DEAD—Mrs. Nathan Chess, of Quail, died yesterday after an illness of many months, of that terrible disease, consumption. A more complete account in our next issue.

In a head-on collision of two freight trains, near Lebanon Wednesday morning about five o'clock, Jack Anderson, a fireman, and Charles Marmann, brakeman, were killed and engineer Clarence Ryan, arm, leg and four ribs broken. Anderson and Marmann were both caught under the wreck, which caught on fire, and when found were burnt almost to a crisp.

Two engines and fifteen cars were completely mangled. A car load of mules were in the wreck eleven being killed. Eight of the mules were so badly cut up that they had to be shot. Engineer Ryan, who was asleep in his engine was responsible for the wreck, running by his meeting point.

The engineer on the other train had come to dead standstill before the two trains came together, and no member of that crew was in any way injured.

The Frankfort Journal speaking of the Hon. W. R. Ramsey, formerly of London, Ky., but now of Denver, Colo., said: "Hon. W. R. Ramsey, of London, Ky., has just announced his acceptance of a place as assistant under the Attorney General of Colorado, is well known in Frankfort. Mr. Ramsey first came here as a member of the Constitutional convention in 1890. He is an expert scribe, and in the close of that convention, he was selected to engross the constitution finally adopted. The copy in his hand write is on file in the archives of the office of the Secretary of State. He has since then been here in the courts very frequently. He was the leading counsel for the defense in the examining trial of W. H. Culton, but withdrew from the case after Culton's confession. He is a brilliant lawyer and a faithful scholar."

Louis Landrum, in the Central Record, pays the following deserving tribute to Clarence E. Wood, of Richmond: "We have never known any one to receive as many kind notices from the State as he has. He was showered upon our friend Clarence E. Wood, who is a candidate for Mayor of the City of Richmond. The newspaper boys know Clarence Wood, they know his sterling qualities as both an executive and a man, and they have to be awed and want the people of his town to know that he is worth a chief executive who will not only keep her stairs in tip-top shape, but will be able to do more. We know that she is on the map and has advantages for investment of capital, and other inducements she should place reins of government in the hands of Clarence Wood. The newspapers that the State do not wish to see, but we believe, will notice the sentiments of the entire press of the State in the foregoing article."

The First Presbyterian church at Lawrenceburg, was destroyed by fire.

The Louisville religious revival, started two weeks ago, came to an end Sunday. Dr. J. P. Calhoun, who managed the movement, estimated Sunday that 7,000 persons had been converted and that 10,000 had been made to think seriously of religion. The revival is pronounced by the ministers to have been one of the greatest ever known.

In the March Delicatore Allen Savelbergh gives an interesting account of the origin of "Just as I Am." Charlotte Elliott's famous hymn. After telling how they came to be inspired through a remark of Dr. Caesar M. Adams to the invalid composer, when she told him that she did not know how to write a hymn. - Court Hill just as you are." said Dr. Malow. It is reported that the hymn first appeared anonymously in the Herald's Religious Magazine, then in the Religious circles and chapel assemblies and finally into the hymnals. That the hymn has had such a wide influence for good upon humanity may be seen from the testimonials of ministers given in this article, and from the fact that it has been translated into all the principal languages of the world, above a thousand letters were found among her papers thanking her personally for the great blessing which had come to the lives of the writers through the instrumentality of "Just as I Am."

The Japanese still have the advantage in the fighting which is going on in Manchuria. The losses on both sides are believed to be heavy. Kuropatkin admits his left flank has been beaten back and with great loss. The retreating appears to be confined to the left wing of the Russian army, and the right wing does not appear to be engaged.

The Engineering Committee of the Isthmian Canal Commission has laid before the first session of the board the construction of the waterway. They call for a sea-level canal with a bottom width of 150 feet and a minimum water depth of 25 feet, at a total estimated cost of $250,000,000. The time for the completion of the work is estimated at from ten to twelve years.

The ice gorge bore down upon the Cincinnati harbor and did damage estimated at half a million dollars. Great quantities of ice were jammed to pieces and loaded barges were sunk. It is stated that every boat in the river, with the exception of the tugboats, is in danger of destruction. The steamer New South, which was carried by the gorge down the Ohio, landed near Madison, Ind.

Russia's internal troubles go from bad to worse. A Warsaw soldier accompanied a policeman to keep him from striking. All the railway systems except one have been placed under martial law. The postal telegraph officials threaten to strike. In Riga the officials are unable to cope with the situation. A condition amounting to civil war prevails in the Congress. The Government has been forced to grant concessions in Siberia, and to prevent the export of the gold of the Zambak-Solov. Evidence accumulates that the agitation is more political than national, and that a general movement may follow in the spring.

A special from Washington says: All the papers in the case of ex-Senator J. M. McKnight have been subpoenaed by the President's Department of Justice and forwarded to Judge Evans and District Attorney Hill. They were authorized to make a thorough and complete investigation into the physical condition of the prisoner and to report the results to the President. It is believed that their views as to whether a pardon should be issued. On August 19, 1905, Mr. McKnight was pardoned. The Department of Justice refused to reopen the case this time, but President Roosevelt, at the request of Governor Bradley, wrote a personal letter to Attorney General Moody, advising the reopening of the case.

A large scale is in progress in Manchuria. Gen. Kuropatkin, after meeting the initiative of the Japanese in the eastern part of the Shantung valley, manifested the aggressive in the western portion, and under cover of a heavy artillery fire succeeded in driving the Chinese out of the valley. Simultaneously the Russians attacked and captured a head of the Japanese center. Much more serious is the Japanese move against the Russian left wing, which threatens to reach the checked, to oblige Gen. Kuropatkin to abandon the positions on the Hun river which he has occupied and fortified during the winter. There is no confirmation of the report that Kuropatkin has notified the Emperor that retreat northward has become imperative.

On Saturday the Court of Appeals took oral testimony and heard the reading of depositions in the case of James M. McKnight against Judge Watts Parker, asking for a writ of prohibition restraining the Fayette Circuit Court from assuming jurisdiction in the trial of cases against defendants for complicity in the murder of James Cockrill, Town Marshal of Jackson. Twenty witnesses were heard, including the defendants. Alex. Hargis admitted, but as early as September last he sought refuge in escape to having himself, his brothers and Ed Callahan arrested by the Breckinridge authorities in order to escape the jurisdiction of the Fayette Circuit Court. He also admitted that the warrants for their arrest in January were issued at the request of the Breckinridge authorities. He also admitted that James M. McKnight was recognized to detain the depositions of Justice M. McKnight, before the court by Commonwealth's Attorney John R. Allen and the Hon. Lewis McGovern, for the defendants. The court granted both depositions until Tuesday file briefs when the case will be taken under advisement.

Stocks of high-grade oil will be drawn upon from the fields of Oklahoma, West Virginia and Kentucky at the rate of 25,000 barrels a day to be shipped to Japan, that country having placed an order for 10,000,000 gallons of refined oil to take the place of the Russian product. It is believed that the pleasant weather may have the effect of hastening the completion of wells in the Kentucky and Tennessee fields. Many counties have finished six wells, two of them being seventy-five barrel strikers.

Mrs. Leland Stanford, widow of former Senator Stanford of California, died suddenly in Honolulu under circumstances strongly suggestive of strychnine poisoning. She was seized with fatal attack in the night, and the physician who first arrived at her bedside states that she exclaimed that she had been poisoned. A friend of Mrs. Stanford says the letter told her that an attempt on her life had been made in San Francisco, and that she had left that city to avoid a repetition of it. Mrs. Stanford's private secretary also said that such an attempt had been made. On the occasion of Mrs. Stanford's sailing from San Francisco several weeks ago there were persistent rumors that an attempt had been made to poison her. A short time before her death Mrs. Stanford took a dose of bi-carbonate of soda out of a bottle she had brought from San Francisco and it is suspected it may have contained the poison.
