Most all the oversters have worked their roads in this part. We are very glad to see it embraced in the new law, compelling the roads to be worked in the spring of the year, but we think, we should have from the 15th of April to the 15th of June to work in, as sometimes it is almost impossible to work the roads in the month of May. So grant us more time and we will forever praise the man that introduced the idea of working the roads in the spring of the year.

BY CHAMBERLAIN'S COLIC, CHOLERA AND DIARRHOEA REMEDY. "I am sure that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at one time saved my life," says A. E. Laflette, of Gregory Landing, Clark County, Missouri. "I was in such bad shape that the doctors said I could not live. When I was at the lowest ebb, one of my neighbors brought in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and I took it and got instant relief. I soon got up and around. That was nine years ago and I am still in good health. Since then that medicine has always been in my house and always will be. It is the best on earth." For sale by Theo. Wesley Drug Co.

SERMON BY REV. A. J. PIKE.

TEXT: "I went by the field of the slothful, and by the vineyard of the man void of understanding; and lo, it was grown over with thorns, and nettles had covered the face thereof, and the stonewall thereof, was broken down. Then I saw and considered it well; I looked upon it and received instructions."—Prov. 24: 30-35.

"How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?"—Heb. 2 and 3.

In one of his best known books, Mr. Darwin, brings out a fact which may be illustrated in some such way as this: Suppose a bird fancier collects a flock of tame pigeons, distinguished by all the infinite ornamentations of their race. They are of all kinds, of every shade of color, and adorned with every variety making.

He takes them to an uninhabited island and allows them to fly off wild into the woods. They find a colony there, and after the lapse of many years, the owner returns to the spot. He will find that a remarkable change has taken place in the interval. The birds, or their descendants rather, have all become degraded into the same color.

The black, the white, and the dun the striped, the spotted, and the ringed, are all gone back into one—a dark slaty blue. But all the variety, all the beautiful colors, all the old graces of form it may have disappeared.

These improvements, the result of care and culture, of domestication, and of the influence are removed, go back and lose what they had gained. The attempt to elevate the race has been mysterious, thwarted. It is now as the original bird, the far remote ancestor, the old blue. These birds has been compelled by some strange law to discard the badges of their civilization and conform to the rudest image of the first.

Now then the natural law by which such a change occurs is called the principle of Reversion to Type.

It is a proof of the universality of this law that the same thing will happen with a plant. A garden is planted, let us say, with strawberries and roses, and for a number of years is left alone. In the process of time it will run to waste. But this does not mean that the plants will really waste away, but that they will change into something else and as it invariably appears, into something worse in the one case, namely, into the small wild strawberry of the woods, and in the other, into the primitive dogwood of the hedge.

If we neglect a garden plant, then, a natural principle of deterioration comes in, and changes it into a worse plant. And if we neglect a bird, by the same law it will be gradually changed into an inferior bird. Or if we neglect almost any of the domestic animals, they will rapidly revert to wild and worthless forms again. Now the same thing exactly would happen in our own case. Why should we be an exception to any of the laws of nature?

Nature knows more simply as an animal.

And the law of Reversion to life runs through all creation. If a man neglects himself for a few years he will change into a worse man and a lower man. If it is his body that he neglects, he will become like the savage. If it is his mind, it will degenerate into imbecility. If he neglects his conscience, it will run off into lusts, sins, and vice.

Oh, lady, if it is his soul, it will [CONTINUED ON SECOND PAGE.]

HEARTBURN. When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality too rich, heartburn is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let six hours elapse between meals and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, indicating that you have eaten too much, take one of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the heartburn may be avoided. ## LION COFFEE

A LUXURY WITHIN THE REACH OF ALL!

MAKE no mistake! See that my head is on every package of LION COFFEE you buy. It guarantees its purity. No coffee is LION COFFEE unless it is in a 1 pound sealed packet with the head of a lion on the front. Then you get pure coffee—the highest grade for the money.

Why has LION COFFEE now become the leader of all package coffees? And why is it used in millions of homes? Because it does not sail under false colors. It is an absolutely clean, pure coffee. No glazing, no coating with egg mixtures or chemicals in order to hide imperfections. Just try a package of LION COFFEE and you will understand the reason of its popularity.
