

THREE TIMES FOR PRESIDENT.

HENRY CLAY, ANDREW JACKSON AND GROVER CLEVELAND THREE HONORED.

Twelve years ago William J. Bryan was nominated for the Presidency of the United States at Chicago for the first time. Mr. Bryan was re-nominated in 1900 without a dissenting vote. But the convention did not acknowledge his dictatorship, repudiated his candidate for Vice President and came near rejecting his demand that the free silver coinage declaration of 1896 should be reaffirmed. In 1904 Judge Parker was nominated without difficulty, but a vigorous opposition developed within the convention, and, winning a victory in the Resolution Committee forced him to write his old standard telegram, and thus created dissensions which helped to aggravate his defeat. It was in the 1904 convention that Mr. Bryan made a most vigorous campaign in the committee on Resolutions, the session that lasting for hours. For the third time Mr. Bryan has become the candidate of his party.

Three times was Henry Clay an unsuccessful candidate for President. Three times Andrew Jackson was a candidate for President and twice he was elected. In 1824 the election went into the National House of Representatives, and John Quincy Adams was chosen. Grover Cleveland's record equaled Jackson's. James G. Blaine was an aspirant for the nomination for President three times, but landed the prize only once. William J. Bryan was born in March, 1860, at a time when the country was deep in trouble, so that he has been the party nominee three times before his fiftieth year. His career has been varied. His aptitude for politics was early marked, and his absolute control of a great national party like the Democratic has stamped him among men as an adept in his line. A remarkable feature of the nomination of Mr. Bryan is that the former big leader of the party were absent from the convention and he ran the machine himself, took the nomination tendered him and dictated its policies. —Philadelphia Ledger.

THE DOCTOR AWAY FROM HOME WHEN MOST NEEDED.

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like cramp colic and cholera morbus requires prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. The right medicine is to keep hand handy with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases, by having it in the house you can escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life. For sale by Chas. C. Davis.

SUNFLOWER PHILOSOPHY.

Pray for the things you want, but work for the things you must have. Before accepting a favor look for the string that may be tied to it. Complaining of the folly of fashion is as useless as complaining when the weather is bad. Never tell a friend anything that would not look well in print with your name signed to it. You didn't have the right kind of a good time if you are not good natured the next day after you had it. Working after you have had a few glasses of beer in the middle of the day is like trying to work after dark. There are lots of men who seem worthless until compared with a girl who has just returned from a vacation.

WAR AGAINST CONSUMPTION.

All nations are endeavoring to check the rages of consumption, the "white plague" that claims so many victims each year. Foley's Honey and Tar cures coughs and colds perfectly and you are in no danger of consumption. Do not let your hands be tied with some unknown preparation when Foley's Honey and Tar is safe and certain in results.

The sale of 7,000,000 pounds by the Burley Tobacco Society at 16 cents is reported. Gus A. Brooks, secretary of the Burley Society at Winchester, when called by refused to either deny or affirm the sale, but the report is generally believed to be true. This means much for this entire community. It will cut loose a big amount of money to the great delight of many burley raisers, who had badly needed it. It will relieve a financial situation for many that is becoming threatening.

The news will be good to all, as it not only proves that tobacco is holding its own in price, but is sufficiently in demand to bring about long looks for sales. It is also encouraging to those who have pooled their crosses to realize that after all, they have not made their many sacrifices in vain. The chief reason why the officers of the Burley Society are declined to affirm or deny is that the organization's executive committee has made a recent rule not to give out information on sales.

This is what Hon. Jake Moore, State senator of Georgia, says of Kodol for Dyspepsia: "E. C. De Witt & Co., Chicago III.—Dear Sirs—Have suffered more than twenty years from indigestion. About eighteen months ago I had grown so much worse that I could not digest a crust of corn bread and could not retain anything on my stomach. I lost 25 lbs. in fact made up my mind that I could not live but a short time, when a friend of mine recommended Kodol. I consented to try it to please him and was better in one day. I now weigh more than I ever did in my life and am in better health than for many years. It is to please him I bought a bottle constantly, and write this hoping that humanity may be benefited. Yours very truly, Jake Moore, Atlanta, Aug. 10, 1904." Sold by Chas. C. Davis.

Mr. Bryan spent a quiet day at Fairview. He received a telegram from Herman Ridder, the New York German editor, pledging his earnest support.

SAW A KING'S EARS BOXED.

Still amused over the fact that as a girl in England she saw Prince Albert Edward's (now King Edward) ears boxed on a public occasion, Mrs. John J. Bingley, of this town, celebrated with her husband to-day the fifty-fourth anniversary of their marriage. Both Mr. and Mrs. Bingley tell many interesting reminiscences, and it was on the occasion of Queen Victoria's visit to Manchester in 1851, that Mrs. Bingley witnessed the public chastisement of the royal heir. Her Majesty, accompanied by her husband, Prince Albert, and the young Albert Edward, was riding through the city and bowing to the assembled multitudes, when, at the place where Mrs. Bingley was stationed, Prince Albert astonished the spectators by severely boxing the ears of little Prince Albert Edward for insubordination.

Mrs. Bingley is now a bright old lady of 77, her husband is 75 and they were married in Baltimore July 10, 1854 five days after Mrs. Bingley's arrival from England. Her husband is now 75, and in this country nearly a year, and after securing a position sent for his sweetheart—Hanover (Penn.) Co. Philadelphia Record.

DEATH DUEL IN MIDAIR.

The story of a thrilling mid-air battle between a chicken hawk and a weasel is told by James Filmore of Spring Grove, who witnessed it from start to finish.

Filmore was going along a country road toward his home when he saw the hawk dart rapidly to the ground close to a stone fence and arise with a small animal in its talons. As the man continued to watch with interest he noticed that the bird appeared to be in difficulty and finally it came flapping to the ground. Filmore ran forward and found that the hawk had its talons fastened in the body of a weasel which had managed to squirm about until its sharp teeth were imbedded in the bird's neck. In this position the little animal had been sucking the blood of its captor.

The hawk was already almost dead, and the body of the weasel was so badly torn that Filmore dismembered both and took them home to show to his friends.—(York (Penn.) Cor. Philadelph. Record)

An irate citizen says that hereafter he wants the editors to mind their own business. My dear Christian friend, did you ever reflect, in your contemplative moments, when the moon is beaming, when the whippoorwings in the tree, when the hired man snores in the loft; the yellow dog sleeps on the ties, and the mosquito gets in his work,—did you ever reflect in such times upon the idea that a paper containing only accounts of the editor's own private business would be apt to prove monotonous to the general public? They might stand it for a while, but in the end it would be a thorn in the side and a weariness to the flesh, and all that sort of thing. No, brother, the true editor's business is to make everybody's business his business. That's business. So there's no use in making a chronic kicker of yourself for any one.

CALEB Powers is to make his first appearance on the lecture platform at Madison Chautauque New York, August 8, his subject "Right Upon the Scaffold and Wrong Upon the Throne." BRYAN and Kern sounds good to us, and if the signs of the time indicate anything at all, they will be elected President and Vice President next November. From every section comes the glad tidings that the Democrats stand as a unit for Bryan and Kern, and that the dissension and strife which has heretofore existed, is now a thing of the past.

Members of the Democratic National Committee and a number of others holding proxies conferred with W. J. Bryan and J. W. Kern the Presidential and Vice Presidential nominees, respectively, at the Bryan home Monday with reference to vital matters of campaign management.

Mr. Bryan on behalf of himself and Mr. Kern, read the following: "Gentlemen: The platform recently adopted by the National Committee of our party at Denver contains the following pledge:

"We pledge the Democratic party to the enactment of a law prohibiting any corporation contributing to a campaign fund and any individual contributing an amount above a reasonable amount and providing for the publication before election of any contributions above a reasonable minimum."

"Mr. Kern and I are in hearty sympathy with this pledge, and are gratified at its adoption. With its fulfillment a new era in American politics will begin. Elections will then be regulated as public affairs and the influences which control them, instead of being secret, will be known to the voters."

"As an earnest token that our party will make good its pledges we ask you to contribute this plank and put it into immediate operation. This can be done by the adoption of a resolution announcing in pursuance of the policy outlined in this pledge your committee will not accept any contribution whatever from any corporation, that it will not accept any contribution from an individual above a reasonable amount and that it will make publication before election of all contributions above a reasonable minimum. We suggest for your approval a maximum of $10,000 and a minimum of $100, no contribution to be received above $10,000 and all contributions above $100 to be made public before the election.

"We suggest also that on or before the 15th day of October publication shall be made of all contributions above $100 received upon that date; and that after the 15th of October publication shall be made of such contributions as the time same are received and that no contributions above $100 shall be accepted within three days of the election."

SUGGESTION ADOPTED.

The following resolution was thereupon adopted: "Resolved, That the Democratic National Committee, in pursuance of the pledges given in the national platform recently adopted, at Denver, announces that it will accept no contributions whatever from corporations; that it will accept no individual contributions above $10,000 and that it will make public before the election all individual collections above $100 contributed before October 15 being published on or before that date, and contribution received after that date being published upon the date on which they are received and that no contributions above $100 shall be accepted within three days of the election."

Another resolution requests Democrats all over the country to organize themselves immediately into Democratic clubs to assist the committee in its work of the coming campaign.

A New York dispatch tells the story of the steamer Adriatic for Europe, carrying "the richest aggregation of financiers that ever crossed the Atlantic or any ocean in a single ship."

They're off in a bunch, as they say upon the racecourse, for gay "Parade," and also Monte Carlo. They are serenely happy because the President has nominated his successor a gentleman who will not seek to twist the tail of High Finance, who will over-throw with the tariff. They believe that a sufficient gift of gold, plumped down in the hopper of the Republican machine, will grind out victory at the polls in November, and that then will follow the picnic by day and the fireworks by night for the "let us alone" class for the next four years.

Why not a little spree in London and Paris, in Nice and Monte Carlo in Vienna and Rome—and even east of Suez, where there ain't no ten commandments—for a shipload of plutocrats who have planked down the spotlights deemed necessary for the Republican campaign, one cent of every dollar to be used by George Rumsey Sheldon under the spot light which should and ninety-and-nine to be put more practical use with the aid of a dark lantern?

The pirates of High Finance are as merry as the Pirates of Penzance. Their candidates have been nominated, their coffers have been opened, their confidence has been restored. They hope for a purchased triumph in November, and a hog-killing therefor. They go down to the sea in ships to celebrate. Their nostrils are filled with the scent of the carnage to come. Shiploads of them are departing to spend in the land of kings and queens what they have won and expect to win in the land of acres and razors.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Samuel Gompers and other labor leaders called on William J. Bryan at Fairview Monday and pledged him their support. John W. Kern, the Democratic nominee for Vice President, also arrived at Mr. Bryan's home. The members of the Democratic National Committee will arrive to-day. Of the names mentioned by national committees, those looked upon with most favor are said to be Daniel J. Cavanaugh and John E. Limb. Ollie James also is favorably mentioned.

LOCAL OPTIONS IN NORWAY

"The cause of temperance is working great headway in Norway. We have adopted the local option policy with excellent results," said P. Anenson, a manufacturer of white paper, from Skien, Norway. "When ever the people of a certain district or county wish to abolish drinking houses an election is held, at which all adult males in that territory are supposed to vote. If any are absent their votes are counted for prohibition. Another election cannot be held until after five years, and it is very seldom that a second vote is ever taken when a community once votes against license. Another thing that has made national sobriety is the regulation, in many places, that liquor can not be bought except by the bottle, and requiring the purchaser to take the bottle to his home before using any of its contents."—Baltimore American.

It was decided at the meeting that Indianapolis and Louisville, which is represented by Cary B. Lewis, be the central points where literature will be disseminated for all anti Taft negro movement.

The Democrats of Maine in convention at Bangor Wednesday nominated Obelisk Gardner, of Rockport, for Governor and sent a telegram to W. J. Bryan pleading him their support.

A letter was read from A. E. Manning, vice President of the National Anti-Taft organization, stating that many leading negroes were at Denver who would support Bryan and that they would soon begin an effective organization.

A crowd of 5,000 people gathered in the court house yard in Indianopolis Tuesday night to welcome John W. Kern, the Democratic nominee for Vice President of the United States. The meeting was nonpartisan, but was thoroughly enthusiastic. Vice President Fairbanks made the introductory address and Mr. Kern responded in a speech of twenty minutes.

Judge Amos Davis, of Morgan county was nominated by the Tenth District Democratic Convention at East Springs for Congress. He won by the narrow margin of one third of a vote which was afterward made unanimous. It was not until the thirteenth ballot that Judge Davis was successful. Judge Davis a native of Morgan county and is nearly 70 years of age. He has been elected to office several times in his county by Democrats.

A BIT OF HISTORY.

How the Gigantic Standard Oil Company Got Its Start.—The history of the beginning of the Standard Oil company and the general conditions that existed in the oil trade previous to the combination of the refineries, was recited by Lewis Emery, Jr., of Cleveland, in the government's outer suit against the Standard Oil company here. Mr. Emery said that up to 1872 the refiners in Pennsylvania were rivals and were independent, but that the rivalry was among the oil buyers, who bid for the oil. The refiners in order to get the buyers who would pay the highest price, they had changed between 1872 and 1876, in the latter year, competition ceased entirely.

Mr. Emery stated that the first movement toward consolidation of the refiners was made by the South Improvement company, but that this service charter was revoked by the state of Pennsylvania, after opposition to it had become general. Then, Cleveland, the Standard Oil company, Cleveland, made an effort to take the work dropped by the other company and it quickly succeeded in consolidating the refiners.

It said that within a year or two all of the plants of the old refiners were taken over by the Standard Oil company. The consolidation was accomplished through the personal effort of John Rockefeller. Emery's brother William and Oliver H. Payne. Emery also stated upon the witness stand that following this consolidation the freight rates upon oil were boosted about fifty per cent.

SUNDAY DRAWS BIG CROWDS

Decatur, Ill., July 15.—William A. Sunday, the ex-hallway player evangelist, has closed a five week revival. The total number of conversions reached at the meetings was 5,342. The free will offering Sunday exceeded $10,000. This money goes to Sunday out of which he pays his staff and other expenses. The total collection for the five weeks amounted to $17,000. Sunday, it is estimated, he preached to 19,000 people. Seven thousand people attended the meetings. The meetings were turned away for lack of room. The incidence of the spring revival at which the local press will be an issue in most of the cities and towns in central and northern Illinois has made the meetings of special interest and has drawn people from towns as far away as fifty miles from Decatur, before coming to Decatur. Mr. Sunday's converts were reported as 4,200. He goes from here to Charleston.
