POSSON HOLLER

(LEVEL GREEN.)

I omitted this last week, as you no doubt are aware by now.

We have had alternate sun and showers, work, labor and rest for a fortnight; until I am beginning to feel somewhat improved in health.

Four of the children are in Cincinnati today. They went to see the "Zoo," which, I am informed, is considerably larger than an elephant.

Betsy is gone to Pulaski county, her original home, the place where she and I courted and snacked in our innocent days—O, if I could but recall the time and live even one short year of that blissful life over, I would give a mine of gold, if I had one to give, but alas, all the gold of Ophir, the silver of Peru and gems of Golconda could not buy or cause the change, but instead, we see the shadow of eternal sun set, to us on earth, lengthening at every turn, how loath are we to confess it.

As I am alone I must not dwell upon thoughts like these, but will change by asking the Signal correspondents to locate "Ophir" and "Golconda" for me. I have often heard of them, but have never been able to find either, on the map or in the Almanac.

Well Bro. Dick, I hereby and heron announce myself, a candidate for Supt. of Schools, subject however, to the action of the republicans in their primary. I will accept a salary of $300 per annum, donating the other $500 to the county for road purposes. This will be showing my faith by my works, and if the other magistrates, or a majority of them, will vote with me next Oct., there will be portions of the salaries of other county officers left with the people. Come Bro. Ballard, what do you have to say? You are one of the Physical Court.

My friend at Cooks—says we are too poor to build good county roads—pikes, that our soil is worn out, the timber, bark, &c. are gone. Now this last part is true, our timber, bark &c., went and the owners realized very little for them and one of the greatest reasons for this was the miserable roads over which we were forced to wagon, in order to reach the railroad. We could haul about one half as much over our roads as men could over good roads in the summer and fall, and only get in a day "now and then" in the winter. We could also soon kill up a good team, and wear out or break down a good wagon. Now these are the most potent reasons why so many men advanced backwards, financially, when they forsook their farms for the woods and road, but show me a man that stuck to his farm (if it was worthy the name) and in most of the cases, I will show you a man "living at home." The fact in the case is simply this; when a man wagoned over our roads, the expense overran the profits, and as he could not follow the life of a tenant and run a farm at the same time, the result was the farm, fencing &c., necessarily went down. But now the timber being gone, men will return to their farms and build up again, but I shall be too busy engaged in my canvass to devote much time to the road question until the primary is over.

Now Jerasha Jane, I want you, and all the rest of the women, to elect a new man. Betsy will make a few speeches for me and I tell you, if she can speak for me, like she does to me sometimes, she will easily win my race. If Leather Pate will come out for me, (and I firmly believe he will) he will do me much good. Yours to win, BOCK VERNON.

WALNUT GROVE

Will and Fred Isaacs are at home for a while from the south.

Miss Barbara Thompson who has been sick for 3 weeks is able to be up again.

Mrs. Bettie Lee of Honey Grove, Tex. is visiting relatives, and friends in this part. Aunt Betsy Marcum, of near Petersburg, has been visiting relatives and friends in this part.

Who will get the eastern judgeship, and when will the oil excitement subside at Beaumont Texas?

Who can tell the object of the supreme court in rendering the Porto Rico decision who gets the pie?

Mrs. Susan Martin, of Todd, is visiting at her son's Wm. F. Martin this week, will visit at J. H. Bloomer's next week. Plowing and hoeing corn is the order of the day.

Sometime ago we said you should hear no more of us until we heard more of the R. R. and we have received the glad news. The road is located through this part and we will soon be in shape to start a town, we expect a boom in the near future.

J. F. Watson's mansion on his Buck creek farm is nearing completion. He has already got his sentry on duty with his old style pistol, the sentry takes his seat on the door step and every 15 minutes walks around the house to see that every thing is all right.

Rev. Smith filled his appointment at Woodstock last Sunday teaching a lesson of forbearance, long suffering, meekness, patience and brotherly love, lesson taken from Job 14 chapter. Sunday school every Sabbath, some very interesting lessons being taught. One question: where do the spirit of the dead dwell until the judgment? The question brought out the opinion of some of the learned divines and yet all minds were not satisfied.

Well the teachers' examination is over and the teachers are ready for business but there are some strange things about questions in examinations, for instance the cow problem caps the stack. One made the cow cost $30 another made her cost $500 and both get first class certificates. Buck Varnou gets her off at $65-3321; that's getting things down pretty fine. Buck, we have some to sell at that price.

Well, well, some of the strutting peacocks at Somerset have seen their feet and their feathers have fallen. The president of the old institution has taken the Bankrupt law. I tell you prosperity has struck Somerset hard this time and I say it is a pity it did not fall hard enough to knock him and some other of the rascals Bankrupt sure enough; so they would not have to send their souls to torment on account of swearing lies and taking the Bankrupt law. If some good honest person could have the privilege of going to the bottom of their pockets they would find several thousand dollars in money which they have taken from the widows and little orphan children. Such men should not own the privilege of lending to their own business; they ought to have guardians appointed to look after them, but may be they will reap a rich reward in a hotter place than this, for they can never be forgiven, not by the people, nor by their Creator. Remember you should do unto others as you would have them do to you.

The Banking House has been sold for $5,000, only half what it cost, that is business.

At Corbin Saturday night, Andy Cox of Knox county, was killed by Marshal Wilder, after Cox had probably fatally wounded him while resisting arrest for the shooting of David Braun.

FINE HILL

Mr. Stuart, the lumber king, was in town Wednesday.

Miss Nellie McFerron is visiting friends at Mt. Vernon, this week.

There is quite a fine lot of rough lumber being put on the yards here. Messrs. Martin and Symphon were up from Livingston, last Sunday.

Mrs. Symphon and daughter, were in Louisville this week, on business.

Mr. John Hightower and son went to Coal Creek, Tenn., this week on business.

We had the startling sensation of "mad-dog" on our streets yesterday, but no one was hurt.

There was a peculiarly slick error made in our last Fine Hill item. Your printer made us say, "one of our charming young ladies came from Greasy Hill," and we insist on a correction to Brezzy Hill—Correction, Greasy Hill seemed so much richer, we chose Greasy instead of Brezzy—Typo.

Miss Sarbrook of Livingston, Miss Gladie Ewers, of Mt. Vernon, and Miss Judith Symphon, of this place, composed a house party at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Berthles, at East Bernstadt, and Monday evening the young society people of that town, were invited to meet the young ladies. They then assisted Mrs. Brownlign receiving, and a few hours were most delightfully spent. Music and refreshments were served.

At last the reluctant Rockcastle mountaineers have been forced to yield up their long hidden treasure, and a wondrously fine vein has been discovered, and mining in the field has begun in earnest. Today a block of such dimensions, that it required five men to load it on a wagon, and it took two mules to haul it. This block can be seen at the Station. Col August, the proprietor, was here the past week looking over his interest, he was very much gratified at the fine prospect. Experts pronounce this by far the best vein on this line of road. Mr. John Hightower, the new operator, says he has been in this business for thirty years, and this is the richest and finest vein he has ever opened.

WABD

We enjoyed reading brother Pike's sermon in last week's Signal, very much, would be glad if he would come and preach near us, and give us the happy privilege of meeting one of his sermons, face to face.

He has been a good example of education, morality and all kinds of public improvement. About 6 o'clock of the same day Mr. White telephoned from Lancaster that it was a mistake, that on Tuesday before the other eye had gone out, but the vision finally came back. Over 400 stop-fed cattle, the property of Brigewater, Fox & Co., were shipped Thursday from Lebanon to Baltimore, Md. A train of 18 cars was required to transport the cattle. This is the second big shipment from Lebanon in the past three weeks. J.S. Hocker bought of Jacob Rigney 10,000-pair cattle at 4c. J. M. Rotter sold to David Stephen 15 steer calves at $12.50 and to Steve Bates a bunch of heifers at $12.25.

COTTON DAY.—There were about 200 cattle here Monday, the best selling close to 3c. The ruling prices for yearlings and two-year-olds were 4 1/2 to 4 3/4c. Heifers were slow at 3 to 3 1/2c and butcher stuff 3 to 3 1/2c. The horse and mule market was dull.—Interior Journal.

Armour & Co. the Chicago packers, bought Saturday in Fayette county 500 head of "stop fed" export cattle, average weight 1250 pounds, at 5 cents. In round numbers the lot brought about $50,000.

Sales of 117 sheep at 3c and 117 200-lb. hogs at 2c 25. are noticed in the Winchester Democrat.

The Stanford Interior Journal reports the sale of 100 barrels of corn at $4.50 and 200 bushels of wheat at 75c.

William E. Johnson, of Merritt, Clark county, sold a fine lot of hogs last week at 6 1/2c. The entire lot brought $1,000.

The Kennore farm of 340 acres on the Clay Mill place, 5 miles from Lexington, sold last week at $200 per acre—$68,000.

E. G. Duff, of Barren county, is entitled to the blue ribbon on heavy fleeced sheep. His flock averaged ten pounds of wool each, class of four. One produced a beam of eighteen pounds.— Glasgow Times.

J. H. Dickerson & Son, of Burgin, have handled over 300,000 lbs of hemp this season. They have also made numerous written contracts for the growing crop at $4.50 per 100 and "the rise," if any, by the time of delivery.

LANCASTER CATTLE.—There were about 150 cattle on the Lancaster market. A bunch of 600-lb. steers brought 4c; another lot sold at 3 1/2c; heifers were in demand at 3 1/2 to 3.87 1/2c; good calves $12 to $20; cows and calves and springers $2 to $4. Plug horses were dull at $16 to $40.

Kentucky dealers, perhaps have never figured on the profit to be derived from the eggs in shipping a car load of chickens. In shipping a car of chickens to California at this time of the year the eggs laid during the eight days of transit about pay the freight. The car will hold about 3,000, and each day the eggs are gathered and at the end of the journey 200 cases will have been filled, which when sold in California at 15 cents a dozen, will realize $450, which amount will pay the charges on the car. Cases can be taken along and all calculations made to care for the daily supply of eggs. The hen is sure a good thing.—Richmond Climax.

According to the Winchester Democrat, there were about 500 cattle on the market court day. Steers brought, from 4 1/2 to 4 3/4c. A lot of 500-lb. yearlings sold for 4 1/2c. A cow and calf brought $50. A pair of four-year-old mare mules went for $275. Buyers and sellers seemed unable to come together, and a good many cattle were unsold.

Most of the hogs in this section have been shipped, in fact, but very few remain. Fewer hogs are being fed for the summer market than ever before known. This is owing to the fact that hogs have been bringing good prices for some time, and a sickle a pound is a great temptation to let them go, added to this is the fact that corn is scarce and high, and these facts will account for the scarcity of fat hogs for the summer market.—Winchester Democrat.

The story comes from Kaoss that a boy saw there climbed a corn stalk to see how the corn was getting along and now the stalk is growing up faster than the boy can climb down. The boy is plump and

The Devil has lost his dog and is lashing his tail, and raising hell in the Richmond Climax office, we presume from the following item:

The devil, "Whiskers" Bolton, has lost his dog, a pretty, white fox terrier, with black spots on her head and answering to the name "Bea." The son-of-a-gun who stole "Bea" had better bring her back, she doesn't want the "Devil" to campon his tail.
