First-time mayors elected in every city

By: Mike French
 Editor

Editor's Note: At press time Tuesday night, the following numbers were unofficial, according to County Clerk Danetta Allen.

For the first time in recent memory, all three cities in Rockcastle County are under new leadership as the mayors in Mount Vernon, Livingston and Brodhead are all newly elected, first-time Mayors in the mid-term General Election held Tuesday, November 8.

In a very close race for Mayor of Mount Vernon, Tim "Duck" Roberts took 290 votes beating Cliff Mullins who received 288.

In the heated race for Mayor in the City of Livingston, Larry Davidson took the most votes with 35 and will become the new mayor of Livingston in January. Current Mayor Dwane King received 32 votes and Donna Durham received three.

In the City of Brodhead Mayor, Jerry Adams, the only candidate for the office, received 197 votes.

In the race for Mount Vernon City Council, there were seven candidates and the top six vote-getters will be named to the council. Beginning in January, the council will consist of Wayne Bullock with 360 votes, James Dean Bowman with 322 votes, and Shelley Raines Lewis with 326 votes. Write-in vote totals were not available Tuesday night but candidates Lonetta Daugherty, Nichole Griffn, Gertha Mink and Michael VanWinkle are vying for the final three spots.

In the race for Brodhead City Commission, the four candidates for the four seats available were won by Bryanna Mullins with 177, Harold Lee Taylor with 168, Brian Bullock with 157 and Teddy Rose

Over 2,000 acres burn in local fire

By: Mike French
 Editor

Livingston Fire and Rescue firefighters found themselves in a battle with a forest fire with over 100 acres of undergrowth, brush and trees burning last week. But, due to winds and dry ground, the fire has now covered, over 2,000 acres and was still burning at press time.

Members of the Mount Vernon Fire Department and Climax Fire Department rushed to the scene on Cut Gap Road, near Sand Hill, to offer assistance.

Livingston Fire Chief Jeff Carpenter and his crews battled the blaze with the help of volunteers from other departments but wind and heavy forest debris helped the fire continue to grow, he said. Smoke soon filled the forest and began moving over Rockcastle County as some residents as far away as Brodhead, on the opposite side of the county, said they could see or smell the smoke.

Since a large portion of the fire was over federal public land and private property, state firefighters were called to the scene. However, Carpenter said state firefighters were so busy that the United States Forestry Service was also called to the area. "The feds usually like to do things their own way and we turned it over to them when they arrived," said Carpenter.

Firefighters faced 1,000 acres of burning brush this weekend. Smoke is still present in some areas of Rockcastle County as federal fire crews arrived to battle the blaze.

Middle School project still moving forward

By: Mike French
 Editor

Due to the general election, the Rockcastle County School Board moved their regular monthly meeting to Monday this month, making the meeting a special called meeting.

Members of the board saw countless quick glimpses of a complex set of plans for the new middle school and then were asked for approval from representatives of Deco Architecture. Dozens of detailed, architectural slides were quickly shown. After the presentation ended, the representatives said that more specific plans will be provided at the December meeting. The plans provided thus far passed board approval unanimously.

Representatives told the board the plans will now be given to estimators who will inform the board if the plans are within the expected bud-

Man falls from local bridge after car crash

By: Mike French

Mount Vernon and Brodhead Fire Department volunteers, along with the Rockcastle County Sheriff's office, were called to use their special rescue equipment, after an Indiana man, involved in a minor vehicle crash, apparently fell off a bridge near KY-461 and US-150 last week.

The incident happened Sunday, October, 30 as local first responders were called to the vehicle accident. Robert Pike, 18, struck a bridge near the intersection, according to tion is expected to have an influence on the cost of the building which was originally estimated at $34 million but more accurate, adjusted estimates are expected at the December meeting. The cost of the building is expected to rise noticeably due to inflation but some savings are expected through alterations in the plans.

Representatives of the firm told the board they would be asking for "final, final approvals" sometime in February.

I am writing this on election day, and I will admit to some trepidation about election results across the country.

Mainly, I'm concerned that Republicans won't take the house and senate and we won't get our chance to "destroy Democracy" in this country as has been predicted by so many high-ranking Democrats.

It's not often that a small town newspaper publisher gets the chance to be a part of a movement that takes our Republic to a 1935s German Nazi way of life, according to South Carolina Representative James Clyburn. There have even been predictions that we will kill children in the streets, you know, sorta like what is happening just about every weekend in Chicago now?

I'm not quite sure what brought this particular charge against Republicans about since we aren't normally known for killing children in the streets, even occasionally. And, as best I can remember, it was Democrats that used to burn down black churches and terrify little black children as they attempted to enroll at white schools. But, ah, I remember now. According to Democrats, the parties "switched" several years ago and now Republicans are the Democrats of the slavery and Jim Crow eras in this country - mainly because modern day Democrats say so.

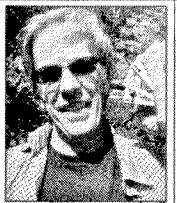

I have spent the last two years with my mind in turmoil because while I hope people will realize that we went from a booming economy with 1.4% inflation (with mean tweets) to a scary time of 8.2% inflation (with tweets that blow smoke -- well, you know where), causing grocery and gas prices that are forcing middle class families to choose between the two. Of course we could take the advice of incumbent Democrat Representative Tim Ryan of Ohio who said in an interview, when asked about his ideas to curb inflation, that we should just crack open some Chef Boy-Ar-Dee like his family did when prices got high. Sort of a "Let them eat cake," moment.

Aces Over

By: Mike French

And it comes. Another nice, warm, beautiful summer is over. Nights of going outside in a t-shirt and watching the stars or going for a night ride on a motorcycle, is over once again. The cold, icy, wet, messy, slushy, painful, miserable, dangerous, muddy days of winter are almost here again.

The beautiful, green trees are turning to their dead, dried-out, brown limbs and animals are digging holes to hide out underground for the next five months. Roads will present hazardous, treacherous trips instead of calm cruises through the country. Ice will freeze and thaw and freeze again causing roads to burst into gravel and water pipes to explode across the state. Homes will be flooded from broken water lines, electric bills will rise exponentially and batteries will be dead all across Kentucky for months.

Nice outfits and swimsuits will turn into layer after layer of fur with boggins and scarfs hiding hair and eyes, wrapped around what we will have to guess is a human.

Instead of happy people strolling down sidewalks, we will see people humped over and curled up under thick coats trying to keep the snow and sleet out of their eyes and the horrid wind from biting their fingers and ears.

It will be pitch black when we head out for work and pitch black when we get home, if we make it home at all through the sludge that covers roads and sidewalks and makes our shoes and clothing soaking wet.

A trip to the store will turn from an evening out enjoying the night air, to a treacherous trek through sleet and ice and wind and darkness and

Wurlitzer Music

When I was a very young boy, my parents operated the Ideal Café on Main Street in Mt. Vernon. One of the attractions at the café was the new Wurlitzer jukebox. Customers filled the music machine with coins as they selected the records that they wanted to hear.

On a regular basis, the company that stocked the jukebox with popular music came by in order to change out the tunes, removing the ones that had fallen from the music charts. My brother, Al, informed me that the man changing the records would give the older records to him.

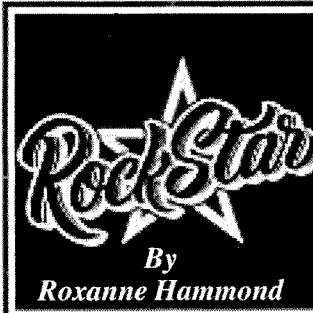

In 1974, the Randolph Wurlitzer Company's jukeboxes cost about $750. That would be about $9,800 in today's economy. Customers would put their coins in the slot as they selected music from the 24 records that the early jukeboxes held.

The word "jukebox" came into use in the United States beginning in 1940. The word was derived from the term "juke joint" which means bawdy.

Stereo sound became popular in the early 1960's, and jukeboxes were designed with built in speakers to provide customers with this latest technology. As of 2016 there are two companies that still manufacture classic-styled jukeboxes: Rockola in California

Coach Preston Parrett

By Roxanne Hammond

Daylight Savings time has come and gone. This week the weather forecast is for colder temperatures. To many that means it's beginning to look a lot like Christmas, now just 45 days away. For those of us in Kentucky, however, it really means one important thing, it's basketball time in the Bluegrass. College teams start seasonal play this week and high school to follow in a couple of weeks.

With that in mind I thought it a good time to highlight one of Rockcastle County's greats in the basketball arena, Coach Preston Parrett.

Coach Parrett is a well deserving, devoted and much admired person in our county, even well beyond his passing.

My husband played for coach Parrett at Livingston prior to the consolidation into RCHS. He and good

By the Light of the Silvery Moon
Dear Journal,

It seems that for the last few days Stanley and I have had business over in London at least two or three times a week. We found it necessary to stay out after dark, therefore we drove home in the moonlight. As Stanley drove, I was looking up at the moon. Every night or so, I noticed it becoming full.

We drove along Highway 25 heading north. The moon was peeping through the clouds, and now and then through the barren trees. I remembered seeing the moon on one other very important occasion that ment that got Marie Antionette beheaded in France.

I will die and go to my grave convinced of two things: FDR knew of the attack of Pearl Harbor in advance and chose not to do anything about it because he wanted to get into WWII so badly and the American public didn't and 2) the 2020 election was flat out stolen.

Hamilton County, Indiana election officials have confirmed, in this election, that a Democrat poll worker was selecting the Democrat straight ticket for voters when "explaining the machine," and Biden has said in several speeches that it will take several days for election results to be known in several states because of the time involved in counting all legal votes (or the extra time is needed to calculate just how many uncounted ballots need to be "found."

I am worried about this election because Democrats are desparate. They can no longer envision any other party having control of our government and have spent the last couple of months labeling Republicans as "ultra extremists."

Biden announced at a rally last week that there would NOT BE ANY MORE DRILLING in this country and that ALL coal burning power plants are going to be shut down. Heating oil is already being rationed and the cost is at $7 a gallon. Officials in England have said they expect 10,000 deaths there this winter from freezing to death because of the shortage of heating oil and the cost.

Some of Democrats' pleas for votes are comical with Governor Kathy Hochul of New York pleading in one campaign speech "Be my apostles" to the unvaccinated "who aren't listening to God." It's almost as comical as Democrat candidate for the US Senate for Pennsylvania John Fetterman, who is 100% liberal on every subject known to man, telling his supporters that he is for "the demise of Roe v. Wade." Maybe he is confused a little as to what demise means? because this can't be true. This man is even for turning prisoners out on a massive scale, even those sentenced for murder.

We'll just have to wait and see nationally. We are holding our paper as long as possible for printing to try and get local election information in but, it's uncertain at this time how many water line breaks, windows that need to be boarded up and how many election workers who have to go home to sleep before finishing the count (and, who after the Republican workers left were videoed pulling out large suitcases of ballots from under desks in the last election, but nothing to see here folks).

Even though some Democrats are predicting a bad day for their party and Republican pollsters are predicting at least a "surge" if not a "wave" for Republican candidates, I will not believe it until it actually happens. This is because I'm old and cynical and believe that Democrats have no intention of going down without a fight that includes messing with the votes cast.

And, don't give me their high moral standard would be a deterrent to them doing so. They had no problem with jailing hundreds of Americans, almost two years ago, mainly on trespassing charges, denying them due process but refusing to even question Ray Epps, who is on video urging the crowd into the capital on January 6th. Through huge doors, by the way, that could only be opened from the inside. There are 14,000 hours of videos that has never been seen by anyone, except possibly Nancy Pelosi and cohorts and which Pelosi refuses to release along with hundreds of emails that have never been seen or examined, lots of them between Epps and Pelosi. Pelosi is claiming "sovereign immunity" in federal court to hide them. She also claims they are not public records and there's no public interest in their release.

If Republicans get the House they immediately need to make sure the Pelosi gang doesn't start destroying the videos, emails, etc.

Of course, if that's left up to Mitch McConnell, he'll probably personally approve their destruction. Yes, I said it and I believe it!!

and Leeds in the United Kingdom.

I was approximately 12 years old when I purchased my own stereo record player. My stereo came with an album that demonstrated the new stereo sound. This record player's music sounded much like my parents' jukebox. Bud Cox and I listened to the sound of trains and cars passing from left to right on my new machine. We were thrilled to hear the stereo sound.

I took that stereo with me to UK in 1962. I mounted the speakers on my wall in Hagen Hall and could hear the separated sounds of my stereo. Several of my UK friends had never experienced the sounds of stereo until they heard mine.

Jukeboxes were most popular from the 1940's through the 1960's. At that time, Billboard published a record chart measuring jukebox play, which became the Hot-100. Teenagers gathered at cafes and restaurants that had the latest music on their jukeboxes. On many occasions, our bunch ended up at Ham's Drive-In between Mt. Vernon and Brodhead. We often asked them to turn up the outside speakers so that we could listen to the jukebox from our cars.

geant in Johnson's contrived war. And, I shall have more to say on that subject at a later date. But, right now, Ron would want me to concentrate on thanking Sgt. Bradley for his pictorial images of a thankless waste of life and blood on a foreign battlefield that gained us nothing in return.

Yet, here again, under the same control and teetering on the brink of another war. It's all they know and want, while searching for others to blame for the damage.

President Reagan once admitted some guilt, "Because," he said, "I was once a Democrat."

Today, we need more soul-searchers "who refuse to go down with a fast-sinking ship in an ocean of sharks."

painful cold and scraping windshields and kicking brown, icy sludge off our car fenders and wheels.

For months there will be no butterflies, no buttercups, no fresh garden vegetables, or flower gardens and thousands of animals will die a slow and painful death as they huddle together in the fields for a last touch of warmth in an attempt to remember what comfort felt like.

Yes, summer is over and winter draws nigh. Though fall is the most beautiful month of the year, it brings nothing more than a warning of impending horrors, death, pain and discomfort.

If hibernating were a human trait, I would be eating my share of meats, fruits and veggies right now to fatten up until the thaw.

Misery is but weeks away now and all the beauty and joy of the outside world will be gone for months. Summer will officially begin again on June 21, 2023. Though some days with less Devil involved, may begin to appear in late March or early April.

As for me, my calendar with 180 days listed, is sitting on my desk and each day I will mark off one day closer to dry ground with the warmth of the sunshine on my face.

Good luck to all through the ravishes of this winter and may the Bird of Paradise lose some warm feathers flying over your home.

came to mind and I shared the story with

Stanley. I was ten years old and had been following this story for days like most everybody in the world. It was on a Sunday night pretty soon after The Ed Sullivan Show and Bonanza went off TV. Mom and I were over at my Grandpa and Grandma Norton's house next door to us. We were watching a big floor model black and white TV. Very few people had color TVs at that time. Mom and I were watching to see the event of the century. None of the rest of the family seemed to be that interested and had gone to bed. The date was July 20, 1969.

It seemed that Apollo 11 was circling for hours, preparing to land for the first time on the moon. Finally they had touch-down. Then for what seemed like an eternity, it happened.

Neil Armstrong stepped on to the lunar surface and into history. "Buzz" Aldrin soon was on the surface as well and filming. I'll never forget when they put up the American flag. Michael Collins remained aboard the command module and orbited the moon.

This was the most amazing thing people had ever witnessed up until that point. Then I got an idea. I got up from the couch and walked out to the backyard. Grandma had a beautiful backyard. Her honeysuckle, various roses and maybe some lilacs were in bloom. Anyway, it was one of the most fragrant experiences I can remember. I looked up at the moon which wasn't full just yet, but was about two thirds full. I looked and looked, squinted and everything. No matter how hard I looked, there was no sign of the astronauts of their rocket, either.

I went back inside pretty soon and told Mom that I had been out in the backyard to see if I could see anything of the Apollo 11 on the moon. I told her that the moon isn't full yet and the astronauts and rocket were nowhere to be seen. Then I told her that they must have landed on the dark part or I could have seen them. It is no wonder a lot of people don't believe this moon mission was just a big prank. Only the silvery moon knows for sure.

Obituaries

Barbara Ann McKnight-Bishop

Barbara Ann McKnight-Bishop, 67, of Brodhead, died peacefully at her home on Wednesday, November 2, 2022. She was born October 8, 1955, in Lynch, a daughter of the late Ulas and Cora Murphy. She was a devout Christian, a devoted wife, and an exceptionally loving mother. She was a member of the Lynch Church of God and the Cumberland Pentecostal Church, where she sang in choirs, participated in Ladies' Ministries, and taught Sunday School. Barbara spent many years as a schoolteacher at the Lynch and Victory Road Christian Academies. In middle age, she and Jim relocated to Brodhead, where she also worked in the Rockcastle County Education system until she retired. There she made new friends and became a valued member of her community. She loved connecting with people and making new memories. She found a new spiritual home as a member of the Northside Baptist Church. She was a mentor to young women and a Prayer Warrior. In her spare time, she loved watching the Hallmark Channel, planning get-togethers and spending time with her family. She loved the Beach, and her last trip was to Indian Rocks, Florida with her sons and Mark in 2021. Barbara had a zest for life and her fun-loving attitude was infectious.

Besides her parents, she was preceded in death by her first husband, high-school sweetheart, and father of her children, James A. McKnight.

Barbara felt called to help people in need, and she cared for those she loved with the tenderness of a mother. She was a prayer warrior. She was Aunt Barbara. She was a mentor. And she was a great friend.

Barbara was such a great wife and mom, the last couple years she found a new love, Bobby Bishop. She fell in love with Bobby and his beautiful family. She gained a son, daughter, daughter-in-law, and grandchildren. She loved her whole family and worked to bring them closer together. We are all so grateful for the time we were able to spend with her, together as a family.

Those left to celebrate her life are: her husband, Bobby Bishop of Brodhead; her children, Joshua McKnight and Mark Barker of Lexington; and Travis McKnight of Mt. Vernon; her stepchildren, Bobby Bishop, Jr. and Jacqueline and Jennifer White and Paul, all of Brodhead; four grandchildren, Addy and Maddyn White, Brooklyn Clements, and Dylan Bishop; two brothers, George Murphy and Barbara of Searcy, AR, and E.B. Murphy and Jane of Rose Pine, LA; a sister, Sandra Louise Thompson and Rick of Jacksonville, AL; her beloved dogs, Bella and Peanut, and her cat Archie; as well as a host of nieces, nephews, friends, and neighbors.

“Fire”

(Continued from front) the federal firefighters typically build a fire break by clearing land down to the dirt in a circle around the fire and then let the fire burn itself out. “I think that is what they are doing now,” said Carpenter.

“In a way, this is very helpful. I would prefer they let it burn out than to extinguish it and leave all that fuel remaining,” said Carpenter. “This is a very treacherous area and presents risk to our firefighters. By letting the fuels burn out, we won’t have to worry about that area for another year.” Carpenter said a lot of the flames were actually unreachable with local equipment and he is thankful for all those who helped keep the fire under some control while federal assistance was on the way.

Several days later, the smoldering leaves and tree stumps continued to keep smoke in the area and the wind carried it to certain areas of the county throughout the weekend.

“We have no idea what started the fire,” said Carpenter. “This time of year it could have been anything. We are just thankful to all those who came to assist us and thankful the federal firefighters came.”

The Livingston firefighters had also volunteered to fill in for the East Burnstadt Fire Department while they were involved in the funeral of a police officer killed in London last month. While serving at the East Burnstadt center, firefighters were called to another 25-plus acre fire in Jackson County and Laurel County. “We have had a very hectic week fighting forest fires,” said Carpenter.

Carpenter said fighting any fire can present danger to every volunteer. However, fighting fire in windy conditions or treacherous ground, cliffs and rocky terrain is especially dangerous for everyone involved.

“We ask that everyone be extra careful right now,” said Carpenter. “We have had very little rain this year and dry forest ground spreads fire quickly. Please obey the burn restrictions in effect right now.”

The students are involved in bringing attention to, and helping solve, three community-wide issues, including bullying, environmental issues and hunger. The students presented their study on the subjects and their plans to address each issue.

The board also approved the financial reports as submitted by Finance Director Jenny Sweet. Members also discussed lower math scores across the nation and plans to address the problem.

“I’ve been here 19 years and there have always been problems with lower math scores,” said Board Chairman Angela Mink. “We keep talking about it but what are we going to do about it?”

Near the end of the meeting, the board held a ceremony to express their appreciation for Superintendent Carrie Ballinger. “You have simply done a remarkable, wonderful job and we want to express how much we appreciate you and your dedication to our kids,” said Mink.

The board also heard the Superintendent’s Personnel Action Report. It is as follows:

Reports indicate Pike may have been “addled” from the accident and sat on the railing at the bridge to compose himself when he fell backwards off the bridge.

Those on the scene were able to perform a technical rescue operation and lift Pike from the tracks with a rope and pulley system.

Pike was transported to the Rockcastle Regional Hospital for treatment of his injuries.

According to reports, the man was not injured from the vehicle accident but suffered injuries after falling from the bridge.

Officials at the sheriff’s office say they do not suspect drugs or alcohol were involved in the accident or the fall.

According to hospital officials, Pike was treated for non-life threatening injuries and, once he was stabilized, was transferred to the University of Kentucky Medical Center where he is currently being treated.

“Rock”

friend Dale Whitaker, who goes way back to the earlier days with coach Parrett, were instrumental in writing this recognition.

Coach Parrett is the personification of a man who loved the game basketball and who used its platform to change lives of both men and women for more than 30 years as a coach and then beyond as a community minded servant and through the many young lives he inspired and encouraged who continue to call Rockcastle county home.

To me the word “coach” is a term of endearment, right up there with “mom”, “dad”, “Mammaw” and “Pappaw.” The girls he coached would often call him “dad.” The title coach comes with great investment and much sacrifice, and such was the case for Preston Parrett.

Coach Parrett, a Jackson County native came to Rockcastle County to teach school in the early 1950’s, along with his wife Alene (Brodhead native), whom he met while a student athlete at Sue Bennett College. He received his bachelor’s in education from Union College. He and Alene started teaching at Fairview School in northern Rockcastle county and resided in Brodhead where he lived until his passing.

Coach Parrett and Alene had two daughters, LaJoy and Tanya, both of whom went into education. Tanya played for her dad at Livingston and then at RCHS where she made the All-district team. She continues teaching in our county school system.

Coach Parrett was hired to teach and as an assistant coach at Livingston High School. After the head coach left, the very next year in 1955-56, he was named head coach and remained head coach until 1971-72.

The following years was consolidation of the three county high schools. Coach Parrett believed in strict discipline, superior conditioning and keeping the game simple and perfecting those simple things. He was a task master and disciplinarian but was always fair. Players who played for him knew what was expected and he made certain that you met those expectations. He had the ability to always get the most out of each individual and his teams won many contests that they probably should not have.

Many coaches on the opposing bench said he was one of the toughest coaches to coach against because his teams always played to their highest potential.

His first team was led by freshman Paul Sturgill, arguably one of the greatest to ever play basketball in Rockcastle County. They won only 11 games. The group of young talent, that also included Walter Ballinger, proceeded to win 26, 28 and 29 games over the next three years. A truly remarkable start for a young coach.

His Livingston teams during those years played with heart and often unmatched determination. A prime example was the 1964-65 Livingston team led by Billy “Red” Bryant. Their regular season record was 15-14, however, they went on to win a very competitive district tournament. On the men’s side of things it wasn’t until RCHS team of 2002-03 won another district tournament, a nearly 40 year span. District tournaments were much more competitive before consolidation, often with 8-10 teams. He had 6 teams that won over 20 games, 4 of which won 25 or more.

Coach Parrett’s 1957-58 and 1968-69 teams were ranked high in the region and during the regular season both teams defeated the eventual regional champion. One can only speculate that if not for some late season injuries to key players both of those teams might have played in the sweet sixteen.

As good coaches often are, Coach Parrett had a super personality and students, players loved to listen to his stories and enjoyed his contagious sense of humor. He was well respected among colleagues and community because of his work ethic, determination and caring attitude. His devotion to the Livingston school and community was unmatched.

The Livingston Gymnasium, now a part of a community center, is named in honor of Preston Parrett. It would be an understatement to say he went above and beyond to help students and his players. After long practices each day he would drive some of his players home, often arriving at his Brodhead home late into the night. Countless times (before the days of Youth Service Centers) he personally bought clothes, food and other necessities for his players. Many days he would participate in practice and no younger players ever out worked him. At random times during the basketball season he would show up at a players house to make certain they were home and not out carousing around.

Following the consolidation in 1972, he began coaching the middle school girls at Livingston beginning with the start of girls basketball in Rockcastle County Schools in 1974-75. His Livingston teams won 98% of their games during his tenure with many undefeated teams. Upon his retirement one of the Lexington TV stations broadcast a special feature on how successful his teams had been. All the while coaching at Livingston he was named the girls head coach at Rockcastle County High School in 1975-76 and coached there through the 1986-87 season, with the same discipline and determination. His Lady Rocket teams made seven appearances in the 13 regional tournament (a bit of trivia here, it was through the efforts of Coach Parrett that Rockcastle County Schools moved from the 12th region to the 13 region beginning in the 1965-66 season. Rockcastle would remain there until the 2005-06 season when they would return to 12 region play). He was definitely a springboard to the success of the women’s basketball program that ultimately led to the 2011 Sweet Sixteen state championship.

Along the way coach Parrett had some notable assistants, Kenneth Cornelius, Jerry Mink and Charlie “Chuck” Norris and some of the best basketball players to ever play in the county, boys and girls. He always had the unwavering support of principals Charles B. Parsons and Buford Parkerson.

Coach Parrett also worked along side WRVK radio DJ Charlie Napier to broadcast Lady Rocket games following his retirement from coaching.

Coach Preston Parrett was and is well respected by former players, fans and the Rockcastle community alike. He truly earned the title “coach” spoken so fondly and proudly by those in whom he invested so much of himself. He is an example of more than just a basketball coach, but a teacher, mentor, encourager and friend to countless numbers of generations of Rockcastle county.

In a day and time when sports has transformed into something we often don’t recognize, it’s refreshing to reflect, if but for a season, on what a “winning coach” in the game of life is all about.

Thank you coach Parrett for making our community a winner. Put me in coach!

Rockets football season ends at Mason County

The Rockets travelled to Mason County Friday night for the first game of the 3A playoffs and the Royals (10-0 on the season) came away with the 33-0 win.

After a scoreless first quarter, Mason County got on the board with three minutes to go in the second period with a touchdown and a two point conversion to make it 8-0.

The Rockets had to turn over the ball on downs on their next possession and, with under a minute to go in the first half, the Royals struck paydirt again on a 35 yard pass completion. Their two point conversion failed but it was 14-0 Mason Co. at halftime.

The Rockets had to kick to Mason County to start the second half and the Royals quickly got their third score of the night on a 35 yard rushing play. This time their PAT was good to make it 21-0 and that was the score at the end of the third quarter.

The Rockets had to turn over the ball on downs to begin the fourth quarter and, with nine minutes to go in the period, the Royals picked up another score with a 37 yard rushing touchdown to make it 27-0.

The Rockets drove deep into Mason County territory on their next possession but their drive was stymied on the Royals 14 yard line and Mason took over on downs.

Mason County's Brady Sanders turned in a long run to the Rockcastle's nine yard line and, two plays later, Keshawn Thomas went over from the one for their final score of the night and the final 33-0 score.

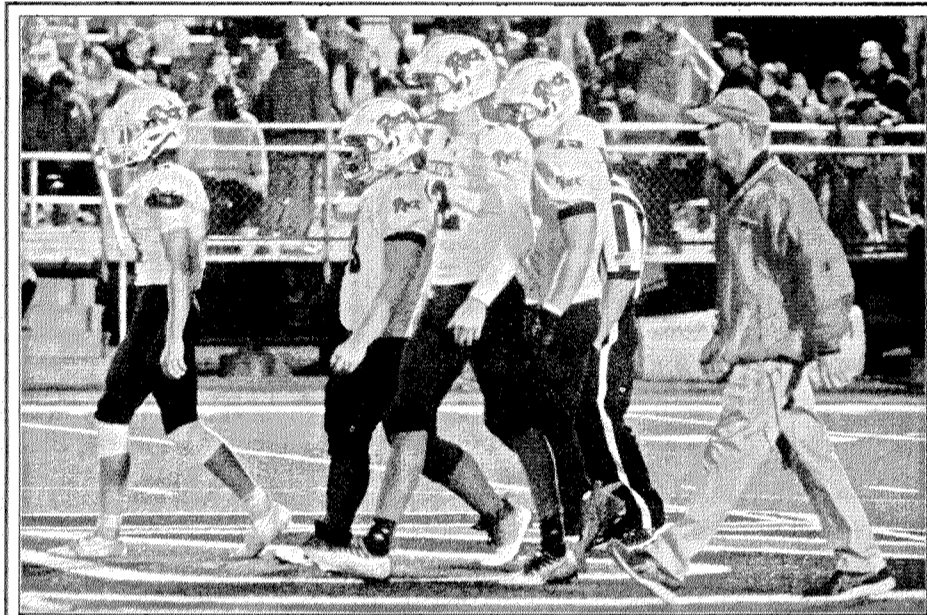

Rockets quarterback Caleb Moore was 12 of 24 passing for 218 yards. Christian Larkey caught seven of those passes for 114 yards; Ethan Tyree got one reception for 51 yards; Isaiah Jackson picked up 28 yards on three receptions and Kaden Kidwell got 25 yards on one catch.

The team garnered 105 rushing yards with Larkey getting 58 on 12 carries; Anthony Goodin 23 yards on 10 carries; Caleb Moore picked up 19 yards on eight carries and Isaiah Jackson got five yards on one carry.

Going The Second Mile
1. In New Testament times, Roman couriers were authorized press into service any available person or beast for transportation of any official documents, but they could not compel a citizen to go further than one mile.
2. Citing this practice, Jesus is saying, don't go a mile with bitter and obvious resentment. Go two miles with cheerfulness and good grace.
3. This text is a lesson on attitude-we should live with the attitude of the second mile.
A. COMPARISON OF THE FIRST MILE TO THE SECOND
1. The first mile is a mile of compulsion.
a. Simon of Cyrene was compelled to carry the cross of Jesus. (Matt.27:32)
2. Those who claim to be Christians, but have the attitude of the first mile often ask:
a. "Why should I do more?"
b. "How many services do I have to attend to be faithful?"
c. "How much do I have to give?"
d. "How much work do I have to do?"
3. Those who raise such questions have a false concept of service to God. They are trying to see how little they can get by with and still be faithful.
B. THE SECOND MILE
1. It is more difficult for it is the mile of grace.
a. It is a display of goodness and kindness.
b. It is accomplished by the love of the Lord. (John 14:23)
If a man love me, he will keep my words; and my Father will love him, and he will come unto him, and make our abode with him.
2. Those who travel the second mile have an attitude of "What more can I do"?
a. This attitude is illustrated by (1Cor.15:58) Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as you know your labor is not in vain in the Lord.
C. Other Applications of This Attitude
a. When smitten turn the other cheek. (Matt.5:39) But I say unto you, that ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite thee on the right cheek, turn to him the other also.
b. Do not sink to their level.
D. When sued for a tunic, let them have your cloak also. (Matt.7:40)
a. The cloak could not be taken by man according to the law. (Exo.22:26) If thou at all take thy neighbors raiment to pledge, thou shalt deliver it unto him by that the sun goeth down:

Ornament requests open for Remembrance Tree Ceremony

One of the community's most beloved holiday traditions is the annual Remembrance Tree Ceremony. For decades, hundreds have gathered on the first Sunday in December to remember loved ones who are deeply missed when families gather during the holiday season.

The 2022 ceremony will be broadcast live and virtually on Sunday, December 4, at 2 p.m. on the Remembrance Tree Ceremony 2022 Facebook page. A Facebook account is not required to participate.

Anyone can request a memorial ornament. There is no fee for ornaments, but a donation of any size is encouraged. Proceeds from the ceremony cover the cost of ornaments and help fund all programs offered by Hospice Care Plus. Details on how to request memorial ornaments or participate in the optional memorial slideshow are available at hospicecareplus.org or 859-986-1500.

Lisa Knicely, director of Hospice's bereavement program, says families are still coping with grief that was made more challenging by the pandemic.

"A lot of people have had a loss that they had to go through without the typical supports," said Knicely. "They may not have had the chance to mourn together with family and friends, or to participate in the rituals that help us say goodbye. That can make the holidays more challenging. The Remembrance Tree, as a ritual and a ceremony, can help."

Hospice Care Plus sponsors the Remembrance Tree Ceremony as part of its bereavement program, which provides grief support services to the community. The ceremony includes special readings and music, the reading of memorial names, and the placing of ornaments on the Remembrance Tree by Hospice staff as names are read. Guests who participate virtually are invited to use Facebook comments to type their loved one's name as it is read or to share a favorite memory.

"As a new CEO at Hospice, I am so proud to be part of this event," said Lisa Cox, who was named CEO in June. "It has become such an important tradition for the community, one that meets a need and gives families a space for their grief during the holidays."

Many collect Remembrance Tree ornaments and display them on their own trees during the holidays. The ornament changes each year. The 2022 ornament is a rustic wood-slice featuring a cardinal and snowflakes.

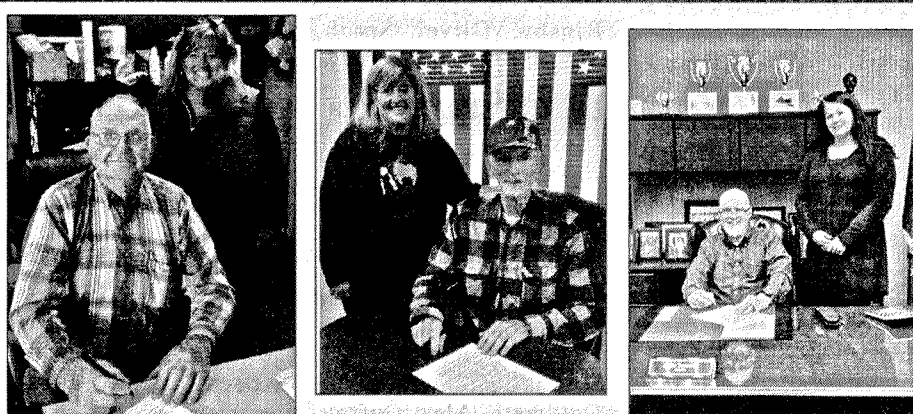

To learn more, request an ornament, and submit a photograph for the ceremony's memorial slideshow, visit hospicecareplus.org. For questions, contact Hospice Care Plus at 859-986-1500 or hospice@hospicecp.org.

After the ceremony, guests may claim their ornaments on one of five dates in December. Details for ornament pick-up are at hospicecareplus.org. Hospice Care Plus was founded as a non-profit organization to support the quality of life of its communities through hospice, palliative, and bereavement care programs. The organization serves Estill, Jackson, Lee, Madison, Owsley and Rockcastle counties and owns and operates the Compassionate Care Center in Richmond. Relying on contributions from individuals and groups, all care is provided regardless of insurance status or ability to pay. To contribute or volunteer, visit hospicecareplus.org or call 859-986-1500.

RCIDA to take over director position

By: Mike French
Editor

There has been some controversy surrounding a potential salary increase for Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority Executive Director Jeff VanHook, but members of the RCIDA board took another step towards the potential raise this week.

The issue arose when the City of Mount Vernon committed to $1,000 per month for program support for the RCIDA at the recent regular monthly meeting.

RCIDA Chairman Corey Craig asked the council for the support and most of the conversation during the meeting focused on the funds being used as a raise for the executive director. In fact, some city council members say that was their impression during the discussion.

After objections from council member Shelly Raines Lewis, the council voted to provide the support, with Lewis voting "no."

At the next RCIDA regular meeting, on Tuesday, November 1st, the salary increase was not brought up for discussion. However, a special called RCIDA meeting the following week included a closed session to discuss personnel.

After the closed session, the board voted unanimously to bring the Executive Director's position under the umbrella of the RCIDA finances, instead of keeping the position as a county employee.

This would give the RCIDA board full discretion as to the salary and benefits of the executive director. Therefore, if a raise is forthcoming, it would not be the county providing the raise but the RCIDA board making the decision.

The Executive Director position currently pays $75,000 plus benefits.

However, the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court must also approve the change before it takes effect.

If the motion passes, VanHook said the vote would "reset the structure of operations to revert back to how it was originally intended," with the goal to "evolve the organization in time to be self-supporting."

This structure would mean the fiscal court would simply provide program support to the RCIDA board, along with the City of Mount Vernon, and the board "is then able to prioritize and operate within that budget to maximize the return on the investment that it believes will result in economic development for the best interests of all of Rockcastle County," said VanHook.

The goal of RCIDA, according to VanHook, is to "expand opportunities to grow the local economy and move Rockcastle County forward as an investment opportunity."

Livingston seeks donations for Christmas event this year

The City of Livingston is seeking donations from citizens or business owners for the upcoming Christmas celebration.

Officials say anyone willing to donate money should make the check payable to the City of Livingston Tourism Department and anyone willing to donate toys for the children is asked to bring the toy by city hall.

The event is planned for Saturday, December 17 and Mayor Dwane King says any donation will be greatly appreciated.

Forms on their way

2022 Ag Census required by law

By: Mike French
Editor

The 2020 Census showed Rockcastle County losing about one thousand residents but officials say they are not certain whether the county lost that many residents in the past 10 years, less people filled out the census, or some combination of the two.

Enticing citizens to fill out the census was an arduous task, according to local officials, who say the county lost considerable funding due to the apparent smaller county population. In fact, some officials with the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority say each family that didn't complete the census may have cost the county about $10,000 in potential grants and other funding.

Now, another census is on its way to some Rockcastle County residents. This Census is the USDA Agriculture Census. According to Commissioner of Agriculture Ryan Quarles, the 2022 Census of Agriculture should be in mailboxes soon.

According to Quarles' office, the Agriculture Census is administered every five years and "looks at use and ownership, operator characteristics, production practices, income and expenditures. It provides the only source of uniform, comprehensive, and impartial agriculture data for every state and county in the nation."

A press release from Quarles' office says the data is used by companies and cooperatives to determine where to locate facilities that will serve agriculture producers. The release also says legislatures use the data when shaping farm policies and programs.

Agriculture producers may respond to the census online or you may return the completed questionnaire by mail. All responses are due by February 6, 2023.

Response to the Agriculture Census is required by federal law.
