THE CLOSE OF THE YEAR.

Two Murders in Different Parts of Henderson Marked the Event. Henderson, Ky., Jan. 1.—Two murders, similar in the way in which they were committed, occurred here Saturday and in opposite ends of the city, marked the close of the year in the criminal annals of this town. The weapons used in each case were the same, a razor. At an early hour Sunday morning Charles Willis, colored, entered the house of Lou Baitly, also colored. They quarreled. Willis picked up an ax which was lying in a corner of the room and holding it with both hands struck the woman a terrible blow on her head. She died at once. In the afternoon, in the other end of the city, Levi Childs, colored, was killed by Isaac Gibson, white, with a razor. The killing was in the same manner as Willis used his. Gibson was under the influence of liquor at the time. According to his story he had entered his yard and after a few words advanced on him with a razor. He grabbed the razor and with a flourish broke the dagger's shaft, but he had been instantaneous.

MURDERED IN HIS SLEEP.

Richard Washington, a Hostler, Found with his Head Split Open.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 1.—Murdered in his sleep, Richard Washington, a hostler at the Hamilton hotel, was found by the police with his head split open by an ax. His wife was also found with her head split open. The police hurried to Hamilton shortly after the morning in response to a telephone message from Washington's wife saying her husband had been killed. A bloody ax and a dress were found by the police. The ax was found with blood and hair on the blade, and the dress had a stain of having been used, which was identified as the dress of the woman who had entered the hotel room, leaving a cloth and hat. Washington was found with his head split open by an ax. The detectives have questioned her relatives at all day, but she refuses to her story of the killing. The murder of Richard Washington has aroused the interest of the community.

A. S. WINTON RETIRES.

He Departs From the Head of the First National Bank of Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., Jan. 1.—The departure of the national banks of this city, relative to the largest of the city, the First National Bank, was marked by the retirement of A. S. Winton, for many years president of the First National Bank, and one of the city's prominent citizens. Mr. Winton has been in the bank for many years, and his retirement is a loss to the community. He has been succeeded by W. W. Bell, one of the directors, who will be in charge of the bank's operations.

THE LEGISLATIVE CAUCUSES.

Apparently the Supporters of Judge Paynter Dominated the Situation.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 2.—When adjournment was reached in the legislative house and senate caucuses of the Kentucky legislature Monday night, the supporters of Judge Thomas H. Paynter, who aspires to succeed C. S. Blackburn as United States senator, were greatly dominant in the situation. In the house caucuses a Paynter man was elected chairman of the caucus and a Paynter man was nominated for speaker by a vote of 35 to 20. In the senate caucuses the Paynter candidates for chairman and speaker were nominated by a vote of 15 to 12. Adding the votes polled for Paynter candidates in the two branches gives a total of 57, or four votes more than enough to nominate Judge Paynter if he secured a vote equal to that polled by the men he put forward. His supporters also point with satisfaction to the fact that although they have gained in organizing the two houses, yet against these caucuses are the far associated of the managers for Senator Blackburn and W. B. Hatfield, of Louisville, the opposing candidates for speaker and president of the senate. They also include six members who did not vote on the caucus for speaker and president in the house. The Paynter managers, however, say that their candidate also will receive the votes of several caucuses. Neither side showed any sign of giving ground after the caucuses, the Paynter managers claiming no opposition in joint caucuses on the first ballot, while the Hatfield and Blackburn forces, who had no opposition, attempted to organize the two houses separately, asserting that there would be a deadlock. The Paynter managers held Tuesday night in the senate, the result being that the Paynter minority will also hold their caucus Thursday. In the caucus of democratic senators they were also advised by Judge Paynter, was chosen chairman by a vote of 15 to 12. The election of a democratic speaker and president in the house of the senate also resulted in the election of a Paynter supporter, W. B. Hatfield.

THE WOOLWALK FARM.

E. T. Barnett, a Wealthy Milk Owner of Alaska, Purchases it.

Frankfort, Ky., Jan. 2.—E. T. Barnett, a wealthy milk owner of Alaska, has purchased the Woolwalk farm, one of the largest farms in the state. The farm is located near Frankfort, Ky., and it is one of the best farms in the state. Barnett has purchased the farm for $100,000.

HEAD ON COLLISION.

Two Louisville Cabs Came Together, and Five Men Were Injured.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 2.—A collision between two cabs in the city resulted in five men being injured. The cabs were driven by John Smith and John Jones. The collision occurred at the intersection of Main and Second streets.

Officer's Sworn In.
