High winds sweep through county

Shown above, a fallen tree and broken utility lines on Williams Street in Mt. Vernon caused the road to be closed for cleanup after high winds swept through the county last Friday. Shown at right, a portion of the roofing on the Rockcastle Regional Hospital was blown off the structure. Crews were still working at press time to repair the damage. Patients were moved immediately after the damage and will be returned to their rooms once the area is safe.

State of Emergency declared

According to Rockcastle County Judge/Executive Howell Holbrook, Jr., a State of Emergency was declared in Rockcastle County Saturday due to the damage from high winds this weekend. Holbrook said the declaration opens the county to potential federal emergency funds to help with storm damage repairs.

According to many local officials, Rockcastle County was among many counties hit hard by last week's high winds. "Calls were pretty constant as trees were down blocking roadways and utilities were out across the county most of Friday night and our 911 lines were out for several hours," said Sheriff Shannon Franklin. "Fires and vehicle accidents were reported continually and reports of damage to homes and businesses are still coming in to our office days later."

In fact, over 14,000 homes in Kentucky were without power, after more than 60 utility poles were broken from high winds, according to a Jackson Energy press release.

Governor Andy Beshear declared Kentucky in a State of Emergency before the storm began, and closed all state offices Friday morning. According to the Governor's office there were four fatalities in the state due to the storm.

Locally, Judge/Executive Howell Holbrook officially declared a State of Emergency in Rockcastle County Saturday, freeing up possible federal funds to assist utility companies with local repairs.

Three local fire departments were also listed as Respite Centers in the event someone without electricity or water needed a place to stay over night. However, Holbrook said no local residents asked for

In my opinion, Rockcastle County handled the recent storm damage pretty well. I love the fact that some of our elected officials were right out there in the middle of it all, helping clean up the storm damage.

Even our Judge/Executive is one of those that never directs an emergency from the comfort of an office chair. Everytime it snows he is in the snow truck at 3 a.m. helping get the roads cleared up. And this week after the storms hit, he was seen on the roadside with a chainsaw and shovel like everyone else.

Having that kind of politician is a rare thing anymore and I am certainly glad we still have them. Some of our magistrates and council members are the same way. It is quite the benefit in my opinion.

I have said all my life that I wish we had just one President, or even just one of his advisors, who has had to hold off paying their electric bill until Friday when they get paid. I wish just one person who makes the decisions about how all the rest of us are supposed to live and what we are supposed to think, would have some clue what our life is actually like. To have some idea what the average American goes through would be a huge benefit for a President in my view.

Congressmen we currently have certainly do not have any idea what life is like in middle America. Joe Biden has not the foggiest idea what decisions we have to make every day. He has no clue what life is like for someone who lives check to check.

Even if someone sat down and explained it to him in minute detail, he still couldn't possibly understand unless he has had to live it just once. Unfortunately, I don't think anyone has ever even attempted to explain it to him. He has surrounded himself with left wing nut jobs who are men dressed in a girdle so that he can say he appoints women to his cabinet. Those genderwhining lefties have no clue what life is like for the average American. They are anything but average.

This is an attitude that separates people by leadership. A true leader will not ask those under them to do anything they don't do themselves.

I see something on social media every day about a particular local fast food restaurant being terrible. And rightly so. But it is because their owners/leaders don't care and won't work at it. It's not the girl's fault at the drive through window. She is doing what she was told to do and she does not have the author-

Are we in Kansas Yet? Dear Journal,

This past Friday was March 3rd. It was the anniversary of a severe tornado event about eight to ten years ago. As I looked for the exact year on Google, I found that March 2nd, 3rd, and 4th are popular dates for tornadoes in Kentucky. What we had here in Rockcastle County on the 3rdwasn't classified as a tornado, just very strong winds. There was a lot of damage done but we were spared. There was only about three or four limbs that had been blown from our maple trees in the front yard.

Those limbs were dead and needed to go, anyway. You could say that it was a blessing. We didn't even have to call the tree trimmers. Other people had quite a bit of damage, especially with blown down trees and roofing problems. We had been told days ahead of high winds in the area on Friday. Just the knowledge of such doesn't really help a whole lot. You don't know exactly what to try to protect. You can't protect everything you have unless you put it down in In my case, I started to pray Friday morning concerning the weather that we were facing later in the day. I prayed for our wellbeing, our house and other properties that we own, our animals and our friends and families. Then, I decided that was a little selfish, and I included all people and things in the wind's path. ar este discolina di di di V

Legislative Update

By Brandon Storm State Senator Week 5

During the General Assembly's fifth week of the 30-day legislative session, March came in like a lion, with over 30 bills clearing the Senate chamber. However, the legislative forecast is not calling for March to go out like a lamb, as plenty of work remains in Frankfort before the final day of session on March 30.

The following bills gained the Senate's approval and can now be considered by the state House of Representa-

Senate Bill 4 strengthens electric grid reliability in the commonwealth and ensures Kentucky residents are not faced with the dangerous and often deadly consequences of power outages. If enacted, it would prohibit the Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) from retiring an electric coal-fired generator unless the utility can demonstrate that taking the fossil fueled Electric generator offline will:

•Not harm the reliability or the resilience of the electric grid;

•Not negatively impact the affordability of customers' electricity utility rates; and Ensure safety.

The bill will require PSC to submit an annual report by December 1 to the Legislative Research Commission on retiring electric generating units. Since the measure carries an emergency designation, it would go into effect immediately upon filing with the Kentucky Secretary of State's Office.

Senate Bill 90 improves safety and care for addiction patients by establishing access to transportation services at chemical dependency

The bill's provisions require any licensed chemical dependency treatment service program to provide transportation or access to transportation services to residents who wish to voluntarily leave the treatment program in cases where the resident's family, guardian, or emergency contact does not agree to transport them. It also prohibits facilities and law enforcement officers from taking the resident to any location other than public transportation locations, places to meet the ride-sharing service driver such as Uber or Lyft, or the resident's home. Before admitting a resident to a treatment center, a facility must determine if the resident has

Senate Bill 120 results from a collaborative effort between interested stakeholders providing a statutory framework for homeowner associations to better function and self-govern while implementing consumer protections and transparency for homeowner association members. The bill ensures homeowner associations set fees at appropriate levels to meet maintenance obligations, provides financial openness and financial audit provisions, and enforces fee collection in compliance with deed restrictions. The bill would also require a new homeowner association to file a declaration with the local county clerk's office and provide bylaws along with organizing documents showing how the association will be organized that identify members of the board of directors and outline the board's day-to-day func-

Senate Bill 229 would strengthen communication between agencies regarding suspected child abuse cases. It requires an agency that is the reporting source also to notify local law enforceany outstanding arrest ment, the Kentucky State Police, the commonwealth's attorney, or the county attorney when receiving suspected abuse or neglect of a child within their agency. Supervisors must cooperate with investigations of reports. The bill would also allow the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services to determine whether an announced or unannounced visit is necessary after receiving an allegation of child abuse or neglect. I would guess that 99% of the reason for success in business is that the person most invested and with the most to gain from that business, outworks everyone else and puts in more hours and more sweat than the hourly workers. Because someone is so dedicated and vested, they carefully make every decision after logical, realistic thought.

Hence, if a President or Governor could do such a thing, they would actually make decisions that benefit the people more than their own special interests. Their state and their country would be their business. Everyone that worked under them would benefit as they themselves benefit. But under this rich-boy, "daddy // gave // me" lifestyle that our Governor and our President have lived, their decisions benefit them and we the people just don't matter.

The truth is hard to face especially for those who want to believe everything is okay. But the truth is our Governor can cry and blubber all he wants and our President can read off anv teleprompter in America, but they couldn't care less if you lost someone to COVID. Their concern is, will they be called the "leader who lost so many to COVID." They don't care that gas prices are high. They just don't want to be the one in charge when it goes up. Blame the last guy.

If it affected them personally, it would be different. But they don't buy gas themselves. They have staff do that for

I guess I am just happy that at least our local people are hands-on and actually care. I am proud of our community.

I am blessed to see a lot behind closed doors when the general public isn't there and I can say that from my point of view, we are a blessed county.

All we have to do is vote for the same kind of people for Washington and Frankfort and get the rest of the world to follow along. Good luck with that.

Rockcastle County awarded federal funds under the Emergency Food and Shelter National Board Program

Rockcastle Co. has been chosen to receive funds for Phase 40 in the amount of $6,784.00 to supplement emergency food and shelter programs in the county.

The selection was made by a National Board that is chaired by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and consists of representatives from the Salvation Army, American Red Cross, United Jewish Communities, Catholic Charities, USA, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the USA and United Way of America which will provide the administrative staff and function as fiscal agent. The Board was charged to distribute funds appropriated by Congress to help expand the capacity of food and shelter programs in high-need areas around the country.

A local board will determine how the funds awarded to Rockcastle County are to be distributed among the emergency food and shelter programs run by local service organizations in the area. The local board is responsible for recommending agencies to receive these funds and any additional funds available under this phase of the program.

Under the terms of the grant from the National Board, local organizations chosen to receive funds must: 1) be private voluntary non-profits or units of government, 2) have an accounting system, 3) practice nondiscrimination, 4) have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter programs, and 5) if they are a private voluntary organization, they must have a voluntary board. Qualifying organizations are urged to apply.

Rockcastle Co. has distributed emergency food and shelter funds previously with Feeding the Flock Ministries, Grateful Breads, and Daniel Boone Community Action Agency, Inc.

Public or private voluntary organizations interested in applying for Emergency Food and Shelter Program funds must contact Leslie Faulkner at Daniel Boone Community Agency, Inc. at (606) 256-5315. The deadline for application to be received within 10 days of advertisement.

(Continued from front) such assistance. "We had the places prepared in the event someone needed it and we appreciate the help from the fire department volunteers in preparing such locations," he said.

Though utility service for most homes has been restored, some homes in the county were still without power at press time.

Along with countless damage to homes across the county, the roof of one section of Rockcastle Regional Hospital was blown off the structure and into the parking lot. Emergency crews instantly began evacuating any patient that may have been affected by the damage to an area of the hospital that was untouched by damage. "Our people leapt into action and as always, patient safety was our immediate goal," said Public Relations Director Jana Bray. "We were able to move all the affected patients to safety with no injuries reported."

Crews also immediately began cleaning up the damage and repairing the roof. Bray said patients will be returned to their rooms after all repairs and clean up is complete.

The high winds began Friday afternoon and by nightfall, members of all local fire departments were on the streets and roads throughout the county cleaning debris that had blown into the roadway. The Mount Vernon Fire Department reports a tree falling that caused the closure of Williams Street and a roof blown off a garage into the family vehicle on McFerron Street. Many other calls concerning downed trees and broken utility lines were responded to by the department Friday evening and into Saturday.

First responders indeputies and EMS workers and all the fire departments have been out there in the wind and rain cutting and cleaning and creating a safer environment for all," said Franklin. "And the Judge himself was right out there with us getting his hands as dirty as any of us. I can't thank our fire departments, our elected officials and all first responders enough for their hard work during this storm."

Those experiencing power outage are urged to call 800-262-7480.

This is the second time that recent storms have caused Rockcastle 911 emergency lines to go out of service in Rockcastle County during an emergency. When 911 lines are out of order, residents are urged to call 606-256-7225 or 606-256-7226 or the Kentucky State Police at 606-878-6622. Local 911 service was restored after the winds began to dissipate and emergency conditions were ending.

In an apparent unrelated call, the Mount

Vernon Fire Department and the Mount Vernon Police Department were called to s small fire inside an abandoned building near the railroad tracks on Richmond Street. Fire Department reports indicate a small fire was located inside the building and extinguished with a fire extinguisher.

Recent ordinance amendments were approved in Mount Vernon to deal with abandoned buildings and public accessibility. The city now has the authority to force the building owners to make the building inaccessible to transients or to protect the structure from trespassers.

The case is under investigation.

The Men Needed In The Church

WE NEED MEN OF KNOWLEDGE LIKE TIMOTHY. (2 Tim.3:15) And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus.

MEN WHO PLEASE GOD LIKE ENOCH. (Heb.11:5) By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death; and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God. Words that should be able to be said about every Christian living or dead, (THAT THEY ARE PLEASING IN THE EYES OF GOD).

MEN, WHO ARE ABLE TO COUNT THE COST. (Phill.3:8) Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Iesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ. If we could all just look at the material things of this world as the apostle Paul did, what a change would overcome every one of us.

GOD FEARING-MEN LIKE PETER AND JOHN. (Acts 4:19,20) But Peter and John answered and said unto them, Whether it be right in the sight of God to hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye: For we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard.

MEN OF VIRTUE AND PURITY LIKE JOSEPH. (Gen. 39:1-23) Joseph was a man that was virtuous in all his ways, though he was treated unjust, he treated everyone fairly and never did he hold a grudge.

MEN OF RIGHTEOUSNESS LIKE NOAH. (2 Pet.2:5) And spared not the old world, but saved Noah, the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood upon the world of the ungodly. Noah preached repentance while the ark was being built and he lived by the words which came from his mouth.

MEN OF VISION LIKE NEHEMIAH. (Neh.1:6) Let thine ear now be attentive, and thine eyes be open, that thou mayest hear the prayer of thy servant, which I pray before thee now, day and night, for the children of Israel thy servants, and confess the sins of the children of Israel, which we have sinned against thee; both I and my father's house have sinned. Before we can truly see clearly, we must not only confess the sins of the church we must confess our own sins as leaders, and ask God to forgive us and to help us move forward with a pure and holy heart.

Joanie Woodall with Ray Owens, who shared his testimony when Joanie got saved.

God can turn your life around

Submitted by: Joanie Woodall

For 20 years, I was a drug user/seller. I stole from Wal-Mart to feed my addiction, battled with anxiety and depression, but God!!! I went from having anything I wanted to losing everything including my family. I ended up homeless, hopeless and walking everywhere I went.

I was living in my parent's garage when my family turned against me but praise God, my parents stepped in and took care of my kids. I got sick and tired of being sick and tired and one day while in the garage, I hit my knees and cried out to the Lord. "Please help me, if it is meant for me to be happy and have a life or please take my life

Being used to my normal routine and thinking I have to get my high, I wish I could say that was it but I got up and walked straight to my drug dealer and collapsed in the floor. God has a way of getting our attention and was showing me then he could take my life when I had the light heart attack but he showed me his grace and mercy and I am so thankful. Now, I celebrate five years sober. Jesus gets all the praise and glory. I can't do it without him. I tried and always failed always got me back to getting high and in the devil's traps on my own.

Now, looking back, I realize Jesus was always with me and never left my side. Honestly, I shouldn't be here now. February 5, 2018 is my sobriety date and May 22, 2018 I did the best thing I had ever done, and got saved.

I was at Northside Celebrate Recovery when I gave my life to the Lord listening to a testimony from Ray Owens. He was talking about all the baggage we pack around and I could relate to his testimony. The Lord kept tugging at my heart and I got saved. June 3, 2018 got baptized at Northside Baptist Church. For five years now for me and four years for my husband, Frankie Woodall. We share our testimony and our hope with others, and we go to the jail and let others know God can do for them what he has done for us. God gets the glory and the praise for it all. If it wasn't for people like Ray Owens and us willing to share, I might not be where I am today and others might not have the chance.

I just want to say there are different ways to get sober on your own or rehabs but most important if you don't have God and put Him first always and put your faith and trust in Him then it don't always work. It can be done with

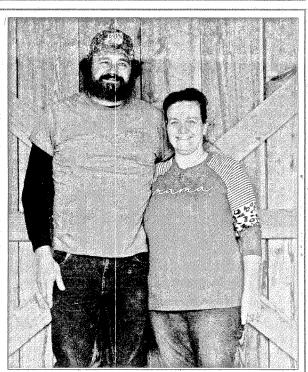

God. I am proof that not only has He took my want to get high, my depression and anxiety, He has also restored my family. Praise God. All three of my kids are in my life now. My family is proud of me. I have food, shelter, a wonderful husband with six kids together and a granddaughter he has blessed us with.

We have our own home/vehicles and our own business but we can't do it without God.

If you don't know Jesus as your Lord and Savior now is the time. We don't know how long we are going to live and it is up to us where, Heaven or Hell? John 3:16, For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten son so that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but will have everlasting life.

God bless you all. Anyone who is struggling, there is hope and it is in

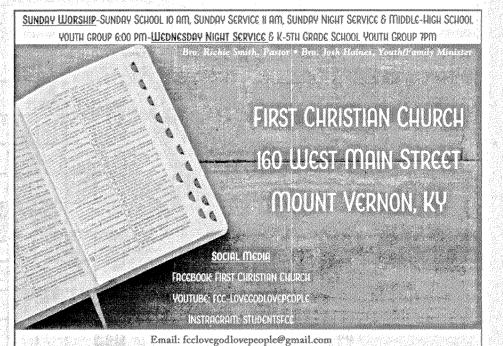

We all have tried to fill that emptiness inside that only God can fill.

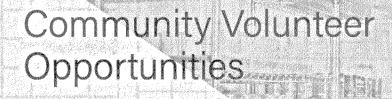

Joanie Woodall and husband Frankie Woodall celebrated five and four years sober February, 2023.

DAR sponsors classroom grant

The National Society Daughters of the American Revolution is sponsoring the Helen Pouch Memorial Fund Classroom Grant program. This grant program was established in 2017 and provides fifty-one $500 grants to classroom teachers impacting more than 10,000 students nationwide. Since 2018, two $500 grants are available for each state and the District of Columbia. Applicants must be a classroom teacher for grades kindergarten through 12thgrade, must be endorsed by a local DAR chapter, and complete the grant award application.

Proposed projects must directly benefit students in the classroom. Funds may be used for supplies, guest speakers, off campus fieldtrips and educational resources, but applicant must show how these items help to further the educational goals of the DAR.

This grant is a onetime award and recipients are not eligible to re-apply in future years. Application forms for 2023 are now available February 15th through April 15th. Any classroom teacher wishing to apply please contact Rockcastle, Chapter NSDAR rockcastledar@gmail.com.

Yards to Paradise

By Max Phelps The Early Spring

Every decade or so there has been a year I've seen an early spring, and 2023 certainly appears to be one of them. I recall planting peas and potatoes and onions and carrots in February back in the 1960's, and though there may have been a couple freezes, I didn't have to replant the early garden. I recall picking a ripe berry in April in 1992 and a number of other seasons that got off to an early beginning.

Even more often, there's a false start to spring, and things bud in January and end up frozen in March or April (and even in May occasionally). I remember snow for the Kentucky Derby in 1991. Those early gardeners get disappointed in such years.

Then there's the winter that's both bad and long like in 2014 or 2015.

More days in the 70's than in the teens this February has gotten wildflowers and many trees to wake up three weeks or more early this year. Not just star magnolias and forsythia, but I observed a weeping crabapple in bloom the last Friday in February. And callery pears also.

Since the groundhog didn't predict this early spring, it may have caught many off guard. But, I have a collection of radish, mustard, kale, kohlrabi and other frost tolerant seeds ready to plant. Just need to find some time to do it.

Shoppers have been looking for trees already = 1 at the garden centers and big box stores. Mostly they've gone home with no plants. I usually do some grafting, and this year my supplier sent rootstocks out three weeks early, so that's another thing on my long to-do list.

So, should you be planting yet? For frosthardy vegetable, such as some cabbages and broccoli, kale and mustard, chard and turnips, the reply is "yes". Garden peas and onions also. Don't get the squash or melon seeds out though—those are crops for summertime. Pansies, if you can find any for sale, can be planted. Hellebores. And you can certainly plant dormant trees and shrubs in planting zones 6 and 7 at this time.

Your garden may be muddy and tilling impossible. Old timers turned the soil even in fall or as conditions permitted in January or February—planning for a late freeze to 'condition' the muddy soil for them. 💸 There may be no more hard freezes this year. Solutions? Maybe you have or can build a raised garden bed and add topsoil or potting soil an plant in that. That's a quick solution for the small backyard or kitchen gardener. Or, the next 70 degree day, apply some glyphosate like the big farmers do and M plant your seeds "no-till" his method this year if you w desire to get gardening in early.

Typically, the early on gardener is going to have di to cover some sensitive plants prior to a frosty night or something, even in years of early springtime. But, if you're not getting started planting your cool season veggies, you're missing out on a splendid opportunity for an early har-

Court still considering Livingston properties

By: Mike French Editor

There is close to 40 acres of property in the City of Livingston that is currently owned by the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court.

Over the past several years, several local citizens, including past Livingston Mayors, have made plans to use the property as a tourist location, including zip lines and cabin rentals among other attractions. However, no plans have developed past the planning stages.

The property is once again being discussed by the fiscal court which apparently voted to sell the property months ago. The idea had apparently been forgotten since magistrates voted last week to sell the property once again at a special called meeting. "The court had already voted to sell that property," said Judge/Executive Howell Holbrook. "The process was tabled and put off a few times but that was the vote. We just hadn't gotten to it vet."

However, Magistrate Mike McGuire says if such a vote were held again, he would change

Former mayor inducted to Lincoln Club Hall of Fame

U.S. Senator Mitch McConnell stands with Michael Bryant and McConnell's wife Elain Chao after Bryant was inducted into the Hall of Fame.

By: Mike French Editor

As a Deputy Sheriff, a police officer, a pastor and a mayor, Michael Bryant, Sr., has become very well known throughout Rockcastle County and the State of Kentucky. Now, his name is in the Lincoln Club Hall of Fame for Republican Leaders in 30 counties. Long-time Mount Vernon Mayor Michael Bryant, Sr. joined two other Republicans in Kentucky as they were inducted into the 83rd annual Fifth Congressional District Lincoln Club Hall of Fame on March 4 in Corbin. The fifth district includes 30 counties in Kentucky.

Bryant served as Mayor # of # Mount Vernon for 12 years until he retired from office in 2022.

The sold-out crowd at the annual event last week heard from several Republican candidates for Governor as well as from U. S. Senator Mitch McConnell and U.S. Representative Hal Rogers. The Republican Primary Election will be Tuesday, May 16 and several Republican dignitaries were present at the event to promote candidates. Bryant joined

Gary Barton, Whitley County Circuit Clerk and Ann Ratliff, Johnson County Republican party member, as Hall of Fame entries. Congressman

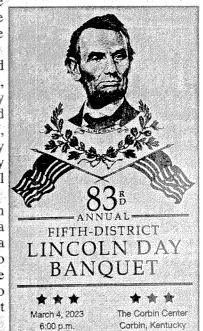

Rogers also led a silent prayer as a tribute Bryant's wife Carol, who passed away last month.

Bryant said the event was among the most appreciated honors of his career. "This was the highest honor of my 77 and 1/2 years," he said.

Bryant was awarded a plaque recognizing his dedication to the Republican Party and the property until he could show the many possible uses for the space. However, the court discussed the sale of the property again in a special meeting last week and voted once again to sell the property. Magistrates and the Judge/Executive agreed to reopen the subject during the work session planned for Monday, March 13 and perhaps take action on Tuesday evening at the Former Judge/Executive Buzz Carloftis stood at a recent fiscal court meeting to ask the court to table the sale of that property.

Other property in Livingston that is owned by the county is also currently in question and the county and the city are negotiating how to rent the spaces. Two of the four renters of the properties have announced their plans to leave the City of Livingston since the election in November.

Whether the city or the county will control such property is still in question. "We will talk about it in the court meeting and see what is best for the county and the city of Livingston," said McGuire. There has also been some discussion of possible plans for the water company which rents one of the spaces, to close their office in the city.

Some magistrates have expressed their opinion that the county should have more control over who rents the property and how much the rental fees are at each lo-

"I think some of our magistrates believe the county should have more control over the countyowned property," said Holbrook. "But that's up to them. I will present it to the court and they will decide how to handle the situation from there."

Vernon." "Drugs"

they find a new way." In this case, the drugs were hidden inside a tube of toothpaste in such a way that it was nearly impossible to see, according to Carter. "The seal on the toothpaste hadn't been broken and it seemed perfectly normal to all of us." Carter and his deputies spend a good part of their time every day dealing with the constant problem of drugs in the jail. But the Rockcastle County Detention Center is by no means alone.

In fact, across the country, it is estimated that over 85% of inmates in a jail or prison in America can trace their arrest back to a drug offense, according to the Bureau of Prisons (BOP).

Of the hundreds of charges that cause incarceration, drug-related issues make up nearly half of all cases, according to the NIH (National Institute of Health).

Burglary, larceny, bank fraud, counterfeiting, embezzlement, homicide, assault, kidnapping, armed robbery and more add up to about 10% of incarcerations, according to the BOP. While drug-related offenses make up nearly 50% of all arrests. According to the NIH, even those arrested for other crimes often committed that crime due to a drugrelated issue.

Methamphetamine can be hidden in a very small item and be difficult to locate, according to Carter, but he and his deputies receive continual training and look for signs every day, he added.

In last week's indictments; Rodney Wayne Owens, Stephanie Nicole Miller and Brittney Marie Morgan were each indicted after searches and an investigation following the two overdoses led to the discovery of the meth, Carter says. However, Carter and his deputies say they will fight the drug issue every day without hesitation.

"I give credit to our deputies," said Carter. "They are very well trained and they are always looking for contraband. It is a constant cat and mouse game and they get very creative bringing drugs into the jail. It is a serious issue and we will never give up."

his vote. "At the time, nothing was going to happen there and we just didn't need the property," said McGuire. "But now, the county doesn't need extra funds from the sale of that property and I would like to see it used to better Livingston. There may be ways to use that space to benefit the City of Livingston and the entire county."

However, not all magistrates are expected to agree that the property could be beneficial to the county. "If another vote was held I don't know that it would change anything," said McGuire. "I would change my vote but there is no reason to believe other magistrates
