BECKHAM ANNOUNCES FOR SENATOR.

Gov. J. C. W. Beckham on last Tuesday announced his candidacy for United States Senator to succeed Hon. Joseph B. McCreary, in the following letter to the Democrat of Kentucky:

"Your State Executive Committee has called a primary election for November 6, to nominate a candidate for the U. S. Senate and also candidates for State offices, to be elected next year, and I wish to announce to you my candidacy for the nomination as Senator. You are to be congratulated that your party committee has determined that all these contests should be decided by a primary election and that the people themselves should have the opportunity by direct vote to select their candidates for these offices. It is the fairest and most satisfactory method of choosing party nominees; it constitutes each voter his own 'late maker,' and gives every candidate the best chance to establish whatever claims he has before the next Session. The fight for this primary was made five months before the election next November and surely that should be sufficient time for any candidate to make his campaign especially so when the season for now on is most favorable for our cause. I have always been in favor of the primary plan and I have never aspired to a public office that I did not prefer to submit my candidacy to a direct vote of the people. Such is the case now and I heartily endorse the action of your committee in deciding that your next Senator shall be chosen by a fair and honest primary. My reliance and hope are directly upon you.

I do not make the boastful claim that the Democratic party of the State owes me anything. If my services in the past have been of any value to either they should simply be measured as a criterion to determine whether or not I can be of further service to the people by the responsible office of the Federal Senate. My study has become the great battle ground in the settlement of the important issues now before the people and of such deep consequence to their welfare. I am selected by the people of my State as one of her two representatives there. I shall therefore be responsible not only in name, but also in principle, with the sincere and earnest purpose upon broad and patriotic lines to serve my State and country. As such a duty as will justify the trust you may repose in me.

I shall conduct my campaign for this nomination in a frank and open way, worth of the dignity of the high office and without any interference whatever in another contest for office in this primary.

That some strong elements of opposition will fight me in ambush as well as in the open, I well know; that in over six years' service as Governor of the Commonwealth, I have necessarily in the honest and fearless performance of my duties incurred the enmity and hostility of many whose various batteries, whether concealed or exposed, will be directed at me in this contest, is known to all. Under some conditions the strength and power of this opposition might alarm me, but as the result is to be determined by the vote of the people in this primary election, I have no fears and shall go into the campaign with hope and confidence, believing that whatever may be the result, it will be the consent of the people, and if victorious by that will, the victory will be all the more honorable; if defeated, then defeat without its stigma or disappointment. For every man who seeks public favor must learn to bow with respect and patriotism before the expressed will of the people.

To you, therefore, I gladly commit my candidacy, with the assurance that if you honor me with this high station, I shall bring to the discharge of its duties the same fidelity, purpose, and devotion to duty with which I have always endeavored to meet my official responsibilities.

Very respectfully,
C. W. BECKHAM.

FOR CONGRESS

We are authorized to announce JUDGE JOHN W. HUGHES, of Mercer County, as a candidate to represent the Eighth Congressional District in Congress to succeed Hon. G. G. Gill here, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

We are authorized to announce HON. R. W. MILLER, of Madison as a candidate to represent the Eighth Congressional District of Kentucky in Congress, to succeed Hon. G. G. Gill, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

When Greek meets Greek there can be no true result, even so when Governor meets Governor in path in which there is room for only one there must follow a decisive struggle. One of the most interesting political contests in the history of Kentucky is now on and it will be a fight to the finish, with the two greatest political giants of Kentucky as the commanders of the two opposing forces; and with several dark horses who are still in the background. Gov. J. C. W. Beckham has by his noble efforts in behalf of the State attached to his side many warm partisans. Like-wise has Senator James M. McCreary in his terms of office both as Chief Executive of Kentucky and as United States Senator gathered about him many friends. Both of these leaders have held the reins of this State when a wise head and a steady hand was essential to the peace and prosperity of the Commonwealth. Both did honor to their positions of trust and disappointed none of their followers. Two of Kentucky's ablest men have met in a struggle in which one must say farewell to political life.

This belief in New York political circles, despite denials, is that Roosevelt, by his attitude on the questions of monopolies and the tariff, has forced a situation which may force him again to be the standard bearer of the party, especially in view of the Bryan boom. Courier Journal. If both are candidates won't the campaign be one continuous Fourth of July.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Judge S. W. Hager has announced for the Democratic nomination for Governor. The House Tuesday passed the bill for a railway bridge across the Kentucky river at Beattyville. It is now considered probable that Congress will reach an agreement until one day next week.

Gov. Beckham appointed B. F. Menette, of Grant county, to succeed John M. Lassing as judge of the Fifteenth Circuit district. Mr. M. O. Wheatley, of Middleboro, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Cummins' men apparently have the delegates and the opposing, the "machine" in the Iowa Republican row. A disruption of the party seems to be a likely result. Governor Beckham Friday announced the appointment of Judge M. M. Redwine, of Sandy Hook, Elliot county, as a Circuit Judge of the new 32nd judicial district created by the last session of the Legislature out of the counties of Carter, Elliott, Morgan and Lawrence, which were taken from surrounding districts.

President Roosevelt has decided to visit the Isthmus of Panama next fall to make a personal inspection of the canal work. He will leave Washington late in October or early in November and will spend at least a week in the canal zone. In view of this decision, his proposed tour of the Middle West has been declared off.

Governor Beckham has appointed Judge John M. Lassing, of Boone county, to succeed Judge Thos. H. Poynter on the bench of the Court of Appeals from the Sixth Appellate District, to take effect August the 1st. Judge Poynter retires before going to the United States Senate as successor to J. C. Blackburn.

The Eleventh Congressional Republican District Committee met at Barbourville Saturday and issued an official call for a primary election to be held Tuesday August 14 to nominate a Republican candidate for Congress and the delegates to be present and of the number seven voted for a primary, while the other six favored a delegate convention.

Another section of the same law provides that all mortgages and liens notes that have been paid and not released on the records at one will be listed by the Assessor as if not paid.

The object of both sections is to enable the Assessor to reach the holders of notes secured by mortgages or liens in order that they may be listed for taxation.

At place near Peterson's Store on old Richmond road. J. H. Davison. A good part of the double track already laid between Sinks and Lexington. Bridge piers are being rapidly built and as soon as tunnel is finished track will be laid through from Sinks to Livingston. The tunnel will probably be put through by October. The storm on last Saturday afternoon did but little damage here. In Jackson it did great damage to the timber, and caused loss of life among the stock which were caught in the hills. The electrical storm succeeding the wild storm caused great damage to the telephone lines of the county. Hereafter we have never had anything but a continuous treatment from all corners and the telephone dispatcher's office. The day after tomorrow, a representative of the Signal is wishing to see Mr. C. J. Staverson, chief dispatcher, of business called at the office and made inquiry for that gentleman. The "thing," gray or clumpy, sitting at the north-west table answered, "He has left the road." The inquirer left knowing it was a lie, though it made him feel like thirty cents to think that a great corporation would retain such a person in their employ. Down on the platform was found a man and gentleman, Dispatcher Hillman, who cheerfully gave the desired information. KRUEGER—Came suddenly on last Wednesday the noon at four o'clock, Mrs. F. Krueger died of heart failure at his residence on Main street, of this place. Mrs. Krueger was born in Germany in 1852, and after this age and the birth of her three sons, she accompanied with her family to this country in 1885, living for a time in Crab Orchard, from which place she came here. During their sojourn here the entire family have made many friends, and it is with the deepest regret that the people of Mt. Vernon should go to her final rest. All of the family, her husband and three sons, Will, August and Fred, were at home at the time of her death. The burial took place yesterday afternoon in the family lot in the cemetery here after funeral services in the Christian church conducted by Rev. J. M. Walton of Livingston.

WANTED—Gentleman or lady with good references, to attend by rail or with rig, for a term of $150.00 per year and expenses; salary paid weekly and 6 penses advanced. Address, with stamp, J. C. P. Myers, G. C. Fish and W. L. Newcomb, three members of the "Big Fish" fishing club, which was organized twenty two years ago, with some friends had an excursion to Roundstone Saturday where they enjoyed an old time "fish fry" using up forty pounds of the scaly tribe. The other members, Theard Parsons and William Dowell could not attend on account of condition of their crops. DEATH—Mr. T. J. Hansel, age 73, died at 11:15 a. m. near town Tuesday night at 11 o'clock after an illness of three weeks. Mr. Hansel was one of Rockcastle's most substantial citizens and his health is felt not only by his family but also by the whole community. He is survived by a wife, an large family of children, all of whom were at his bedside when he died. He leaves three brothers, one of whom, Z. T. Hansel, lives here in town. The burial took place Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the family burying ground. The Fiscal Court met Monday last to consider ways and plans for putting in a system of waterworks and sanitary plumbing at the jail. The matter was put into the hands of a committee which has prepared proposed plans and report back to the Court on July 30th. This much needed improvement will greatly change the sanitary conditions in the prison department of the jail building which owing to its narrow limits, and poor attempts at sanitizing having been made when the building was constructed, has been very bad. Much of the credit for the proposed changes is due Mr. Jarrett, the father, who called the attention of the grand jury to the situation and stoutly urged action thereon. The best man we have in our town for the general good of the town is the one you will always see in the front seat of the progress band. He is the great one of our town, and he has been hard to the stranger among them him to the best town in the state. He will rest an hour in his town as quickly as he would a snail at a member of his family. He very politely invites the crowd to come to meet him. He is going to give the grand jury a talk on every public expense. He talks on the town's road and proposition, and believes it to be the best place to each to which to live, and desires to be buried here when his time comes. Let all of you be like this man for one year, and our little city will take on a new life and improve as never before in its history. CHAS. ROBERTS—The L. & N. will sell the following car lots: Chicago; Orange plus 25 cents; $1 34 round trip to Richmond, Ky. July 11, 12 and 13, limited to July 14th, account of Madison County Fair. FOLEY'S MONEY and LAND RENT-PAYS FOR THE LAND. FERTILE SECTIONS OF THE SOUTHWEST, WHERE LAND SELLS FOR $15 AND RENTS FOR $5 PER ACRE. One of the remarkable things about Eastern Arkansas and Northern Louisiana is the fact that cleared land rents for $5 per acre; cash crops can be brought for $7.50 to $8 per acre. It costs $5 to $10 an acre to clear it. Other improvements, such as fences, are slight and inexpensive. The soil is rich alluvial, or made. It produces a bale of cotton per acre worth $15 to $20. This accounts for its high rental value. Other crops such as corn, small grain, grasses, vegetables and fruits thrive as well. Allalfa yields 4 to 6 cuttings, a ton on a cutting, and brings $10 to $15 per ton. In other sections of these states, and in Texas as well, the rolling or hill land is especially adapted to stock raising. Good fruit growing, and is very cheap. $5 to $10; improved farms $10, $15 to $20 per acre. The new Kline River country first fires many opportunities for settlers. High rolling, fine water—its naturally adapted to stock and rail raising. Can be bought as low as $2 per acre. See this great country, for yourself and pick out a location. Mr. Sterling Clark.—The Advocate says about 800 cattle on the market. The quality was only fair, most of the stock offered being of light weight. Trade was good and at times brisk, prices were firm and about all the cattle sold by night.

The best 1,000 pound steers sold at $25; lighter weight at $3 25 to $3 75; heifers at $3 to $3 75; the latter price for some of the stuff. Cows at 2 25 to 3 cents 00 sized crowd at the pens, with plenty of buyers among them, and there was quite a demand for some 2 year old steers but they were not here. Mules a little dull. A good many offered; 2 large mules but they were thin, and the owners wanted low prices, so no trading done. Some 15 to 15 1/2 mules at $300 to $350 per pair, small mules at $90 to $125.

Nixon a tract containing 10 acres of land and the 60,535 600 Cavies, six miles from Lexington. This body of land originally belonged to the DeLong farm a portion of which Mr. Haggin bought some time ago, paying $125 per acre for it.—Lexington Observer.

The census of 1900 shows that, with a little over 5,000,000 farms in the United States, not more than 6,000,000 turkeys were produced. Among the States Texas is in the lead, having produced almost 650,000 turkeys. Following Texas come Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Ohio and Indiana, in the order named. The State of Rhode Island produced less than 3,000 turkeys. It may be added, however, that if the turkeys were of such good quality as those produced in Rhode Island, their value would be nearly doubled and they would return correspondingly greater profits to the growers. Rhode Island turkeys sold at retail in the markets of New York City and Boston during Thanksgiving and sold at 40 cents as high as 25 and 40 cents a pound, while other turkeys could be bought at 20 and 25 cents. This gives some idea of the value of people to pay a good price for the best.

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION.

It is with a good deal of pleasure we commend to the confidence of our readers, and especially mothers, Cascaweet, the new infant and children's remedy now being offered the public by our fellow townsman, Chas. C. Davis.

Maude Clark, at the present time, an undoubtedly strong demand for purity and safety, particularly in the case of remedies for children. In this instance the well known firm of E. C. DeWitt & Co. has taken the public in their confidence by printing on each package of Cascaweet the true name of every single ingredient of the preparation. This will undoubtedly strongly commend itself to physicians and mothers alike. Mothers can be thoroughly satisfied in giving this simple remedy to their children, in knowing that every ingredient and element is printed on the package for their information. This enables them to know exactly what they are giving their little ones when they administer Cascaweet.

The old time method of relieving children's complaints by steeping or denuding their sensibility with drugs to produce artificial sleep, is suppressed by this harmless remedy. By the advanced position taken by this well known firm, in making known the ingredients of such a valuable remedy, will undoubtedly find a number of followers within a short time.

The greatest care should be exercised in the selection of a remedy for the complaints peculiar to children. The day is not far distant when a mother was content to administer to her child the old time soothing syrups and medicines containing powerful and harmful drugs to produce artificial sleep, such as morphine and opium, and it is with satisfaction that we note the advanced position taken by E. C. DeWitt & Co. in not only omitting from the composition of the medicine itself any opiate or narcotic, but in placing in plain English on each and every bottle the name of each of its ingredients. Cascaweet is a vegetable 'corrective of over-merit as its formula shows it to be.

CLEVER LADY NAVIGATOR.

MRS. ROSE E. WATKINS GRANTED PILOT'S LICENSE ON ILLINOIS RIVER.

A Model Housekeeper and Expert Cook—Assists in Training Engineer of Steamer—Husband an Engineer of Boat of Which She is Pilot.

In the early spring of this year when the Steamboat Inspectors began their examinations at Chicago of the various applicants for licenses to handle the Illinois river, they were somewhat startled over the appearance of Mrs. Rose E. Watkins in the class and only after most thorough test as to her ability to handle a steamer was she issued a license.

Mrs. Watkins is the wife of Captain George T. Watkins and they own the boat with which they navigate the waters of the Illinois. For the last eight years Mrs. Watkins has made her home on her husband's boats. Her home was originally at Peoria, where Mrs. Watkins spent her childhood days and before her marriage to Captain Watkins had taught school.

EXPERT IN RIVER NAVIGATION.

For the last four years they have put in the summer conducting an excursion business between Chicago and the scenic points down the Illinois River, including Starved Rock and the ravines and canyons surrounding it. Mrs. Watkins has been for years an expert in navigating these waters, but not until this spring she formally applied for a pilot's license. While classed as a navigable stream, it has generally been regarded that the navigation of the Illinois ended at La Salle, but in spite of this, the Watkins and one or two smaller craft have been regularly plying the upper reaches of the river. Last winter the steambot men were notified that the boats on this section would have to comply with all the government regulations to carry regularly licensed pilots and engineers.

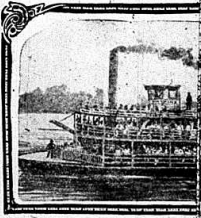

A few weeks later inspectors Mansfield and Peck came to Ottawa to inspect the Watkins. Since Mrs. Watkins has secured her pilot's license there have been all sorts of stories in circulation as to that inspection. One romance reads that the inspectors found her seated at a table in the pilot house poring over a chart looking up the location of a recently discovered covered rock. It is a pity to spoil such a beautiful romance, but these are the hard, utilitarian facts of the case. The pilot house of the Watkins is too small to hold a table and Mrs. Watkins is not a student of navigation or a chart at this season of the year. Then the only really dangerous snag in the river at Starved Rock is a commission fee which the corporation that owns it charges before the sightseer

DISPLAYS UNCOMMON ABILITY.

When the excursion season closes the Watkins not infrequently seek other business in the late fall and early spring on the lower reaches of the river and it is while engaged in this work that Mrs. Watkins has the opportunity to display her real ability as a navigator. She has brought the boat up the river in all conditions of wind and current and that, too, when it was snaddling a great horse-poled mill with props for the Spring Valley mines or with great walnut logs for piano factory at Chicago.

As to her ability to handle a crew of deck hands there is a determined claim in her eye which indicates that she can do that, as well as she can cook for them as, also as she can direct and his tributaries. Mrs. Watkins is a modest and refined woman who is not given to boasting of her exploits along lines into which women seldom venture. But she takes a reasonable degree of pride in the fact that she is not an amateur pilot but is the real thing in that line.

MRS. ROSE E. WATKINS.

their labor on board. There is nothing manly or strenuous or new womanish about this lady master of the steamer Watkins—she is a model housekeeper and is household guardian angel for all the crew who dwell upon the boat. This is the plain story of a good woman, refined, pleasant and energetic, who does this work that comes to her thoroughly and who is surprised that her ability to handle a fastidious river water crew should have attracted the attention that it undoubtedly has.

Interstate Commerce Commission.

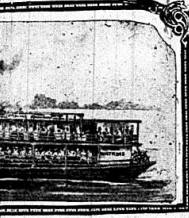

An opinion at one time prevailed that the members of the interstate commerce commission here was a "soft soap." However, this opinion has been. It is not true now. The dispatches show that not only

CONGRESSMEN ARRESTED.

TWO DOZEN OF THEM GATHERED IN AT BASEBALL GAME BY OFFICIAL OF HOUSE.

Incident's Son-in-Law Among Those Collected by Sergeant at Large—Trouble Launched by Minority Leader Williams.

That the members of Congress are fond of a ball game was evidenced five days ago when a call of fifteen—a desire to obtain a quorum of the members—was sent to the Sergeant-at-Arms of that body to send out his deputies to arrest waiting members of the grandstand and bleachers of the Washington Baseball Club. Mr. Nicholas Longworth and his wife being brought in from the President's box. It was a delightful spring afternoon and the House was drooping along through its business, with John Sharp

MR. WILLIAMS.

Williams filibustering and forcing his will on everything possible, including the question of a quorum. The speaker's bench was empty, and the "call of the ball game" was strong upon the floor of the House. They headed for the door when Mr. Williams became restless. There was a call for a quorum, and Mr. Sergeant-at-Large went for the deputies.

The officers rounded up the members from all parts of the grounds and in the executive box found the popular congressman from Ohio, Mr. Williams. They are both lovers of the game, as well as athletes, and the thought of the situation was not unpleasing to them. But they could not resist or argue with constituted authority. They were taken to the Capitol. They held no session in Mrs. Longworth's pretty apartment on the return trip. They took with them Representative James of West Virginia.

HOUSE WERE TOO SLOW.

A number of the statesmen who had backed back to the Capitol in case they were not so fortunate as the Sibbes party. They arrived so late that it wasn't worth while to return to the ball park.

"It was too bad that we had to leave just when there was a chance for Washington to tie the score," said three men of bases," wailed Representative Sherman, of New York, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee.

"Oh, go on," added Congressman Atkinson, of Illinois, "our Chicago team is too strong for the Nationals. Their pitcher struck out the next two men, leaving your three still being in on their bases."

"Of course it was up to the California recruit on the home team to make the star start of the day," added Representative McKinley, who hails from Santa Rosa, Cal.

Others in the gathering sought to assist Representative McKinley, who called them to leave the House for a ball game, as they considered it a blackeye for them to be caught away from their post of duty.

The attempt. The scheme cuts abruptly absolutely from all other of the time-honored methods of traveling over the interior of the Arctic zone. Mr. Wellman is no novice in arctic travel, as he has already made one attempt for the pole, in the old fashioned way.

From Spitzbergen, Wellman, together with Maj. Henry B. Hensley, representing the United States Weather Bureau, and Mr. J. Smith, a wireless operator, will start in the biggest airship ever constructed on the globe's journey toward the goal of many men's desires. If the airship works and the winds remain true to the analysis of them made by the North Pole, the thing is done.

The Princess's Bridal Dress.

Princess Ena's wedding dress attracted great interest in Washington. It is truly a Spanish product, in fabric and finish, except for the wonderful Brussels lace, which was brought to adorn it. It was a fancy of the King and of the Queen-mother that the wedding dress should be made in Spain, and the Princess Ena graciously fell in with this patriotic sentiment.

The silk was manufactured from a special pattern in one of the large Spanish silk establishments. It was made up with all the artistic skill of the best dressmakers. The silk is heavily overlaid with wonderful silver embroidery, with soft frills of the finest Brussels lace, said to have cost $25,000, and to have been publicly exhibited before being put on the dress, and except the admiration and amazement of the aristocratic ladies of Madrid, orange blossoms were profusely used with the silver embroidery and lace for the coronation.

"Ninny's" Questions.

Mr. Alexander, the Cavalier, lives in Florence. There a young American woman recently interviewed her.

"Mrs. Alexander was delighted," said the young woman. "She amused me very much. I too, amused her—she thought the same."

"Once, when I asked her a certain question about the financial side of novel writing, she declared that my question was as naive as that of a little Florentine child's that she had heard about the day before."

"This child, at dinner with her parents, had asked her mother, 'What are mamma, where were you born?'"

"At Padua, darling."

"That is what I was born in Florence, wasn't it?"

"Yes, dear."

"And father, where was he born?"

"In Venice."

"The little girl looked gravely from one to the other."

"Isn't it funny," she said, "that we should all have met like this."

The White Company

By Sir A. Conan Doyle

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters. The scene of the story are had been the rooms of the Chequer, a room above of London, known as Hordle John's. A man, known as Hordle John, had been found and sentenced to be executed from the North Pole. The man was a British newspaper man, who had been found in the Arctic zone. He was a man of letters, and had been found in the Arctic zone. He was a man of letters, and had been found in the Arctic zone.

CHAPTER III. Though it was an autumn evening, somewhat warm, a huge fire of beamed billets of wood crackled and snapped in a broad open grate, some of the white coals upon a rude chimney, but the greater part rolling out into the room, so that the air was thick with smoke and a man coming from without could scarce catch his breath. On this fire a great cat huddled and stammered, giving forth a rich and promising snore. Seated round it were a dozen or so folk, of all ages, some looking only north up at the shout as they entered that the most peculiar of them, through the smoke, began what this evening might be called a "roast."

"For 'Fanny's a rooster!" cried one, looking down in a tattered grin. "One more round of mead or beer, and I'll get up and back to the mill. The day of the Pied Piper!" shouted another. "Ho, there, Dame Hordle!" there is great content one can and even in dainty clusters along the train, which is four yards long. According to Spanish traditions, the bride must afterward present this wedding dress to the Virgin de la Paloma, the popular protectress of matrimony.

"I will take your orders, gentle; I will assuredly take your orders," the landlady answered, bustling in with her hands full of leathern drinking-cups. "It is it that you drink, their? Beer for the lads of the forest, mead for the gleeman, strong waters for the ladies, and a heavy hand full upon his face, and held a blue smelting flask to his nose with one eye, and he brandished a busy spoon with the other. In the corner a very fat man was lying all sprawled in a trance, snoring sternly, and evidently in the last stage of drunkenness."

"Why, good dame," said Alleyne, "I would not offend the customs of your town, and a heavy hand full upon his face, and held a blue smelting flask to his nose with one eye, and he brandished a busy spoon with the other. In the corner a very fat man was lying all sprawled in a trance, snoring sternly, and evidently in the last stage of drunkenness."

"By the horns of Glanstrubry!" he said, as he came upon Beaulieu, said he. "Here they have got rid in one day of the only two men within their walls—who have had mine eyes upon thee, youngster, and I know that for all thy baby face there is the making of a man in thee."

While he was speaking the landlady came in again, bearing a broad platter upon which stood all the beakers and saucers of the feast with the brown ale or the ruby wine. Behind her came a maid with a high pile of wooden plates, and a great show of spoons, one of which she handed round to each of the travellers. The plain facts in the case are that when the inspectors made their official visit to the boat Mrs. Watkins engaged in painting the engine. During the winter months the two Captains Watkins were engaged in overhauling and renovating their boat—no small task, as one remembers that the boat can carry passengers on its two decks.

As a result of the examination, which they received at St. Louis, Chicago, Captain George Watkins holds an engineer's and a master's license, while his wife holds a license as master and pilot which entitles her to pilot any craft up to 500 tons burden upon the waters of the Illinois

If the board were composed of twenty members, all could not work at this time in the field which as yet has been scratched.

Provision Inspecting American Meats Tacked on Agricultural Bill.

GUY ELLIOTT MITCHELL.

Senator Beveridge presented a radical amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill the other day which was passed promptly. Lack of the case and activity with which this case was accomplished is a story...

not only recommends the passage of the so-called Beveridge amendment to the agricultural appropriation bill but also suggests to destroy the food supply of the packers should Congress fail to provide for federal inspection of meats at all stages of preparation...

HOW THE TROUBLE BEGAN. Some time ago Upton Sinclair published "The Jungle." It was a blood and horror. It showed that the inspection service at the Chicago packing houses was wholly inadequate. It was proved that the Government inspectors passed on the conditions of the carcasses when the animals were killed; but after that there were no inspections and the conditions were horribly revolting.

The fact that the meat consumption entered vitally into every home, coupled with the terrible charges, made not only in the "Jungle," but through many other credit sources, has aroused a state of public sentiment which is akin to revolutionary...

There has never yet been any written report made public from these two investigations; likely there will be, but the President knows all that he found out, and the packers know it too. Both the President and the packers were horrified; the reasons were different. The story around the Capitol regarding this investigation runs something like this: The packers said, "If this sort of a story gets out it will ruin our business abroad." The President remarked at once, "If I had that I know gets out, it will ruin your business at home too."
