

BURNED AT THE STAKE

Dick Coleman, the Murderer of Mrs. Lashbrook, Meets a Horrible Death.

He is Taken From the Custody of the Sheriff and His Deputies by an Infatuated Mob.

A Rope is Thrown Over His Head and White Flannel for Many Hours and Then to Fire About Two Miles North of Mt. Vernon.

Mayville, Ky., Dec. 12.—Negro murderer Dick Coleman arrived at 10:30 Wednesday morning under a special guard of deputies sworn in by the sheriff, including Detective Fitzgerald, Constable Dawson, Chief of Police Donovan, all of the police force and two deputy sheriffs. When they arrived at the court house they were met by a mob of fully 1,000 people, headed by James Wheeler, the husband of the murdered woman, and went immediately up Second street through the central portion of the town to the hill, followed by fifty thousand of the citizens of this city and county. This is the first time anything of this kind has happened in this city, and the excitement is intense. All was done that was possible by the sheriff and his guard to prevent lynchings, but in the face of such a mob of people, irrespective of color, it was useless to attempt to do anything save deliver him up, which was done. They grabbed him and threw a rope over his head, and took him up above the city and strung him up. The poor wretch could be heard above the cries of the mob, pleading for his life, but the mob only heard the cries of Mr. Lashbrook, and they just the thing.

About 250 were at the C. & O. train Tuesday night expecting him, but as he failed to come they waited for him Wednesday morning. There is no telling what would have been done had they succeeded in getting him in jail, as there would have undoubtedly been several killed in the attempt to stop the jail doors.

The man carried Coleman to a small hollow near the railroad tracks, where they bound him tightly to a young sapling. Then they heaped a large pile of burning brush around him and fired the stick, while his eyes rolled horribly. Some one cut out his eyes, and in a moment his face rolled around and he was believed to be dead.

Coleman said 15 minutes before he was set afire that he had nothing to say. His death was slow, and writhing in terrible agony, he was hoisted and glared at by the people standing on every side of the pit. Many women were present. He died at 12:30.

TAYLOR GETS IT.

His Certificate of Election Signed by Two Election Commissioners.

For the Time Being is Ended One of the Most Bitterly Contested Governmental Campaigns in the State.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 10.—At 9:45 Saturday morning the election certificate of William S. Taylor was signed by the election commissioners and he was declared to be the governor-elect of Kentucky. The official figures of the vote filed with the Secretary of State Friday night are: Taylor, 103,714; Goebel, 191,331; Taylor's plurality, 8,333. The operation which ended, for the time being at least, the bitterly fought gubernatorial contest, was conducted in the simplest manner. The majority opinion of Commissioners Pryor and Ellis and the minority opinion of Commissioner Poyntz, which were published Saturday morning were not read, as was the original intention. The three commissioners walked first to the office of the clerk of the state supreme court, where they filed two opinions. They then passed into the office of the secretary of state. Clerk Chennett of the board of commissioners read the figures showing that the republican candidates for offices on the state ticket had received the largest number of votes and then certificates of election were signed at once, that of Mr. Taylor being first on the list. There were only 11 people in the room at the time, and of this number only two were there as idle spectators.

There was no crowd around the building and no interest manifested in the work save by those engaged in it and those who stood looking on. The certificates as soon as signed were filed with the secretary of state and certificates will be issued to the elected men at once by Mr. Bradley. Late Friday night, when the decision had gone forth to the public, Commissioner Poyntz, who was in charge of preparing the opinion had fallen, dismissed the matter freely.

This had been a hard day for me, he said, his eyes inflamed by loss of sleep and the heavy lines in his face bearing eloquent witness to the truth of his statement. "It has been a hard thing for all of us. I wish, however, that all the people of the country knew how noble Judge Pryor has acted in this matter, and how conscientiously he has done what he considered his duty. He is a great man, one of the greatest, in my opinion, that Kentucky has ever produced, and I am sure his conduct in this case has been another piece of his long and honorable career as a public officer.

Speaking for myself, I continued Mr. Ellis, "I say frankly I did not like to do this thing, but under the law I can do, and be an honest man. Why, I was an original Goebel man. I was a Goebel man long before he received the nomination, and I am a Goebel man now. I can go beyond that and say I am a Goebel partisan. I have always been a partisan in politics, a rank partisan, and it would give me greater pleasure than I can express to be able to declare for the democrats in this thing, but I can't do it. The proceedings before the board were so overwhelmingly in favor of the republicans and they had so much the best of the arguments that it is almost impossible to discuss the affair. There was, to the minds of Judge Pryor and myself, only one thing to do, and that we have done. I know there are plenty of men who think that, strong democratic partisan as I am, I have always been, I should have remained a democratic partisan and voted otherwise. How can I do that? How can I count such a rape on my reputation and conscience as that.

Views from the legal standpoint, which in things like this is the only standpoint, I have done what is my conscience and my long career as a lawyer tell me is right, and I will do otherwise for no man nor upon any consideration." The statements made by Mr. Ellis have been labeled by his conduct from first to last throughout the canvass. He did all of the questioning of the records and signed every step to be most anxious to obtain the truth impartially to both sides. Mr. Goebel was apparently in the best of humor when he said that Taylor's certificate had been signed.

Commissioner Poyntz declined to sign the republican certificate of election, and that the state should not be bound by it, as he could not conscientiously do so. He consented to sign the certificate of the republican candidate, but he declined to do so.

THE Democratic candidates in the late election have filed contentions against their respective Republican opponents, who, on the face of the returns, were awarded the certificates of election. Five general causes of action are set up as their grounds for contest:

First, the use of tissue ballots in the counties of Knox, Johnson, McGuffin, Pike, Martin, Jackson, Owsley, Lewis, Carter, Pulaski, Bell, Clinton, Russell, Adair, Harlan, Casey, Wayne, Whitley, Todd, Caldwell, Crittenden, Perry, Mull, Greenup, Monroe, Metcalf, Butler, Letcher, Leslie, Lee, Laurel, Hart, Greenup, Grayson, Estill, Edmonson, Cumberland, Clay, Breckinridge, Boyd and Allen.

Second, the unlawful use of the military on the day of election.

Third, the use of an immense corruption fund, procured and used for the purpose of fraudulently and corruptly controlling the election.

Fourth, the improper interference of Federal Marshals and Deputy Marshals at the polls.

Fifth, the unlawful issuing of injunctions by certain Judges of Courts, compelling election officers to sign false returns and fraudulent certificates of the election in the counties of Jefferson, Knox and Lewis.

The charge as to the use of tissue or transparent ballots, has not only been proven by the Democrats but it is not denied by the Republicans. The Court of Appeals in passing on this very question, and by an opinion rendered on the 9th, inst., in a case taken up from Ohio county says: "We are of the opinion that all ballots should be printed on white paper, sufficiently thick that the printing cannot be distinguished from the back, and if ballots are used at an election which do not substantially comply with the law the election is not conducted as required by law and is invalid."

This is the law as declared by the highest authority in the State, and is the law by which the Contest Board on this question will be governed.

The charge as to the unlawful use of the military on the day of election, has been passed on by no less an authority than Judges Pryor and Ellis, members of the State Election Board, who declared the act of calling out the State Guard not only unlawful, but reprehensible. Gov. Bradley in defense of his action in calling out the State troops in Louisville, says he did so upon the affidavits of Allen R. Carter, (President of the Dispatch Publishing Company), Chas. I. Stewart, (Editor of Dispatch), Richard W. Knott, (Editor of Post), and others, which stated that affiants believed the free exercise of the right of franchise would be interrupted and that there was great danger that breaches of the peace and riots would occur on the day of election; that it would be necessary to strengthen the civil authorities by the employment of military force. But the affiants went further, and advised the Executive that the military force could not be safely placed under the command of the Mayor, Sheriff, Jailer, or confidence of the police. The law directs when the military is called out it shall be placed under the command of the civil authorities of the county, except when marshal law is declared. But in this case, upon the affidavits of interested parties, and although the Mayor, Sheriff, Jailer and Chief of Police are honorable gentlemen and civil officers acting under oath, it appears that the soldiers were called out to resist, rather than "strengthen" the civil authorities, and that too, without the Governor declaring martial law. But the also says that soldiers were required to carry into effect certain orders issued by Judge Toney, which orders, the Court of Appeals declare were illegal and void.

In Covington the Governor says it was made known to him, by a petition signed by some 350 citizens and an affidavit by a justice of the peace telegraphed to him, that troops were necessary there. His information that there, too, the Mayor, Sheriff, Jailer, Chief of Police and Marshal, were aiding and abetting in the lawlessness, and although they were civil officers acting under their oath of office, conservators of the peace in their city and county, yet a "petition" signed by some 350 citizens, and a telegram from a J. P. in the form of an affidavit, was sufficient warrant for him to call into service the military to resist the legally elected and acting civil officers of the County of Kenton and City of Covington. Why? Who can say it was not because the officials were Democrats, while the telegraphing J. P. and the some 350 citizens were Republicans.

The third grounds, that the Republicans had an immense corruption fund, how it was raised and how it was used, is known by all men.

The fifth, the illegally issuing of mandatory orders by certain Circuit Judges against election officers, has already been referred to as having been decided by the Court of last resort as illegal and void.

It is not only true, that the tissue ballots were resorted to for the purpose of ascertaining whether the "boater" had delivered the goods, but in counties where these ballots were not in use, other schemes and devices were employed, by which the Honest Election Leaguers would know their money was not paid for something they did not get.

This was not an election by the secret ballot as has already been shown by proof, unquestioned, in many of the counties; it was not an election when the voter, free from intimidation, was permitted to cast his ballot for the candidates of his choice, as the proof in the City of Louisville and many other places abundantly shows. But it was an election by bribery, intimidation, force and fraud. It had not been, the result would have been different by many thousand votes. With anything like a fair election the Democratic ticket would have been elected by a large plurality. It is clear, that the Democratic candidates are entitled to the offices for which they were candidates, and now, with the facts as the proof already taken shows, and the law as declared in the opinions rendered by the Court of Appeals and the State Election Board, and the right, as shown from every source on their side, the Democratic candidates owe it to themselves, their party, and their State to contest for the offices to which they were legally elected.

PRESIDENT McKinley's message to Congress, last week, was both long and voluminous. He paid a high tribute to the late Vice-President, Mr. Hobart. The President comes straight out for the gold standard. In the St. Louis Convention that nominated Maj. McKinley the platform declared for silver by international agreement. Ex-Speaker Reed says if the millionaires want the gold standard, they must pass it during the coming session of Congress. The greater part of the message deals with Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines, but no definite recommendations for the future government of those far-off islands are proposed. For Porto Rico, he suggests a temporary civil government with a Legislative and Executive branch to be appointed by the President. Nothing is said of the future government of Hawaii, save the immediate establishment of a Federal Court. We were greatly in hopes the President would indicate a policy for the new Possessions, but there isn't a word on that subject, but promises local self-government, for the islands. He asks for an increase in the navy; that a cable be extended to Japan; that changes be made in the Civil Service rules; that where aliens are concerned the Federal authorities should be given jurisdiction in lynching cases, and to support the gold standard, the Treasury be empowered to sell United States bonds and to employ such other effective means as may be necessary.

LAST Tuesday, Wm. O. Bradley's term of office expired and Gen. Taylor was inaugurated Governor of Kentucky. Like all of us who are of the "earth, earthy," he has made his mistakes and some of them grave and egregious. He was right in opposing Hunter, but wrong in ringing the fire alarm and calling out his militia. Bradley has a wonderfully inordinate ambition, but his vice-Presidential bid sunk with marvelous rapidity. In '96 and he became the laughing stock of all Kentuckians. But for our part, we greatly admire him and would like to see him attached to the McKinley kite in 1900. He has tried to do what an honest conscience told him was right in the execution of the law. He has opposed those things which he thought were wrong and endeavored to uphold and strengthen the cause of right. But his latest bad break was his worst, and that was, without any call from a civil officer and in a time of a profound peace, to go in person to the City of Louisville and order out his armed soldiers with glittering bayonets and mounted guns on election day. But with all his faults—his blackguardism—his vile language and his vulgar stories, he is able, wise and brilliant and without question one of the most eloquent and most powerful stump speakers in this or any other State.

W. W. HARVEY, the author of "Coin's Financial School" is writing a new political text book for the campaign of next year. The publication will bear the title of "Coin on Money, Trusts and Imperialism." It will be of great service to the reform forces and our chances of success in the coming Presidential election will be greatly promoted by its educational work.

EX GOV. BROWN, who we were told was going to sweep the State upon a moral wave of "spontaneous collusion," shows up with but 12-140 votes out of a total of nearly 200,000, and of that 12,140 are contested 3,428. And thus is fulfilled the scriptural saying that from him who hath not, shall be taken even that which he hath.

HON. D. H. SMITH, of the Fourth Congressional district, has introduced a bill looking to an amendment of the Constitution to provide for the election of U. S. Senators by a direct vote of the people. Such a bill should pass whether we consider it as Kentuckians or American citizens.

REPRESENTATIVE Vincent Borog of the "Bloody Eleventh" has introduced a bill creating two Federal Judicial districts in Kentucky, to be known as Eastern and Western. This wise measure has the support of Senators Lindsay and Deboe with bright prospects of passing both houses.

THE number of Census enumerators of Kentucky is placed at 1,358, of which, this, the Eighth district, will get 87. District Supervisor, John Bright, of Stanford, will have plenty to do but he will select strictly good men to fill these important posts.
