

Under the most auspicious circumstances and with most impressive ceremonies was the South Carolina Interstate and West Indies Exposition, officially opened at Charleston Monday evening. The purpose of the Exposition is to show the marvelous industrial and commercial developments of the Southern States during the last quarter of a century.

The President's message to Congress has been the subject of great comment throughout the country. In this President pays a beautiful tribute to the life of the late President McKinley. He then discusses at length the question of anarchy and recommends vigorous action for its suppression.

JUDGE TALBOT, of Nevada, scores a jury for returning a verdict of assault and battery against seven men accused of participating in the hanging of a negro, when they were instructed to return a verdict of guilty of an assault with intent to kill or an acquittal. If there was just a little more stiffening in the back bone of our jurors everywhere, the number of crimes would be growing less instead of larger and just as long as such men are chosen to set on juries, just that long may we expect crimes in almost countless numbers to be committed.

PRES. MILTON H. SMITH, of L. E. N., in a letter addressed to the Courier-Journal, since up the strike situation in Hopkins county, and says there is but one side to the case, proclaiming the right of the employers to hire whom they please. When the time comes, which seems like it is fast approaching, that a band of men, because they belong to some labor union can say to the employers of the country, whom to give employment and whom not to, then we can no longer say that we live in a free country.

Casey Owsley, the youngest son of the late Judge Mike Owsley died at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ellen Poor in Lancaster and was buried last Sunday. He was a graduate of Centre College and of the law department of the University of Virginia. He was a boy of bright mind and charming personality, and had he lived he would, no doubt, have stood in the very front rank of Kentucky's greatest lawyers.

Congressman DALLIE, of Pa. visited the whip generously on the pickers at the republican House caucus, but they will not dare show their noses on the floor of the house.

OLD HICKORY CHIPS.

(By Our Associate Editor.) Congressman Hill has jumped into the Illinois Senatorial scrap, but his chance for hitting the job cannot be rated A. I.

Nevertheless and notwithstanding there are many things left unsaid that might have been said in that message to Congress.

There seems to be a rivalry between King Eddy and Gen. Buller as to which shall be the whole thing in "the tight little island."

The republican Congress has how to loot the public treasury without allowing the people to catch on. It can't be done.

Republican bosses are dazed to learn that Mr. Roosevelt really believes in civil service reform, they have grown so accustomed to the fake article in that line.

There are a number of gentlemen, not confined to one party, who would be wise to protect themselves by taking an antidote for the sting of the Presidential bee.

The Ship Subsidy job has had a few of its ugly spots covered up, but it is the same of steal in principle, and the democrats in Congress will be excusable for resorting to any sort of tactics to prevent its getting through.

Congressman Hepburn, of Iowa, made a brave attempt in the republican House caucus to liberalize the Reed rules a little, but the highest vote given any one of his several liberalizing propositions was 41. So the House will continue to merely act as a register when Speaker Henderson presses the button.

The movement alleged to exist in Congress to force the Cubans to give up annexation by refusing them favors is not creditable to those engaged therein. It has been believed by many American statesmen, from Jefferson to the present day, that the annexation of Cuba was inevitable, but that offers no excuse for unfair methods to bring it about.

Really Gov. Savage, of Nebraska, ought to feel ashamed if he doesn't of dismissing his private secretary because of fear of his rivalry when the next republican State convention meets. He has taken the surest way of giving Mr. Lindsay a boost for the republican nomination for governor, and as he is chairman of the State central committee he is in a position to take full advantage of it.

A little consistency on the trust question would improve a considerable portion of the press. Although continually saying that it is the States that should control and curb the power of the trusts within their borders, as soon as a State execution moves against the big railroad trust and invites the co-operation of other State executives, these papers sneer at him as though he had committed a crime.

A WOMAN'S AWFUL PERIL. There is only one chance to save your life and that is through an operation, were the startling words heard by Mrs. I. B. Hunt of Lime Ridge, Wm., from her doctor after he had vainly tried to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. Gall stones had formed and she constantly grew worse. Then she began to use Electric Bitters which wholly cured her. It's a wonderful Stomach, Liver and Kidney remedy. Cures Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite. Try it. Only 50 cts. Guaranteed. For sale by all Druggists.

Land, Stock and Crops

Jacob Pike has bought the Bob Adams farm near Livingston, for which he paid $300. Dick Commins has purchased the residence of R. H. Livesay in the western part of town.

Wherever there is stotting it should not be of the mind, and in no respect does the farmer of today differ from the farmer of the past more markedly than in the superior provision which the farmer of today is making for his mind. One no longer hears sneers about "book-farming" as of old, and so the man whose business is farming is nowhere looked down upon as formerly.

Cause and effect enter into this, and it is the fact now, as probably never before, that many are looking to the country as a place of rest, in the hope and expectation that their best days may be spent there.

The young people on the farm are no longer, as of old, denied a liberal supply of good, wholesome reading. In a large proportion of country homes may be found as regular visitors three or four current periodical publications—the local paper, because of the important advertising services it renders to the particular section for which it exists; the agricultural paper, that should and does tell all about the latest improvements in the farming business and the principles of that business in their varied applications as brought out in every first-class representative practice; the daily paper, that keeps its readers in immediate touch with the world wide over, and the monthly magazine, which treats of the larger events, springing out of all the facts and details in the most capable way.

The wide-awake farmer of today is thus kept up with the entire situation. No fact, no truth, no larger joining of many truths calculated to make for progressive agriculture and help the agriculturist is outside of the province of Home and Farm, and the best literary and practical skill is at all times in its service.

With all these helps, add others that are constantly being had from good books, it is no wonder that the old term of contempt is gone, and in its place the man who is known not to be a "book-farmer" is looked upon as one not to touch with the vital problems and controlling forces of his day and generation; as one not taking advantage of the opportunities open to him on all sides.—Home and Farm.

W. H. Fletcher, auctioneer, reports the sale of A. W. Stefer's personality Tuesday as follows: 11 2-year-old cattle, $4 06 per cow; milk cows from $15 to $50; steer calves, $13 25 head; yearling heifers, $16 head; bull, $41 25; yearling nules from $26 to $67 25; 1 4-year-old mule, $100; seal mule, $52; saddle mare, $60; sheep, $1 70 to $3 65 per head; meat hogs brought $3 26 per cwt.; 19 100 lb. shoats brought $6 50 per head; 2 brood sows brought $15 and $16; 1 boar sold for $11 25; 2 small shoats sold at $6 per head. Farming implements brought good prices. A large crowd was present.—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

STAND BY YOUR TOWN.

It is not the size of the town, but its character that makes it a desirable place to live in. A live and prosperous town is a desirable one, and a town may live and prosper and yet be small. Every citizen in town should be interested in its prosperity.

One of the ways to help your town is to speak well of it. It is the patriotic way to stand by your town and self interests as well. As man speaks ill of his family lovers but himself and his family in the estimation of others, so does a town who cares little for his own town and community seldom care for his country. The man who is respected by others respects himself and his neighbors, and patriotism begins at home.

It is to do all you can to beautify it. Beautify your own property all you can, and then beautify the street. Be friendly to everybody and to the strangers. Your civility will help to make good impressions and will be carried away and cherished. Never forget that you are a part of the town and that your department helps to make up the stranger's estimate of the place.

Sell all you can and buy all you can. If you have means invest it in something that will give employment to somebody. Always cheer up the man who goes in for improvement. Do not kick on a proposed improvement simply because it is not at your door. A town that is improving is also spreading out. If a rich man starts a project encourage him. If a poor man starts help him.

Don't be afraid to thrust your hand down into your pocket to help a public enterprise. More towns are ruined by such rejections than in any other way. The citizens of any prosperous town are always public spirited and united. Stand together. Work together for the interest of the whole town.

Always stand ready to your best. Don't grumble and spend your time prophesying failure, but help to every enterprise a success. Every man owes something to the community for his success, be it great or small. Be energetic, be enterprising, and your example will be followed.

About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse and worse until I had almost lost my hearing entirely. I underwent a treatment for a year, for three months, without any success, and then, after a treatment by you, my hearing was restored. I have never been deaf since. I would be glad to see you at any time. My wife and I are both well. I have been cured of my deafness, and the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever. I then had a treatment, and my hearing was restored. I have never been deaf since. I would be glad to see you at any time. My wife and I are both well. I have been cured of my deafness, and the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever. I then had a treatment, and my hearing was restored. I have never been deaf since."—Very truly yours, P. ### Washington Letter.

(From the regular correspondents.) Washington, D. C., Dec. 19, 1901.

The Congressional wheels began to go round today; but they only made a few revolutions, owing to adjournment as a mark of respect to the memory of the late President McKinley. The Democratic caucus renominated Representative Richardson, of Tenn., House. It also decided to make a fight for a reform in the rules, that would give a majority of the House the control of legislation, by making it possible to get a bill or resolution before the House whenever a majority of its members sign a petition asking therefor. This reform would be absolutely fair and would offer no party advantage to the Democrats, as it would be necessary for them to get a sufficient number of Republicans to join them in signing a petition for a majority of the House before a bill could be forced out of a committee pigeonhole. If the Republican members who have talked against the Reed rules would vote as they have voted in the past, this reform could be accomplished notwithstanding the opposition of the Republican bosses, but the chances are that they will, as usual, swallow their caucus medicine and that the reform will be controlled by the Speaker, through the committee on Rules.

If the administration attempts to compel Congress to provide for large concessions on Cuban sugar and tobacco, as advocated by retary Root, Mr. Roosevelt, and Ben Leonard Wood, Governor of Cuba, who is in Washington to help the administration, it will have the biggest sort of a fight on its hands from the start. Leading Republican Senators and Representatives, among the latter Mr. Payne, of New York, who will be chairman of the Ways and Means committee of the House, which may favorably report the bill before it can get before that body, have publicly declared that under no circumstances will they support Cuban tariff concessions. It looks like a fight now, but it will depend on the administration.

Senator Bailey, of Texas, is one of a growing coterie of Democrats in Congress who neglects no opportunity to talk upon the availability of Hon. A. C. Gorman, of Md., for the next Democratic nomination for President. This sort of thing is not encouraged by Mr.
Gorman, who has been in politics too long not to know all about the dangers attending premature booms, but this boom is very seriously meant by the gentlemen who are pushing it, and with or without his consent Mr. Gorman is not in the race for the nomination.

The Anti-Trust League of Washington, is after Attorney General Knox again on account of his failure to take action against the big trusts, as requested by the league early in the fall. It has adopted resolutions declaring him conspicuously unfit to be Attorney General of the U. S., and petitioning the Senate, when the nomination of P. C.
Scott to be Attorney General is reached to refer the same to the Judiciary Committee, in order that a fair and full examination into the League's charges against Senate Judiciary committee will give it an opportunity to do so.

Representative Griffith, of Ind., says his constituents are opposed to the subsidizing of ships, and gave the reason:—"We build agricultural machinery, locomotives, steel rails, and a multitude of other articles in competition with the world. To subsidize ships is to put into competition with the world. Why, then, do we need to subsidize ships? We ought to be able to build them; also in competition with the entire globe."

Representative Crumpacker, of Ind., whose scheme for reducing the representation of the South in the House was side-tracked by the Republican bosses at the recent session of Congress because they thought it contained more political dynamite than they thought it safe to try to handle, is talking it up again, in order to ascertain how much republican support he can count upon for the bill if he introduces it at this session. It is too early to say positively what will be the result, but the chances are believed to be against the scheme.

The Ship subsidy bill is already on deck, and Senator Frye, who is allowed to pose as the author of the bill, says the new bill will be introduced once. Some changes are made so as to try to placate congress of the republican opposition to get a majority vote for it, but the vicious principle underlying the bill, and all similar jobs, will be the same, and the bill will be fought in every way possible by the Democrats. It will also have considerable republican opposition notwithstanding the changes, and will be coming to the Senate.

So many resolutions as to the policy of the Democrats during this session of Congress were offered at the Democratic House caucus that it was decided to refer them all to a committee to be appointed by Representative Hay, of Va., who was honored with a unanimous election as chairman of the caucus, which will consider them and report to another caucus to be held January 10. Mr. Hay will make this committee a representative one, as his report, if adopted, as it probably will, will determine the Democratic policy, not only in the House of Congress, but in the Congressional campaign of next year. Republicans are actively circulating statements calculated to create the impression that the caucus was a regular cat and dog fight.
Such statements are untrue. There were differences of opinion, otherwise there would never be any need for a party caucus, but the vote was not more pronounced than those expressed at the Republican House caucuses, and it can be stated on the authority of a dozen men who were there that no ill-feeling whatever was shown in the expression of their differences, and there is not the slightest doubt that the committee appointed by Mr. Hay will succeed in making a report that will be adopted by a practically unanimous vote at the next caucus.
It may be stated in passing that there is much doubt whether the differences developed at the Republican caucus can be as easily adjusted.
In other words, there is much probability of a factional fight among the Republicans in Congress than among the Democrats. Just watch and see if this isn't true.

HOME AND CHILD

Does your horse "feel his oats"? What a difference between the grain-fed and the grass-fed horse! The first strong and full of ginger, the second flabby, weak and tired out before he begins. The feeding makes the difference.
Children are not alike either.
One is rosy, bright-eyed, full of life and laughter, another is pale, weak and dull. The feeding again is responsible.

Sickly children need special feeding. They don't "feel their oats". Scott's Emulsion adjust the right richness to their diet. It is like grain to the horse. The child gets new appetite and strong digestion.

Scott's Emulsion is more than food. It is a strong medicine. It rouses up dull children, puts new flesh on their bones and red blood into their veins. It makes children grow.
Scott's Emulsion makes children many fold do its duty.
