her first event, discus, only 21 competitors met the qualifying standard out of the entire state. Caitlyn had a great series of throws in the preliminary round, easily qualifying as one of the top nine for the finals. After the finals, she placed 6th overall with an awesome all-time personal best throw of 80'4", an amazing improvement of 7'. She followed that with an exceptional performance in javelin. Only 20 competitors met the javelin qualifying standard. Caitlyn has concentrated most of her practices on discus, so she has only thrown the javelin a few times, including practice and meets. Nevertheless, she still placed 19th overall with a great throw of 48'10".

Triple regional runner-up

RCHS sophomore Emma Watson had three outstanding state-qualifying performances at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships last week at Harlan County. Emma led the Lady Rockets in scoring with 24 total points from three regional runner-up performances. In the 100-meter dash, she placed 2nd, finishing as regional runner-up with an awesome all-time personal best of 13.18 seconds. She automatically qualified for state by placing in the top two. In the 400-meter dash, she finished as regional runner-up with an exceptional time of 1:01.29, automatically qualifying for state in the event. In the 200-meter dash, she came through with another regional runner-up performance, finishing with another amazing all-time personal best of 27.01 seconds. She also automatically qualified for state in the event. She becomes the first RCHS for state to finish in the top two in all three sprint events since all-time great Lacey Gastineau Palrang in 2014, who won all three at region her senior year. Entering the Class 2A State Championships this Friday at the University of Kentucky, Emma has an excellent chance to place high and score well in all three events.

RCHS freshman Paige Cash got a last second opportunity to compete in the throwing events for the Lady Rockets and made the most of it at the Class 2A Region 5 Championships last week at Harlan County. In discus, she placed 15th with an impressive all-time personal best of 59'11". She followed that with another all-time personal best in the shot put competition, placing 18th overall with a great throw of 19'2".

Yards to Paradise

by Max Phelps

Landscaping Your Deck

The new deck owner may desire to show off the new project, or may need to wait to use wood preservative, stain, or paint. But landscaping the deck is probably something to consider, if you haven't already.

From planter boxes to large decorative pots to hanging baskets there are several ways to add greenery to the deck area. From a dirt filled shoe to vines on the rails, I've seen some creative deck landscaping.

How do you get started, or where do you begin? Consider the furniture (we may cover this in another column) and how it looks and works. Then, consider the colors of the house and trim as you select flower or plant colors, plus you don't want your deck plantings to clash in a negative manner with your other landscaping in the yard.

If your yard is rather formal with neat repeating shrubbery, then go for a few colorful and organized deck plants. For the country or cottage garden, continuation of this type landscaping on the deck or patio makes sense.

Complimentary colors should be used, or dramatic ones opposite each other on a color wheel. Picking large pots and vases that match the home can cover this need, giving you more variability in plantings that do not necessarily match up.

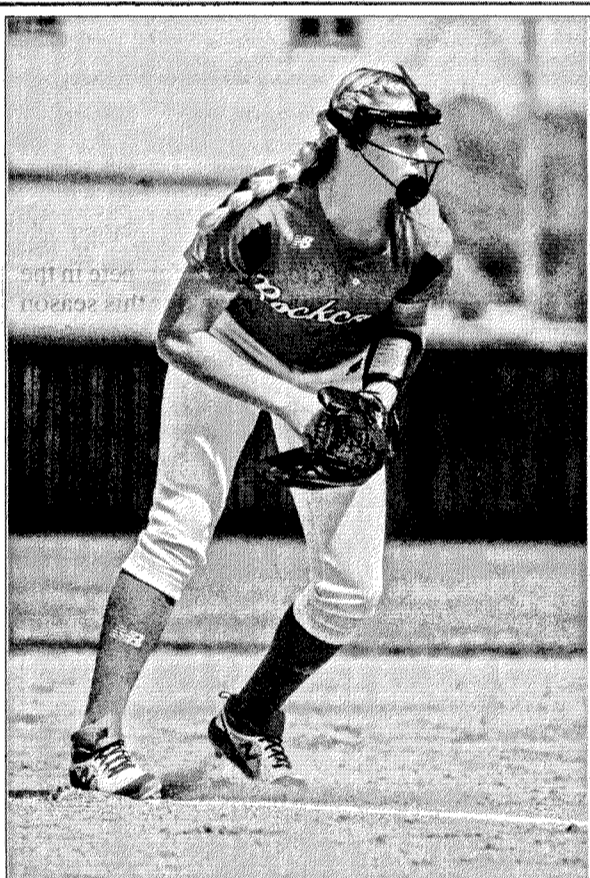

One large dramatic plant, and just a few smaller ones can be all you need. Or, you may be the person that wants plants on the floor, hanging on posts, growing on the rails and cascading from furniture.

So, what plants to select? Sometimes tropical vines or fruit can be brought indoors for the winter, and make lovely deck plants in summer. A very large pot or urn can be planted with many colorful annuals — which you can change out easily if one or more gets to looking shabby.

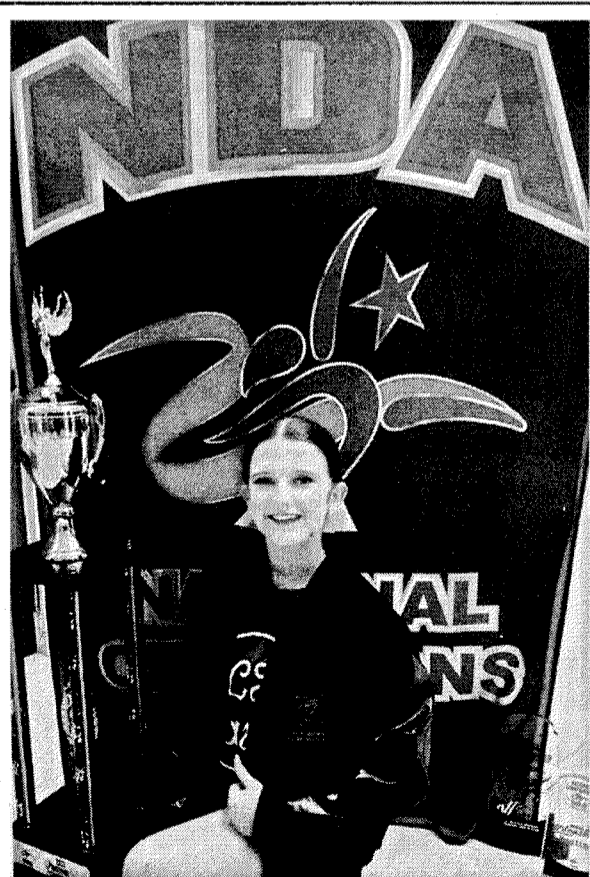

Shopping for plants for the deck? Try assembling on a flat shopping cart, or on the ground, an arrangement of flowers to get some idea how they are going to look together after you get them home. Don't be tempted to let a nursery salesman convince you to buy lots of special plants; one special plant and a number of lesser and cheaper plants gives way more 'bang for the buck' as you spend your landscaping dollars.

From 'furnishing' the deck, to screening off an undesirable view, to creating some privacy, a few planters filled using trees, perennials or annuals can dress in numerous ways an otherwise bare and boring deck, adding considerably to the appearance and function of the deck itself. A landscaped deck can give your place a bit more the look of paradise.

Mamaw's Kitchen

Regina Poynter Hoskins

Tea Garden Salad

This is one of my favorite recipes from Mr. Hougen's cookbooks. It was offered almost every day at Boone Tavern Restaurant.

1 box orange gelatin
1 cup hot freshly made black tea

1 cup juice drained from oranges and pineapple
1 can (11 ounce) mandarin orange sections

1 can (9 ounce) crushed pineapple
1 can (5 ounce) water chestnuts

Dissolve gelatin in hot tea. Add cup of juice from Mandarin oranges and pineapple. (Add regular juice to full cup if needed.) Stir. Place gelatin in refrigerator until thickened considerably.

Drain and cut chestnuts into small slices. Add chestnuts, pineapple, and orange sections to gelatin. Spoon mixture into well-oiled molds. Refrigerate until set. Mix Whipped Cream Dressing with orange rind and mace. Serve on top of salad.

Dressing:

1 cup whipped cream dressing (recipe below)
Grated rind of 1 orange
Pinch of mace
2 cups stiffly beaten whipped cream
1 cup mayonnaise
Fold mayonnaise into whipped cream.

Winnie's Three Bean Salad

A co-worker at the Bank of Oak Ridge shared this recipe with me way back in 1981. She couldn't remember where she got the recipe, but she gladly shared it with me.

1 can (15 ounce) green beans — not French cut
1 can (15 ounce) yellow wax beans

1 can (15 ounce) red kidney beans
1 cup cider vinegar

3/4 cup sugar
1/2 cup vegetable oil
4 tablespoons water

3 or 4 chopped celery stalks
1 chopped onion

1/2 cup chopped green pepper
Paprika

Drain and rinse beans. In bowl mix the vinegar, sugar, oil and water. Add beans, onions, celery, and green pepper. Toss gently to cover all vegetable with marinade. Sprinkle with paprika. Best if made night before.

NOTE: Winnie said this was best if made the night before, but I like it right after it's been made almost as much as if had set overnight. Either way, this is one of the best three bean salads I have ever eaten.

Scams in the county again

Rockcastle County Sheriff Shannon Franklin says his office is getting reports of scam phone calls in the county once again.

According to Franklin, the callers are pretending to be a family member saying they are injured or in jail and need you to send or wire some money.

The Sheriff says no one should ever give personal or banking information over the phone and never send money to anyone until you are absolutely certain the caller is legitimate.

Bargain hunting

The annual US 25 Yard Sale was cancelled last year due to COVID mandates and restrictions. But this year, bargain hunters filled the highways once again as one of the most popular yard sales in the county lined US 25 throughout the weekend. Shown above, one of the many locations that stayed busy for most of the weekend was near exit 59 in Mount Vernon. Officials say plans are already in the works for next year's event.

Berea Garden Tour series supports Paws 4 the Cause Animal Rescue

It has been said that gardeners know all the dirt... so here are all the details about a Berea garden tour series to raise funds for Paws 4 the Cause, a central Kentucky nonprofit animal rescue organization. This series brings people and plants together by taking guests through three beautiful gardens to better understand how plants grow, bloom, and change throughout the summer.

Each tour is guided by the garden's owner who will discuss different gardening topics, including growing tips, best plants for Berea gardens, garden design, and the history of their garden. Whether you have a seasoned green thumb or are a gardening greenhorn, there will be something to learn and apply to at-home gardening projects.

During the summer three gardens will be on display Saturday, June 19th and again on July 17th from 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Guests will enjoy the gardens of Mary Startzman at 3 Fairway Drive, Katie Heckman at 104 Lorraine Court, and David Saladino at 102 Harrison Road. The entry donation is $15 cash or check to see all three gardens.

Perennial gardens change every day - as plants come into bud, bloom, and wane - giving us a limited time to enjoy their changing beauty. We hope you plan to join us in the gardens while supporting Paws 4 the Cause in their effort to help Central Kentucky four-footed friends. Rain or shine. For more information call Mary at 859-986-8562.

Please visit <https://www.paws4thecause.com> to learn more about how this organization helps animals.

Republican Party meeting June 24

Rockcastle County Republican Party will hold a reorganization meeting June 24th at 6 p.m. at the Rockcastle County Middle School.

Last March, 2020, Rockcastle County Farm Bureau, in conjunction with Ag Literacy Week, had Joe Howard build the 3rd Book Barn to be given to Brodhead Elementary. Because of COVID and all the regulations they weren't able to deliver it until recently. Thanks to Terry Lawson, President of Rockcastle County Farm Bureau, the barn was delivered. It is made up of book shelves to hold Ag books to promote Ag Literacy.

Plant the Right Tree in the Right Place

Trees beautify our neighborhoods, and when planted in the right spot, can even help lower energy bills. But the wrong tree in the wrong place can be a hazard... especially to power lines

50'		40'		30'		20'		10'		0'
NO TREE ZONE
10'		20'		30'		40'		50'		70'
Small Tree Zone				Med. Tree Zone				Large Tree Zone
Trees less than 25' tall/spread at least 25' from lines.				Trees 25' - 40' in height/spread at least 40' from lines.				Plant trees larger than 40' in height/spread at least 60' from lines.

If your spring plans include planting a tree or shrub, remember to first look up and be mindful of the location of the power lines - that tiny sapling you are planting will one day be a full mature tree!

USDA Reminds Producers to Complete Crop Acreage Reports

The USDA Farm Service Agency (FSA) reminds agricultural producers in Rockcastle County to complete crop acreage reports by the July 15th Deadline.

The following acreage reporting dates are applicable for Rockcastle County:

• July 15, 2021 Perennial Forage, CRP, All other Crops

• Dec 15, 2021 Fall Seeded Small Grains

To complete your acreage report, please call the Rockcastle County FSA office to schedule an appointment. FSA can work with producers to file timely acreage reports by phone, email, online tools and virtual meetings as well as by appointment in person.

The Rockcastle County FSA office will provide maps to producers along with instructions for completing and returning the maps through either mail, email or through commercially available free and secure online tools such as Box for file sharing and OneSpan for eSignature solutions. After planting is complete, producers must return the signed form certifying their acreage report to the FSA office through mail, email, or Box by July 15th.

The following exception applies to acreage reporting dates:

If the crop has not been planted by the acreage reporting date, the acreage must be reported no later than 15 calendar days after planting is completed.

Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) policy holders should note that the acreage reporting date for NAP-covered crops is the earlier of the dates listed above or 15 calendar days before grazing or harvesting of the crop begins.

For questions, please call the Rockcastle County FSA office at (606)256-2525
