Mr. Adams carries photographs of a magnificent specimen of the mountain lion which he killed on January 14th last at foot of Pikes Peak a short distance from Colorado Springs. A New York man purchased the carcass for $500 and had it mounted by a taxidermist. Mr. Adams feels proud over the fact that he killed a larger lion than Teddy did.

Marion Smith, aged 55, died Tuesday of pneumonia. Mr. Smith was just recovering from the measles, when an emouia took hold. He was one of our most respectable citizens and leaves a large family.

William T. Colmesul, who died in Henderson, Ky., last week, was the first conductor that ever ran a train into Livingston. He was almost as well known along the line, in the early days of railroading, as Captain Swinney was in later years.

Many of our older citizens remember him as a mighty clever man. W. T. Colmesul, a brother of the conductor, ran many years over the Knoxville branch as a mail clerk.

New phones have been put in during the past week at John Robins resident, Brodhead, C. H. Frith store, Brodhead, L. T. Welch residence, Logan D. Taylor, residence, Ad Vernon, Dock Norton, East Fork. Phones have been put in the store of J. A. Abney, Livingston, and the following Livingston residences: George Griffon, Egbert Hayes, James Neal, Keel Singleton, and Behrman. Two more phones have been ordered for the Hansford, Freedom and Lime Creek lines.

The stockholders of the Crab Orchard Fair at a meeting April 7th, elected the following board of directors for the ensuing year: J. W. Guest, R. H. Brounauh, A. A. Brooks, A. C. Dunn, J. C. West, P. Parrish, J. C. Adams, S. W. Burch, and M. M. Perkins. The board then met and elected the following officers: J. W. Guest, President; W. A. Brooks, 1st Vice Pres.; W. B. Shanks, 2nd Vice Pres. Wm. Berton, 3rd Vice Pres. R. H. Brounauh, Sect. and C. Bailly Treas July 10 and 12th, 1907 were the dates selected for holding the fair.

Mrs. Martha Lewis, aged 79 years died three months, died Saturday morning at the old home, five miles West of here on the Somerset road. Mrs. Lewis, who was Miss Martha Stewart before her marriage, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. David N. Lewis 57 years ago, to which she bore eleven children, the surviving eight of whom are still living: Judge S. D. Lewis, present County Attorney of this county, W. H. Lewis, who lives at the old home, Mrs. W. B. Whitehead, of this place, Mrs. J. J. McLaughlin, of Liberty, Oregon, Beulah, of Danville, Iowa, and Albert, Canada and Allen, Atchison Col. Mrs. Lewis has been ill for a long time and it seemed that each day would be the last. When a very young woman she united with the Christian church and had ever since been a devout member. The remains were laid to rest Monday before the family grave and beside her husband who preceded her fifteen years.

The case of Bob Lee for the striking of Tom McClure, which was tried before the court at our last issue, the jury returned a verdict of guilty fixing his punishment at 18 months in the pen. But little business has been transacted this week. Only two jury cases having been tried, one of W. H. Lewis against the Adams & Co. Express Co., resulting in a judgment of $65 for the plaintiff. The other was that of John C. Whitt against the Western Union Tel. Co., $200 for plaintiff. The case of May against the New Livingston Coal Co., dismissed. The indictments against H. Hamlin and James Norton, charged with complicity in the killing of James and Harlan "Apple" were dismissed. Public sentiment has favored this from the beginning, as there are but very few people who ever believed that Hamlin and James Norton had anything to do with the crime. Lewis Cooper who was also held under the same indictment, was discharged last week.

Court will adjourn to-morrow.

THE YOUNG MEN'S FRIENDS—Last week Fredrick Dartman, aged fifteen years, was arraigned in court on a very serious charge.

C. C. Williams was employed to defend him, becoming impressed with the young man. Mr. Williams became very much interested in the outcome of the case. Fredrick is an exceptionally bright boy and his recent appearance indicates that all that is necessary is the cultivation of those faculties with which he is abundantly blessed, to make him a man who would be an honor to his county or community. No one saw and realized this more readily than Mr. Williams, who is a splendid judge of human nature. In his argument before the jury he made a strong effort in the presentation of the facts in the case, but closed by saying to the jury that he could read in the countenance of Freddie, more than the judge could determine by stating that the jury did release the young man that he (Mr. Williams) would see that he was promptly placed in a good home and started to school. While the jury stood up for conviction for two years in the pen, to four for acquittal, the promise of Mr. Williams, counter to the promise of the young man, was seen that he was promptly placed in a good home and started to school. DEAD—Mrs. Mary Bethurum wife of Judge D. P. Bethurum, died Wednesday after only a few hours serious illness. Mrs. Bethurum had been in poor health for more than a year, at which time she suffered a light stroke of paralysis, but her physician and family believed that she was slowly recovering from its attack and the second attack which came Wednesday morning, resulting in her death a few hours later, came as a great shock to all.

Dr. Childress spent Wednesday night with his wife at Pine Hill. Miss Childress has been quite sick but is convalescent at this time, and will return to her home here Friday. Casser Adams is visiting friend Elmore at Knoxville, Tenn. Miss Myrtle Cheating entertained a party of her friends Friday evening in honor of Miss Anna Griffin of Jellico. Quite a large crowd was present and a very enjoyable evening was reported.

The Sunbeam Society met last Sunday evening at the Baptist church and decided to visit the famous "natural tunnel" near Livingston. Quite a number, twenty in all were present and all eager for the excursion. They were chaperoned by Mesdames Anderson and Miss Helen Singleton were in the party.

We have been informed by the authorities at the U. S. N. freight department that prior to March 2, when the local option laws as regards shipping liquor into a local option territory went into effect, 150 barrels of whiskey and 12 carloads of beer were shipped here. Figure out at retail prices, this amount of wet goods will mean $57,000 in stomach figures to the saloonist. This is for one quarter only, and for the whole year at the same rate would be $320,000. And with all this revenue to be spent for something else, it does not seem that the license is to be heavy upon the merchants will be very heavy burden.

THE DYING WORDS OF JAMES COCKRILL.

When he was murdered at Jackson, was introduced as evidence in the trial of William Britton at Lexington, on a charge of complicity in the assassination, to show a conspiracy. It was shown that Cockrill said: "My God, they've got me at last." Efforts were made to reflect on Floyd Byrd for the part he has played in the prosecution of the Breathitt county feud cases. Moses Felner was placed on the stand, but was withdrawn after a while.

Mr. S. L. Brown of Wayne, W. Va., writes: "I was a sufferer from kidney disease so that at times I could not get out of bed, and when I did I could not stand straight. THE OLD WORLD AND ITS DAYS.

This is the title of a new and wisely illustrated book by Col. William Jennings Bryan recalled. This noted journey around the world and through the tropics, which so widely heralded through the American Press.

The book is an illustrated and descriptive record of that entire journey, which is so memorable in our history. The journey embraced a period of a year, and comprehensively all the nations of the earth.

Col. Bryan traveled with camera and pencil, and not only described in brilliant phrases, what he saw, but further illustrated his journey by photographs. These photographs present a striking pictorial presentation and lend special interest to the book. They number 250 and they show in picture the world as he saw it. They constitute what may be strikingly called the "Lenses of the people of all countries" in their cities, towns and villages, in their homes and ever day occupations.

The book will interest every reader, especially a unique presentation of a wonderful interesting journey. It is sold only through solicitors.

ADJOINING COUNTIES. Suit has been filed at Williamsburg and Judge M. J. Moss made defendant to set aside the act passed by the Legislature creating a new judicial district known as the "Thirty-third." Whitley county was cut off from the Twenty-eighth and put in the Twenty-sixth. Under the last census the State is entitled to thirty-two districts and it has been claimed if a contest was made the act would not stand. It is the outgrowth, it is claimed, of the fight between the factions of the Republican party in that county.

A TWO CENT RATE.

Does Kentucky want a two-cent railroad rate? Does the best interest of the State demand such a rate? Is a question of vital importance confronting Kentuckians. The tendency toward a demagogic disturbance of the railroads would inevitably result in the injury of the commercial development of the State for which the city of Louisville and the citizens as a whole throughout the Commonwealth have been making such a noble effort to place where it properly belongs. Development is what Kentucky wants and without the cooperation of the railroads in opening up new territory, what advancement can we hope to make? Development of the rich resources will be worth a great deal more to the State than a "Whack at the rich railroad corporations."

SENATOR GEORGE T. FARRIS, of Lancaster, is a candidate for Representative of Garrard in the next Legislature. Senator Farris represented his district in the Senate during the troublesome times of seven years ago, a truer, more conservative man than he did not occupy a seat in the General Assembly and his sound advice was often sought on the grave and perplexing questions which arose during those times. If elected, which he evidently will be, Garrard will have one of the best Representatives in the next Assembly.

You may take the dullest and most prosaic town and erect within its borders a busy, thriving manufacturing institution, where large numbers of workmen are employed and a new life is at once imparted to the place. The dull monotony of the past gives way to the sound of the steam whistly and the clang of the shop. The streets no longer look deserted. People move with an active restlessness in strange contrast to the times when no manufacturing was carried on in their midst. The liveliest towns that we have in this country are those wholly devoted to manufacturing. The dreariest towns, where dry-rot is visible on ever hand, are those wherein no work shops are to be found. Manufacturing towns are not only more active, but as a rule they are prosperous, as well as being far more enterprising and affording better social and commercial advantages. The typical manufacturing towns are to be found in New England, in fact the Connecticut River may be said to be lined with them. It is invigorating to the mind, as well as to the sight to travel through these towns, which justly may be termed "the hives of industry." An air of thrift and enterprise is everywhere displayed. The proprietors of the industrial institutions, the tradesmen, the artisans and other citizens exhibit every outward indication of that contentment and happiness which arise from a prosperous condition. There is a reason for this—a social as well as a business reason. First, the presence of workshops and factories in the midst of a community is in itself a source of activity. These institutions drawing to them daily their scores and their hundreds of workmen, bring life and activity, not for a week, or a month, but as long as they are in operation. But in towns purely commercial, or in lazy, seaport towns where the bulk of the male portions of the population is at sea there is a too perceptible lack of life and animation. This can be better observed than described. But to one standing in a manufacturing town at the morning hour, at noon, or at night, when the workmen are wending their way to and from work, there need be little said to prove whence the vitality of the town arises.

The spirit of universal peace was breathed in New York Tuesday at three meetings addressed by educators and of world-wide prominence. At the afternoon meeting at Carnegie Hall, 5,000 young people responded to an invitation to a gathering organized for their benefit. That intelligence, knowledge and culture, are the things which the great institutions of learning should, and surely are contributed to the cause of general amity, was the consensus of opinion expressed in the speeches of the college presidents who addressed the gathering last night.

Fruit and early vegetation is having a hard time of it this year. The cold spell of last week, while quite severe, came when everything was exceedingly dry and best equipped to resist the frost. While cherries, peaches and other of the most tender fruit were doubtless considerably damaged it was thought that much of the crop had escaped. But this will not help us much now as we had a nother white frost Thursday morning with conditions favoring the destruction of all fruit which had escaped the former freeze. From the present indications the fruit crop in this state is about gone.

Coed in Lexington on Wednesday were three colored men, W. Titus of Berea, Prof. F. L. Williams, of Covington, and John C. Jackson, of Lexington, met and regarding themselves as a committee representing the colored people of Kentucky, passed the following resolutions: We, the colored people of Kentucky, regard the taking of Berea College from the negroes as a monumental theft, devised and perpetrated by the present College administration, of which Prof. W. G. Best is the head and front. We deplore that Berea College by reason of the provocation of its endowment, rightfully belongs to the colored people and we propose to investigate our rights and our position will be fully outlined at the proper time. They give out that they have engaged Judge A. R. Ingram, of Richmond, and Judge J. C. Achard of Boston, to insist in the Federal Court as well as the Supreme Court passes on the Day Law which forces the separation of the races.

The real work of the National Arbitration and Peace Conference began Monday at New York with Andrew Carnegie presiding over the meetings. During the day a paper was read from President Roosevelt and speeches were made by many men prominent in the affairs of America and of foreign nations. It was understood that Secretary Root voiced the sentiments of the President when he signed a note of warning that it appears to crown the efforts of those who are striving for justice as equally their endeavors must be of a practical character, and they cannot, by insisting upon the impossible, thereby put off the day when the possible may be accomplished.
