EAST GETTING INTO LINE.

Bitter Antagonism Against Dem. oratic Candidate No Longer Exists—Watches and the Tariff—The Attack on Foraker—its Probable Effect on Ohio Politics—Indiana, Safely Democratic.

By WILLIS J. ABERT.

So far as the Democratic campaign is concerned, no one about national headquarters is worried. It is really amazing how strong in the feeling among Republicans that Mr. Bryan is sure to be elected. One of the principal reasons is that for the entire campaign, in 1900 called on me the other day and told me that there was no enthusiasm at all for Bryan. I cannot mention his name, because he said that he personally would not do this to give aid to the cause that he did not believe that Mr. Taft was fairly nominated by the Republican party. I remember very well what the informant of mine was working like a slave in the speakers' bureau of the Republican national committee. This year he is staying away from that committee and is quietly saying that in the parts of the United States with which he is acquainted the Republicans are going to vote for Bryan and Taft.

And as to the East.

At the moment I am writing Mr. Bryan is speaking in New York and in adjacent states. What the effect of his speeches there may be can only be determined after the election is held. However, it is not to be expected that he will believe that he is going to swing New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Rhode Island. We have come to the conclusion that there is no longer a bitter antagonism against Bryan. We believe that the people of the east have come to recognize him as a champion of the people's cause. We hold that he has not preached the moral and ethical code of politics he has given and depicted as a leader of the American people. Some of the politicians that Mr. Bryan is sometimes met in company with are those who devote months of his time to lectures before Christianian associations, when he speaks Sunday after Sunday before a Presbyterian or a Methodist church, he is doing the kind of work that the ordinary politician never undertakes. His political aim is to make his speeches on free trade or the relations of the different departments of the federal government to each other. Mr. Bryan talks about the Prince of Peace, he talks about the ethical and the moral phases of politics, and he talks to a Methodist assembly with exactly the same earnestness that he shows when he speaks to an ordinary political gathering. It is probable that all this work he has been doing Mr. Bryan will have built up a new political following. It is not likely that his influence may be the activities of the Republican national committee, the meet and the women who have listened to Mr. Bryan talking on matters of his character will earnestly and enthusiastically support his candidacy. It is not much of this talk concerning what he has been doing, not in politics, but in the higher type of religious and ethical work in this country, and I am very much inclined to believe that what he has done is likely to carry him through to complete success and to make him the next president of the United States.

Over here in the United States we have a watch trust that prevails upon the people. Congressman Henry T. Clegg has introduced a bill which says, "Congress shall have the right to regulate the manufacture of watches, the production and distribution thereof, and the sale thereof in interstate commerce." This bill was introduced by Mr. Clegg, New York watch maker, independent of the trust, to President Roosevelt's attention. It was introduced by Mr. Clegg, New York watch maker, independent of the trust, to President Roosevelt's attention. It was introduced by Mr. Clegg, New York watch maker, independent of the trust, to President Roosevelt's attention.

Engaged on the front cover of the story of the attempt to impeach the president and his refusal to do it. This is how it reads:

WATSON AND FORBES FIGHT.

Watson and Forbes, of the Home, Foreign and American Watch Company, are engaged in a fight with the watch trust. They have been fighting the watch trust since they were first introduced by Mr. Clegg, New York watch maker, independent of the trust, to President Roosevelt's attention. It was introduced by Mr. Clegg, New York watch maker, independent of the trust, to President Roosevelt's attention.

This seems a fairly indicative of what the watch trust is doing in the United States and abroad. It is not much of this talk concerning what he has been doing, not in politics, but in the higher type of religious and ethical work in this country, and I am very much inclined to believe that what he has done is likely to carry him through to complete success and to make him the next president of the United States.

And whatever may have been his purpose in his previous life, he is now a man who is engaged in a fight with the watch trust. He has been fighting the watch trust since they were first introduced by Mr. Clegg, New York watch maker, independent of the trust, to President Roosevelt's attention. It was introduced by Mr. Clegg, New York watch maker, independent of the trust, to President Roosevelt's attention.

ordinary Americans, whether mechanics or farmers, is compelled to use in this country. They are sold abroad for less than they can be bought for within this country, and for that reason there should be a determined effort on the part of the people to compel a reduction of the tariff on articles thus purveyed to foreign customers at less than the domestic price.

I have reason to believe that even the standard oil company is selling its product in Great Britain for less than it will sell it here in our own country, where it pumps the crude petroleum out of the bowels of the earth. Every body knows that the United States Steel company sells steel in foreign lands for less than it will sell it to our American neighbors. And the one thing that ought to excite indignation is the fact that our stockholders in the tariff trust are not protesting against the fact that they are so grossly favored by the American people, who have to pay the tariff tax.

Taft's Fight on Foraker.

The attack made by Mr. Hearst on Senator Foraker was a vicious and yet in this instance of writing seems to have been supported by accurate evidence. Personally I know nothing about the facts in the case, and I am a little doubtful of Foraker's integrity. I still inclined to wonder whether the controversy arose from Mr. Hearst's own personal contention of political party or whether it was not initiated by Mr. Taft himself or by his brother Charles P. Taft. The latter statesman is desirous of being the next senator from Ohio. Naturally he sees that Mr. Foraker is a competitor, therefore he is willing to fight Foraker and to carry out what was said was the purpose of the Taft organization a year ago—namely, to eliminate Foraker from politics.

The Ohio Outlook.

The effect of this attack will be to absolutely destroy the Republican party in Ohio this year. It will destroy it not because the people of that state believe that the charges made against Senator Foraker are thoroughly well founded, but because the Foraker factor in the state will believe, as it does believe today, that these charges were made by a mercenary politician at the instance of Taft's own brother. Personally I do not believe that Senator Foraker represents all that is best in the state and that he is worthy to be elected to the Ohio office.

It is so happens that I know Mr. Hearst moderately well, and I am extremely confident that he would not be late for his appointment to send his aid to Charles P. Taft if by so doing he could hurt either Mr. Foraker or the Democratic party.

The Ohio Outlook.

The effect of this attack will be to absolutely destroy the Republican party in Ohio this year. It will destroy it not because the people of that state believe that the charges made against Senator Foraker are thoroughly well founded, but because the Foraker factor in the state will believe, as it does believe today, that these charges were made by a mercenary politician at the instance of Taft's own brother. Personally I do not believe that Senator Foraker represents all that is best in the state and that he is worthy to be elected to the Ohio office.

But, after all, the real issue is likely to settle down upon this: If Mr. Roosevelt is to be elected, it is to be elected by the vote of the people. It is not to be elected by the vote of the politicians. It is not to be elected by the vote of the politicians. It is not to be elected by the vote of the politicians.

What Happened in Indiana.

Everybody believes that Indiana is going to be this year a straight Democratic state. Of course there does not seem to be any proof. But we have some proof that may possibly justify our belief. For example, only the other day it became necessary for the voters of Indiana to elect a number of members of the state legislature to fill vacancies which had been caused by death or by inability of the regularly elected members to serve. There were five of these districts and they were the best ones in the state.

SEVEN YEARS OF PROOF.

"I have had seven years of proof that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best medicine to take for coughs and colds and for every disease of throat, chest and lungs," says W. V. Henry, of Panama, Mo. "The world was held thirty-eight years of proof that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best remedy for coughs and colds, a gripe, and hay fever, bronchitis, hemorrhage of the lungs and early stages of consumption. It simply uses always prevents the development of pneumonia! Sold under guarantee of Chas. H. Davis, drug store 55c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

William J. Fry is a fair lay figure. He gave me a reply to the recent letter of President Crocker. Mr. Bryan says he knows nothing of the charges against Haskell prior to his appointment, but remarks that Haskell is entitled to a fair hearing. He is not a politician. He is not a politician. He is not a politician.

President Roosevelt Monday night made public a long reply to Bryan's letter, in which he compares the prosecutions under the anti trust act during the last Democratic Administration with the number under his Administration. The President again bitterly denounces Gov. C. N. Haskell and criticizes Mr. Bryan for his attitude toward the former treasurer of the campaign committee. Mr. Roosevelt expresses unwillingness to have campaign contributions made public before election on the ground that such public would be made the basis for unjust criticisms of the Republican campaign.

COCKRILL'S CAREER.

Lexington, Ky., September, 27

Tom Cockrill, who was crushed to death under a freight train in Louisville last night, was 31 years of age and a native of Breathitt county.

In a quarrel over a game of cards in a "blind tire" at Jackson, in 1904, he killed Ben Hargis, a brother of the late Judge James Hargis. This caused ill-feeling between the two families, which was heightened when Cockrill was acquitted. The following James Hargis, brother of Tom, was fatally shot from a window in the courthouse at Jackson.

The Hargis Cockrill feud was won with a vengeance. A short time later Dr. B. D. Cox, an anti Hargis sympathizer, was assassinated when leaving his home late one night. This death was followed by the killing of J. B. Marcus, a young lawyer.

Curt Jett and Tom White were tried for the killing of James Cockrill, Cox and Marcus were given life sentences in the penitentiary.

President Roosevelt Monday night made public a long reply to Bryan's letter, in which he compares the prosecutions under the anti trust act during the last Democratic Administration with the number under his Administration. All the experiments thus far made indicate that while under favoring conditions slight precipitation may be caused by artificial means, no method has been discovered of producing rain on anything like a small scale. Nature has monopoly of that.

POLITICS AND POLITICIANS
The extraordinary session of the Porto Rico Legislature, which was called principally to pass the $3,000,000 irrigation project, adjourned yesterday without having passed the measure.

In his speech at Cincinnati, William J. Bryan has this to say of Roosevelt: "All I ask is that he put into practice for a month and a half what he has talked about for seven years and that is a square deal!"

W. J. Conners chairman of the Democratic State Committee of New York, made public figures of his preliminary canvass of the State, which he said show that Bryan would carry the State by 700,000 plurality.

Taft and Bryan were both in Minneapolis Monday, but despite the efforts of both to meet and exchange greetings the several engagements made for their prevention. Messages were however, exchanged. Judge Taft spoke at the dedication of the new Y. M. C. A. building in the afternoon at the Foster Methodist church at night. Mr. Bryan left for Mitchell S. D.

Assailing the President, Mr. Taft and the Republican party generally at every turn, W. J. Bryan, on the concluding day of his present tour, traveled through Iowa, on his way back to Lincoln. His progress was marked by a "demomorph" and strains which were nothing but of ovations. The entire community at every point where his train stopped seemed to throng out to him.

The Interparliamentary Union is meeting in Berlin, has accepted the invitation from Canada to meet in Quebec in 1909.

Practically the entire State of Pennsylvania east of the Allegheny mountains is suffering from one of the worst droughts in years.

Samuel Gompers, in writing in connection with the injunction proceedings against him, John Mitchell and other labor leaders, declared that the whole case was based upon an opinion given by Judge Taft. He also charges that an emissary of James Van Cleave, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, had attempted to bribe him.

William R. Hearst, in an address before the Independence party State Convention in New York, read another batch of Standard Oil letters, written, as he said, to or by John D. Archbold. One of the letters was to former Senator McLaurin, of South Carolina. Mr. Hearst renewed his attack on Gov. Haskell and brought a new charge to the effect that Haskell was one of the organizers of the Steel Trust.

Alarmed at the prospects of a clean sweep for Bryan, the Pennsylvania Railroad, for the first time since 1867, is trying to swing its net of employment into line for the Republican ticket.

Blanks are being distributed, asking employes to indicate their political preference with the idea of bringing around those who signify their opposition to Taft. In Ohio the blanks are the most numerous.

A copy of the typewritten notice which is being circulated among employes of some of the higher employes, follows:

"In order to learn how the men stand politically I am sending you blank to fill out. This will not affect your position, whatever, regardless of how you vote.

"For Taft—
"For Bryan—
"For High—
"For DeWitt—"

This is an innocent looking request on the face of it, but the railroad men are aware that it is a hint to line up for Taft.

There is a tacit understanding among employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, that the distribution of the blanks is the first step toward an active campaign for Taft among employes.

It developed some time ago that Republican managers were urging the railroad company to take this step.

This movement on the part of the company has created much indignation among railroad men. They take the position that their political affections are strictly personal matters, and that the company has no right to try to find how a man is going to vote any more than one has to enter a voter's booth when he is making a ballot. Many of the men are prepared to vote manly regarding their choice for President.

In 1867 it was well known that the Pennsylvania Railroad desired the defeat of Bryan, and similar notices were sent out at that time. Many voices were taken away from Bryan as a result.

ARTIFICIAL RAINING
Speaking of droughts, it may generally be known that Congress has dignified the question of rain making by authorizing costly experiments and considering an extensive report on the subject. Different methods of producing rain have been proposed in different ways, the main features being by extension of fires or by causing a severe condensation of the upper air.

Prof. James P. Espy was the originator and for many years he was advocate of the fire theory. He was born in Pennsylvania but spent most of his adult life in the West, and died in Cincinnati in 1864. He maintained that extensive rains could be produced by extending forest fires in the far West and he demonstrated it theoretically to the satisfaction of scientists. His theory was that if the fires were continued for a sufficient length of time they would cause an upward current of hot air which would eventually bring rain. His theory was endorsed by European scientists and the distinguished French savant, Arago said: "France has it. Cuvier, England's Sir Newton, America's Espey." He tried to get an appropriation from Congress to enable him to test his theory, but failed. In 1843, however he received an appointment under the War Department and prosecuted his investigations in the Washington Observatory. He was a man of real scientific attainments, but his theory was never fully tested.

In 1891 a Chicago man, named Gathman patented a method of making rain by suddenly chilling the atmosphere by rapid evaporation through the release of liquefied carbonic acid gas. This was never tested. In '80 Gen. Daniels, Regent of Fredericksburg, Va., obtained a patent on making rain by explosions in the clouds, the explosions to be by torpedoes on balloons. He also failed to get an appropriation from Congress to test his plan but Senator Poyall, of Illinois took it up and succeeded in getting an appropriation of 7,000 for carrying out the experiments. The experiments were carried on in the vicinity of Washington and in Texas. At its next session Congress appropriated $10,000 was made for the purpose of which about $5,000 was expended under the direction of the Department of Agriculture, and the remainder was turned back into the Treasury. The experiments were partially successful in producing a little rain under certain conditions, but were too expensive to justify continuance.

Since the beginning of the epidemic of Asiatic cholera in Russia, there have been 15,638 cases officially reported, from which there have been 7,102 deaths. In St. Petersburg alone 1,875 deaths have been reported. It is not believed that the cholera report represents the extent of the epidemic.

KENTUCKY LIQUOR DECISION
Court of Appeals Affirms Judgment Against Adams Express Company.
Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 30.—Chief Justice O'Har, of the court of appeals, announced the keynote of the decision of that tribunal with regard to corporations in an opinion affirming judgment in a case of the commonwealth against the Adams Express company, which had been indicted and fined for serving whisky from one local option county into another. The liquor was shipped from Mercer county to Springfield, Mo., where it was sold in a territory which is wholly within the state of Kentucky. There was no attempt to indicate the contents of the package, and the consignment was a palmer.

The evidence indicates that the object of shipping the goods in that way was to deceive, said the court.

"Commodore Sherrer ought to know the law like any other person," wrote Judge O'Har, "not merely in keeping the state white bread, but both in letter and spirit, as others are expected to do. Agents employed by corporations to transport whisky to this territory on knowledge, probabilities, information, experience, judgment, inferred facts, and established facts, are generally do in similar matters when thinking and acting for themselves in this way a corporation is liable and is made to see, hear, know, exercise care, skill, judgment, prudence and is made amenable to the laws when the intent, motive, knowledge, etc., are elements of wrong."

VICTORY FOR RAILROADS
Kentucky Lines Favored by Court Decision.
Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 30.—On the ground that it was an arbitrary regulation the Interstate Commerce Commission had arbitrarily fixed a tax without taking the value into consideration, the Kentucky state decision, Sept. 30, 1906, 4224 of the Kentucky statutes unconstitutional, and railroads having terminals in Kentucky have thus gained a sweeping victory. The decision was made in the case of Arthur P. Hopkins, state revenue collector, against the Louisville, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis, the Baltimore & Ohio, Southwestern, the Big Four, the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville to collect an annual tax of $2,500 on their terminal facilities in Louisville.

Cockrill's presence in the yards had not been explained, but it is presumed he was either on his way or returning from a visit to his home. He was a brother of Jim Cockrill, who was at one time marshal of Jackson and who was assassinated. Tom Cockrill was also involved in several feud battles and had killed at least one member of the Hazard faction.

Lad Missing From School.

H. K. Mullins of this county who has been prospecting in several of the mountain counties for number of years, says he has undoubtedly found gold in Rockcastle county. Sensations have been created at various times and places within the past ten years by the report of the discovery of precious metals in the mountains of Kentucky. It is well established that traces exist in many places but have never been found rich enough to attract capital for development.—London Democrat.

Now that the hot weather is over and time for every body to get busy, we want to urge upon our correspondents the importance of sending in a good letter each week. At points where we do not have a correspondent we want one. We want news and through our correspondents we expect to obtain the larger part of it.

Mt. Vernon is to have more concrete walks and if all build who have expressed a willingness to do so before the close of the year we will have concrete along nearly the whole of Main street on both sides. It will certainly speak well for the town and the increase in the value of property will more than offset the expenditure. Let the good go on!

SMITH-SCOTT.—News was received here a few days since of the marriage of Cashier Walter G. Smith, of The Bank of Sherburne, to Miss Scott, of Sherburne. The many friends of Mr. Smith in this county extended to this happy couple their heartiest congratulations and wishes for a long and prosperous journey through life.

The Mt. Vernon Signal is now "free, white and 21" that good paper having reached its majority last week. Walton for his kindly expression and the most gratifying hope we have and his splendid paper all the success by night for it that will pay the bill.

CARD OF THANKS.—We take this method of returning our heart felt thanks, to kind friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown us in our dark hour of trouble. May God bless them.

I. H. PATCHETT AND CHILDREN. Mr. Editor, I admire a man that glories in a victory, but I admire more a man that is not ashamed of an honest defeat. Our Broadhead correspondent took a great deal of pleasure in mentioning the ball game on Thursday in which the teachers were defeated but he did not have the magnanimity of spirit to say that the teachers' "wallpaper" the home team the next day with a score of nine to eight. A teacher.

It was quite a disappointment that Hon. J. Smith Hayes, who had an appointment to speak here last Monday, did not put in his appearance. Quite a number of the Democrats of the county came in to hear him and went away greatly disappointed. We are sure the failure upon Mr. Hayes' part to come, was unavoidable but we have assurance that there will be good speakers to Rockcastle and next time there will not be any disappointment.

Those editorial writers who were writing a week ago about this campaign as one of "refined amoralities" may have to resort to the much overworked, "mad slinging and venomous personalities" yet before election day. ### HYENA STEW AS FOOD

The low Ash gorges himself on hyena stew through the smell of the carcass is so rank and offensive that even dogs have it with disgust. It is a favorite food of the foxes, the possum, the coon, and the fox. In the Arctic regions a fox is a piece of resistance at any dinner. Prairie dog was good enough for Fremont, while Lewis and Clark picnicked that in an emergency they could subsist on wolf, coon and hyena. Sam Ward said that a stew of tadpole with Madeira sauce, was better than diamond back terrapin, yet he did not care particularly for snails or smoked porcupines. Salted hippopotamus he could go on a pinch but rhinoceros—never. He had only high praise for canela flesh and rice at a big cattle make chowder.—New York Press.

KERN SATISFIED

John W. Kern Democratic candidate for Vice President, returned here from the East this morning. He seemed greatly pleased with the outlook for the ticket. When he was in Baltimore, he said men who have been voted for Bryan voluntarily came to him and asked him to visit their places of business that he might be introduced to their employees.

"On several occasions," said he, "I was recognized by published pictures of me, and men came out of their stores; had me to enter and visit their shops. Some of them had never voted for Bryan, but said they intended to do so this year."

Some time ago a Baltimore newspaper said that no man that had a much as a dollar and fifty cents would support Bryan, and this has increased a good many of his friends, and they are now working harder than they otherwise would have done for the ticket.

In Western Maryland many leading laboring men told me that the national ticket would get 90 per cent of the laboring vote, and that the state was now practically carried for Bryan.

"In Ohio the conditions are all favorable, and I think there do doubt that Bryan will carry the state."

"I did not enquire into the financial differences in the Republican party there, but I found many who had been life-long Republicans were now with us."

"Some prominent Republicans told me it was not worth while to devote any time to Ohio, as it would give Bryan his Electoral vote without any effort on our part to get it."
