Honoring the fallen

Two explosions in Kabul, Afghanistan on August 26th caused the death of 13 American service members while America was in the process of withdrawing from Afghanistan to end the 20 year war that started after 9/11. Many memorials honoring those 13 have been set up across the nation and two of those are in Rockcastle County. Shown here, a place setting for 13 sits empty at the Derby City Truck Plaza (right) and at the Limestone Grille (above) in Mount Vernon. Owners at both local restaurants say their customers have expressed appreciation for the memorials.

Local police chase ends in attempted murder charge

A long and complicated police chase, Monday, August 23, ended in an arrest and a charge of attempted murder of a police officer six days later.

Austin McCormick, 25, of Brindle Ridge Road, was arrested and charged with fleeing and evading police, wanton endangerment of a police officer, criminal mischief, disregarding stop signs, reckless driving, driving on a suspended license and no insurance and then attempted murder of a police officer, after a foot chase Sunday, August 29, according to an arrest citation.

School officials may consider change of plans due to COVID 12 and under at high risk

By: Mike French

As some Kentucky school districts have closed their doors due to the latest COVID-19 outbreak, Rockcastle County schools are still in session -- for now.

Superintendent Carrie Ballinger says the local board is "doing our very best to keep our students in school for as long as possible."

However, COVID cases in Rockcastle County are beginning to set new records and even Rockcastle Regional's QuickCare clinic had to close Monday due to an overwhelming number of COVID cases flooding the office.

School officials say they are mostly concerned with children under 12 since they are not eligible for the vaccine. "Our younger students do not have the option of receiving the vaccination due to their age," said Ballinger. "We are seeing higher numbers of quarantines in those students."

Ballinger said she believes in-person lessons are of vital importance to the well-being of all students, but each student's health is "more important than anything else."

Ballinger reports a large number of quarantines at each school and officials are watching closely as the situation changes. "We continue to (See "School" on A7)

COVID cases still growing

Rockcastle County's COVID-19 incident rate is now at 166, the highest ever recorded. Hospitals are still reporting no beds available across the state and Rockcastle QuickCare was forced to stop accepting patients early Monday, due to the overwhelming number of patients. There were 30 cases confirmed and 164 probable cases in the past

7 days in Rockcastle. According to reports, 75% to 80% of those hospitalized with COVID are unvaccinated.

Drive-thru testing

Rockcastle Regional will offer drive-thru testing for COVID-19

Monday through Friday from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. in the parking garage below the Rockcastle Family Wellness. PCR testing is the only available test through the drive-thru. Results will be available in 2-3 business days. No testing on Labor Day. For questions or more information, call 606-256-7767.

Reunion cancelled

The Mount Vernon High School Alumni Association has cancelled the reunion that was scheduled for September 11 this year due to the COVID outbreak. Deposits will be refunded soon.

Two projects to have long lasting effects

Chapin/Delta natural Gas

By: Mike French
 Editor

As announced in the Mount Vernon Signal last week, two major growth and development projects are now underway that involve Rockcastle County. Thanks to the efforts of the Rockcastle County Industrial Development Authority (RCIDA), Kentucky State Representative Josh Bray, the City of Mount Vernon and the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court, two of the most important projects in recent years will be moving forward, according to RCIDA Executive Director Jeff VanHook.

The long anticipated Delta natural gas line is now slated to begin on September 1 in Lincoln County, on its way to Rockcastle County. At the same time, officials of Chapin International, Mount Vernon's newest manufacturing industry, has announced a $16.7 million expansion investment that will create at least 100 more jobs in the county, doubling their local work force.

Governor Andy Beshear held a press conference on Thursday to announce both projects.

According to VanHook, these projects have the potential to create unmatched growth and development in the near future inside the county. RCIDA officials have said publicly for several years that the lack of natural gas in the county has been the top impediment to many large companies locating in the county. RCIDA Chairman Corey Craig said last year, "We have everything here that a

Event honors local police departments

While some factions of society were urging officials to defund the police and others were lobbying for restructuring of police departments nationwide, some have remained in full support of our officers in blue. Such is the case for Lone Star Farm and Home, Marcella's Farm to Fork and the Southeast Kentucky Antique Tractor Association.

A "Back the Blue Cookout" was held last year and another on Sat-ramblings...

by: perlina m. anderkin

I know from personal experience that there is nothing more devastating than to lose a child.

Having said that, I actually think it would be more devastating to lose one, totally unnecessarily, but because of the ineptitude of your government. A government that is supposed to be looking out for its citizens welfare but instead is seemingly doing everything it can to undermine their welfare.

Of course, I'm talking about the debacle of what has gone on for the past couple of weeks in Afghanistan. If a withdrawal of American troops, American citizens and those Afghans who have worked with our government could have been handled any worse, I am hard pressed to think under what circumstances.

There have been 13 U.S. soldiers killed. 11 young men and two young women whose families' lives have been changed forever.

Now, even though I am still having trouble comprehending it, our government left Afghanistan Monday, August 30, leaving the country to its new rulers, the hardline Islamist Taliban. American citizens and those who helped our soldiers in-country were left behind.

And, on the same day our last plane load of soldiers and many Afghans left (with no Americans on board), one of the 200 Black Hawk helicopters, part of the $85 billion in armaments and supplies our president gifted the Taliban, flew over Kandahar, dangling by the neck an Afghani translator who had worked with Americans.

Republican Congressman Jim Banks, who collected the information of how much equipment and supplies were left to the Taliban, revealed that the Taliban now has more Black Hawk helicopters than 85 percent of the countries in the world.

Secretary of State Blinken yesterday said in a news conference that the return of the Americans left behind would now be handled "diplomatically" and then walked away without taking questions.

There have been several groups, the Aerial Recovery Group (Patriot Mountain and Spartan Sword), Glen Beck's organization (who was responsible for getting 5100 Christians out) and Congressman Darrell Issa of California, who has been busy rescuing Americans and others. The last I heard, Issa had managed to get out several California families, Afghans who were visiting their families when the withdrawal began. I haven't been able to find out if all of them were rescued.

It is a disheartening time. Our country has taken a blackeye from this fiasco that we may never recover from. We lost 13 service members, needlessly, since it has been confirmed that the Taliban offered us control of Kabul and the airport but the powers that be decided that we only wanted to control the airport to facilitate our withdrawal. A withdrawal that included bringing out 123,000 Afghans and 6,000 Americans. According to Wisconsin Republican Congressman Tom Tiffany, more than 2,000 unvetted Afghans were taken to Fort McCoy, an Army installation in central Wisconsin where they are allowed to come and go as they please.

According to the Daily Mail the Taliban is pinning terrifying 'night letters' on the doors of those who helped the West, warning them to surrender.

The Homecoming, Just Like a Tonic

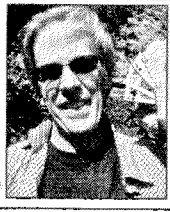

Dear Journal,
I'm so glad that some traditions still remain the same especially considering the chaotic world that we live in these days. Last weekend I was really in need of a diversion, a mental outlet after the horrific Thursday I went through. Family and friends were dying all throughout the day, including our dog which came as the biggest surprise of all. By the end of the day, I was overwhelmed.

The weekend closest to the full moon in August is the Laurel County Homecoming. It began in 1934 and still is going strong. I used to attend just about every year when I still lived there and a few times since. I thought this old custom might prove to be the outlet I need to just get my mind off of the sadness that was encompassing me.

The homecoming usually begins on Friday night with some entertainment like a talent show or such event at the Levi Jackson State Park amphitheater. Then on Saturday morning there is the big parade showcasing the two high school and two junior high bands, people running for local offices during election season, the beauty queen contestants running for Miss Laurel County, the junior misses, and of course the local

Aces Over

It was just an old white propane gas tank sitting in the backyard. The paint was peeling a little but when you tapped it, there was a nice echoing ring to the tone when the propane was getting low. To me, that old gas tank was a graceful white steed carrying me through the mountains of the West as I rode at breakneck speed from the Marshall and his posse.

It was just an old smokehouse where mom and dad stored junk and hung country hams, wrapped in a white cloth, from a string. But to me, it was the headquarters of a fortress where I would defend my Confederate troops from the bandits who would attempt to steal our rations during the night.

And, of course, they were just $10 tennis shoes. But once on my feet, I could shoot across the field slightly faster than the speed of sound becoming a blur of prism light to any who witnessed my speed.

There is a lot about childhood that I miss but limitless imagination I think I miss most. I remember well wishing I was 16, and then wishing I was 21, and then 25. And now I wish I was 21 again.

One of the greatest gifts of childhood, the biggest of blessings to youth, is the limitless power of the imagination. The ability to ignore and even forget an event that broke our hearts only moments before. As energetic and exploratory lads, we could leave the heaviest of burdens behind as we ran outside and heard the spring pulling the wooden screen door shut.

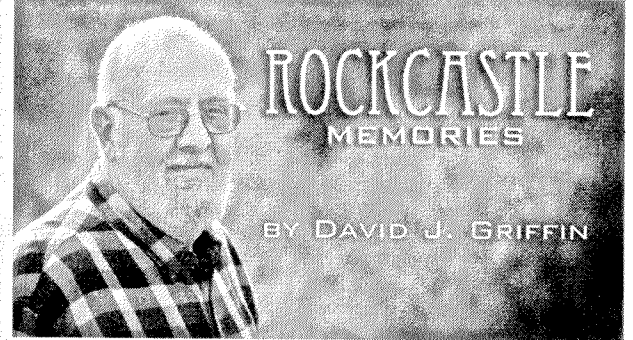

Our troubles vanished like a drop of water on a black hot tin roof.

As the years pass, the imagination is slowly replaced by plans and then worry and sometimes sorrow. We somehow forget that our problems do not have to dominate our thoughts. We forget troubles can be replaced by the carefree magic of imagination.

Of course, we know we can't live life this way. We can't simply ignore our problems. Although we didn't believe it at the time, the issues we have as adults, carry much more weight and have much greater consequences than the problems of our youth.

Sometimes, grown ups have to be very serious. In fact, grown ups being serious and planning and preparing and

Photographer for Life

Recently, while looking through the photographs on my iPhone, I noticed that I have a total of 3,974 shots. That total shocked me at first. Upon reflection, I realized that photography has always been one of my life's passions.

When I was a young boy, my mother (Bee) bought me a Brownie Hawkeye camera so that I could record a pictorial history of my family. This particular camera was sold between 1950 and 1970. I cannot recall the exact date that I received the camera for my birthday, but I guess it was probably around 1954. I do remember that I was extremely excited when I opened my package. Within an hour or so, I was snapping photographs all around our house.

This camera had a large flash-bulb attachment, and it used those big, fat bulbs (that old-timers remember) and would light up the entire room. As most will recall, when one of those bulbs lit up, you would see spots before your eyes for a long, long time. Bee absolutely hated to have her picture taken, so she rarely allowed me to take her photograph.

I remember sitting in the rafters at Memorial Coliseum when the Mt. Vernon Red Devils made it to the state tournament. I could barely see the basketball court, so I held my Brownie high above my head and snapped a shot. When the film was developed, I had a wonderful picture of one of our guards making a jump shot. That photo, along with the fact that I had my own camera, set me on a path that I have followed in one form or another until this day.

After I began my teaching career in 1965, I purchased my first 35 mm camera, a Ricoh with interchangeable lenses. Once I began using it, I was truly hooked. Of the 38 years that I taught high school, 35 of those years I was also the Yearbook Advisor at two different schools - Mt. Sterling High and George Rogers Clark High in Winchester, Kentucky. In 1976, the Mt. Sterling yearbook was awarded a National First Place Award by Columbia Scholastic Press Association. I was elated.

I soon decided that I needed a better camera. I chose a Nikon F2S, which was the camera that the United States took to the moon. Because of my love for photography, I opened a professional studio on Main Street in Mt. Sterling. I continued teaching, but I operated my own studio for over ten years. With the help of an assistant/secretary and occasionally an additional photographer, we concentrated on portraits, weddings, and commercial photography.

It was hard work but I loved it. Even though it has been years and years since I ceased doing professional photography, I still get the oc-emergency vehicles. I didn't see it this year. The winner of the Miss Laurel County Pageant goes on to compete for Miss Kentucky in Frankfort, and then on to the Miss America Pageant, I believe. Sunday morning is the big gospel singing at the park, as well. It consists of various individuals and groups. Things begin to wrap up Sunday afternoon. Stores and businesses usually have some kind of specials, sales and such. Restaurants

MVHS Alumni Reunion Cancelled

The Mt. Vernon High School Alumni Association planning committee has made the difficult decision to cancel the reunion that was scheduled for September 11, 2021. The uncertainty of the Delta variant of COVID is the reason and the committee wants to keep our classmates healthy and safe. Alumni who have already sent reservations in will soon be receiving a refund of their deposit. The 1971 Class Meet and Greet is also cancelled. The committee is very sorry to have to make this decision but felt it best to err on the side of safety. Additional information will be issued at a later date.

Farm Bureau Annual Meeting

The Rockcastle County Farm Bureau will hold their Annual Meeting on Friday, September 17, beginning at 5 p.m. It will be held in the Rockcastle Co. Farm Bureau parking lot. All are welcome to come out.

2021 LHS Reunion Postponed

The planning committee for the annual Livingston School Reunion regrets to announce that the 2021 Livingston School Reunion will not be held. Given the current spike in the number of COVID cases, we believe it would be unwise to have a group of this size meet in a face-to-face event. We regret that we will be unable to get together this year and hope to see everyone in 2022! Look for information about the school, students and faculty on Facebook page Livingston KY School Reunion.

Brodhead Alumni Banquet Postponed to April, 2022

The annual Brodhead Alumni Banquet will not be held this year, according to organizer Virginia Hansel. Citing uncertainty because of the current Delta variant of COVID, Hansel said the decision was made to plan to have the next banquet on April 23, 2022. More information will be given closer to the banquet date.

der or die. And, US senior officials confirm that the Taliban is going house to house and executing American/ally-friendlies in Kabul. Of course, the Taliban probably knows where to deliver these letters to since they were given the names of our allies by our administration, reportedly along with a list of Americans in Kabul.

And, then, to add insult to injury, Biden was seen at Monday's ceremony at Dover Air Force Base, where the bodies of the slain soldiers were flown in to, looking at his watch several times as if he were being terribly inconvenienced by having to go through the ceremony. Maybe it was nap time?

No one in the administration has taken responsibility for this debacle. No one has been fired or asked to resign. In fact, one official called the withdrawal a success. Of course, he can say that since he is safe in this country while Americans are behind enemy lines.

But, do not be concerned. The administration is moving ahead with important issues such as a vaccine mandate for the armed services. Service members who refuse the vaccine will reportedly face court martial.

I am having a hard time watching and reading the news these days, it is terribly depressing and my fears for our country grows exponentially.

If there has been this much havoc and destruction generated by Biden in 6 1/2 months, what will be the outcome after 3 1/2 more years?

rants usually had specials on their food, as well. All of the hotels are packed full. Some people have standing reservations from year to year.

We went to the Saturday night pageant. That was always “the big night” when everybody turned out. We scarcely even got into the park. Cars were parked one and two miles away. I'm sure there were between two to three thousand or more people there this year. There were at least thirty to forty vendors set up selling everything you could mention. This, of course, is smaller than things used to be. Back when I was growing up, it really was the event of the year. The Chicken Festival has taken some of the crowd; COVID and the younger generations don't find things like this as appealing as they used to.

I did get to see a few people I knew. If I had mingled a little more, I probably would have seen more acquaintances. Sitting there, I had many wonderful memories come to mind. There was a certain place I would sit on the ground, but I'm not able to get to it any more, couldn't get up from it either if I did. I guess I'll always carry a piece of Laurel County in my heart. The Homecoming may not have cured my frame of mind but it sure as a nice little break and a much needed respite of good old memories.

making hard choices, is what allows their children the freedom and lack of worry to enjoy their imagination.

At the same time, I can't help but wonder if there aren't a lot of situations that we take way too seriously. In the high-tech, fast paced, digital world, I am betting there are many times that we go to bed with a heavy heart, when we could just as easily slumber in peace and contentment. There are many times that worry just doesn't help a thing. Our troubled mind will have no effect on a particular outcome.

The trick is to know the difference. To learn to use years as experience instead of age, as knowledge instead of concern, as wisdom instead of worry. To know when to worry and when to simply enjoy life may be the whole secret to success.

I know that no matter how old I get, I still look back at those days of youth as a joy.

The "good old days" indeed.

Perhaps we can all try to find a happy middle ground between grown-up responsibility and childlike anticipation. Life should be appreciated even when there is cause for concern. We just can't let concern rule us at all times. We have to be people too. We should find ways to enjoy life and be thankful for things that we have but don't truly deserve. Gifts we were given just because we were born and gifts that continue just because we live another day should be appreciated.

Here's my hope. That we can all find a way to worry when we need to worry, and be glad when worry wouldn't help.

God, family, freedom and tomorrow. These are all things we should be thankful for. Our only true real worry should be at the prospect of losing any of those. The first two, God and family will always be there. Only the last two, freedom and tomorrow, are in question.

During the upcoming Labor Day weekend, let's just decide to use our freedom to imagine a better tomorrow.

Don't Fear Death

Man is a dual being made of flesh and spirit. The flesh dies but the spirit lives forever. 2 Corinthians 4:16 But though our outward man is decaying, yet our inward man is renewed day by day. In keeping with the same idea, hear the words of Solomon; Ecclesiastes 12:7 The dust returns to the earth as it was, and the spirit returns to God who gave it. Then death is not the end of man only the beginning, of a new life in a new realm. It is good for us to put off these earthly and corruptible bodies, for they are not suited for an eternal habitation.

Psalms 23 Tells us the Lord is our shepherd. God is my shepherd; I shall not want. Yea though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil for thou art with me; As man comes to the end of his life, where he is separated from all on this earth and his friends must remain behind, the Shepherd of the soul will walk with the Christian, down through the valley of the shadow of death. It is then that his presence will mean more than a thousand worlds.

The Lord will resurrect the dead. 1 Corinthians 15:51-52 We all shall not sleep, but we all shall be change, at the last trump, for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. If God has the power to raise the dead grass in the springtime, and to clothe the trees with leaves, surely, he can raise a man from the dead and clothe that man with a new body, conformed to the body of his glory.

Jesus has gone to prepare us a place a dwelling place of many mansions. John 14:1-2 Let not your heart be troubled, if ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my father's house are many mansions, if it were not so I would have told you. And he will come again and receive ye unto himself.

Thank you for reading, I pray God has blessed you with the things you need, and you always remember to give him thanks. If you would like to call someone from the church, you can reach us at these numbers 606-878-8104 or 859-582-4021.

What Baptism Is!

It is a Burial - Colossians 2:12 Buried with Him in baptism, in which you also were raised with Him through faith in the working of God, who raised Him from the dead.

It is a Complete Immersion - Acts 8:35-38 Then Philip opened his mouth, and the beginning at this scripture, preached Jesus to him. Now as they went down the road, they came to some water. And the Eunuch said, here is water what hinders me from being baptized? Then Philip said, if you believe with all your heart, you may. And he answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the son of God. So, he commanded the chariot to stand still, and both Philip and the Eunuch went down into the water, and he baptized him.

It is for Accountable Beings - Mark 16:15-16, And he said to them, go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature. He who believes and is baptized will be saved; but he who does not believe will be condemned.

It is unto the Remission of Sins - Acts 2:38 Then Peter said to them Repent and let every one of you be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins: and you shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.

It is for Salvation - 1 Peter 3:21 The like figure whereunto even baptism doth also now save (not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God) by the resurrection of Jesus Christ.

It is the Way to Get Into Christ - Galatians 3:27 For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ.

It is the Way to Get Into One Body - 2 Corinthians 12:13 For by one Spirit we are all baptized into one body, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit.

Frankfort Update

By: Josh Bray
State Representative
The Supreme Court ruled, what happens now?

Throughout the past 18 months, I joined fellow legislators, constitutional officers, and many local officials across the state in calling for the Governor to stop acting alone in adopting policies to address this pandemic.

On Saturday, August 21, his autocratic approach came to a screeching halt when the Kentucky Supreme Court ruled that the Kentucky General Assembly had the authority to limit any governor's emergency powers, stating clearly that only the legislature can make laws.

From the beginning, our primary issue with the handling of this pandemic has been about the process used. This is not because we want to be governor or take his power away. Instead, it is because he was using emergency powers granted to him by previous legislatures to act as the legislative, judicial, and executive branch of our government. Decisions were made in a silo, with little to no input by folks who may have disagreed or proposed an alternative to the approach taken. As a result, we saw inconsistent and arbitrary policies that left most Kentuckians confused and made people even more distrustful of the state's motivations.

The governor's actions were declared legal by the Kentucky Supreme Court last fall, based on emergency powers laws granted governors by previous legislatures. We knew from that ruling that the laws had to be refined in a way that provides a governor the ability to navigate a short term, regional emergency. So that is what we did. For all intents and purposes, a governor now has a thirty day window and limited authority to act. However, there is far more accountability, and it is now abundantly clear that his authority ends where other branches are concerned.

Since the August 21 Supreme Court ruling, the most common question I hear is "where do we go from here?" It has been a long, frustrating 18 months. The Supreme Court opinion states clearly that a governor must do the "hard work" of working with the legislature. We have already begun that hard work and now have an opportunity to work together to do what we should have been doing all along. It is unfortunate it took lawsuits to make this happen, but nevertheless we will work through this to do what is right for our commonwealth.

Last week, members of legislative leadership met with the Governor and began working with the administration and other stakeholders to identify what we'll see coming out of special session. There does not appear to be support for a statewide mask mandate. Overall, most agree that a one-size-fits all policies may be easier to enact, but they do not work as well as allowing local entities the authority and resources they need to make the decisions that best serve their communities.

Of course, we have already passed COVID-related legislation. In the early days of the pandemic, we passed SB 150 and SB 177, which provided necessary flexibility to our schools, medical professionals, and manufacturers making PPE. This session we approved HB 1, which provides a framework for businesses, school, nonprofits and other organizations to operate under, as well as ensuring children in state care get to see their families.

During the 2021 Regular Session, we passed a resolution that many think will provide a precedent for us moving forward. HJR 77 ratified some of the emergency orders and regulations issued by the Governor and state agencies. To craft HJR 77, we went through every single order and regulation to determine if it was necessary and beneficial - a tedious but incredibly important process.

As we prepare for a special session, I think you will see us adopt the same approach. We are going to be careful, considerate, and deliberate. We are also going to listen to the administration and other interested parties - including our constituents. We may not always agree, but the result is certain to be better. Why? Because that is how a government for the people and by the people is supposed to work.

As always, I hope you will feel free to contact me with any questions or issues. I can be reached here at home anytime or through the toll-free message line in Frankfort at 1-800-372-7181. Please feel free to email me at Josh.Bray@lrc.ky.gov.

USDA Service Centers Provide Free, One-on-One Help for Farmers

At USDA, we are committed to helping farmers complete loan applications, environmental reviews, and other paperwork free of charge. One-on-one support is available at more than 2,300 USDA Service Centers nationwide. USDA's Farm Service Agency and Natural Resources Conservation Service staff are usually co-located at these Service Centers and can help guide farmers to the best USDA assistance based on their unique goals, whether it is loans, conservation programs, or insurance.

Service Center staff can guide farmers through the process of preparing and submitting required paperwork on their own, with no need to hire a paid preparer. Language translation service is available in all USDA Service Centers, so one-on-one assistance with a Service Center employee can be translated in real time for farmers requiring it. And while some program and loan applications do have an administrative fee for filing, there is never a charge for preparation services provided by USDA staff.

Farmers who work with the USDA Service Center can:

Establish their farm by registering for a farm number, which is required for USDA programs and assistance.

Learn how to meet conservation compliance provisions.

Verify eligibility for USDA programs.

Discuss their business and conservation goals.

Create a conservation plan.

Fill out and file loan and program applications.

We are committed to delivering USDA programs and services to America's farmers and ranchers while taking safety measures in response to COVID-19. We encourage you to check the status of your local USDA Service Center and make an appointment to discuss your business needs.

Rockets win 22-21 over East Jessamine

Despite falling behind 21-0 midway through the second quarter, the Rockcastle County Rockets football team used long, sustained drives to catapult themselves into an epic come-from-behind 22-21 win at East Jessamine last Friday night.

The Rockets (1-1) started the contest sluggishly, allowing the Jaguars (0-2) to score on their first drive of the game, thanks to a 3:29 drive that covered just 49 yards after Rockcastle opened the game by turning the ball over on downs just inside midfield.

East Jessamine would score their second TD of the game on a 1-yard run during its next series that was kept alive by a pass interference penalty on the Rockets.

Rockcastle's offense got going on the ensuing possession with Matthew Chasteen collecting 24 of his game-high 133 yards rushing to get the Rockets into East Jessamine territory but a fourth down conversion attempt, a few plays later, was stopped and the Rockets turned the ball over on downs.

The Jaguars would respond with their third touchdown of the game to go up 21-0 with 4:06 to go in the first half when Justin Hisle connected with Jacob Crofts on a fourth and 14 from Rockcastle's 23-yard line.

With all the momentum on the side of East Jessamine, Rockcastle County would show that patience is all that they needed to weather the storm.

After giving up touchdowns on three consecutive series on defense, the Rockets offensive unit pulled together and played their style of football, dictating the rest of the game.

The final drive of the first half began on the Rockets 39-yard line and, 15 plays later, Rockcastle County would finally get on the scoreboard on a 1-yard run on fourth down by Chasteen with just 0:01 remaining in the half to go into the locker room down 21-6.

The scoring drive was kept alive by a targeting penalty deep inside East Jessamine territory on an incomplete pass on fourth down and an additional personal foul penalty a few plays later after Rockets QB Cameron Wright used a 15-yard run to get down to the East Jessamine 8-yard line.

East Jessamine took the second half kickoff and promptly turned the ball over on its second play of the third quarter. Rockcastle's Landon Dillingham forced the fumble by the Jaguars fullback and Jayvon Bowden pounced on the ball to take possession for the Rockets.

An 11-play, 6:02 drive would be capped off by a 9-yard scamper by Landon Broaddus, a senior running back who would eventually finish the game with 61 yards on 17 carries.

Chasteen would have seven carries for 41 yards on the drive. Wright converted the 2-point conversion attempt to draw the Rockets to within a touchdown at 21-14 with 5:41 to go in the third quarter.

Rockcastle's defense stifled East Jessamine on the ensuing drive, forcing the Jaguars to turn the ball over on downs after just four plays.

Another 11-play scoring drive would give the Rockets their first and only lead of the game with 10:15 to go in the game.

Chasteen and Broaddus carried the bulk of the load on the drive with the duo gaining 35 of the necessary 49 yards to score.

Chasteen plunged his way in from 4-yards out and converted the 2-point conversion attempt for a 22-21 lead.

Both teams traded punts on their next drive each and Reese Coguer would seal the win for the Rockets when he picked up his second interception of the season, in Rocket territory and Rockcastle then ran the clock out for their first victory of the season.

The time of possession battle would also be won by the Rockets, who totaled 29:35 on 64 plays. East Jessamine ran 41 plays and held the ball for 18:25 for the entire game and holding the ball for just 6:57 in the second half on 15 plays.

Wright completed two of his six pass attempts for one yard, but the Rockets quarterback tallied 36 yards on seven carries.

Ethan Medley picked up eight yards on the ground on two carries.

Broaddus had one reception for two yards while Caleb Moore collected the other completion from Wright for a short loss.

Dillingham led the way with nine tackles from his defensive back position.

Broaddus and Anthony Goodin had five tackles each with Goodin adding a tackle for loss and a sack.

Jake Sanders notched four tackles with Moore, Chasteen and Kaden Kidwell credited with three each.

Wright, Bowden and Isaiah Dehart earned two tackles each with Bowden being credited with a tackle for loss. Medley and Ethan Carpenter rounded out the tackle column with one each.

As a team, the Rockets had 259 yards of total offense on 64 plays to East Jessamine's 209 yards on 41 plays.

Up next for Rockcastle County will be Wayne County for their home opener. The Cardinals (1-0) were off last week due to COVID-related issues, after having easily defeated Clinton County 42-6 to start the season.

Rockcastle County will be welcoming the first football team in program history when the 1972 team members, support staff and cheerleaders will be recognized as part of the annual Hall of Fame Game.

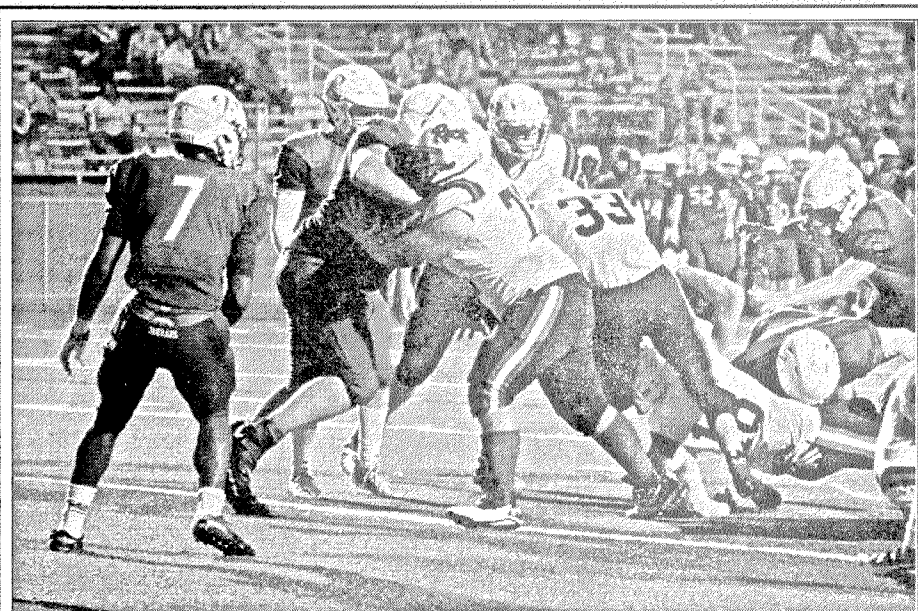

Senior Landon Broaddus goes in for his second touchdown for the Rockets' in their 22-21 win over East Jessamine Friday.

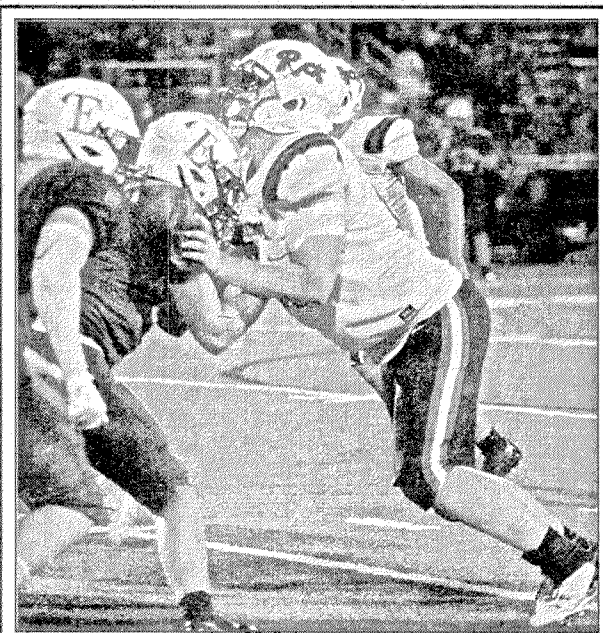

Junior quarterback Cam Wright goes in for a two-point conversion in the Rockets' come from behind win over East Jessamine last Friday.

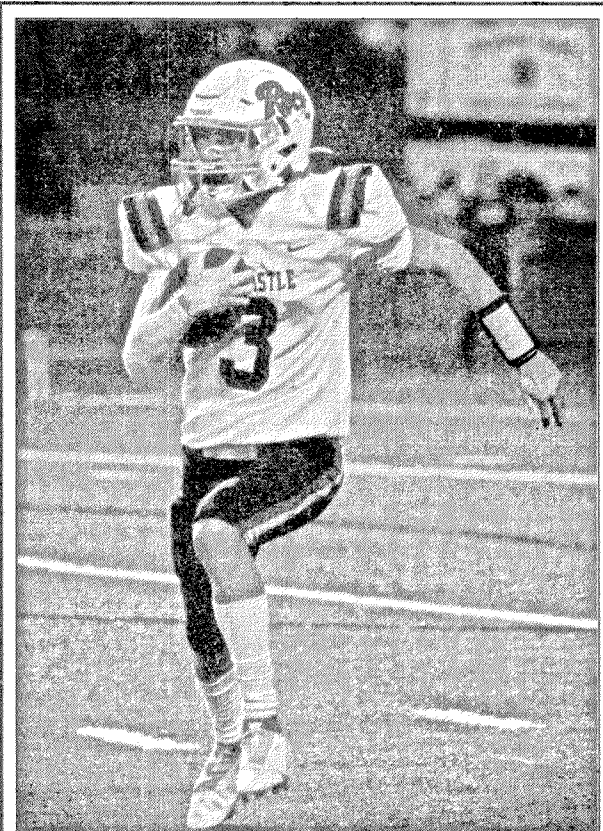

Senior Landon Dillingham makes a stop during the Rockets' win Friday night. Dillingham led his team with nine tackles.

Junior Jameson Mink leads the blocking for a touchdown by senior Matthew Chasteen during the Rockets' come from behind win over East Jessamine.

Senior Jake Sanders blocks during the Rockets' thrilling win over East Jessamine last Friday.

large company could need or want. We have the ideal location on the interstate and our exits are the hub between Lake Cumberland, Somerset, Lexington and Corbin and other big cities. We have a lot to offer any large industry...except natural gas. Once they find out we don't have natural gas, we have lost them before we can even show them all the benefits of locating in our county."

But now, according to VanHook, natural gas is on its way.

Add to the gas line project that the Chapin project will insert millions of dollars into the local economy through the company's investment and the creation of 100 more new jobs, and VanHook says the area can experience exponential growth soon.

Delta Natural Gas

Getting natural gas in Rockcastle has been a priority for 30 years, according to VanHook. Many times the possibility came close but reportedly fell apart at the last minute. But through complex planning and collaboration, VanHook said the project is finally about to begin. "This is part of a RCIDA ARC grant, written by Rockcastle County but where all matching funds were put up by Lincoln County," said VanHook. "This is something very unique. This is outside the box and shows Rockcastle leadership have been making all efforts and having all the conversations they can get gas to our county when they wrote and submitted the grant, and Lincoln County agreed to put forth the capitol funds to get the tap in place."

Once that first foot of piping is in the ground, VanHook says the first step has been taken to provide natural gas for Rockcastle. "The first foot of pipe is part of the project that will eventually be the trunk line (supply line) for Crab Orchard, Brodhead, Mount Vernon and Renfro Valley. That first foot is set to begin on September 1 in Lincoln County."

Part of that project includes 1.247 miles of line that will be directed towards the Standford Industrial Park," VanHook explained. "This is part of an EDX application filed by Delta Natural Gas with the PSC. Pittman Creek Wholesale is expected to be the first user on the new tap once completed at their new 202,500 square foot distribution center in the Lincoln County Industrial Park."

There is still some work to do, according to VanHook, but now that the project is slated to begin, it is only a matter of time until natural gas is available locally. "I will continue to work with Delta officials to complete the rest of the trunk line," VanHook said.

Several RCIDA officials have agreed that a natural gas line in the county has the potential to bring "hundreds of millions of dollars" in industry to the county and possibly change the economic standard of living in the county in quick fashion.

Holbrook said he is excited about the gas line. "This gas line could take Rockcastle County in a whole new direction," he said. "This is the one thing this county needed to complete our infrastructure and make our county irresistible to so many companies that could not locate here without a gas line. Rockcastle County just became immeasurably more attractive to a lot of very large companies."

Bray says it is about time the county had natural gas. "For longer than I have been alive, leaders from Rockcastle County have been trying to get natural gas in this county. Now that Phase One has begun in Lincoln County, we are closer than we have ever been."

Natural gas will be a great help in marketing the county to site locators, according to Bray. "We are one of only six counties in the entire state without natural gas and this has caused a great disadvantage when competing for new industry in our county. Rockcastle County has a lot to offer but it takes natural gas to complete our infrastructure needs to create new, good paying jobs."

Chapin International.

Chapin International moved into the old Eagle Manufacturing plant, in the local Industrial Park, at the perfect time. The past company in the building had allegedly left it in less than exemplary condition, including missing equipment, and additional jobs hoped for did not happen. Lawsuits between the owners and the county are still in progress, according to officials. The building was both a financial and maintenance burden on the RCIDA and the county and officials were scrambling to correct the issue.

VanHook located the Chapin company in 2020, since the property fit their needs and they were hoping to locate in Kentucky. By the fall of 2020, one of the quickest deals in history had been made, VanHook says, and Chapin was doing business in Rockcastle County.

"Then one day Josh (Bray) and I were in the Industrial Park showing a property to a potential client when I received the first call from Chapin's CFO discussing his desire for a distribution center of 500,000 square feet and increasing the production lines approximately 100 jobs at our facility," said VanHook.

The problem was, Rockcastle County didn't have such a distribution center available and without it, expanding the production line in Mount Vernon wouldn't happen.

Fortunately, the RCIDA is a member of Kentucky Crossroads, which is an 11-member economic development alliance made up of 11 counties, including Boyle County and Develop Danville. So, working closely with Jodi Lassiter, CEO of Develop Danville, and Andy Luttner of Kentucky Economic Development Cabinet, a nearby center was found in Boyle County, giving Chapin ability to expand in Mount Vernon.

Of course, nothing is as easy as it seems. VanHook said there were still hurdles, including environmental issues, and walking Chapin through the Brownfield Program Prosecc and Indemnifications concerns. But soon VanHook, Bray and Holbrook were able to bring the plan together and Chapin announced the large expansion. Of the $16.7 million project, Chapin will invest about half in the Rockcastle County expansion and the remainder in the distribution center.

Holbrook said this expansion is a strong sign about the county's future. "We are so grateful to Chapin and all the agencies involved in making this happen," he said. "There is a sense of pride in one's community when they walk into a retail store and see products that were made right here in their own hometown. We have many reasons to be proud of our county and taking a product home that was made a few blocks away by people who live next door, is one of those proud moments."

According to Bray, this expansion says a lot about Rockcastle County. "Not only have we been competing against other cities and counties in Kentucky, we have been competing nation wide for growth and development," he said. "Chapin already has facilities in New York and Ohio and those states desperately wanted this expansion to happen there. Ultimately, with our work force and growth potential, they have chosen to invest in Rockcastle County. This is a big win for our community and I am proud to work with the RCIDA, the fiscal court and the City of Mount Vernon to provide even more upcoming opportunities for our community."

Bray also said he believes Chapin made the right choice. "We have been telling anybody that would listen about the manufacturing potential of Rockcastle County," he said. "This announcement didn't happen by accident. It is a culmination of months of hard work."

"I am grateful for the confidence Chapin leadership continues to place in our community and our work force by their continued investments and operations here," said VanHook. "Once again, people working together and being willing to overcome obstacles without giving up, proves to be of great benefit to the community of Rockcastle County and the entire region."

Fork Restaurant. The purpose of the event was a simple one. "We believe our police officers deserve some public appreciation and we wanted to show our support," said Valerie Sluder, "So we did."

The event was held last year also but having the annual tractor show scheduled for last weekend, owners of the two businesses decided to use that event as another chance to express their appreciation.

Officials of the event do not want the youth of Rockcastle County to fear the police but to appreciate and respect officers, according to Sluder. "It was really hot this year but we still had several come out and get to know our local police officers better," said Sluder. "The kids had the chance to see some of the police equipment up close and get comfortable around them."

All those in attendance braved the hot day to enjoy raffles and hotdogs and see some of the very unique tractors, as well as simply sit in the shade and talk with a police officer. "We had the Sheriff's Department, the Kentucky State Police and the Mount Vernon Police representatives here," said Sluder. "My husband, Neal, and I believe that our police, our veterans and first responders deserve a lot more credit than they have been getting recently."

Meals were provided for all first responders and any front line worker and their family. Meals were also taken to the 911 dispatch center and the local detention center for those unable to attend the event.

The "Back the Blue Cookout" is not a state wide or a national event. "We just made it up," said Sluder. "It is the perfect name for the event because that is what we do. We back the blue."

Coincidentally, the VFW (Veterans of Foreign Wars) had a "Back the Blue BBQ" on the same day that Sluder knew nothing about. "We had no idea there was such a thing until they asked to set up a booth at our event to promote their own event," said Sluder. Police and other first responders say that event too was a great success.

Though the police agencies were thankful for the recognition and appreciation, they were also thankful for the donation that came after each event. The money raised from the raffles of several store items, including baked goods at the Lone Star, and the incomes from hotdog sales were donated evenly among local police agencies. "It isn't that much but maybe we can help in some small way," said Sluder.

Brian Carter, Chief of the Mount Vernon Police Department, said the events make a difference in the moral and attitude of his department. "Anyone likes to know their efforts are appreciated," he said. "It means a lot to us all that they took the time and effort to hold these events for us. It means more than they know."

“Murder”

Mount Vernon Police Officer Dylan Hensley was on patrol on the U.S. 25 loop, when he noticed McCormick's truck with a brake light out. Due to an earlier incident, Hensley knew McCormick's license had been suspended.

A chase ensued when McCormick, and a female passenger, sped away from Hensley. After several failed attempts to stop the pick up truck, which was pulling a trailer, McCormick turned onto Higher Ground Road. At the end of that road, McCormick drove into a yard and became stuck, the complaint says. However, when Hensley pulled in behind the truck., McCormick maneuvered his truck until the trailer hit Hensley's cruiser, pinning the officer inside for some time. The trailer reportedly hit the cruiser three times before Hensley was able to get out of the vehicle.

Once out of the cruiser, Hensley drew his weapon and ordered McCormick to stop. The complaint then says McCormick turned his wheel towards the officer and accelerated.

Once free from the yard, the complaint says McCormick traveled up Corral Lane, nearly hitting Sheriff's Deputy Tom Atkin's cruiser. Constable Steve Griffin then attempted to block the road but was nearly hit head on by McCormick who continued to flee.

McCormick then cut through several more yards on Floyd Street and Kings Court until the truck became stuck again.

McCormick then fled on foot with his female passenger, identified as Nakasha Mink. Following a search, the pair were not located.

Then on Sunday, officer Dustin Hale spotted McCormick walking on South Wilderness Road. Hale began a foot chase and eventually apprehended McCormick.

McCormick was transported to the Rockcastle County Detention Center where he is being held on a $100,000 cash/property bond monitor the situation. We are experiencing an increase in quarantines among our students but this is a fluid situation and we will do our very best to keep our students in school for as long as possible," she said.

However, closing schools again is not off the table. "If this spread continues at the current rate, we will have to reconsider our current plans," she said.

COVID-19 is still on the rise throughout Rockcastle County, as well as the rest of the state.

According to the Cumberland Valley District Health Department, Rockcastle's incident rate is the highest ever at 166 and cases continue to increase at a faster rate than ever before.

Though Governor Andy Beshear, Dr. Anthony Fauci and President Joe Biden have told the public that those who take the vaccine would not catch COVID-19, they are each now saying they are not surprised that 13% of COVID deaths and 10% of COVID cases have been fully vaccinated.

The CDC (Center for Disease Control) says these numbers do provide "evidence that vaccination may make the illness less severe."

Many, including Beshear, highly recommend wearing a mask indoors at all events and some are expecting closures of businesses, schools, government offices and other mandates very soon if the incident rates continue to rise.

Beshear's office says there are now more than 100,000 hospitalizations per day due to COVID.

Jasper Rogers attends weeklong Space Camp

The weeklong educational program promotes science, technology, engineering and math (STEM), while training students and with hands-on activities and missions based on teamwork, leadership and problem solving.

This program is specifically designed for trainees who have a passion for space exploration. Jasper spent the week training with a team that flew a simulated space mission to the International Space Station (ISS), the Moon or Mars. The crew participated in experiments and successfully completed an extra-vehicular activity (EVA), or spacewalk. Jasper and crew returned to earth in time to graduate with honors.

Space Camp is located in Huntsville, Alabama, and uses astronaut training techniques to engage trainees in real-world applications of STEM subjects. Students sleep in quarters designed to resemble the ISS and train in simulators like those used by NASA.

Almost 1 million trainees have graduated from a Space Camp® program since its inception in 1982, including European Space Agency astronaut, Samantha Cristoforetti and NASA astronauts Dottie Metcalf-Lindenburger, Dr. Kate Rubins, Dr. Serena Auñón-Chancellor and Christina Koch, who set the record for the longest duration space flight by a female. Children and teachers from all 50 states and almost 150 international locations have attended a Space Camp® program.

DAR sponsors American History Essay Contest

The National Society Daughters of the American Revolution actively supports historic preservation, promotion of education and patriotic endeavors. One way the Society promotes education is to sponsor every year in the school systems an American History essay contest open to all 5th-8th graders. All students in public, private, or parochial school, or those who are home schooled are eligible. This contest is conducted without regard to race, religion, sex, or national origin. This contest is judged on the local level by the Rockcastle Chapter and awards will be given per grade level. Each chapter winner's essay will then be sent to KSDAR to be judged on the state level. All state essay winners will then go on to be judged on the division and national levels and national winners will receive their award at Continental Congress held in Washington D.C.

The topic for this year's American History essay for grades 5th-8th has been chosen: "Tomb of the Unknown Soldier". November 11, 2021, marks the 100th anniversary of the dedication of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Imagine that you had a brother who lost his life on the battlefields of France during World War I. You and your family attended the November 11, 1921, dedication of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Washington, D.C. Describe what this meant to you and your family. Why is it important to remember those who gave their lives to serve our nation?

Length of essay should be 300-600 words for grade 5 and between 600-1000 words for grades 6, 7 and 8. Essays must have a bibliography listing all references utilized. Judging will be based on historical accuracy, adherence to topic, organization of material, interest, originality, spelling, grammar, punctuation and neatness. Pictures, maps, drawings, graphics, and other such additions will not be considered in judging and should not be included.

NSDAR established a new high school-level essay contest focused on figures of the American Revolution, in preparation for the 250th anniversary of the nation's founding. The contest is open to students in grades 9 through 12 in public, private, or parochial schools, or those who are home schooled.

Each student is to select a figure from the era of the American Revolution (1773 - 1783). Discuss how he or she influenced the course of the American Revolution, who he or she was and his/her contribution to the founding of a new nation. Figures may be any person, whether a well-known figure or an everyday man, woman or child who supported the American Revolution in ways large or small. Students are encouraged to use primary sources (i.e., immediate, first-hand accounts such as letters, diaries, speeches, or newspaper reports) for their research, lesser well-known figures are acceptable, but subjects must have been actual participants not fictionalized. Length of essay should be between 800-1,200 words.

All entries should be completed and turned in to the student's history teacher by the deadline of October 25th. Any student interested in participating in these contests may contact your history teacher or the Rockcastle Chapter DAR at rockcastledar@gmail.com.

Mrs. Bobbie's fifth grade class at MVES participated in the Digital Citizenship Jenga Lesson. Digital citizenship refers to the responsible use of technology by anyone who uses computers, the Internet, and digital devices to engage with society on any level. Teaching digital citizenship is essential to helping students achieve and understand digital literacy, as well as ensuring cyberbullying prevention, online, and digital responsibility.

Grant targets arts experiences for Kentuckians 65 and older

The Kentucky Arts Council is seeking applications for its Arts Access Assistance: Creative Aging and Lifelong Learning grant that will provide funding to create arts experiences for groups of people 65 and older.

Grants of $5,000 will be awarded through the competitive application process. The purpose of the Arts Access Assistance: Creative Aging and Lifelong Learning Grant is to support quality arts programming for populations in the Commonwealth in environments where arts are not the primary emphasis. The grant application deadline is Oct. 6.

Public libraries, cooperative extension offices, social service agencies, senior citizens centers, health departments and other community-based organizations serving Kentuckians.

Kentucky nonprofit organizations with 501(c)(3) status who do not conduct arts programming as a primary activity.

Government agencies, colleges and universities are eligible if the project primarily serves the population defined by the theme.

For-profit social service agencies with resident populations.

Grant guidelines can be accessed on the arts councils website.

The application can be accessed through the arts councils online grant portal.

Creative Aging and Lifelong Learning Grants are supported by a $60,000 award from the National Assembly of State Arts Agencies and Aroha Philanthropies. In addition to this application opportunity, the arts council will use funds to conduct workshops, trainings and other activities throughout the current fiscal year to address and examine creative aging in Kentucky. The arts council is working in consultation and partnership with the Kentucky Department for Aging and Independent Living to promote all activities.

For application questions or more information, contact Emily B. Moses, executive staff advisor, at emilyb.moses@ky.gov.

Need a COVID-19 test?

If you need to be tested for COVID-19 for illness, work, or school, Rockcastle Regional offers both PCR and Molecular, or "Rapid," COVID-19 testing.

COVID-19 Testing FAQs

What is the difference between a PCR test and a Molecular (Rapid) test?

PCR Test: Nasal swab that is sent off and results will return within 2-3 days. A PCR test is typically the test that is preferred for patients with an upcoming surgery/procedure and for employees who are required to provide a negative test result before returning to work.

Molecular (Rapid): Nasal swab that is processed in-office and results return in about 20 minutes. Patients must be experiencing symptoms in order to have a rapid test performed. This test is not intended for patients who are needing a test for an upcoming surgery/procedure.

Where should I go to get tested?

Patients only needing to be tested for COVID-19, should come to Rockcastle Regional QuickCare or schedule an appointment at one of our clinics. Only patients who are needing emergent medical care for COVID-19 or other health issues should be seen in the Emergency Department.

PCR Test

Outpatient Services Building: PCR testing is available 24/7 by coming to our Outpatient Services Building at Rockcastle Regional. Patients will need to come to Outpatient Registration and tell the clerk they are here for a COVID-19 test. If you come after normal office hours, patients will be registered at the emergency department. Tests will be performed in the laboratory on the second floor. Patients will be called within 2-3 days with test results.

PCR and Molecular (Rapid) can be performed at any of our clinic locations during normal office hours. Appointments can be made at Rockcastle Family Wellness, and RockPeds. QuickCare sees patients on a walk-in basis.

How can I schedule an appointment?
