"The world to-day is looking for men who are not for the sake of money, but for the sake of principle... men who are honest, sound from center to circumference, true to the heart's core, men with consciences as steady as the needle to the pole, who will stand for the right if the heavens totter and the earth reels..."

Or all the bills before the legislature, the county unit bill is one of the most important. It is up to the "Law and Order" people of the State to strike swords with the whisky men and down them if possible.

HON. JESS ALVERTON, Representative from Lincoln, informs us that the report being circulated that he is in favor of Rockcastle being put in the Eleventh is a mistake and that he is strictly in favor of Rockcastle remaining in the Eighth.

It is announced that China is sending soldiers to Manchuria to take the places of all the Japanese who have withdrawn. But it may be remarked that this process is not depopulating China very rapidly.

Mr. JAMES I. HAMILTON, of Lancaster, has announced as a candidate for Congress from the district. Every Democrat in the district knows Jim Hamilton and knows him to be "true blue."

SENATOR PATTERSON says that not only has he not resigned from the Democrat party but that there will be a rough house in the Democratic party attempt to resign from him.

A man is usually judged by his success in life. POLITICS AND POLITICIANS Saturday, June 2, was held as the date for holding a primary election to nominate a Democrat candidate for Congress to succeed Hon. David H. Smith of the Fourth district.

Senator Hubble has a letter from Boyle Stone, of Casey, saying he will not be a candidate for Congress from that county in the next four years, says a Frankfort dispatch. The publication that Mr. Stone would be a candidate for Congress in the Eighth district rather put Senator Hubble in the air. There are some candidates in the Eighth that additional opposition to this shift was at once developed.—Interior Journal.

ADJOINING COUNTIES

Harrodsburg is in the spring to have a new Court House, there being already in the Mercer county treasury $5,000 for this purpose. The present court house is one of the oldest in the State.

The Cumberland Railroad Company has put a corps of engineers in the field to make final survey for its jellio extension and work will begin at once. The extension will be seventeen miles in length, beginning at the head of Brandy Creek, Knox county, and proceeding through portions of Bell and Whitley counties.

Eastern capitalists have selected a site and have begun arrangements to build a large saw and planing mill at Irvine, Estill county. They will also erect a veneer and box factory and will employ 150 hands. The entire plant will involve an expenditure of $300,000. No better site could have been selected, as Irvine is right on the river and is in the heart of the lumber district.

Mr. W. D. Oldham, of the Busy Bee Cash Store, has awarded the contract for rebuilding his store to Mr. Sam Rice. Mr. Rice will begin at once to remove the debris and erect the new building from bottom to top. It is Mr. Oldham's intention to erect even a handsome building, that is not just burned.

For his business sagacity and determination Mr. Oldham has no superior and he is showered with congratulations over the fact that a handsome and more massive building will rise like the Phoenix of old on the ruins of the one recently destroyed.—Climax.

COUNTY UNIT BILL.

The whisky people have the strongest lobby at Frankfort they have there than in any other part of the State. The main object being to defeat the county unit bill now before the Legislature. This bill provides that all votes upon the question of prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors must be taken the entire county, thus preventing the people of any particular precinct or locality having saloons, to the entire county.

MATRIMONIAL

Within plain circle of virgin gold, the historic East town of the White House, at 13 minutes after 1 o'clock Saturday, Alice Lee Roosevelt, eldest daughter of the President of the United States, and Nicholas Longworth, the Representative in Congress from the First district of Ohio, were united in marriage. The ceremony—one of the most impressive ever performed in the Executive Mansion—was according to the liturgy of the Protestant Episcopal church, of which the bride is a member. It was solemnized by the devotional beauty of a cathedral service. No ceremony of a similar kind ever was witnessed by a more distinguished assemblage. There were present guests not only the most eminent representatives of the American Government but the personal commissioners of the Kings and potentates of the Powers of the civilized world, constituting an assemblage not only one of the largest, but the most distinguished that ever gathered at one time in the White House. Bridal presents, costing a most $1,000,000, were given to the happy pair.

At a meeting of the State Liquor Dealers of Ohio, at Columbus, one of the delegates in the course of a speech on "How to Build up the Saloon Business" gave the following suggestions. He said: "The success of our business is dependent largely upon the creation of an appetite for drink. We must, therefore, like other things, make the drink as much as possible. We must, therefore, like other things, make the drink as much as possible. We must, therefore, like other things, make the drink as much as possible."

Secretary Root has a pecuniary striking habit of saving what he has, and his support of the pending consular bill before the Senate Committee was a instance of it. It is a fact that the consular bill of the United States Congress organizing on a business basis was nothing very new. Neither was it a new statement, that some of the consulates were well paid and other under paid as a result of political influence, though not many secretaries would have had the nerve to tell Congress so. It was also a case of "no admission for a Secretary of State to want the consular service as a whole was "spoiled," that there were some good men in it and a great many poor ones. But the more striking assertion that the consular service was in a state of "decay" and that it was "rotten" was a new thing. It was the first time that the consular service was so described. found to possess many possibilities of happiness, which the markings spotted for passing on.

Inspired with this idea of sending out remembrances that might be multiplied four-fold, a new list of words was given to Mrs. Alden by the Recorder's staff and these cards were of once sent out. The thanks received for them were so pretty that an item was made of them in the New York Recorder. This caused further correspondence and resulted in a club for the exchange of friendly greetings.

The name of "Chat" was first chosen for the column, but in time the membership grew so large that the name "Good Cheer" was adopted and in 1886 the name of the society was changed to the "Sunshine" Society, and its active members were to include all who were desirous of brightening life by word, thought or deed.

The growth of the Society has been almost phenomenal. From the parent society branches have sprung up until every State in the Union is represented by regularly enrolled presidents and organizers.

When a State has ten branches, each consisting of ten to twenty members, it becomes entitled to a State president. Besides the thousands of members in the United States, flourishing branches in England, Japan, India, France and Germany.

THE BEGGAR TRUST.

REGULARLY ORGANIZED FOR THE PURPOSE OF MULCTING THE PUBLIC.

Ingenious Make-Ups and Creel Revises Practiced—Arrest Made at the Principals Sent to Prison—An Ocular Beggar.

As old as civilization, so old is the history of the beggar kingdom, for wherever have been found any collection of men, it beggars there plied their business despite indifference or the scorn of the majority, yet always reaping their harvest from the philanthropic. The nearer one draws to the warmer countries more and more numerous one finds the professional beggar.

Egypt, India and Italy give the worst examples. In countries which boast of their higher civilization, respectability is not through want of provision, but through a class of people who make a beggary their profession and who have made a business of the methods of reaching the hearts and purses of the public. It is not seen to stop at criminality.

A recent case was noted in the dispatches of unusual brutality practiced by a beggar upon three children in Austria who had been killed on their parents. The children were thrown out to beg for him and their legs in two places and then their bodies were thrown into a river. A knitting together of the bones would not be a strain to him and their condition made manifest by their apparent misery.

Fake Deformities. While a number of the beggars found in large cities are really deformed—blind, lame, maimed, crippled, etc.—it is a pity that it is a habit of the police authorities that there are establishments where idle, worthless and lazy persons are readily manufactured into objects of charity.

One of the best of the "Brooklyn Home" stories is a wonder "made-up" beggar who fools the police.

generous public. These earnings were placed in a large pool, part of which was used in payment for legal representation when one of the "trusts" might be arrested. At one time there were thirty men in the jail, but the police of New York gradually got one by one of the members into the folds of the law and the "trust" was broken up.

By Telephone. "This is the residence of J. Pierpont Morgan. The house is in fire. Send an engine at once." This is Herbert J. Satterlee, Mr. Morgan's son-in-law, talking.

There was unusual excitement at the headquarters recently when the telephone rang and the foregoing words came over the wire.

The engine was sent, and no team ever made a quicker run. When the firemen arrived at 219 Madison avenue, the home of the multi-millionaire, they found Mr. Satterlee in the doorway.

The only sign of fire was a slender sheet of flame shooting out of the chimney.

"For heaven's sake, do not use any water," Mr. Satterlee begged. "You will ruin irreplaceable paintings if you do. The fire is in the chimney, please be quick."

The firemen yielded to Mr. Satterlee's request, and men hand grenades instead of the hose. The found Professor Hans the Engineer—the man who had almost extinguished the fire by throwing salt down the chimney. The fire caused no damage.

Quietly Disposed Of. A certain colonel is an authority on all matters of military and naval history, and is a well-known writer of books on the subject.

On one occasion he was sitting in his private room at the barracks with a friend when a servant brought in a card.

"Oh, send him in," said Mr. Satterlee, "I have nothing to do with it."

There was shown in a wild-eyed, long-haired man, twisting his coat nervously in both hands.

"Colonel," he said, "I have been and by look out at my parcel, that bullet-proof army coat. If the parcel would, would you mind?"

"But it is not," said the soldier, and he took the parcel. The servant appeared as the parcel was being unwrapped.

"Jones," he said, "tell Sergeant Brown to order one of his men to hold his rifle, and I forgot something."

"But it is not," said the soldier, and he took the parcel. The servant appeared as the parcel was being unwrapped.

among the many thousands of verses received the following poem sent in by Mrs. W. H. Chase of Brooklyn was selected.

Good Cheer.
Have you had a kindness shown?
Pass it on.
'Twas not given for you alone—
Pass it on.

Pass it on to your members,
Let it travel down the years,
Let it wipe another's tears,
Till in heaven the deed appears—
Pass it on.

At the time the verse was selected we did not know the author and it was not for several years after the Society had adopted the motto that the writer was discovered to be Rev. Henry Burton, D. D., of Lytham, England.

Mr. Burton wrote the poem twenty-five years ago and had almost forgotten it until the Sunshine Society brought it into prominence.

Mr. Burton is now seventy-five years of age and has become so interested in the Society that now every body in his church and Sunday school has become a Sunshine.

Mr. Burton's parishioners are building a beautiful new church and Sunday school, and he is contributing to raise funds for a handsome memorial window bearing the poem which has inspired so many with kindness and thoughtfulness.
