JUDGE JAMES HARRIS will shortly begin the publication of a weekly Democratic newspaper in Jackson to replace the recently destroyed Jackson Hustler. He has secured estimates from a Cincinnati type laundry and will equip a plant at a cost of $5,000. What the Judge will have to say about the papers and individuals throughout the State, who have wanted to see him get justice, will be a plenty.

Old citizens tell us that the present cold snap is "blackberry winter." Wonder what they call all these other winters we've been having all spring?

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, in Washington said he is watching the weather now with a great deal more solicitude than he is political warfare and says a few days of warm weather will mean millions of dollars in the pockets of the people of this country.

Gov. Beckham held a conference with several Louisville men regarding the appointment of officers for Louisville and three men were recommended by their friends Clarence Dallas was proposed for County Judge, J. J. Fitzgerald for City Judge and Dr. Pope for Health Officer.

M. O. Winfrey, nominee for Superintendent of Public Instruction on the Democratic ticket, was given a farewell reception in Midleboro, where he has been superintendent of schools for several years. Strong resolutions, complimenting and indorsing him, were adopted by the meeting.

John D. Carroll, recently appointed a member of the Court of Appeals, to succeed Judge Jas. Cantrell, has announced himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination to fill out the unexpired term of Judge Cantrell. It is said to be probable that he will have no opposition in the Fifth district.

THIRTEEN YEAR LOCUSTS.

This is the year of the visitation of the Southern thirteen-year brood of locusts and the Bureau of Entomology of the Department of Agriculture at Washington has issued a ircular designed to benefit the sections of the county which will suffer from it. The brood this year is the largest of its kind on record, the annals of the Government go back to 1803. Every time it has appeared since, a record of its migrations has been made, the last one in 1894. It is announced by the bureau that this year the brood will come in May and June, and the States in which it will make its appearance are throughout the Southern States East of Texas, except Florida, Northward in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, through Missouri to Southeastern Iowa, over most of Central and Southern Illinois, extreme Southwestern Indiana, Western Kentucky, and more or less of Tennessee with extensions across the Carolinas into Virginia.

On several occasions in the past when the brood has been studied carefully it has come in conjunction with some of the brood of the Northern seventeen-year race, and there has been some overlapping of territory. But this year, there will be no Northern or seventeen-year brood, so that it should be possible to clear up any uncertainty as to distribution.

The counties in Kentucky which will be visited by the locusts this spring are Carlisle, Graves, Lyon, McCracken and Marshall. In Tennessee the counties of Bedford, Blount, Cocke, Davidson, Gibson, Giles, Greene, Hamilton, Hamilton, Hickman, Jefferson, Knox, Lawrence, McMinn, Marion, Monroe, Montgomery, Rutherford, Sevier, Stewart, Wayne, Williamson and Wilson.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—Justice John M. Harlan, one of the associate Justices of the United States Supreme Court, enters upon his seventy-fifth year to-day. He was appointed from Kentucky and has been on the supreme bench thirty years, or eleven years longer than Chief Justice Fuller, who comes next in point of service. Justice Harlan is seemingly as full of health as the best of men and though he has been eligible to retirement for several years he apparently entertains no idea of quitting the bench at any very early date. A change in administration is probably about the only thing that might bring about his retirement from the bench. He is a Republican and a pretty strong party man, and should the Democrats win next year he would probably give President Roosevelt the privilege of appointing his successor.

Chief Justice. O'Rear, of the Court of Appeals, the other judge sitting within, Tuesday afternoon heard a motion and argument to dissolve a writ of mandamus granted by Circuit Judge Frank Foster of the Anderson Circuit Court, to require County Judge Shelby of Anderson, to give the citizens of Lawrenceburg a separate election recently ordered for the entire county.

The Chief Justice rendered immediate decision upon the motion, sustaining the ruling of Judge Foster. The motion was argued by T. W. McKee, L. H. Carter and Wm. H. Morgan of Lawrenceburg. The County Judge will now have to rearrange the call for the election and give the town of Lawrenceburg a separate election on the same day the county votes upon the question of the sale of liquor. The ruling of the court follows the recent decision which the highest court held that where the city asks for it, it is entitled to hold separate elections.

Two Louisville and four Lexington national banks have filed suits at Frankfort asking an injunction restraining the State Board of Valuation and Assessment from making permanent the assessments made against them. The suits are based on the recent decision of the Supreme Court.

The Lancaster Record says: Every man, woman and child in Lancaster and Garrard county has cause for rejoicing and being exceedingly glad. The necessary money has been raised and a magnificent up-to-date hotel will be erected at once. It was a hard struggle, but energy and public spirit won. The hotel will be erected on the old site, covering all the ground formerly occupied by both hotel and opera house, thus making a magnificent roomy and convenient hotel. Attorney R. H. Tomlinson, Lewis L. Walker and J. E. Rodin so were appointed a committee at last night's meeting, to draw titles of incorporation, and other committees appointed to select name and attend to other matters necessary. This will be arranged at to-night's meeting, and in the next issue of The Record you will read of the final plans. All honor to Lancaster's public spirited citizens. We're out of the woods, so let's give three cheers and a tiger.

What to do in Dyspepsia

Medicating has become a great fad in America, and just as many years ago, we, as a nation, over-sat, so now we are under-sat. The one is as bad as the other. We must have food and plenty of it to sustain life and to give strength to compete in this busy world.

It is not, however, the fact that you eat that you don't digest what you eat, that troubles in dyspepsia you will not get rid of by eating more food and more food means more trouble. The only way to get rid of these troubles is by eating less food and more of a certain kind of food. This food is called Castoria.

It is not only because of its reliable nature that it is so highly recommended, but because it is so easy to take. The very impurities in the food that cause the trouble are broken down by the action of the medicine, and the food is made so soft and so easy to digest that it is almost impossible to do what we call it. It is not only so easy to take, but it is so pleasant to take that it is almost impossible to do what we call it.

We call attention to our advertisements and urge upon our readers the importance of reading the advertisements each week. It only takes a few moments and in nine cases out of ten you will always find quoted the very thing you want and many times at a reduced price.

Money should be kept in a bank and the merchant who advertises, pushes his business instead of letting his business pass him, is the man who is always looking out for bargains for his customers. Advertising is a three-handed affair; it pays the merchant, it pays the newspaper and it pays the buying public, who trade with those who advertise.

Over in Winchester the merchants have organized a Protective Association which includes most of the prominent business men of the city. Its principal object is to avoid bad debts, and to limit the extensive and much abused credit system, so long in vogue. Each member will be furnished each week with a list of citizens who are slow paying, or who try to avoid payment of their debt at all.

The Italian and entered Chamber's home during the absence of himself and family, taking possession of everything in the house, even going to sleep on the bed without removing his muddy shoes or clothing. If the reports are given to us we are sure most anyone having the same experience would have the same done as did Mr. Chasterton and many would have made more certain their aim.

Priority in the invention of not only gun powder, but also of the art of printing is attributed to the Chinese. According to Du Haiden and the Jesuit missionaries printing was practiced in China nearly fifty years before the Christian era. Books in the Celestial Empire were made out of slips of bamboo 500 years B. C.; in 150 A. D. paper was first made; by 745 books were bound into leaves; and in 909, when Europe was just emerging from the dark ages printing was in general use among the Chinese.

Any worms have done great damage to crops in Western Kentucky, and according to reports received at the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture, the destructive pests have made their appearance in Central Kentucky.

In a report issued by the Department of Agriculture it is shown that the cotton production in the United States, made on June 4, 1916, was too low and that the area planted in 1906 was about 31,000,000 acres.

"There will be no scarcity of hogs at any time during the coming summer," said George Pratt, chief buyer for Armour of Chicago. The country is still long on big hogs of the winter crop and by the time their are cleaned up the summer run of grass widows will be due. Spring litters will be weaned and the sows fattened and marketed at all possible speed because prices justify it. The money hog growers are now taking down is the glittering variety and they say they think their stars that the public is eating pork and able to pay for it. I do not look for cheap hogs at any time but outside light stuff it is useless to talk of 7 cent markets because the grower is stocked up with enough hogs to make such a price possible.

C. L. Ryley this week purchased from Cugar & Co. of Midway, R. A. Todd, of Wilmore, J. P. Horne & Co. of Nicholasville, C. S. Williams, Joan B. The lot sold to 9 cents. They were purchased in Boyle and Lincoln counties—Dapville Advocate.

In his instructions to the grand jury at Hopkinsville, Judge T. J. Cook directed a close and careful investigation to the lawlessness in incident to the tobacco war in Western Kentucky, and told the jury it must return indictments if the evidence justified no matter who was found to be guilty. Judge Cook denounced the use of force in the fight against the tobacco trust and said if anyone could make right anarchy would soon prevail.

ADJOINING COUNTIES A special from London says: "The jury brought in a verdict of ten years in the State penitentiary against Dr. C. L. Troutman, who has been on trial here for several days in the Circuit Court, on a charge of having criminal relations with Miss Nola Adams, a girl under ten years of age. Dr. Troutman is a prominent physician of East Bernstadt, this county. While the Adams girl also lived, Miss Adams forced an entrance through a window into Dr. Troutman's room during his absence, some time ago, and after taking a large quantity of a poisonous drug with suicidal intent, died instantly. The girl came to London the day before she took her life in Troutman's office and made an affidavit against him which caused his arrest and started the prosecution against him. Some of the ablest counsel in this part of the State were employed and a hard legal fight was made for him, and because of the prominence of the parties the case has attracted a great deal of attention."

On the night of May 28th, 1907 the little spirit of Beulah, Berta took its flight to a brighter and better world. Another one of earth's choicest flowers has been taken and transplanted in Heaven to bloom forevermore.—She was a child of unusually bright mind and a favorite with everyone, being the youngest child of the beloved parents. Her loss is deeply felt, and the whole community extend to them their heart-felt sympathy. All that medical power, care and attention of friends and parents was of no avail; God in his infinite love and tender mercy saw cause to remove her to a far happier home where no sorrow can come. Her little hands are now folded in silent sleep, and she has bid earthly pleasures an eternal good-bye. Death when it summons the aged is sad, but doubly so indeed it is when it calls for the pure and innocent bud of childhood. May the father and mother feel that the loss of their Darling is only a shining light ever calling them to home. Oh weep no more for Beulah the angles now shield her from all harm. ### BREAD-WINNING OCCUPATION OF SOME WOMEN.

Washington, May 27.—The variety of occupations in which women may make themselves useful is probably not appreciated by many who lead the sheltered life.

A census report, just published discloses the rather surprising fact that women, according to the list count made, are engaged in gainful occupations as motor-men, two being reported, so employed, as pilots, five being in that profession; and as baggage-men on steam railroads, ten reporting themselves in the baggage-smashing business. In other lines supposed to be monopolized by men it is found that there are thirty-one women brakemen, seven conductors of street cars, forty-five engineers and firemen, twenty-six switchmen, yardmen and flagmen, forty-three back drivers, six ship carpenters, two roofers and slaters, 183 blacksmiths, 358 machinists, eight boiler-makers, thirty-two charral cutters and line burners, and eleven welders.

Women are employed in 303 bread-winning occupations, of which domestic service embraces the largest number of the 4,833-630 women in Continental United States engaged in gainful occupations in 7,046 one-fourth or 22.33 per cent of the women. The next most important occupation for woman is that of farm-laborer, no less than 456,045 women are following this occupation. These figures will be better understood when it is added that most of these farm laborers—98 per cent of them are reported from the Southern States. This also shows that 277,727 of the women laborers are members of farmers' families, the wives and grown-up daughters assisting in the farm work.

Three-fifths of the total number of women reported as bread winners were found in the more important household occupations, dressmakers, teachers, laundresses, servants, farm laborers and farmers' wives. After domestic service and farm laborers, the most important numerically and the dressmakers, it has been reported, 184,444 women in this occupation. As independent farmers, 307,706 were employed.

The total number of women reported as textile mill operatives is 231,456 or one-seventh of the total number of women employed. There were 147,465 women employed as saleswomen and 138,724 women employed as seamstresses. Of teachers there were 327,206 and of laundresses 328,935.

The figures of the census might be interpreted as showing that the greater independence of women, as independence of women, as indicated in their increasing employment in gainful occupations contributes to the popular institution known as divorce. Of the number of divorced women reported by the census, more than half were found to be supporting themselves by their own earnings.

The total number of women six years of age and over in Continental United States when the census was taken was 23,485,559. A little over one fifth of this number were at work in gainful occupations.
