The House Judiciary Committee has favorably reported the bill prohibiting the shipment of whiskey from one State into local option territories in another State. By all means it should become a law. The law passed at the last session of the Kentucky Legislature, prohibiting the shipment of whiskey from one county into local option territory, is as it stands today a dead letter, the home manufacturer being prohibited from shipping his own product, yet his competitor just across the line in another state can ship all he can sell (which is a plenty) and the fellow at the other end of the line, can go and get his jug, get drunk, and raise Cain in general, and we sell it local option. About the only difference which can be pointed out one year ago, the Cincinnati and other out of the State points. Here is hoping that the temperance move in Kentucky will reach the National Capital and blow a winning game through the halls of the National Congress and the bill unanimously passed, however the chances we regret to say, are very much against it.

Says the Somerset Journal: "It's rather a pleasant task which we feel, now and then, in our serene sequestered life, a Democratic duty to bruise the serpent's head and leave the victim to squirm and writhe and hiss and bite itself while filling and air around with venereal exhalation." "We know of no one to whom the above could be more appropriately applied than the editor of The Somerset Journal. But since he got his job, which as he would say, "those who ought to know tell us," is the first job he ever had, he has had a considerable job fulfilling the requirements of his JOB necessary to hold on to his JOB.

The editor of the Louisiana, Mo. Press Journal was asked by the Roosevelt Third Term League his opinion regarding the movement. Here's his answer. A nation that survived the death of George Washington and the assassination of Abraham Lincoln and refused a third term to U. S. Grant can get along without a Theodore Roosevelt. There's our comment.

The salaries of the over-worked Congressmen have been increased from $5,000 to $7,500 per year. If Congressmen were paid according to what they do, there are some who would run mighty short on their board bills.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS Senator Blackburn who is to be succeeded soon by Judge Fayser, and Senator McCree who is to be succeeded by Governor Beckham, voted against the proposition to increase the salaries of Congressmen and Senators from $5,000 to $7,500 nevertheless the bill providing for the increase passed. But they are not to be under no obligation to mediate predecessors when they draw the additional $2,500 a year. Winchester Democrat.

HOW FONTAINE FOX BOB BITT WRITES OF THE LOVE AGO

CHAR OCHARD, KY., JAN. 29, '07. Mr. VERNON SIGNAL. I saw in a recent issue of the Signal that my old boyhood companion, Walker McQueary, is at Mt. Vernon. I should be pleased to see him. His father and mine were neighbors, democrats and friends. Both of their times were candidates for the Legislature. When my father ran against Berry Smith he came in three votes of being elected, perhaps before I was born I should remember it as my memory runs back almost to the time of my birth. I have been at many parties with Walk at Maj. W. N. Owen's, Judge Barnett's and Keriah Farris'. The seven successful sons of Dan, W. F. Evans, George W. Evans, Joseph James and Harvey McAlester, G. W. James, and Joseph McJames, were raised in sight of us Walker McQueary's father, William McQueary was in here. Our father's wealth consisted of negroes worth thousands of dollars and yet not worth a cent. Jim Bobbitt and I had to work ourselves to death to feed our negroes. A negro in Kentucky was no account. We had Hannah, Rose Ann, Gilbert, (my nurse) Joe, Nance Ann, Esther, Green, Charles, Cyrenus, Lam, Chice, worth about $15,000. I am glad they are free, they are free and so am I. I have never done a hard days work since they were freed and they never did one before. Walker and I parted many years ago falling and weeping upon each others shoulders. I have often thought of him, his brothers and glorious old Dallas. But now all is desolate along the shore 'Tis Dallas but living Dallas no more. Should like so much to take a slow walk to Dallas with my dear old schoolmate. I could tell him many things that took place in our boyhood days. I remember the names of all the near by dogs: Pen Adkins, Tyler Sears, Polk Bobbitt, Sound, Drum and Tip Taylor.

I can repeat a great many pieces and episodes that I consulted away back in the old blue book, which Judge Brown, myself and many others, had and is the best book of its size that was ever printed. Give us our primeval forests, our wild hogs in the woods at $2.00 per hundred. Give us old Time give us back old times, old friends and old kinfolks, and happiness.

Well, dear Walk, I hope I shall have the pleasure of spending many happy days with you before you return to your home.

GRIFFINS MILL.

The second hog crop is now being butchered during the cold weather that has lately been sweeping down from the arctic regions of the North; as many farmers had held a part or all of their hogs till the warm weather set in and was then afraid to kill them. The wheat crop which is the principal crop of the State was looking extremely well till the cold snap came which checked its growth, and made a great change in its color. We are much distressed for fear of a failure, as biscuit is the staff of life. But as Jothan Brown once said when he was quite a small boy, we may be glad to get corn bread. Quite a number of the boys from this neighborhood went to Mt. Vernon, Friday to sell their farms to the Supervisors, but returned and reported no sales made. Quite a large crowd attended the public sale at W. G. Proctor's Mounds; every thing that was sold brought a fair price. The most noted being 75 cents a head for geese paid by W. H. Mullins. After the bargain was made a gentleman proposed to trade his farm to Mullins' geese and Wade replied that he was not in the real estate business at present that he was in the goose business. The four months old babe of W. J. Brown was found dead in the bed when its parents woke up last Friday morning.

A. Cummins, of Mt. Vernon, visited his son, I. B. Cummins, of this place, Friday until Sunday. Frank Cannon, of near Stanton, was in this part, Saturday looking after live stock of different kinds, offering fair prices. Isaac Herrio, our clever hunter, makes his regular trips through our neighborhood every Saturday, paying the highest prices for our produce. Isaac has been a great help to us as his industry is much easier carried out. More than our eggs, ducks and chickens—D. B. Proctor, our Quill merchant, is closing his entire stock of merchandise out at cost.—Which will I call brother the teacher? the farmer? After retiring from six months term p school I went out on the farm the other day and put on the harness, which consisted of a pair of bibble overalls, a pair of Buckskin gloves, a mattock, a pair scythe, and chopping axe; and air, the first thing I knew I had them all kicked off but the overalls; and the next thing I did was to put the same harness on. New! Dishes and Dishes Cummins and they seemed to fit all right, and if my pocketbook didn't have swinner I would work Cummins and Deany instead of myself.—Our winter plowing in this neighborhood is like the man's house that had no roof on it; when it rained he could not cover it, and when it didn't rain the house didn't need any roof. When the weather is fine we don't plow; and when it rains and snows we can't plow.—Mr. John M. Hurst who has been sick for quite awhile we are glad to say is on the road to recovery.—It is rumored that M. F. Craig and Josiah Cummins will trade their farms to Mr. Green Sower of Indiana, to his graphophone. Hurrah for Mack Foot and Josiah!

LOGS ABOUT READY.

First Shipment to Jamestown of Material for Kentucky Building Soon to be Made. Before the middle of February it is expected that all logs and timber to be used in the construction of the Fort at Booneboro, Kentucky's State Building at the Jamestown Exposition, will have been shipped. The building will be completed in time for the opening of the Exposition on April 26. Shipment will be made from various points in Kentucky over the C. & O. railway, and nine or ten cars will be needed to transport the material.

Two carloads of logs will be shipped from Clinton county and one or more cars each from Warren, McLean, Breathitt, Graydon, Wolfe, Pike, Johnson and Powell counties. In addition to the logs, rough hand made shingles or clapboards, for the cabin tops and strips for the floor, will be shipped from the State Mr. Chas. E. Hodge of Frankfort is Director of the State Building Construction on the Kentucky Jamestown Exposition Commission. He has arranged with a contractor at Newport News who is familiar with the construction of similar buildings to erect the modern part of Booneboro.

The Fort will be patterned after the original structure erected by Daniel Boone, within present bounds of Madison county. It will be 150 feet long and 75 feet wide, facing about the beach of Hampton Roads. The main entrance to the stockade will be but a few paces from the ocean waters. Four stock houses or cabins will mark the four corners of the stockade, each of these cabins being two stories high. The center cabins connected by a piazza, and each twenty feet square, will furnish the main pavilion for the Fort. Two other cabins will be located near the center of the rear stockade.

As has been previously reported, the site of Kentucky's Building is declared by Exposition officials and others to be the handsomest at this World's Fair. The building will be on the edge of a beautiful pine grove of 500 trees, some of the trees growing from within the stockade. A digstaff 75 to 100 feet high will be raised in front of the main cabins.

In addition to furnishing the Blue Grass State with the most unique home on the Exposition grounds, the Port of Booneboro will be a splendid exhibit of Kentucky forestry. Col. M. H. Crump of Bowling Green, Director of Forestry Exhibits, for the Kentucky Commission, has devised a much time and attention to assisting Commissioner Hodge in securing the logs for the building. Appropriate inscriptions will be made of the names of persons and firms furnishing the logs and of the quantities in which the timber was grown. Kentucky's Building will be a distance of about three or four blocks from the main part of the Exposition grounds.

WORST IN YEARS.

Noted Forecaster Claims February Will Break Record for Bad Weather.

Prof. Marsh, the noted weather prophet of Winton Place, Ohio, has won new laurels for the correct guesses he has made of the recent floods and weather. He predicted the exact conditions in December and January, and his forecasts for February will be watched with interest.

The month of February will be one of the greatest storm months in years. Great storms of rain, sleet and snow will cover the entire country, resulting in great damage. Sudden changes will occur in all sections of the United States, the temperature rapidly changing from moderate weather to severe cold, and vice versa. Heavy storms of snow, changing to rain and followed by severe cold waves will block travel over the West, Northwest, and regions, Southwest and the entire East and Northern States. Heavy snowstorms and blizzards, followed by cold waves and high winds, will prevail over the West of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Tennessee. Great storms will occur at the headwaters of the Ohio, consisting of heavy snows, changing to rain, followed by cold waves.

The forecast for this locality, according to Prof. Marsh is: Between 1st and 3rd—rain and snow, cold. Between 4th and 6th—Cold, snow. Between 7th and 9th—Changeable. Between 10th and 11th—Unsettled. Between 11th and 13th—Stormy, unsettled weather. Between 13th and 17th—Fair weather will prevail; cloudy and threatening weather on the 17th. Between 18th and 22nd—Rain, and between 18th and 19th turning colder, with snow and wind between the 21st and 22nd. Between 23rd and 24th—Snow. Between the 25th and 28th—Storms, high winds, rain and wind 23th and 26th, turning colder with snow 27th and 28th.
