Annual Livingston Homecoming held this past weekend

Nearly a pound of meth confiscated in Rockcastle

— 454 grams in a pound

By: Mike French
 Rockcastle County Sheriff's Deputy Kirk Mayes pulled over a vehicle operated by Joe Gross, 25, of Evarts on Saturday, September 2nd on South Wilderness Road in Mount Vernon for routine traffic violations.

However, after the stop, Mayes said he received permission to search the vehicle where he located a baggie under the driver's seat containing two other baggies which held meth. The meth, usually weighed in grams, weighed nearly 16 ounces (over 400 grams with a street value of approximately $100 per gram), according to the citation.

Sheriff Mike Peters said the unusually large amount of meth was probably purchased in a different county and was being transported through Rockcastle on its way to another county. Police also discovered empty baggies suspected to have been used to sort the meth out into smaller quantities for quicker sale.

The extraordinary amount of meth, along with the empty baggies, led to the trafficking charge.

"Unfortunately, they spent all their cash buying all that meth (approximately $40,000 street value) and all we were able to confiscate of any value for the department was the vehicle," said Peters.

Part of the appeal, according to police, in taking the risk involved in selling meth, is the huge profit that can be made from the drug.

For example, 1/2 gram of meth sold on the street typically costs $50. However, a full ounce (aka Zone) which is approximately 28 grams, may be purchased for about $800-$1,000. Hence, a dealer may easily quadruple their investment. In fact, this $40,000 in meth would typically be purchased for around $10,000.

Police also discovered a .45 handgun and several items considered drug paraphernalia, including a set of scales, needles, smoking pipes and other items.

After it was determined that Gross is a convicted felon, the handgun was confiscated as well.

Also in the vehicle was Robert Burkhart, 64, also of Evarts.

Gross and Burkhart were taken to the Rockcastle County Detention Center where each was charged with trafficking meth, possession of heroin, possession of drug paraphernalia and Gross was charged with possession of a handgun by a convicted felon.

Each is being held on a $15,000 cash/property bond.

Meth bust made serving warrant

— Packaged for sale

By: Mike French
 While serving a warrant on unrelated charges, on Alisha Durbin, 25, of Mount Vernon Monday, September 4th, police saw what appeared to be a glass pipe, consistent with the use of illegal drugs, on the floorboard of Durbin's vehicle.

According to the arrest citation, after spotting the pipe, police searched the vehicle and discovered marijuana. Police also found a set of scales and a Xanax pill in Durbin's purse.

Police then informed Durbin that she was under arrest and any drugs found on her once at the jail would be considered a felony promoting contraband. Durbin then informed police that she had things stored in the front of her pants.

A female officer then searched Durbin and retrieved a plastic container, with several compartments, and synthetic marijuana packaged for sale. Also discovered, in the search by the female officer, were five Xanax pills, a bag of meth, packaged for sale, and some loose meth.

Police confiscated the drugs and $160 from Durbin's purse.

Durbin was arrested and charged with trafficking synthetic marijuana, trafficking meth and tampering with physical evidence.

She is being held on $10,000 surety bond meaning a third party signature will facilitate her release.

Local church set to help Hurricane victims

By: Mike French
 Proverbs 3:27, "Withhold not good from them to whom it is due, when it is in the power of thine hand to do it."

According to a press release from Bible Baptist Church in Mount Vernon, the local ministry is joining the ranks of those who are not withholding good after Hurricane Harvey caused such devastation in Texas.

The local church has announced their plans to join in on the help given throughout the nation as Texas begins to rebuild after the record storm damage.

Bible Baptist Church is collecting materials to load onto a trailer to be shipped to Texas. The plan, according to officials at the church, is to coordinate with Baptist Charities, a ministry of the Rodgers Baptist Church in

Garland, Texas. The coordinator of ministry in Garland is Larry Jones who lives in League City, Texas, an area affected by Hurricane Harvey. "Texans have already begun to rebuild and help one another and we want to encourage them in their efforts," say officials at Bible Baptist.

Wrecks plague I-75 Labor Day

By: Mike French
 Labor Day weekend is notorious for accidents along I-75 in Rockcastle County and this year was no different.

Mount Vernon Fire Chief David Bales said the department was busy Monday trying to keep the interstate open between accidents.

"There are always an abnormal amount of accidents on I-75 during the Labor Day weekend," Bales said. "About the only difference this year was they were all on Monday instead of spread out over the weekend and they were all northbound."

In fact local fire fighter were called to accidents on I-75 four separate times on Monday alone.

"We opened lanes as soon as we could but it kept us all busy," said Bales, the MV Fire Chief said.

A five vehicle accident occurred Monday morning near the 62 mile marker and no injuries were reported. But part of the interstate had to be closed while workers removed debris from the roadway, including spilled diesel fuel.

Shortly after this scene was cleared, another three vehicle accident, with no injuries reported, occurred near the 65 mile marker, again northbound.

The same day, another three vehicle accident took place near the 66 mile marker. Though once again no injuries were reported, some lanes of the highway had to be closed to remove vehicles and glass.

And again Monday afternoon, a multiple-vehicle accident occurred northbound near the 67 mile marker in which a truck, pulling a boat, was involved. This time one of those involved was transported to the University of Kentucky Medi-

The best part of winter for me will occur next week when my pool company comes to close it for the season.

Now don't get me wrong, it has been little to no trouble this summer and the children and grandchildren have enjoyed the heck out of it but there's something about seeing that green tarp go over the pool that just fulfills something for me -- my basic laziness, I guess, because I know that there are no worries about it for the next seven months or so.

I have followed closely the recent news stories about the state's disastrous pension system for state workers. It is beyond comprehension that the can has been kicked down the road for so many years until it has become a catastrophe threatening the lifestyle of teachers already retired and those caught in the mid-flow of their career. I focus on teachers because I am so intimately acquainted with the profession, having four daughters who teach, along with a granddaughter and a son-in-law. I know, personally, of the beyond the call of duty effort teachers put forward and the sacrifices they make to stay in the profession.

My oldest daughter, Jamie, started teaching at a later age, giving up a management position with the U.S. Post Office. I know how much personal money she, and my other daughters, put into making the learning experience the best possible for their students. And, in Jamie's case, she still doesn't make nearly as much as she did when she left the post office. It is also a profession that an advanced degree, required by the state board of education, must be paid for with their own funds.

The two daughters, and one granddaughter, that teach in our local system, went seven years at one point without a raise, actually losing take home pay because occupational taxes were imposed during that time by the county and city.

Also, the recommendation of the independent consultant, hired by the state to study the situation, to take away all cost of living benefits that state and local government retirees received

Write this down on your calendar right now for October 7, "Paint Lick Village Fest 11:00 AM until about dark." I may forget to put another reminder in this column so you'd better start making plans right now.

If you've never been to historic Paint Lick, there's never been a better reason to visit. And even if you have been to one of our previous 27 festivals you haven't seen anything like number 28 is shaping up to be. Given the fact that busy U.S. Highway 52 no longer runs smack dab through the middle of town, we may, indeed, find ourselves dancing in the street.

Back in 1989 a newly formed organization called Friends of Paint Lick (FOPL) organized the first Paint Lick Village Fest to celebrate the beginning of fall for no other reason than the fact that we simply felt like celebrating and showing some pride about our little dot on the map.

In its early years, thanks in large part to the efforts and high octane energy of FOPL co-founder, Mrs. Dean Cornett, it was not unusual to have vendors from all over Kentucky and even neighboring states set up booths or tables to sell everything from fried apple pies to soupbeans. There were numerous crafts people selling everything from jewelry to cornshuck dolls and wooden toys. Bybee Pottery set up a wheel and a big tub of clay where anyone who wanted to get muddy could throw a small bowl or something similar.

Power Ball

When I was a youngster, the only game of chance that I was allowed to play was marbles. I kept my precious collection in a cigar box. I played as a "shooter" from a circle, and I often took my "drop box" to school.

For those of you who may be unfamiliar with a drop box, allow me to explain. My cigar box had a small hole in the center of its top, and boys would attempt to drop a marble into the box from their waist level while in a standing position. If it went into the hole, that boy could choose any three marbles from the container. If the marble failed to hit the hole, then it became mine.

If you had a successful day, you could come home with lots more marbles than you had at the beginning of the day. Sometimes we would refer to a special marble as a "power ball."

Now that I have attained the status of a senior citizen, my only game of chance is to occasionally purchase a Power Ball ticket. In order to keep things reasonable, I have established some rules for myself as a Lottery ticket consumer. The first rule is that I may only purchase a single ticket. Secondly, in order to limit myself to purchasing tickets no more than a few times each year, the jackpot payout must be at least 100 million dollars.

Just recently, the Power Ball reached a total of $758.7 million dollars. That was the largest jackpot in North American history to date. One television reporter commented upon how difficult it would be to win such a prize, saying "You are more likely to be struck by lightning -- TWICE." So believe me when I tell you that I fully understand the odds.

However, a man can dream, can't he? After all, as they say, someone has to win! The lady who won that record amount took it as a lump-sum payment of $480 million -- which amounts to $336 million after taxes.

As a dreamer, I have imagined many times how I would spend such a sum of money. (As a matter of fact, sometimes my wife tires of hearing of it -- which may be the reason that she suggested that I make it a subject of my column.)

So here goes. First, I would place $30 million into a fund or trust to be

Aces Over

By: Mike French

Our typical family get-togethers or reunions or holiday parties, consisted of mom's many brother and sisters and their spouses and children coming to our house.

Mom (as did many of that generation) had a very large family. They were very close and, as I was growing up, we heard from all of them most every week of our lives.

At our "family functions" we had to put several folding tables and chairs in the garage and some lawn chairs in the living room to handle the spillover since there were only six chairs at our kitchen table.

As with most families, before the day was over, there were horseshoe tournaments, bingo games, Rook tournaments and, for those of us who lived a little over the edge of the way mom's family was brought up, there was even a $1/$2 poker game in the back room. (No police officers, the house did not keep a cut).

Eventually at one or more of those activities, there would be an argument spring up. A little raised-voice discussion and sometimes even a pout for a while. But, soon afterwards, the two who had just had the red faces, were laughing and cutting up about some other subject.

And, of course, there were the gossip sections in which voices tended to whisper as a small group discussed some unholy act that one of the others had been involved in (such as driving too fast or being behind on a mortgage payment).

I usually wandered from group to group, sometimes participating in each of the events and gossip sessions.

I used to enjoy starting a rumor myself, at one of the gossip groups, just to visit one of the other gossip groups later and see how long it took my rumor to make the rounds.

I started one about myself once and before I knew it, I had friends calling me on the phone to offer their support for my "problem."

I always got a big kick out of doing that and would later explain that I had made it up only to find that they didn't believe me and believed the rumor instead. I would laugh so hard and no one knew why but me. Guess that's why I was considered the "strange child." Because I stood around laughing at nothing.

I know this will sound like I am attempting to make a martyr of someone and build them up beyond reality. But the truth is, I am

The End of Summer and a New Beginning

Dear Journal,
Well, here it is, the end of summer. Labor Day-the day to welcome fall, stop wearing white, and in general, get ready for cold weather.

I would like to be able to say I hate to see summer go, but this summer has been nothing but misery to one degree or the other.

Last week, I saw my specialist and I have been given the gift of life yet again in that I'm still cancer-free. Many in my former condition weren't so fortunate. I'm taking charge of my life and very little is going to bother me anymore. So, I'm looking forward to fall and a new life, so to speak.

Stanley and I have had a rather mundane long weekend, by most standards, but it was fun for us. We visited the Livingston Homecoming here and there. We had a very good breakfast at the old school cafe and later I got a funnel cake, saw a lot of folks, and on Sunday night, we watched the fireworks show.

The brake lights had gone out on the Explorer and Stanley had to fix them by replacing a switch. He was knelt on the ground, lost in his work, when Terry, ERWA show respect for your members...

Dear Editor,

The ERWA Board recently met to count the votes of its members whether to have the Kentucky American Water Company assume ownership of the water system or to keep it under ERWA.

The results were clear. More than 85% (6 to 1) voted for Kentucky American Water. However, the ERWA chairman would not commit to honoring the results. When asked about it, he would only say he had to consider all proposals and then negotiate.

The ERWA chairman opened the meeting saying the ERWA had received another proposal. He said that he had been approached by the manager and board chairman of the Western Water Association with a proposal to do an "operational contract" with the ERWA, an arrangement that would keep the ERWA in control. Several ERWA members asked why Western Water Association would do this given that the ERWA owed almost $800,000, could not afford to maintain its water lines, and struggled to pay its monthly debts. In an earlier ERWA monthly meeting it was reported that all surrounding water associations had been contacted and none was interested in taking over the ERWA because of its large indebtedness and problems with its infrastructure. Why would "Western" saddle it users with such a burden?

Kentucky American Water representatives said they had sent ERWA a proposal in June. They wanted to know what was needed so progress could be made. They said they were willing to maintain a local office, retain current staff, keep water rates low, and payoff ERWA debts.

It is possible that we will lose our safe treated water if the ERWA squanders the offer from American Water. The approximately 1,200 adults and 2,000 children whose health and quality-of-life depend on this water want the ERWA to respect the overwhelming vote of its members.

between 1996 and 2012, is a move that would significantly reduce the monthly checks that many retirees receive -- in some instances, by 25%. Teachers already have to work 27 years to retire but do not get full benefits unless they are also 55. In the case of one of my daughters and a granddaughter, they will, under the present system, have to work 33 years to receive full benefits and 43 years under the recommendation.

Eliminating the use of unused sick days and compensatory leave to increase pension benefits, raising the retirement age, with full benefits, from 55 to 65, suspending all cost of living adjustments for retired teachers and taking back those adjustments from 1996 to 2012 are, in my opinion, draconian measures.

The state legislators, whose own pension I have been told, is funded over 90% (imagine that), might start weeding out their many "pork barrel" projects, such as the $200,000 given to a tourist center in Berea a few years ago. I realize that may be a drop in the bucket but enough drops add up to a puddle and probably a good-sized puddle at that. The legislators might even consider an additional 1¢ sales tax earmarked for the pension funds.

I am just tired of legislators breaking their promises to their retirees and future retirees who took them at their word, and invested a lot of their own money into the retirement system, believing that they would have a pension at the end of their service.

But politics is not a profession known for keeping promises or doing what is best for their constituents, instead opting often for paying more attention to deep-pocket lobbyists, on the state and federal level.

not. I will in no way exaggerate in this column.

As family members moved around from group to group, there was one that stood out. Now I have a good, clean, Republican, Christian, Bible toting, gun packing, freedom loving, Constitution believing family. But we all have our faults.

Except this one. I never believed that any one person is better than any other person.

Money doesn't matter, political beliefs, job status or clothing or which church a person attended has ever made a difference to me. We are all God's children and the richest man on earth is no more important to me than a hobo. They will both wind up in the same size hole.

But this one lady stood out.

In the gossip groups, she never spoke except to compliment someone in her soft, gentle voice or to help explain on the gossipee's behalf.

At the groups where there was a disagreement, she calmly lowered her head and walked away never taking a side.

She supported her husband (mom's brother who was a preacher) with her every breath and action.

A negative word never parted her smiling lips. A complaint never left her tongue. A sarcasm was never used in her words. She moved gently and considerately and made sure there was food for everyone before she would eat and a tear could be seen in her eye when the national anthem was played.

What she had, she would give a stranger if they needed it. What she didn't have, she never lusted for but was instead gloriously happy with what she did have.

She outwardly felt blessed with each day God had given her and seemed to be just as grateful that God had given those around her another day.

I never saw her display jealousy, anger, greed, lust, gluttony, laziness or pride except for her pride in her husband.

I know. This sounds like I am blinded by family love or that I am just boasting about her. But the truth is, I truly don't believe that even this column does her justice.

She was different from every human being I have ever met. Maybe we find it hard to believe that a person like this exists because there are so few of them. Or that people only lived this way in biblical times and no one is this way in today's world.

But every person that knew her, will agree with each word I have spoken about her. Not one, will disagree.

Perhaps the very reason for her existence was to show us that it can still be done. People can indeed still live this way.

I know it's possible because I saw it with my own critical eyes.

I'm not saying she was perfect. Only one was ever perfect. But I am saying that I have proof that people this good can still exist. It's not just a memory or a dream about how we wish we could live. I actually saw it done. I was there. She was real. And I remember.

We look forward to that biggest of reunions someday with Aunt Bethal (Becky) Woosley Robinson.

If there is anyway to make Heaven even brighter than it has always been, then Becky's arrival did that last week.

See you soon, Aunt Becky.

"Points East"

I recall a retired couple who had a quaint little wagon from which they sold pop-corn meal made from several varieties of popcorn they had grown on their farm. They had a portable grist mill and a gas fired popper in which they would pop batches of first one variety and then another but they were not selling popped corn. Their products were the meal and corn you could take home to make bread or to pop yourself. Their stated goal was to sell enough product to pay for the gasoline it took to get them from wherever they called home to Paint Lick and back. If you've never had fritters made from pop-corn meal, you've missed a gourmet treat.

In those days we still had a bank with a parking lot where we parked a tobacco wagon to serve as the stage for local musicians who took turns playing country, bluegrass, gospel, folk and even a little rock and roll even though Paint Lick was not then much of a hard rock venue.

But that may change this year because "Some Rock Band" (that's the name of the group) is one of the headline entertainers. Loretta and I attended one of their concerts at the Lancaster Grand Theater back in early summer where we were as thrilled with their covers of songs from the 60s and 70s as our daughter was when they covered groups like Bon Jovi, Led Zeplin, Lynrd Skynrd. Suffice to say that these guys are not amateurs.

Other entertainers this year include Americana recording artists, Mitch Barrett & Melody Youngblood, The Berea College Bluegrass Ensemble and The Handshake Deals. By the time you read this, I'm reasonably sure some additional entertainment has been lined up. I know that a car show is in the works, a bike ride, numerous activities for kids, and that there will be food and arts and crafts galore.

Around the turn of the Century Dean Cornett's health began sliding and she was no longer able to put the superhuman effort into organizing our Village Fest into the big gala event it had been throughout the 90s but we've been able to, at least, keep a lower key semblance of it going on for the last decade even though many of us aren't nearly as young as we were 20 years ago.

This year a host of folks, including several Garrard County government, civic and business leaders who are at least one or two generations younger than the normal FOPL crowd have breathed new life into Paint Lick's Village fest and I believe, with all my heart, that Dean is up there, way beyond the clouds, cheering them on.

Finally, if you or your organization or business is interested in vending or exhibiting at this year's festival, I'm told that there is still some space available. Get more information by contacting Jessa Turner at Copperhead Consulting, (jturner@copperheadconsulting.com). Stay up to date on the 28th Paint Lick Village Fest by visiting used as tithe to the Lord. I even determined that I would choose five different individuals who would serve on a board to oversee how this money would best be put to use. I even know who those board members would be because I would have to have the utmost trust in each of them.

My second decision would be to hire a bodyguard to protect me and my wife. After all, you can't be too careful. There are a lot of nuts out there who might think that an old man would be an easy target. The person for this job who came to my mind immediately is an old friend of mine who lives in Mt. Sterling by the name of Doyle King. Doyle was "SEC lineman of the week" several times during his football days at the University of Kentucky. He is big and he is strong, and believe me when I tell you that you don't want to be on the wrong side of him. Doyle fits that bill perfectly—not to mention that I would personally enjoy having him around.

My third wish would be to call my grandchildren and have them meet me at Dutch's Ford/Chevrolet in Mt. Sterling, whereby I would explain that they could order their own new automobiles—anything they wanted. I'd be willing to bet that my eldest grandson, Baylor, would still order a new Ford F250 pickup. But, I would let him decide.

Another idea of my dreaming mind is that I would pay off the home mortgages for all of my family members. I would just love to call a family meeting and tell each of them to bring their "bill boxes" when they came.

And, of course, there is one other thing. I would certainly notify each grandchild that I would pick up the tab to pay for their college educations. Surely my son and their father, Andy, would be pleased because he will soon have three in college.

I think that the real joy of winning a large Power Ball jackpot would be to watch my family members as I paid off their homes and other debts. That would be so awesome to be able to accomplish.

If you are wondering what I would want to do for me and Kathy, that answer is simple. I would purchase a large camper with a matching SUV to tow behind, load up my wife and my dog, and head out on a cross-country trip that would reach its climax in Alaska. When we went there in 1994, I drove 10,600 miles within six weeks. But I would take it a lot easier this time.

Wonder if Doyle would consent to drive us? We might even stay in Alaska for an entire summer, or travel around for a year or two. But we would certainly enjoy the sights and sounds of nature's glory—that is for sure.

By the way, when the numbers for that really grand jackpot came out, I promptly checked my own Power Ball ticket. I regret to inform you that I did not match a single number.

But I am not down and out; no I am not. I will continue to watch for large jackpots, and I will continue to purchase a single ticket. And I will continue to dream....

our turtle, came over to him waiting to be noticed. If Terry sees either of us, he comes over to greet us with the hope of getting a treat. We always feed him. Terry is spending his fourth summer with us. Soon, he will be hibernating for the winter and we will miss him.

We also went to Walmart but I passed on the Pioneer Woman items this week. I looked all around and almost got some material to make kitchen curtains but elected just to buy some instead. Of course, we ate out here or there, but we've stayed home for the most part. I'm even getting on Facebook. I guess I'm coming into the twenty-first century. You can really waste a lot of time on there if you aren't careful, but it is great for keeping up with friends and family that are rarely seen.

I'm spending this holiday at home doing laundry, cleaning out the refrigerator, and I'm going to paint in the kitchen next. I can't wait until it is all done and I can put my Pioneer Woman stuff in there.

Tomorrow will be the start of a short work week and the fall routine will begin soon. I've been craving pumpkin pie, so I got some mini-pies at Walmart. Fall, I'm here, ready and waiting with pumpkin on my breath.

The Healthy Joe Expo was created to reach those who are sometimes hard to reach with health education, and for whom that education might be most important. Men drink more than women, smoke more than women, don't live as long as women, and engage in more high-risk activities than women. Yet, men are notorious for not seeing a doctor when they should. The American Academy of Family Physicians reveals that 55 percent of U.S. men haven't seen their M.D. in the past year. Those planning to attend should reserve their place by contacting Kayla Rowe

Rockets beat Whitley in 43-35 nail-biter

The Rockets proved their mettle last Friday night, coming back from a third quarter eight-point deficit to defeat the Whitley County Colonels 43-35.

Head Coach Scott Parkey said he was "really pleased with how the offense kept the pressure on Whitley County. Guys on the offensive line were a force all night. Jaden (Payne) and Brent (Lovell) led us with yards but Holden (Barnett), Josh Thacker, Hunter Sargent and Noah Prickett also had great nights. Prickett's will not show up in the stat line but his lead blocking was crucial."

Parkey was equally proud of his defense, saying "Our defense was good again, especially against the run. The secondary keeps improving and will be fine for district play. Whitley's offense is really good, we knew that going in. The guys stepped up and made plays when it mattered most."

Junior Jaden Payne once again led his team in rushing, gaining 139 yards on 18 carries and scoring three touchdowns. Senior quarterback Brent Lovell rushed for 114 yards and accounted for his team's other three touchdowns. Sophomore Josh Thacker picked up 80 yards on 14 carries and senior Holdan Barnett got 56 yards on seven carries.

Besides the three touchdowns each of Payne and Lovell, senior Blake King got a two point conversion and junior Jeremiah Blevins got one PAT.

On the night, Lovell threw the ball four times and completed two, both to Thacker for a total of 15 yards.

Defensively, Payne also led his team with seven tackles, five solo; senior Isaiah Amyx got six tackles, three solo; junior Jacob Hansel, Prickett and sophomore Josh Thacker were each credited with five tackles, four solo for Thacker, two for Hansel and one for Prickett; Lovell and senior Blaze Stewart each got four tackles, three solo for Lovell and one for Stewart; freshman Logan Brown, along with H. Barnett, each got three tackles, two solo for Brown and one for Barnett; senior Logan Barnett was credited with two assist tackles and freshman Drew Mink and senior Jarred Brown each got a solo tackle and senior Justin Brown was credited with an assist.

Holdan Barnett recovered one Colonel fumble for his team.

This Friday night, the Rockets will host the Woodford County Yellow Jackets for their Homecoming game.

Senior Isaiah Amyx brings down a Colonel in the backfield during the Rockets' win over Whitley County Friday night. The Rockets' will face Woodford County this Friday night. Homecoming festivities will take place at halftime.

Senior quarterback Brent Lovell breaks free for big yardage during the Rockets' win over Whitley County Friday night. Lovell was two for four in the air for 15 yards and picked up 114 yards on the ground and three touchdowns.

Senior Holdan Barnett fights through the line for yardage in the Rockets' 43-35 win over Whitley County Friday night.

The RCHS Marching Rockets performed their show, Twisted, during halftime of the Rockets game Friday night.

Rocket head coach Scott Parkey talks to his team during a timeout of the Rockets' 43-35 win over Whitley County Friday night.

Pay tribute to Jerry Cox

Swimmers past and present celebrate 46 years of Dolphin swimming

Nearly 100 former and present swimmers, parents, family and boosters gathered in the clubhouse at Cedar Rapids to celebrate 46 years of Dolphin swimming this past Sunday.

Several of the very first swim team members were on hand, coming from as far away as Texas and Florida, to pay tribute to and reminisce with Jerry Cox, whose dream it was to begin swimming in Rockcastle county through Cedar Rapids.

Other former coaches on hand included Carla Clontz Parsons, Dane Cox, Greg Mullins, Lindsey Dowell Gabbard, Andrew Hammond, Ryan Graham, Lisa Lewis, Sydney Arvin, present coaches Shannon and Caron Burton, who also coach the RCHS team and Lauren Burton.

Long time Dolphin board member Debbie Brown gave a brief history of the swim program including her efforts, along with some other swim programs to start the Lake Cumberland Swim Association in the early 1980's. She also recognized the three conference swim championships by Cedar Rapids in 1994, 1998, and 2000.

Lisa Lewis gave an update on all the coaches who coached at Cedar Rapids and where they are now. With exception of 2-3 coaches, all of them have been former swimmers. All of them have gone on to college and are very successful in careers ranging from teachers to health care professionals to accounting and ministry.

Roxanne Hammond, who along with Linda Clontz, Carla Parsons, Lisa Lewis and Debbie Brown helped organize the event then recognized those who either swam or played an integral part and have now passed on to eternal life; Clark "Joe" Mullins, who was a long time swim meet official and starter; swimmers Doug Mullins, Suzanne Brown and Jeff Winstead, all of whom excelled in the pool.

Andrew Hammond recognized those Dolphin swimmers who went on to swim in college: Jerry Cox (Berea), Doug Mullins (EKU), Carrie Mullins (UK), Julie Lewis (Transylvania), Cody Cox (Berea), Lindsey Dowell (Union), Andrew Hammond (WKU).

A special award honoring Bill and Joey Powell, legendary coach at Western Kentucky, who managed the LCSA conference meets and held several swim clinics at Cedar Rapids. Coach Powell and wife Joey were unable to attend due to health reasons.

Lastly, Shannon and Charon Burton gave an update on the present RCHS swim team, beginning its 9th year. It has grown from 3 swimmers to an anticipated 20+ this coming season. Present RCHS swimmer Laurel Yates was recognized as the first swimmer to qualify for a state meet.

RCHS swim team is in need of donations to purchase a record board to place at the high school that will recognize high achievement, contact Caron Burton at MVES.

Cedar Rapids is also seeking donations to keep the pool upgraded and swim meeting standards, to donate toward the pool and Dolphin swimming see Cletis Brown at Cedar Rapids.

Rockcastle Regional offers free cholesterol screenings

Children, young adults and older Americans can have high cholesterol. Learn how to prevent high cholesterol and know what your cholesterol levels mean.

September is National Cholesterol Education Month, a good time to get your blood cholesterol checked and take steps to lower it if it is high. National Cholesterol Education Month is also a good time to learn about lipid profiles and about food and lifestyle choices that help you reach personal cholesterol goals.

September 11-15, 2017, Rockcastle Regional Hospital is offering free cholesterol screenings from 7 a.m. until 9 a.m. No appointment is necessary. Please fast 12 hours prior to screening. Registration for the free screening will be in the second floor lobby of the Outpatient Services Center. Screening results will be mailed directly to the patient. Patients are then advised to follow-up with their primary care provider to discuss results.

Cholesterol is a waxy, fat-like substance found in your body and many foods. Your body needs cholesterol to function normally and makes all that you need. Too much cholesterol can build up in your arteries. After a while, these deposits narrow your arteries, putting you at risk for heart disease and stroke.

High cholesterol usually doesn't have any symptoms. As a result, many people do not know that their cholesterol levels are too high. However, doctors can do a simple blood test to check your cholesterol. High cholesterol can be controlled through lifestyle changes or if it is not enough, through medications.

It's important to check your cholesterol levels. High cholesterol is a major risk factor for heart disease, the leading cause of death in the United States.

DAR sponsors American History essay contest

The National Society Daughters of the American Revolution actively supports historic preservation, promotion of education and patriotic endeavors. One way the Society promotes education is to sponsor every year in the school systems an American History essay contest open to all 5th-8th graders. All students in public, private, or parochial school, or those who are home schooled are eligible. This contest is conducted without regard to race, religion, sex, or national origin. This contest is judged on the local level by the Rockcastle Chapter and awards will be given per grade level. Each chapter winner's essay will then be sent to KSDAR to be judged on the state level. All state essay winners will then go on to be judged on the division and national levels and winners will receive their award at Continental Congress held in Washington D.C.

The topic for this year's American History essay has been chosen: "World War 1: Remembering the War to End All Wars". The end of World War 1 was the beginning of a new age. This year marks the 100th anniversary of the end of the Great War. Imagine you are living in 1918. State where you are living and how the end of the war will impact your daily life. Discuss the pros and cons of the changes this War introduced to society and how you imagine those changes will impact the United States in the years to come.

Length of essay should be 300-600 words for grade 5 and between 600-1000 words for grades 6, 7 and 8. Essays must have a bibliography listing all references utilized. Judging will be based on historical accuracy, adherence to topic, organization of material, interest, originality, spelling, grammar, punctuation and neatness. Pictures, maps, drawings, graphics and other such additions will not be considered in judging and should not be included.

All entries should be completed and turned in to the student's history teacher by the deadline of October 30th. Any student interested in participating in these contests may contact your history teacher or the Rockcastle Chapter DAR Historian, Karen Adams at (859) 273-9015 or adamskaren11@cs.com.

Mrs. Starla's class celebrated the completion of the captivating tale of "Sarah, Plain and Tall" by Patricia MacLachlan. The story paints a picture of Sarah's journey from Maine, life on the prairie, and finding ones place in the world. All while Anna and her younger brother Caleb wait and wonder. Will Sarah be nice? Will she sing? Will she stay?

To celebrate the conclusion of their fiction students read a recipe, measured ingredients, and set the time for homemade corn muffins. While other students churned homemade butter. Afterwards we enjoyed our delicious snack and watched the movie of "Sarah, Plain and Tall". Students pictured making a life connection to the story that they explored. Alex Brown and Mickey Spicer are enjoying making fresh butter. As Aiden Thompkins diligently mixes corn muffin batter. Sydney Graves and Nick Reppert present their final product. Members of Mrs. Starla's class take a moment to capture their experience, members are Jack Childress, Zachary Davidson, Haley Hopkins, Cameron Smith, Aiden Thompkins, Daniel Hunsucker, Gavin Isaacs, and Addison Gilbert. Students were able to make connections to the characters in the tale through the hands-on tasty activity.

Money Tips for Students

Time to start repaying student loans

If you finished college in May and have federal student loans, it's almost time to start repaying them. These tips from the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA) may help.

One of the smartest things you can do is pay more than your scheduled payment amount. If you ask your lender to apply the extra to the principal, you will pay less interest over the life of your loan.

You have several plans from which to choose. The standard repayment plan calls for equal monthly payments over 10 years. The minimum monthly payment is usually $50. Other options include:

- Graduated repayment, with lower amounts that get higher over the 10-year period.
- Income-driven repayment plans, with monthly amounts based on income and family size. Some plans forgive the balance if you make on-time payments for a certain time.
- Pay As You Earn, if you received no loans before Oct. 1, 2007, and at least one loan after Sept. 30, 2011.

You will probably pay more interest over the life of the loan if you use any option other than standard repayment. Also, you may have to pay taxes on any amount that is forgiven.

Remember that the federal government can change repayment programs at any time.

For more information about Kentucky scholarships and grants, visit www.kheaa.com; write KHEAA, P.O. Box 798, Frankfort, KY 40602; or call 800-928-8926, ext. 6-7214.
