Mrs. L. R. Hughes is visiting homefolks this week and attending the Sunday school convention.

Miss Risie Williams was maid of honor at the Albright-Talbot wedding at Barbourville Wednesday.

Judge L. W. Bethorum was in Pineville yesterday looking after some important business matters.

Mrs. J. Thos. Cherry, of Brodhead, who has been very sick for some weeks, is but little improved. She suffered a relapse.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Williams and sons John Hig and James, of Somerset are with Mr. Williams' mother and attending the convention.

Miss Fan Sparks is visiting friends in Memphis. Miss Sparks, who is an accomplished musician is to be one of the principals at a well musical to be given in that city.

Miss Waddell has returned to her home in Tennessee. If the Brown Memorial continues its work in Mt. Vernon, Miss Waddell will likely return in the fall as a member of the faculty.

C. A. Chandler, the Eastern Kentucky telephone magnate and flour man, is in town today. Mr. Chandler has returned from a two weeks visit East and to attend the annual meeting of the Commercial Traveling Men's Association.

F. L. Durham is not only the biggest man in the county from a standpoint of avoirdupois, but is the biggest feller now, since he is the top of a fine boy baby, born Wednesday of last week. The mother, whose name is Miss Maud Watson, and babe are both doing well.

LOCAL

U. G. Baker, will fill his new store room with hardware, just as soon as the special shelving, which he has ordered, arrives.

CARD OF THANKS—To the kind friends who have been so very kind to me and my two little ones in our hour of sorrow, I wish to express my thanks and appreciation. C. B. HENDERSON.

NEWLAND LYNCH—Miss Sallie E. Newland, of Louisville and Mr. Eugene R. Lynch, of Lebanon, were quietly married in Louisville at the home of the brides sister, Mrs. L. B. Parsons, 1505 S. W. Broadway, at the 6 o'clock wedding June 9th, 1910. The Rev. J. R. McAfee performed the ceremony. Miss Myrtle Thompson, of Louisville was brides maid and Mr. L. C. Carmichael, of Lebanon, best man. The bride resides in Louisville but formerly of Brodhead, Ky. The groom resides in Lebanon and holds a responsible position with the Royal Weyer Co. Mr. and Mrs. Lynch will make Lebanon their future home.

Mrs. Nanette Hargy, nee Nanette Carnical, who went to California some two or three months ago, to get a divorce from her husband, J. H. Hargy, was a few weeks ago again married to army officer, who is stationed at some point in Virginia. She stopped here for a few days on her way to join him.

Louis Bullock, aged about 20, was arrested yesterday by Marshal George Ferguson, on two charges, one for taking goods from W. M. Bullock's store and another for robbing the mail. Young Bullocks home is in Ki ox county, but sometime back he had been staying at Bluff Bullocks, and Bluff Bullock's son, having the contract to carry the mail between Raspberry and Mt. Vernon, had on a few occasions employed Louis Bullock to carry the same for him. E. Dyre & Son, who have a small store near Hanston also have a mail sack, in which their mail is deposited by the mail carrier, and in which they also put all mail to be taken up by the carrier. Ten days or two weeks ago Dyre & Son had mailed a check to the Louisville Grocery Co. for $5 13, which letter was broken open the name of the Louisville Grocery Co. erased from the check and Fred Eaton inserted. The check was on the Bank of Mt. Vernon and was cashed at that bank, by young Bullock or some one who looks very much like him, so says Assistant Cashier A. B. Farnish, who received the check. Bullock denies taking the check.

COLD BLOODED MURDER—The worst murder ever committed in Ruckelste county occurred at Livingston last Saturday night, when Ed Mullins, aged 31, a son of Jeff Madden, was shot as follows: without a moment's warning and without an semblance of an excuse. Young Madden, in company with three other young men, Sanding Baker and Morris had started to Lera, going first to Sinks where they were to be picked up in a train. As they found necessary to go into Livingston, arriving there about ten o'clock. Like most boys would do, they were simply standing around the depot waiting for a train going to Berea, and of the long list of passengers, Mr. Madden, a single one told of an improper or out of the way move by either of the boys, Ed and George Mullins; Lon Channing and Fred Elkin, the four Livingston boys who were charged with the crime were arrested by deputy sheriff Cam Mullins and brought to Mt. Vernon on Sunday when they were held until Tuesday when the examining trial was had. The facts however warranted a dismissal of the case so far as Channing and Elkin were concerned before the trial, so that only two were placed on trial Ed and George Mullins, the warrants against the other boys having been dismissed.

The facts brought out at the examining trial are in brief as follows: Ed Mullins, who according to his own statements on the witness stand, was drunk on that night, and when he found them standing there at the depot, he picked up the boys, who so frightened them that they ran off across the yards toward the bil or tool house. About this time Lon Channing, Fred Elkin and George Mullins started off up the track toward Sinks, where Channing is the night engineer. The examining trial Channing had given to George Mullins, a pistol, which he (Channing) claims he gave to George to keep Ed Mullins from taking away from him. Soon after leaving the depot, going to Sinks, George Mullins asked Channing for some cartridges, which Channing gave him, and quietly loading the revolver, started in the direction of where those boys were standing across the yard from the depot, and said "Look out you G—d—Pittsburg—B—", and fired two shots, one of which took effect in the neck of young Madden, killing him instantly. Channing, Mullins and Elkin went on to Sinks, where they were later arrested. In the examining trial which was held before Judge Bethorum Tuesday, George and Ed Mullins were both held over without bond to await the trial at the next term. Feeling that it was not only a disgrace to the county, but also a disgrace to the county, by a justice so strange people.

Wednesday evening was one of the most interesting features of the entire program, but on account of the heavy rain, many were kept away. The program as above outlined was carried out to the letter; on yesterday, each and every one whose names appeared on program responded promptly, and each session, morning, afternoon and evening was equally interesting. The C. W. B. M. program arranged for to-day, we are sure will be equally interesting as some of the leading C. W. B. M. workers of the State are here to take part. The S. S. Convention in Mt. Vernon, is pronounced by many who have been attending these conventions for years, to be one of the best and most enjoyable, they have ever attended. Mt. Vernon, which is known far and wide for its hospitality certainly did for a business, efficient stay, of the sixty some odd delegates, pleasant. To Will H. Fish, the district secretary is due much of the credit for the success and for the splendid manner in which he provided for entertainment comfort and pleasure of the delegates.

SMITH HONK—Wiley A. Smith and Miss Allie Lee Honk were married at noon, Monday, at the Central Christian church parsonage at Lebanon, by Rev. L. E. Brown. Mr. Smith is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Smith, residing just north of Jamestown. Mrs. Smith is a sister of James E. Honk, of Jamestown, with whom she has been residing the past year. The couple will reside at New Castle, Ind., where Mr. Smith is employed in the Maxwell Auto mobile works. The newlyweds are estimable young people of this community and have the best wishes of all who know them. As elsewhere noted in this paper, Wiley Smith and Allie Lee Honk are now Smith and Smith, a partnership. The newlyweds arrived in Jamestown at 4:10 on Tuesday evening and took from Thompson's drug from the station down Jamestown's Broadway. The acquisition of the drug was not of their own volition however; it was plainly the work of others—about 100 others. To the strains of what might, by a staccato, startling strain of the imagination, be termed a wedding march, played upon diaphanous whistles, boards and other primitive musical instruments, the youngsters on the matrimonial sea, sailed down the street on the freight distributor looking anything but at ease with the words, "Fanny (the bride groom) did not center his gaze at all, but looked conspicuously, so to speak, while new Mrs. Smith looked as if the proceedings were one of the burdens of life that has to be shouldered. It was a hum-dinger of a parade, however, and as the convention, the "bride groom" distributed rolled tobacco leaves, and the regiment was mastered out gradually to the intermittent thump-ops homegoing pan or a foot on the preperential whistle—But it was great parade in Jamestown (Ind.) News.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McCafferty, Wednesday afternoon at their country home near Pine Hill. The contracting parties were Miss Nell McCafferty and Mr. I. B. Coleman. Bro. J. A. Sawyer was the officiating clergyman, who tied the nuptial knot pronouncing the ceremony which united the lives of these estimable young people. The wedding was a quiet one witnessed only by the immediate relatives of the bride and groom and a few intimate friends. At the appointed hour the young couple took their places in the parlor which was decorated with daisies and ferns, where the minister with impressive ceremony made them husband and wife. After congratulations and delightful refreshments were served by Misses George and Rose McCafferty sisters of the bride. The bride, one of our choicest young ladies from a little girl she has grown up in our midst, honored by old and young alike. She has ever been a bright star in the home circle and now she has gone to foreign as queen in her own home. The groom is almost a stranger to us, but judging from what the bride is worthy of, he is a good and noble man. The happy couple left on the late train for Denver and other western points, returning about July 1st when they will be at home to their friends at 535 Sixth St. Louisville. FOR SALE CHEAP—A good second hand buggy. J. T. MEAD, W. June 10, 1910. Mt. Vernon. A WOMAN'S GREAT IDEA is how to make herself attractive. But, without health, it is hard for her to be lovely in face, form or temper. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and Kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood, give strong nerves, bright eyes, "pure breath, smooth, healthy skin" and complexions of good health. Try them. soc at Chas. C. Davis'.

Failed in Health "My mother died six years ago," writes Miss Ruth Ward, of Jerseyville, Ill., "and left me to care for six children. I had never been strong; and this, with the shock of her death, was too much for me. "I failed in health." I was tired all the time and did not want to go anywhere, nor care for company. I had the headache all the time and such bearing-down pains. "A very dear friend advised me to take Cardui, as it had done her so much good, so I commenced to use it and now I am in good health." Take CARDUI The Woman's Tonic Women's pains are relieved or prevented and women's strength is quickly restored by Cardui, the woman's tonic. You yourself know best if you need it or not. If you need it, do not delay, but commence to use it at once. Every day of delay, only lets you suffer down the hill. Don't wait, they did begin to take Cardui today, for its use, no matter how protracted your pain, you will surely do good. BARGAIN DAY—Saturday in Each Day at 10c. LIVINGSTON

J. T. Chuning, of Barrington, was here Tuesday.—Judge S. D. Lewis and Marshall Gen. Ferguson, of Mt. Vernon, were here Monday measuring the ground where the murder occurred and looking up evidence in the case.—W. A. Rice will leave in a few days on an extended visit to New Jersey.

The world was satisfied. Just a short time back in the city of Louisville a red handed murderer with a character blacker than the inside walls of Hell, murdered little Alma Keller. But now there is a stain of blood on the fair-olive complexion which time can never erase.

OHIO VALLEY EXPOSITION.

EPICURES WILL TRY COTTON SEED FLOUR.

Cincinnati, June 14, 1910.—An order has been sent by the management of the Ohio Valley Exposition to a milling company of Jonesboro, Ark., for samples of cotton seed flour and for examples of the culinary results to be used in this novel and interesting contest.

It is the object of the Exposition management to secure, if possible, a complete exhibition of the cotton seed flour industry, this being along the lines of the objects of the Exposition of showing the public the latest and best products of factory, field and farm, and of presenting these products in a most attractive manner.

F. KRUEGER & SON, MT. VERNON, KY.

Because of the political quarrel between Congressman D. C. Edwards and Caleb Powers over who shall be the Republican nominee in the Eleventh district this coming fall, close students of politics in that rock-ribbed Republican stronghold are freely predicting the election of a Democrat to Congress in November. And these predictions are coming direct from the Republican leaders who have so far been unable to bring about peace between the factions, according to a statement made by a Republican leader of the district. It is generally conceded, according to this informant, that no matter which of the candidates received the Republican nomination, the defeated one will run on an independent ticket at the November election.

The entrance of Powers into the race for the nomination has resulted in the greatest split in the rank and file of the party in the Eleventh district perhaps ever known in the party in Kentucky and with both men determined to run it out in the regular election as well as in the primary the situation will become more acute as the days go by resulting in an unbroken line of political middle by the end of the regular election.

In this condition, it is contended will add greatly to the chances of the Democratic nominee.

The fight between Edwards and Powers has extended even beyond the borders of the State, the followers of each of the candidates for the Republican nomination having called on representatives in Congress for aid in the form of literary or the fitness of the two men. One of those called on was Congressman Nicholas Longworth, Representative in Congress from Ohio, and son-in-law of former President Roosevelt. Congressman Longworth was asked to give the record of Edwards in Congress and to state if he was worthy of being re-elected to Congress by his constituents. In other words, Congressman Longworth was asked to give his opinion on the fitness of the two men in Courier Journal.

Beginning Monday, the work-day schedule in the Missouri, Kansas and Texas shops at Sedalia, Mo., was increased from eight and nine hours to ten hours. About 600 workmen will be affected.

The summer White House at Beverly, Mass., is all ready for the arrival of President Taft and his family on June 23. Col. Roosevelt is scheduled to spend some time at Beverly this summer.

When Col. Roosevelt arrives in New York harbor tomorrow he will receive the most remarkable welcome ever accorded a private citizen in the United States. New York city, not content with pouring out its huge throngs along Broadway and Fifth avenue, will begin the welcome down the bay, while hundreds of steamers, yachts and craft of every description will toast a stevedoiled salute.

At the close of business June 1, the outstanding warrants against the State of Kentucky amounted to $159,120.72. Auditor James says this is the largest amount the State has owed in a number of years. The amounts in the Treasury at the close of business June 1, are as follows: Sinking fund $2,252,551; school fund, $53,185,875; deficit in the general expense fund $2,812,631.

It is now the belief of the Italian police that Porter Charlton, husband of Mrs. Charlton, the American woman whose body was found in a trunk in Lake Como, has also been murdered. The lake has been dragged for some trace of his body, and the villa where the Charltons lived has been submitted to a thorough search, but no trace of the missing man can be found. It is said that several persons who said that they were mistaken.

Two little girls, aged 12 and 14 years, children of a family named Craig, of Winfield, Tenn., were ground to death under a Cincinnati Southern train near Winfield Monday afternoon. BUCKWHEATS VERSUS PIE

By BELLE MANATES

Bertha awaited the coming of her caller without much animation. "He won't come many times," she said to her mother. "The other girls will get to inviting him and they will feed him with layer cakes and pie and ice cream. The boys say it's just like a poorhouse here. We never give them a thing to eat."

"Well, that's all they come for. I'd be mighty glad to have 'em stay long. Pie and cake and ice cream is what they want. It ain't going to have any in my house. This is no eating house."

Mrs. Willets snapped out this declaration and went upstairs to bed at her usual early hour. She released enough to caution the two young boys, Richard and Bert, not to go into the sitting room.

"Bertha is going to have a bean," she informed, "and you can all in the kitchen and study your lessons and do your homework."

"The obediently went to the kitchen, but did not study. "What's coming to see Bertha?" asked Bert.

"Red Raymond. He's been best west for four years, you know. Been a cowboy and shot Indians."

"Oh, I hope Bertha keeps him for a steady."

"She won't," replied Richard, who had been eavesdropping. "because she won't let her mother say she did and stuff for him to eat."

"Huh!" commented Bert. "Tain't likely anything like these farmers around here. He won't care for pie and cake."

"Bertha seem to keep a few low price only kept company a month. He says he likes fat girls with red cheeks. Bertha's pale and thin, you know."

"That's not a cowboy's taste," remarked Bert, who had taken to drawing books from a circulating library. "They like a fat girl."

The boys immediately set to work and when things were ready they marched into the sitting room. There Bertha, desirous from her mortification at not being able to offer Red cake and pie, was ill at ease and fastidious.

She welcomed the diversion of the entrance of the boys.

"Richard and I got hungry and we are going to have a spread in the kitchen. Don't you folks want to come out?"

"Sure we do," responded Red, promptly rising from his chair with alacrity to come out.

Bertha obeyed with some trepidation.

"Oh, Lord!" ejaculated Red, when he came into the big, warm kitchen and smelled the coffee. "I believe that's a stack of buckwheats. I used to dream about them when I was a boy in New York."

Bertha's spirits rose. The boys brought the table nicely. The coffee smelled fragrant. There were a pitcher of cream and a jug of coffee on the table.

"Sit down," urged Bert. "I'll take the cakes and Rich will serve you. Pour the coffee, Bertha."

"Bert," inquired Richard, as he laid a golden-brown cake on Red's plate "what did you call these? A what if you been here?"

"Stack," said Red, pouring about a pint of syrup over the cakes. "That's what they call them out west. Those cakes is a stack of whites. Poached eggs on toast is Adam and Eve on a raft."

"Oh, on, tell more!" applauded Bert, waving a pancake turner excitedly in the air.

Red laughed and between cakes he related western tales to the boys' content.

"Is he coming again to-morrow night, Bertha?" whispered Richard from his room as his sister came up stairs at a late hour.

"Yes," she answered, happily. "It was just lovely of you, boys, to think of the cakes. He's going to bring you such a present to-morrow."

"It'll be all right for him," prophesied Bert. "You leave the feeding part to me."

The next night the little brothers again ushered themselves into the sitting room.

"We've got some Adam and Eve on raft," grinned Richard.

"Well, you are the best chef I know," said Red, approvingly, "and you bet you'll get a tip." He handed them each six Indian bow and arrows.

There Is a Difference in Watch Repair Material

The best watch repair material is made by the factory that made the watch. Imitation materials is cheap and may damage the watch.

We use the best watch repair material; it fits better, looks better, works better and is better in every way.

When we repair a watch we want it to run and work smoothly and keep time—not only time, but correct time.
