Man has been attending horse races for thousands of years and will probably continue to do so centuries after the automobiles shall have been succeeded by some other invention. The horseless age will never appear if its coming is dependent on the automobile or any other inanimate invention supplanting the horse in the affection of the people. The beauty of his limbs, his arched neck and quivering nostrils, his haughty movements, all appeal to the eye to day even as they did thousands of years ago. Men with sufficient funds to gratify their pleasures will continue to pay fabulous prices for horses until the end of time.

Filting the air to be breathe in the public school buildings is one of the latest experiments in St. Louis, and is said to result in greater mental alertness and activity in the pupils. The suggestion has been advanced that the text-book in use be filtered, not for the reason that mental activity is wanted in tackling the trash with which it is more a rhythmic and grammar publishers have flooded the country. There is no doubt need for reform in many books now in the schools.

MAKE IT YOURSELF.

There is so much Rheumatism here in our neighborhood now that the following advice by an eminent authority, who writes for readers of a large Eastern daily paper, will be highly appreciated by those who suffer.

Get from any good pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Bardon, one ounce Compound Kargin; three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Shake these in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bed time also drink plenty of good water.

It is claimed that there are few victims of this dread and torturous disease who will fail to find ready relief in this simple home-made mixture, and in most cases permanent cures is the result.

This simple recipe is said to strengthen and cleanse the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys so that they can filter and strain from the blood and system the poisonous and waste matter, which cause not only Rheumatism, but numerous other diseases. Every man or woman here who feels that their kidneys are not healthy and active, or who suffers from any urinary trouble whatever, should not hesitate to make up this mixture. It is certain to do much good, and may save you from much misery and suffering after while.

Our home druggists say they will either supply the ingredients or mix the prescription ready to take if our readers ask them.

During the 1904 session of the General Assembly of Kentucky on February 26, I, then being a member of the Senate, prepared a resolution of investigation which was introduced by Senator George.

As a resolution was filed on pages 187 and 688 of the Senate Journal of 1904. The resolution proposed that a committee of five be appointed with full power and authority to investigate certain charges made against members of the Senate in the Louisville Herald of date February 10, 1904.

This resolution was adopted and the following Senators were appointed on the committee of investigation, namely: Senators George, Campbell, Boyles, Cox and myself. (Senator Cox being the present nominee of the Republican party for Lieutenant Governor.)

The article which caused this investigation, in substance charged that attempts had been made to induce certain whiskey and tobacco men in Louisville to send to Frankfort money for the purpose of influencing the Legislature upon certain subjects affecting the liquor and tobacco interests. When the committee organized I was requested to conduct the examination of such witnesses as were summoned to appear before it. This I did. Quite a number of witnesses were examined, among them R. K. Smith, at that time connected with the Continental Tobacco Company. I believe my report in this State on the 13 of March 1904, this committee made its report to the Senate, which report will be found on pages 1183 and 1187 inclusive, of Senate Journal for 1904. This report was a unanimous one and signed by every member of the committee, of course including Senator Cox. The report fully exonerated my members of the General Assembly and in several places condemned the Louisville Herald for making the charges and then for spitting away its witness (as reporter of the Herald) who wrote the article which caused the investigation and who appeared to be the only person who claimed to have any knowledge of the facts. The report claimed the following: "The record of this case shows a willful and deliberate attempt on the part of the Louisville Herald to circulate broadcast articles which would be injurious to the American Tobacco Company, which charge an alleged suspicion, bring a defamation of the name of the members of its family and their refuse in any manner to substantiate the charge, and in every respect in the way of the committee in its efforts to make a thorough investigation. Such a conduct upon the part of a newspaper or any person, should be condemned by every decent and fair man."

When the committee made its report it was received by the Senate and filed. There was no request made to publish the testimony by any member of the Senate, Democrat or Republican. The committee turned over the transcript of the testimony to me and I have it in my possession. I would gladly permit this testimony or any portion of it to be published, except to the fact that as the Senate did not order its publication, and the committee placed the transcript in my possession to hold, I do not feel I am authorized to publish any part of this testimony except by order of the Senate, and for this reason must decline to publish any portion thereof.

In the Evening Post of Tuesday, Oct. 29, 1907, in an article headed "Hager's Demand of $15,000," it is stated that "The body of the article is the following purporting to be a long, disconcerting telephone message from Sen. W. H. Cox: 'Senator W. H. Cox was asked over the 'big dinner table' for his statement of the investigation mentioned and during the course of it Mr. Smith did not give the statement under oath that the American Tobacco Company had contributed $15,000 to the Democratic campaign fund. I think now in possession of Senator Carroll'."

I have the highest respect for Senator Cox, both in his official capacity and personally, and absolute confidence in his honesty, but Senator Cox is mistaken as evidenced by his statement as contained in the Evening Post. Mr. Smith did not testify before the Committee in direct or indirect or otherwise that the American Tobacco Company had contributed $15,000 to the Democratic campaign fund. He did not testify before the Committee under oath or otherwise that my amount had been contributed by the American Tobacco Company to the campaign fund or by any tobacco company. He did not directly or indirectly state that any money had been contributed to the Democratic campaign fund by any tobacco company, corporation or individual, and whatever information Senator Cox may have on this subject he derived it from other sources than the testimony of Mr. R. K. Smith. There is nothing in the testimony of R. K. Smith which would induce any reasonable person to conclude that such contribution had been made and there is nothing in the testimony of Mr. R. K. Smith or of any witness who testified before this Committee, which directly or indirectly implicates or connects Mr. buggie.

Miller, the handy man writes from Bluffton, Ind., that he is very comfortable located and well pleased with his new location. He closes by saying "Let the Signal know I can't do without it."

The Bowman (better known as Daniel Boone) living on the Joplin place has come over this "Carter had cats," at least is so thick in one field that it would be difficult for a rabbit to run between them. Looks like he had rented out the ground to his neighbors for shocking purposes. A. B. Furnish, assistant cashier of Bank of Mt. Vernon, is back from Washington and Jameson Expo. While taking a side trip on one of the big steamers Mr. F. saw the operator of wireless telegraph station on the vessel receive a message a few minutes after the wreck occurred on C. SCHOOL TEACHER WANTED

A position for a young lady school teacher with some experience, is now open. The school is private and is controlled by a coal mining company. For further particulars, address this paper.

The Brown Memorial school succeeds as it never has before. As it will soon be time for the public school teachers to decide upon some school to attend during the winter and spring months, we would say to them remember the Brown Memorial before you make any positive arrangements.

The Coal question is not a burning one simply because we haven't got it to burn and the prospect of getting a winter supply for many of our citizens is not bright at all for the reason that our pits can be seen from local banks and the big mines south of us claim their entire output is sold.

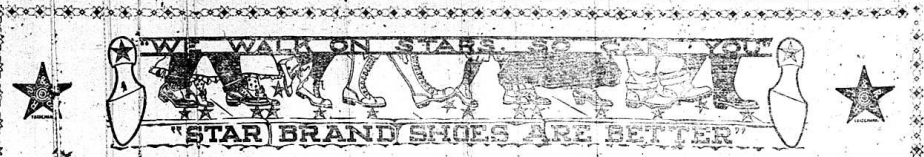

There has been a general shift in real estate in Mt. Vernon this week. Marshal Smith sold his property on Main street to F. R. Asher, and in turn bought Mr. Asher's property, known as the Dr. Pennington property, which Mr. Smith again sold to Mrs. Albre Fite. Mr. Smith talks of locating in Pine Hill.

W. H. Dewis, whose announcement has been running for some time as a candidate for County Clerk, authorizing us to publish the announcement and to his friends who graciously tendered their support that he appreciates the same, and is very thankful to each and every one. Mr. Lewis will go to Birmingham and again enter the railroad business.

Mr. Willis Griffin, aged 75, died very suddenly at his home in our little city Wednesday. The baria took place yesterday afternoon in Episcopal cemetery after short services conducted at his home. The Masonic order of which he had long since been a member officiated at the burial. As time and space will not permit of a full and complete write up this week we will in our next issue give a brief history of his life.

The sudden and untimely death of J. W. Renner, which occurred at his home near Posen, this county, on Saturday, is deeply mourned by his many friends throughout this county. "Little Joe" as he was always designated was one of the county's best, and most upright citizens and could claim many warm friends wherever known.

For several days he had been suffering from what he thought was a cold, but continued to go about his business. On Saturday morning he had been at work as usual, although he was feeling very badly, and it was during the noon hour that he was seized with a congestive chill which lasted one hour followed by a temperature which ran exceedingly high. At 3 o'clock p. m. he breathed his last, just five hours after he was taken. He leaves a young wife who was Miss Bradley, daughter of Mr. A. M. Bradley. The burial took place Sunday at the family burying ground.

WAY BACK IN THE 70'S.

Courier-Journal recently, in its news columns, devoted considerable space to the declarations of Miss Phebe Cousins as to prohibition, which are in accord with those of Henry Watterson. Her former coupled with Mr. Watterson's recalls a chivalrous act on his part. In 1876 he was the Presiding officer of the Nation at Democratic Convention, which nominated Samuel J. Tilden. Having in charge a memorial of the Woman's Association of Missouri, Miss Cousins desired to be heard before that body. There was manifested impatience at the request, and when put to the Convention by its chairman a storm of opposition broke. Being then young and beautiful of person, Mr. Watterson had her escorted to the stage, announcing the effect of attractive clothing worn upon an audience of men, though cold blooded politicians. Her prepossessing appearance at once had its effect. As she was in the act of beginning her speech one and obstreperous delegate showed that he rose to a point of order. As quiet as a fish and as happy in ways, replied, Mr. Watterson said: 'The gentleman will make in a moment a point of order when a lady has the floor.' This completely squelched the disturber, and Miss Cousins had a respectful and attentive hearing.

In this laughing, money-getting, aggressive age there is a disposition to shave off some of the rough places and smooth the rough edges. As an evidence of a high civilization and a test of sterling manhood, civilized being toward woman will always rank first. Let us hope and believe Miss Cousins is a middle-aged woman now. She has changed some of her opinions since then. That it is safe to say she will never forget that glorious summer day way back in 1876. Knoxville Schmitt.

Great assistance in relieving the financial stringency is expected to result from the large engagement of gold for importation from the United States. It is believed that the next few weeks. The movement of American goods to European markets, together with the revival of a demand for foreign goods, will give the United States large credits with foreign banks, and these can be availed of in bringing in gold, it is confidently believed, to the fullest extent that may be necessary.

Female Weakness

'Last Fall,' writes Mrs. S. G. Bailey, of Tun-nelton, W. Va., 'I was going down by inches, from female disease, with great pain. After taking Cardui, Oh! My! How I was benefited! I am not well yet, but so much better that I will keep on taking Wine of Cardui till I am perfectly cured.' Despite the envious attacks of jealous enemies and rivals, Cardui still holds supreme position today [as in the past 70 years] for the relief and cure of female diseases. It stops pain, tones up the organs, regulates the functions, and aids in the replacement of a misplaced organ.

DOWN ON ADAMS.

In furtherance of the purpose of a large number of Pulaski Republicans to discredit Napier Adams, Chairman of the Pulaski Republican Committee, and nominee for Clerk of Circuit of Appeals, sixteen prominent Republicans joined in a card to Republicans of the county, denouncing Adams as unworthy of support, charging him with the commission of fraud and trickery and endorsing the position of the Somerset Republican in reference to his candidacy and calling upon old soldiers and Republicans generally to "let catch" him. These signatures appear to the appeal as follows:

T. Z. McEwen, James Denton, Walter Elrod, Lincoln Denton, Simpson Phelps, E. M. Forch, T. F. Noe, A. Coleman, J. C. Parker, J. J. Paine, T. M. Scott, N. L. Barnett, J. J. L. Jasper, Clark Moor, H. H. Smith, J. P. Randall.

It is reported that a similar appeal is in preparation with several hundred signatures attached.—Somerset Journal.

The people of Kentucky must continue to work to the Democratic party for all laws and reforms. It is the duty of each and the responsible party to legislate, and it is willing to stand on its record, which is a brilliant one. No party with such a long record of service ever made so few mistakes as the Democratic party has made in Kentucky. Any party with the responsibility of power and legislation is subject to more or less criticism (especially from the outs who want to get in), but the Democratic party's record in Kentucky for the past eight years has been one of which any party might well be proud. Its administration of economic affairs, its conduct of State debt, created chiefly under a Republican administration, its steady building up of an excellent and rapidly improving school system, its giving the public school teachers the highest per capita ever known before and its building a magnificent $1,500,000 State Capitol are but some of the many great benefits of our people owe to the splendid Democratic administration to its great credit!

HE FOUGHT AT GETTYSBURG.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. V., who fought at Gettysburg, writes: "Electric bitters have done me more good than any medicine I ever took. For several years I had stomach trouble, and paid out much money for medicine to little purpose, until I began taking Electric Bitters. I would not take $500 for what they have done for me." Grand tonic for the aged and for female weakness. Great alternative and body builder; best of all for lame back and weak kidneys. Guaranteed by Chas. C. Davis, druggist, 50c.

THE EDITOR.

One of our school girl friends away somewhere cold, calculating, unsympathetic Southeast, sends us a little apology for the editor, which she has clipped from the Ladies' Home Journal. It reads as follows:

If an editor makes a mistake he should apologize for it, but if a doctor makes a mistake he buries it. If an editor makes one there is a lawsuit, swearing and the smell of sulphur, but if a doctor makes one there is a funeral, cut flowers and a smell of varnish.

A doctor can use a word a yard long without knowing what it means, but if an editor uses it he has to spell it. Any old college can make a doctor. You can't make an editor; he has to be born. Nothing truer was ever written. It's as true as any passage in the Bible or any of the philosophy which we use to guide us in every-day affairs. Editors make mistakes—they are human—and their mistakes appear in bold type where they may be seen of all men and women who read. If the doctor makes a mistake, there is use for the ambulance and the undertaker. The doctors make as many mistakes as editors. The only difference is that the doctors' mistakes as this clipping says, are covered up—by the grave. Why do people hold an editor to such strict account for his mistakes, when they allow the mantle of charity to cover the mistakes of so great many other people? We can answer this question only by saying that editors are the greatest and truest people on earth, and when they make a mistake the whole audience is wonder struck.

THE CIGARETTE SMOKER.

Elbert Hubbard isn't the best authority in the world on all subjects, but he is unquestionably correct in pronouncing against the use of cigarettes, especially by the young. In a late number of the Philistine he says: "As a close-observer and employer of labor for over twenty-five years, I give you this: Never advise the pay of a cigarette smoker; never promote him; never trust him to carry a roll to Garcia, unless you do not care for Garcia and are willing to lose the roll." "As a close-observer and employer of labor for over twenty-five years, I give you this: Never advise the pay of a cigarette smoker; never promote him; never trust him to carry a roll to Garcia, unless you do not care for Garcia and are willing to lose the roll." Cigarette smoking begins with an effort to be smart. It soon becomes a pleasure, satisfaction, and serves to bridge over a moment of awkwardness or embarrassment. Next it becomes a necessity of life, a fixed habit. This last stage soon evolves into a third condition, a stage of fever and unrest, wandering mind, accompanied by loss of moral and mental control.

Inevitably cigarette smoking injures health, lessens usefulness and jeopardizes happiness, and all with out compensation worthy of the name. All smokers are not effected to the same degree, but there is none who would not be better off without the habit.

LEBANON JUNCTION, KY.

Oct. 26, 1907.
Mrs. R. B. Hatcher and family,
Dear friends:—

It is with sadness and a heavy heart that I attempt to write to you. Tony's letter to me was delayed and has just come to hand. The sad news it brought has cast a gloom over our home, and to speak of consolation under such circumstances seems almost vain. It is a wound to our hearts which time alone can heal. Little did I think when I had him farewell at your door, that it was farewell for life. This most forcibly reminds us again of the uncertainty of life, and also of the Master's words, when told that Lazarus was dead, his answer was, "He is also ready?" The short time that I have known him his life was an inspiration to me. I have often thought of the beautiful home life and his love and tender regard for his loved ones and wished that I could emulate his virtues. He has left the greatest legacy to us all. That of a pure and spotless life, and in turn cherish fond recollections of him as a kind friend, a noble father, and a faithful husband. Sadder is the record that ties human life to earth, but strong is the bond that closely binds a spirit to our souls. At any moment may come the call that surely must be answered; the summons takes away a loved one and leaves with a cruel sorrow human hearts.—Death takes some dear ones and in his place leaves sorrow, sadness and pain, but though this life cord so easily is broken, and separations are so quickly brought about, there is a heart that has no death can break. Once only once, but surely once will come to everybody the call that takes a soul from earth to the great beyond. We cannot know why one rather than another has been chosen. One greater and far wiser than ourselves has full control of that great question. It is our duty with the best grace we can command to bow submissively to the will of God.

And though he has been taken from us and we will never clasp his hand in loving friendship again, yet we do feel that some where or somehow we will meet him again, and in that better world he will be no more pained by cruel partings and sad farewells.

With eyes that are moist with tears and with hearts that throbb with deep emotion we extend to you all our sincere sympathy and point you to the blessed sympathizing Jesus and remind you of God's word, "that he will be nigh unto they that are of a broken heart." In the time of sorrow and trial we instinctively turn to Him for consolation and help and who in such a time has ever turned to Him in vain. Take comfort and consolation from Him who is able and willing to give.

There is no death, the stars go down, To us upon a inner shore; And bright in heaven's jeweled crown, They shine forever more.

YOUR SYMPATHIZING FRIEND.

You can't be well if you have a weak, unhealthy, tired out stomach. Neither can you feel good if by some little irregularity in eating you have caused the stomach to get out of order. Kodol is the best remedy known to-day for heart burn, belching and indigestion. It is pleasant to take and affords relief promptly. Sold by Chas. C. Davis.
