A BEAUTIFUL PICTURE.
There is no more suggestive or beautiful sight to our eyes than that of a sturdy, manly man, who, notwithstanding and lovingly to gether have walked the rugged way of life from youth to old age, a d a w hand and hand, and heartily, are patiently and heartily waiting upon the nether shore of life, for the sound of the boatman's oar to be borne across the river. We look back along the dim vista of years to the halcyon time of life's sunny morning, we witness their plighted vows at the altar, and see them go forth in the pride of life and the glory of their youth, wedded lives to the struggles of existence. Many a Godspeed and kind word of cheer fall upon their ears as they go out from beneath the parental roof-tree, that is to shelter them no more forever. Before them lies a new world of experiences, of joy and sorrows, of grand successes, and perhaps of sad failures. But strong, of purpose, and resolute of will, and with their eyes rosy tinted with the flush of dawn, they move on, and enter upon this to them all unexplored world of experiences. We see them all unexplored world of experiences. We see them settled in their new home. Perhaps it is a log cabin in the wilderness, with neighbors few and far, or may be a cozy little cottage in some distant town. The husband is bravely bending every energy to the task of mastering the hard conditions of life, and a home and a name in the world, and securing if possible the best of existence. That shall relieve them from the possibility of want. To the wife's rosy cheek has come the pallor of the dreadful agonies of maternity, but now her eyes are bright with a new hope, as she caresses the tiny form that nestles in her bosom. And then comes the day of care and heartaches, as the years glide away. We see them with weary eyes and pleading lips, bending over the couch of their darling, as its little life flutters away to the short gasps of dyspnea, and its eyes grow dim under the touch of death's icy fingers. But in the time of their sorrow, when into their wretched hearts, and the bitter trial and loss which they thought they never could endure, fades away into a tender memory. Again we behold them, as in the long ago they went forth into the world, now their own noble sons and daughters, who, with the unswerving problems and duties, and responsibilities of life, following their footsteps, and their name is left unto them; separate, yet in the companionship of their own souls. Well for them if they have within themselves the creative force of culture and character, that shall supply their dearest need; well for them if schooled in that beautiful philosophy that enabled St. Paul to say: "I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I keep the faith," they too can feel in their souls that they have done the best they knew, and that no other glory will rest the good Father for all that is to come. The shadow stretch away in lengthening lines toward the east, and now they are calmly watching the glories of the coming sunset of a well spent life. How grand they seem in the quiet of their years, with their silvered hair glowing in the sun's golden gleam. Their faces are radiant with a divine hope that bequeathed the bars of the shining west, the beckoning arms of their loved ones are outstretching toward them to welcome them to their home of eternal rest and love; and that in a few more days, or years, at the most, they will pass as one party with the burden of the day's gathering, the drapery of his couch about him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

MULE VS. THE FARMER.
The mule is stronger than the man. Though the mule is stronger than the man, the man manages the mule for his own purposes. He puts a bridle on him, and a saddle, and rides on his back. He puts harness made of leather on the mule and by speaking to him in plenty of licks, he induces him to work just as a wagon while he manages into the wagon and rids. The mule does much hard work, but all the money gained by the mule's hard work the man appropriates to himself. The mule lives roughly, is fed in a trough and sleeps on the ground on a pile of straw. The man sits at a table and sleeps in a warm bed. The mule is a useful animal to the man.
The farmer is stronger than the monopolist. Though the farmer is stronger than the monopolist, the monopolist manages him for his own purposes. He puts a bridle called loyalty to party, in his mouth, a saddle on his back, and a rids him where he will. He puts harness made of prejudice on the farmer, and by making speeches to him, and giving him plenty of dray induce him to work and draw a monopolist's carriage.
The farmer does much hard work, but the money gained by the farmer's work the monopolist appropriates to himself. The farmer has become poor and lives roughly on a mortgaged farm, and eats plain food from dull and tin plates, and sleeps on a bed of straw. The farmer is very careful of the monopolist.
Moral: Those who do not use their brains for themselves must use their muscles for somebody else.

WHAT WE ARE OR ARE NOT.

The longer we live, the more we learn, and the more we learn, the less we think we know.

He imagines that a gaping and wondering populace are gazing on him with open-mouthed wonder and incredulous astonishment, and that he holds the world in the hollow of his hand with a grasp that is perpetual.

But as days, and months, and years pass by in rapid succession, the young man finds out that he is possibly mistaken and if he should wonder a way and get lost some one or more of all the people on the earth would not miss him.

It is more pleasant to be invited to take a higher seat than to be deprived of it. It is more pleasant to be king of a cotage than servant of a palace.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS.

Kentucky, which has always been a Democratic State except from 1895 to 1900, was the first State in the South to establish a system of free schools maintained by the State.

The per capita for Common Schools this year is $3.49, and the amount to be expended on public education is $2,600,000.00, the largest per capita since Kentucky was admitted into the Union, and the greatest amount expended for public education by any of the States of the Union except four.

70 per cent. of the negroes of Kentucky were illiterate in 1880. In 1900, only 40 per cent. were illiterate. Of the white population, 21.8 per cent. were illiterate in 1880, while only 12.7 per cent. were illiterate in 1900.

We challenge those who are, for political reasons, claiming that Kentucky spends more money for public education and receive poorer results from it than any other State in the Union, to compare the above statistics with that of any other State in the Union, and then to reassert that only an unjust fiction upon the work of our public-school teachers.

There are in Kentucky, nearly quarter of a million negroes, who pay little of the taxes, yet get the same educational advantages as the white people. There are among these negroes 74,728 voters.

The Black Hundreds of Oklahoma are continuing their attacks on the Jewish population, and the authorities are making no effort to check the lawlessness.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

We are authorized to announce G. T. JOHNSON as a candidate for County Court Clerk, subject to the action of the Republican party.
 We are authorized to announce W. H. Lewis as a candidate for County Court Clerk, subject to the action of the Republican party.

The coming election is fraught with unusual interest and importance to the friends of education in Kentucky, especially those who are engaged from day to day in the public schools, in the public work that human minds have been entrusted with. Not at any time in the history of the State of Kentucky has there been such a wide spread sentiment among the people in favor of education, and keeping the schools of Kentucky abreast with the best thought of the best State of the Union. Never has a political party in any State given such prompt and satisfactory response to that sentiment as has the Democratic party of the State of Kentucky. Through the passage of several laws looking to the advancement of the cause of education and to the elevation of that great profession, teaching the Democratic party demonstrates its belief that the future growth and development of this great Commonwealth depends largely upon the education and training of the youth in the public schools. As Judge Hager, the Democratic nominee candidate for Governor, said in the opening speech of his campaign, "Hand and hand with the development of our State must go the education of our sons and daughters. There is no other set of men and women united in a single purpose who can or do render to the State better or greater service than do the self-sacrificing school teachers of our Commonwealth."

While the true teacher will not allow politics to invade his school room, nor enter in any degree whatever in his schoolwork, outside the schoolroom, he should make his convictions felt, especially in matters pertaining to education and economics, and to the policy being pursued by the officials and lawmakers of his State. He should not hesitate to make his position clear, for he is the leader of thought in the community. The teacher owes to that community to be conversant with all that is going on in a public way, and to bring some salient facts home to all is the purpose of this article.

This habit of indulging in the use of profane or obscene language is one of the most offensive habits a human being ever acquired. No man or young man should allow himself in the estimation of society to be sinner by the use of foul language. Purity of thought and speech are valuable virtues. And yet, it is our honest opinion that the man who unwittingly "uses" a little more and then is not half so big a sinner as the fellow who continually thinks evil and speaks evil of his neighbors, and refuses to pay his honest debts upon the theory that "Jesse" paid it all, the debt is "one." If the preachers of the land would "go after" the fellows who refuse to pay his honest debts and to love their wives and their fellow men—"go after" them as vigorously as they go after the fellows who "cuss and chew tobacco," the true reformation of the race might be nearer at hand.

The Jamestown Exposition is to close on the 31st of October. It has been a financial fizzle from the beginning. The U. S. Treasury advanced an appropriation of $1,000,000, of which stipendial staff only $100,000 has been paid back by the managers. The Treasury Department is considerable disturbed regarding the difficulty it will have in getting back the $900,000 due it, and there seems to be no earthly way to recover it. As a consequence, from a financial standpoint, at least, the Jamestown affair will be the greatest failure of all the Expositions.

There is not enough joy in this struggling world. So few people have time for it, but children, happy children, who are brought up in sympathetic atmosphere, in the intimate leisure that is theirs, have an immense capacity for joy. How can we deny ourselves that enriching spectacle—a joyous child? The capacity for joy is one of the highest of the human faculties, and it is grossly neglected. We walk too sturd with our feet in graves. Let us laugh with the children and be young.

SIMPLE HOME RECIPE.

Get from any prescription pharmacist the following: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Kargon one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take a spoonful dose after each meal and at bedtime.

The above is considered by an eminent author who writes in a New York daily paper, as the finest prescription ever written to relieve Backache, Kidney Trouble, Weak bladder and all forms of Urinary difficulties. This mixture acts promptly on the eliminative tissues of the kidneys, enabling them to discharge the uric acid and other waste matter from the blood which causes Rheumatism.

Some persons who suffer with rheumatism may not feel inclined to place much confidence in this simple mixture, yet those who have tried it say the results are simply surprising. It is a trial to the stomach or other organs. It fixes some and gives it trial. It certainly comes highly recommended. It is the prescription of an eminent physician, whose entire reputation, it is said, was established by it.

A druggist here at home when asked stated that he could either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription for our readers, also recommends it as harmless.

Eighteen defendants, who were formerly officials of insurance companies, were expected to appear in the Criminal Courts in New York Monday to answer to sixty-one indictments growing out of the life insurance investigation. Bluffs, formerly vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, who was indicted for larceny and perjury.

In reversing the decision of the Back Creek Court, fixing the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railway Company for transporting liquor into a local option territory, the Court of Appeals held that it was not within the province of the State to regulate or control interstate commerce, the liquor in question, having been shipped from Cincinnati. The court adds that the fact the liquor question was brought from Kentucky to Cincinnati by the Cincinnati, the Covington Brewing Company, and there shipped to the consignee in Kentucky, did not in anywise change the legal complexion of the transaction from one of legitimate interstate commerce. It is immaterial whether the company carrier knew, or did not know that the commodity, was liquor of that Boyle county was local option territory.

The postponement of the opening of the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' Association at Lexington for one day caused a disappointment to many visitors. Heavy rains had rendered the track unruny for racing. Tuesday's discussion at the international cotton growers and spinners' conference developed the sentiment that the cotton growers of the south will sell their product direct to the spinners of Europe and America.

"The Mt. Vernon gun club is making a very poor record just now, shooting at the "blue ricks," but they live in hopes of improving with time.

The school election held here last Saturday reached almost a fever heat before it was over. U. G. Baker and S. B. Ramsey were the successful candidates.

The advertisement now running in some of the papers, of a Cincinnati telegraph school, stating that persons could qualify themselves to fill positions of telegraphy in from three to four months, is simply rot. Most learners after a years hard study and work have simply got fairly started on the road toward making an operator while of course they should be able in that time to do ordinary office work. They that $60 to $80 per month is a delusion and a snare.

Rev. Walter Brock, who has been attending school in Louisville for some time, and who was formerly pastor of the London Baptist church, has been called to take care of the home flock again and is expected to preach his first sermon next Sunday. We congratulate the church here on securing the services of such an able divine and splendid gentleman.—London Local.

Good schools, good churches and good roads are a grand thing to have in a community. In order to have these things people must be educated to take pride in all these things. Home paper can, and will do most to encourage all of these things than any other agency. The school children read with pleasure the home happenings, and as they grow up become interested and make useful citizens. Give the children the home paper to read. It costs you but a trifle.

FOR SALE:—Complete set blacksmith and wagon makers tools, including patent tenon machine, tire sander, shrinker, post drill etc. A bargain for cash.

R. K. POWELL, Mt. Vernon, Ky.

Having sold my stock of goods at Orlando, all parties owing accounts to me, must call and settle same at once, either by cash or job. I must wind up the business and you will do me a great favor by responding promptly to this call.

J. A. Wood, Orlando Ky.

Mr. H. S. Brannaman, of Wildie has gathered so far, 4129, tomatoes from six vines of his tomatto called "Nogget." The largest bunch yet taken from one vine 864, and there are more than 200 more green ones on the same vine. A premium of $25 in gold is offered to the one raising the largest number, and Mr. Brannaman is sure he will be the winner.

"Who is that? Guess? I don't know, who is it? Well guess who," etc., etc. Spuch talk over a telephone line is a positive nuisance, and if the parties only knew, they often delay business and hold back urgent messages for doctors etc, while they are simply exchanging fish questions instead of getting through with their talk by a sensible way, they dawdle along holding the line to the annoyance of perhaps someone who is anxiously waiting to get the line for urgent and important purposes. When you get a answer to your call, tell at once WHO and WHERE you are then ask if the party at other end of the line is the party you wanted—selling their name etc. Stop the rattling business etc.

When you ask your neighbor what kind of a buggy that is, he will tell you it is a Fisher buggy.

The improvements in Mt. Vernon still goes on, and to us it seems that every citizen in the town should be delighted with the splendid work, the board of trustees are doing.

BASE BALL:—There will be three games of base ball played on the Mt. Vernon grounds next Monday. In the forenoon, Mt. Vernon will play Livingston; in the afternoon Mt. Vernon will play London, and London will play Livingston. Don't fail to see, which will be the last games of the season, and which will be the best ball played on the Mt. Vernon grounds at any time this year.

"What has become of the new Bank and Trust Company?" is a question asked many times a day on the streets of Somerset. The stock has all been subscribed according to those who have been interested in the matter, but it seems as if the organization has never been perfected.

Mr. H. Hutcheson, who since he is in the interest of the new concern, and who has spoken of as cashier, has been away for nearly a month. The promoters say it will be launched in the near future and the delay is only of short duration pending some matters that must be fixed before they proceed farther. There is a movement on foot to establish a $100,000 State Bank and Trust Company at Danville and it is said that enough stock has been subscribed to insure its being a good report from that place yesterday from excellent authority, says Mr. J. W. Hutcheson, who was engineering the scheme here, is working the Danville proposition also in connection with B. T. Head, the well known financier of Lexington. Has Mr. Hutcheson dropped the Somerset proposition? Somerset Journalist. Mr. H. H. Hutcheson, who is to be the cashier of the new Somerset Bank, is here this week in charge of the Peoples Bank and says that the matter has not dropped at all, but on account of sickness and other pressing business matters, it has been necessary to delay the completion of the institution for a short time.
