Then it rains and pours once, twice or oftener in 24 hours and lightning flash and thunder roar, and the republicans control the whole county and would run the political machine of the State if they could.

THE PINNACLE HERALD, one of the strong Republican papers of the Eleven, has this to say concerning those who are sometimes called "Turn-coats" because they refuse to support certain man, set of men or certain principles, which are not at all in accord with their views: "Theoretically, a turn-coat in politics, as in everything else, is one of the despised of men. He secures the everlasting hatred of those whom he deserts and the bare distrustful toleration of those whom he favors. That is the do-time preached by those who believe in parties and party alignments as being of first and utmost importance. That argument is a superficial one coming just enough truth to make it appear very weighty.

"In reality, the most dyed-in-the-wool politicians, the strictest partisans, the unwavering adherents to party lines are the real turn-coats in most cases. Politics is a game of basing-let between the reds and the blues. Each man has his own base and he who can steal, most rapidly, "change bases," by jobbing the other side, is the best player.

"The constructive statesmen, who, like Blaine, Cleveland, Johnson and Roosevelt, have set their policy of government and an inviolable policy of endeavoring to keep the parties and party lines as flexible as change bases while they steadfastly follow their course, are the true men. Each of these men have been accounted turn-coats, because they refuse to turn. The politician jumps from principle to principle that he may keep in party lines. The statesman seems to go back and forth in party lines but he never adheres to the same principle.

"In municipal and county elections there are and can be no reason for drawing the herd of party lines. In electing a sheriff or County Superintendent of Schools or any other county officer, what does it matter which national party the candidate belonged to. Locally there is always a more important issue. There are two parties in Bell county. The one believes in strictly enforcing the laws without fear or favor, the other favors lax laws with as little enforcement as they can possibly get along with.

"* * * Bell county is one of the most attractive ones in this great State if we can so far rise above partisanship as to make it such. Non-partisan tickets mean a non partisan administration.

JUDGE FAULKNER, in his charge to the grand jury of Knox county, sprung a surprise by his instructions regarding elections, saying that if there was a man on the jury who had bought a ticket in an election in Knox county, let him stand aside. He also charged that the law had been grossly violated in the past, but that it was his intention to enforce the law as he understood it. Give us more judges like Faulkner and we will not have so much rottenness in our elections. Men who at heart are for law and order and have the courage to put their stamp of disapproval on vice.

Hon. Herbert B. Kingsolving, of Montgomery county, will be a candidate to represent the 10th Congressional Democracy in the next Congress. Mr. Kingsolving is a brother-in-law of Dr. Parry Benton, of Brohead, this county.

Two men were arrested at Little Rock on the charge of bribery and attempted bribery. The members of the grand jury which has been investigating corruption in the Legislature at its last sitting. In its report the grand jury points to crookedness in primary elections as the source of the corruption that makes boodling prevalent.

Gov. Higgins, of New York, sent a message to the Legislature advising an overhaul of the insurance laws of the State, with a view to the prevention of evils in the business such as revealed by the scandals in the management of the Equitable. He did not recommend a legislative investigation, and a joint committee was appointed for that purpose.

Charges have been lodged with Auditor Hager by the Sheriff of Clark county against State Revenue Agent A. M. Harrison, of Lexington, in regard to the method pursued in the settlement of a tax claim. The Governor has ordered an investigation of the charges, and Auditor Hager, in consequence of the charges, and the fact that the Revenue Agent's bond was not renewed, has declared the office vacant. The Auditor, in a statement, condemns the methods employed by many Revenue Agents throughout the State in filing and maintaining suits against alleged delinquent tax-payers, and also disapproves the loose and irregular methods employed in settling them.

There is a difference of opinion as to the effect it will have on the negotiations at Washington, some of the irreconcilables declaring that it makes peace at the present juncture more difficult than ever before. Washington dispatches say that Japan will not consent to China's request to be represented at the peace conference at Russia is inclined to favor it. Probably no other of the West Indian islands has had such a checked career as Santa Cruz. In turn it has belonged to Spain, which abandoned it; to England and Holland jointly; to England alone; to Spain again, which fell upon the colonists and destroyed or deported them all; to France, which took it from Spain to the Knights of Malta, who received it as a gift from France; to a private company of adventurers. Then it resumed possession of France, but abandoned, so that in 1726 it was uninhabited. Then it became a no-man's land until 1637, when France took it again, and presently sold it to a Danish company, which sold it in turn to the King of Denmark. In 1801, England took it once more, gave it back to Denmark, repeated and took it away again in a few months, held it for eight years and then returned it to Denmark, which holds it still.—Ex.

Paducah has a "hoss" case in court which promises to be extremely interesting. A man had a mare worth $800. She injured herself in a way that it was decided to "kill" her. The owner hired a negro to take her to the country and kill. The negro sold her for $2 and came back and reported that he had killed her and was paid $52 for the job. The former owner has discovered his mare which is in fine condition and again worth money, her purchaser having cured her. He demands possession and damages for her detention. The present owner denies the claim of the former owner, but asks $500 for the trouble and expense of caring for her.
