U-G BAKER RING OF LOW PRICES

LEVEL GREEN

Our farmers are fixing for a larger wheat crop this fall than usually. A good yield and a fair price, adding new life to the bone and sinew of the country. Corn is very good and pastures excellent. We have a lot of good milk cows for sale in this part of Rockcastle. Hogs would sell high if we had them, and sheep and milk "copper" than they are in the Bluegrass. We have lots of hens, but then they are on a strike, not many eggs but they buy sugar for our women. People use too much sugar and not enough of milk and butter. All brought on foods are adulterated if possible.

H. C. Brung has returned from Cincinnati last week, put himself under a specialist, for stomach and kidney ailments, ordered his medicines (not patents) and is now perceptibly better. George Owens is in the last stage of living. He has suffered beyond human knowledge, his death, the poor man's dearest friend, comes so near, or later to release the "dun proper" from the "prison of clay," crying all bodily pain, and if we lay down our duty—loved God and man while in the flesh—suffering will be at an end; but alas, how few of us ever did our whole duty! We see lots of people who have no time to visit the sick either day or night and administer to their wants, while others are always ready. How like angels the company of these good people is. Did you ever think of the Sisters of Charity, who dedicate themselves to the assistance of the afflicted, not even slumming the pest houses of cholera, yellow fever and small-pox? These women are Catholics, the despised Roman Catholics, yet they will risk even life for a Protestant as well as of their own. If we would emulate their virtues, no doubt we'd be better.

BUCK VARNON.

A BONANZA YEAR.

The wheat crop in this county is estimated to be 770,000 bushels, a report for August calculated to make ears of Wall Street go into premature jubilation. It showed that 1905 promised to be a record year in American farming.

THREE JURORS CURED

Of Cholera Morbus with One Snail. Bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Mr. G. W. Fowler, of Highmore, Ala., relates an experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edgewoodville, county seat of Cleburne county, Ala. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some sassafras and it gave me cholera morbus, a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drugstore for a cholera mixture, but the drugger sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had used it sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the first place. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner, one twenty-five cent bottle cured the three of us." For sale by all druggists.

PEACE FOR RUSSIA AND JAPAN.

Terms of peace were agreed upon at Portsmouth Monday by the Russian and Japanese envoys, preliminary arrangements for an armistice were concluded and the actual work of framing a treaty of peace was turned over, by mutual agreement, to the Japanese Foreign Office. The treaty is expected to be completed by the end of the week. Japan made an agreement possible by yielding on the disputed island of Sakhalin, which it had previously demanded. The Russian's interest warships and the limitation of her sea power were withdrawn. Japan agreed that part of the Chinese Eastern railroad south of Chantia should be ceded to her, and an agreement made whereby the island of Sakhalin is practically neutralized, each country binding itself not to fortify its part of the island. It was also decided to add a broad clause for mutual commercial privileges. The treaty will be a friendly document of such character as to indicate that the countries have almost laid the foundation for a future alliance. There is, however, no evidence that any secret clauses are to be appended to the treaty.

The news that the envoys had reached an agreement caused great rejoicing in Portsmouth, and such scenes of enthusiasm as followed Bay they could come to terms—the return of the Russian plenipotentiary to the hotel were never before witnessed in New Hampshire. Mr. Witte was overjoyed at the unexpected conclusion of the conference and declared that he had never dreamed of such an outcome. His fellow envoys rejoiced at what they considered a triumph for Russia. Baron Komura, the chief Japanese plenipotentiary, refused to discuss the agreement and Mr. Takahira, the legal adviser of the Japanese Foreign Office, said that peace had been made "for the sake of humanity and civilization."

Foreign capitalists were surprised at the result of the Russian-Japanese articles, and the distrust of the world very generally accord to President Roosevelt's credit for a successful outcome of the conference.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY IS AINS NATURE.

Medicines that aid nature are always most effectual. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It soothes the cough, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration, opens the secretions, and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Its famous series of cures over a large part of the civilized world. Thousands have testified to its superior excellence. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. For sale by all druggists.

Perhaps if the peace commission were to hold a session in the Plunger at the bottom of Outer Bay they could come to terms—the return of the Russian plenipotentiary to the hotel were never before witnessed in New Hampshire.

IN THE STATE

The citizens of Central City have decided to offer a site of fifty acres of land, coal for five years and $50,000 to secure the location of the Methodist college that is to be built at some point in Western Kentucky.

Attorney General N. B. Hays Tuesday entered suit against the L. & N. R. R. Co. for $12,300.80, alleged to be due on franchise taxes of 1904 amounting to $2,000, which were paid only after a decision by the United States Supreme Court.

The case of Caleb Powers, convicted of complicity in the murder of Governor Goebel, reached the Supreme Court Wednesday. The case was taken out of the State court by order of Federal Judge Cochran. From this decision the Commonwealth of Kentucky has appealed to the Supreme Court.

ARE YOU ENGAGED?

Engaged people should remember, that after marriage, many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their digestion in good condition with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For years, my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, until the loss of her strength and vigor, and became a mere wreck of her former self. Then she tried Chamberlain's Bitters, which helped her at once, and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy. Sold by Mt. Vernon Drug Co., who sell and guarantee them; price 50c a bottle.

There is one thing that Lexington, Kentucky, is pre-eminently proud of, it is the beautiful cemetery that lies just a mile from the heart of the city on the old Frankfort Pike. Here it is that the Lexingtonian, proud of the great names that have added lustre to the city's fame, takes a visitor and points out the graves of John C. Breckinridge, John Morgan and above all, Henry Clay, the great Commoner. But now something is strangely lacking about the pretty cemetery. At first glance everything appears as usual. There is the picture esquire little chapel near the ornamental iron gates, the well kept gravel walks, the rolling blue grass rising in terraces to the imposing base of the Clay monument. What is wrong? Slowly the eye travels up the marble statue of Clay, rising above the trees in the well kept mausoleum upon the spot where the statue's head should be. The statue is headless. Here is the defect that warns the scene. During a heavy windstorm that visited the city, the head of the statue was blown off and the old sexton stood against the morning after the fact and gazed almost awestruck at the mutilated statue that had stood the wind and lightning for many years. Had the old sexton been a poet, the words from Gray's Elegiac might have come with double force: "Here rests his head upon the lap of Earth." Henry Clay had completely lost his head—something he never did in life. The beheaded statue stands there today, "mute and inglorious," a perpetual reminder of man's forgetfulness. It is a sad loss to the community and the State. The statue faced the south and was plainly visible to passengers who came into the city on all the railroads, bringing plainly to their mind the fact that they were approaching the home of Clay. Mothers brought their growing sons to this peaceful cemetery and led them to the iron-barred sarcophagus in which reposes the stone casket of Clay and his beloved wife, and in soft-toned voices read to them those sublime words of Clay, cut deep in the stone: "I can with unshaken confidence, appeal to the Divine Arbitrer for the truth of the declaration that I have been influenced by no impure purposes, no personal motives, have sought no personal aggrandizement, and that, in all my public acts, I have had a sole and single eye and a warm, devoted heart, directed and dedicated to what in my best judgment, I believed to be the interests of my country. And if these words were not enough to refuse a sarcophagus to the breast of a boy, the mother would read those other words that have become equally historic: "I know no North, no South, no East, no West—nothing but my country."

On the western side of the sarcophagus is another vault and inside some kindhearted person has placed the head of Clay. It looks almost uncanny—his big stone head which has faced the wind and rain so long and daintly. The nose has been broken off and the mutilation gives a ghastly look to the face. As if to add a grim humor to the scene, there hangs a scroll suspended above the head, containing Clay's most famous utterance: "I would rather be right than President." It was Clay who made Kentucky known of all men for its famous orators and brilliant and eloquent speakers. It was Clay who so dearly loved Kentucky, and Kentucky who so dearly loved him and reveres his memory. Now let the coming Legislature prove the love and appreciations of Kentuckians for this beloved Statesman, by voting an appropriation sufficient to repair the damage done and replace the head to this beautiful statue.

It is an all day ride and a hard one from Scaffold Cane to Mt. Vernon and return, when if we had good roads as we should, the distance could be made in one or two hour half hours each way. Time saved is money made.

Many Republican leaders are by no means certain that President Roosevelt has abandoned his determination to call an extra session of Congress to consider the railroad rate question.

Negroes failed to take any part in Tuesday's Republican primaries in Lexington and Fayette county. It was determined to wait and see if the whites will give them representation on the ticket. If this demand is refused the negroes may put out a full ticket.

VO ERN STAGE ROBBERY [New York Evening Post.] Within twenty miles of San Francisco, in the edge of the fashionable suburban settlement of San Mateo, and in broad daylight, a little more than a week ago, a stage was held up and robbed by a lone highway man in the identical fashion made popular years ago in the Sierra Nevada Mountains by "Black Bart" and the men of his day and kind. It was the stage that makes daily trips from San Mateo, the railroad town over the hills, 15 miles away, to Halfmoon Bay, a small town on the coast. The robber, who escaped unrecognized and uncracked, made a total "haul" of $4,300. But he was frightened away from his work before he had finished by the appearance of an Italian fast pistol. As reported by the San Francisco newspapers, the affair had the ring of the genuine Bert Harza drama. With a black mask hiding his face, the robber stepped from the roadside within 300 feet of a construction gang and ordered the driver to pull up. From this point the driver's story is full of the right sort of description, though we are sure that the reporter's hand shows it: "I held up," said the driver, "I reckon the passengers got a fair mixed up together. Some of them looked at me, some at the horse and some at my head and says, 'Give me your money.' 'No, I'm not taking any of your money,' I says, 'I'm not taking any of your money.' 'Down with the other head,' which same he could see when I fumbles with the first. 'So I throws it down,' 'Now give me the sack,' says he, 'That gives me a jolt. It's pretty hot business a money-maker, but you'll give up your head, but the subject with the gun, he says the boss, and says, 'The half in the front end of that gun sure did look like to me, so I turn loose the mail pouch, too.' 'Then says he, 'You look the other way, you this, and some other things—a whole lot of other things—and I switched my lamp to the off side of the road, just as the Dago comes around the curve in the road."

This hold-up was the third in California within a week. Three days before the stage to the Yosemite Valley was robbed, and a day or two before another mountain bandit made a successful raid on a stage. California is wondering what the explanation of this lapse into the spirit of the fifties can be.

Dr. S. C. A visitor to our town a few days ago was asked by one of the citizens, who he thought of the town. His reply was: "I like your people and your town, but there is entirely too much filth allowed on your streets and not enough interest manifested on the part of your people towards improvements." In many places about the town the stench is almost unbearable, where the slop water and other waste matter has just simply been dumped in the streets and left for the boys to utilize to their best advantage. We regret to have to speak so plainly of such matters concerning our town, but such are the conditions and the sooner the full improvement of the situation is realized the better for all concerned. Visitors to our town see it and talk it, and no little criticism has been heard and received from the wrecked condition in which our streets are all-wild to exist. There are plain facts and we sincerely trust to believe that there that some speedy action will be taken by our citizens to relieve the situation.

Rev. R. S. Davault will preach at the Mount Grove Saturday night and Sunday.

It is suggested to non-subscribers who use local exchange phones that in as much as they get free service they, at least, should look at the directory and ascertain the number before calling the exchange. Subscribers could also help matters along if they would do the same. If there is a "letter" following the number mention it also as it indicates the number of rings; thus 67 1 indicates two rings and when followed by "S" means three rings.

There the Scripture clearly teaches that we are to keep His Commandments (of which baptism is one) not to get to be his friends, but because we are his friends; that we are to keep his Commandments not to get the love of God into our hearts, but because the love of God has been shed abroad in our hearts already by the Holy Ghost. Paul says the love of Christ constraineth us ad Cor. 5: 14. 'Will you please explain to an earnest seeker of truth, Acts 3: 38. Does 'for' in this case mean in order to or because of?"—Mau

Ford was seriously injured by dynamite at Corbin Wednesday. He was taken to the hospital at Knoxville.—There is always a story in circulation about some one being whispered through the neighborhood about some citizen and many times the one who tells and aids in the circulation does not want his or her name used. If you have a friend who is made the target of the town gossip it is your duty to tell him about it. If you keep still and allow your friend's reputation to be stained and trampled under foot you are doing him a great injustice. It would be a good thing if lies were planted on the atmosphere in which they were told and the liar's picture attached to them, there would not be so many lies told, but the atmosphere would be full of lies. O hypocrisy, thou art a stretch to a civilized community.—Exchange.—There was a porch party at the Eight Gables, Friday evening August 25th, given in honor of the 10th birthday anniversary of Willie Edith Tubbs. Refreshments were served: Ethel Hages, Aggie Poynter, Ruth Mullins, Nettie Rice, Alma Poe, Lillie and Nellie Carter, Josephine and Sister Elmore, Alice Ward, Maud McGuire, Frank Orndorff, Floyd Bryant, Reese Ward, Robert Salter, Menefee Elmore, Walter Brownings, Hilton Adams, Cecil Mullins, Cecil McGuire, Charlie and Frank Tubbs, also Misses Georgia McFerron and Lida Cook and Mrs. J. E. Woodall.

ADJOINING COUNTIES.—While firing an old cannon in celebration of his birthday, Walter Orndorff, of Richmond, was badly injured by a premature explosion. He may lose the sight of both eyes.—Dr. M. K. Pennington, a prominent dentist, and his children, Tommy and Sallie, were thrown from a buggy drawn by a Shetland pony at London Sunday.—Dr. Pennington is an invalid, but some believe in the question of the possibility of the hip being broken. His injuries are serious and will probably cause his death. The children are now seriously hurt. Dr. Pennington was not able to walk.—The killing of George Farris, locally known as Harry, King county near the Laurel county line, was being retried recently by Virgil Howers, coroner, at Altamont, the confessed slayer, in London jail. Louis DeLoe, colored, and Jim Hays, white, made affidavits that Howers shot Farris because he failed to speak to him after he had spoken to Farris' saying: "Can't you speak?" The men were charged. The dead man's eyes left about 11 morning, and when found had been robbed, but not by the slayer. The negro's eyes were crazy. The jail will be well guarded to prevent anything.

where labor is never oppressed by stress of weather, and where animal vitality is never lost by mere conflict with cold?

varied than in any other equal area in the world, where the division of great ranches affords a fine opportunity to get a small farm that will assure you a competence?

Do you want to live where, with a minimum of labor, you can grow profitable crops of grapes and small fruit, oranges, lemons, olives, prunes and almonds, alfalfa and grain, where crops are sure, business is good and capital easily finds profitable investment?

Then go to California, where both health and opportunity await your coming.

OLD HICKORY CHIPS

[By our Associate Editor.]

The Department of Justice has been keeping itself very busy these days. It is now up to the Grand jury that directly hangs down the indictments in the Agricultural Department case, not then the Department of Justice is naturally responsive. It sounds very nice.
Three of the people supposed to be connected in the cotton case have already been tried. These have been Frederick Beckham of New York, and Henry Holmes, Jr., exsociate stationer of the Agricultural Department have all been tried upon 24th and on the 25th themselves the grand jury, somewhat to the surprise of the public, got a local grand jury of national renown. The grand jury, and indicted him at the same time, not for complicity in the cotton case, but on the charge of misappropriating funds under a writ. Whether he was guilty. This was only one criminal case, more out against him, but hundreds of national investors who lost their money in the financial smash are rejoicing mightily. However, these are only indictments. Perhaps some of the indicted may not get out, but as a general matter the public should not be surprised. The American people and business man that wishes a wholesale movement has to be made by the authorities of the law. It has gotten to the point in Washington where to indict President Cleveland a little, the average man regards a "public opinion" as a pragmatic one. The Administration has an investigating commission that promises to probe all the public departments, that need it during the coming winter, and there is little doubt as to the result. The charges are in the matter. But the chance is that the President's commission will get a little of the reputation of the public's investigation. The public's investigation is heartily of the people, under the names of investigation that have been exploited of Washington in the past. There is enough in secret of the public departments that needs investigating, but it is likely to be blown up in a very short time. The public's investigation. Some indictments are required, but what is needed is an investigation by a commission of a different political faith that would not have the same interest in protecting its prerogative. No one wishing the keep commission anything but successful in its labor, it is only to be hoped that the commission will not conclude during the coming season that it is meeting with too much success and so relax its efforts.
