It is nutritious and useful when made into either biscuit or light bread. Fry it and see not only the benefits derived but the actual enjoyment in the eating.

Where is the civic pride of Mt. Vernon? Some of the streets, even up to and almost half overlapping the concrete sidewalks, are crowded with weeds of abnormal growth; yet there is a town ordinance to the effect that each property owner shall keep the sidewalk and space about his property clean of weeds, waste matter, etc. to the middle of the street. How many citizens are doing their duty in this line? Does the injunction suit pending cause all this neglect?

Fred Durban, the expert bookkeeper of W. J. Sparks Co., was in evidence two days at the Brodhead fair and kept his master's office duties on the go and up to the minute for his employers. As a bookkeeper and office man there are few if any superior found at any old point. He keeps account check and tab on every employee in the four quarries in the county owned by the company, can at most any old time say what is coming to any particular employee as well as to knowing where they are or loaded and its number, yards contained, cost price, who it went to date and a thousand other things too numerous to speak of, he's always on his job with a smile and a hearty greeting to all who come right over the telephone. He has the run of the multitudinous affair of the company's business and takes care of them in such a satisfactory manner that the company don't think they can overload his broad shoulders with duties on work that he cannot carry out. Fred comes up to the scratch and then some.

ROCKCASTLE CIRCUIT COURT:

Harry S. Woodall, P. M.

vs Judgment

Carrie Woodall, Deft.

This day this case came on for hearing and was submitted for judgment and the court being advised from the pleadings and proof, adjudged that the plaintiff is entitled to the relief sought.

It is now ordered and adjudged by the Court that the plaintiff, Harry S. Woodall, and the defendant, Carrie Woodall, be and they are hereby divorced from the bonds of matrimony, and each restored to all the rights and privileges of a single and unmarried person, and this case is now struck from the docket.

TALKING VOICES.—Many people have no telephone voice, that is to say their voice only goes a short way while others will go the whole distance and then some. Science explains these things, but few people have any patience with science, they want to hear when talking over a telephone and don't understand why they can't hear the other party distinctly. It is often on account of the party who has no "telephone voice" or one that "don't carry" over the wires. It is not the blame of the telephone at all, nor the talker mentioned, except they should get close to transmitter and talk in firm voice which helps a lot.

OUTS and business may be done in about five and the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and cures such matters as head with cold, influenza, etc. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. It is sold by Chemist, Druggists.

My Doctor Said

"Try Cardui," writes Mrs. Z. V. Spell, of Hays, N. C. "I was in a very low state of health, and was not able to be up and tend to my duties. I did try Cardui, and soon began to feel better. I got able to be up and help do my household. I continued to take the medicine, and now I am able to do my household and to care for my children, and I feel as though I could never praise Cardui enough for the benefits I have received."

Cardui is successful, because it is made especially for women, and acts specifically on the womanly constitution. Cardui does one thing and does it well. That explains the great success which it has had, during the past 50 years, in helping thousands of weak and ailing women back to health and happiness. SKATE
Records show that monkeas were kept in captivity as early as the 1233 B. C.
During the last year, New York City consumed 51,000,000 pounds of poultry.
May 8, 1787 is given as the date of the first attempt to engrave on glass.
There was an observatory for the study of the stars at Alexandria in Egypt, in the year 300 B. C.
The invention of magnifying glasses is ascribed to one Alhazan, an Arabian, in the year 1050 of our era.
The lines on the scales of fishes the herring for example—are lines of annual growth. The number of lines on the bones is another indication of age.
Lanterns that will throw advertising signs upon the pavement, so that he who walks on the streets is forced to read them, are now made with electric lamps powerful enough to be effective in well lighted cities.
A few years ago the rice produced in the United States was less than 100 million pounds per annum. In recent years it has reached 600 million pounds. Like bread, rice is the staff of life—more of it the better.
Italy now imports more than $50,000,000 worth of cotton each year. Hence the Government is carefully fostering all attempts to produce a native crop.
A Missouri fruit farmer, whose orchard of 250 acres contained about 10,000 apple trees, sold his crop this season for $100,000. A storage company bought the fruit on the trees.
The Government Health Department calls the present month of August "typhoid time," and suggests that it is cheaper to spend a little time each day sweating flies than to spend five weeks in bed with typhoid fever.
ACCUSED OF STEALING
E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me. boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burrs or scalds the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from poils or piles. "It robs cuts, corus, bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "and it gives remedy its equal 'don't exist.' Only 25c at Chas. C. Davis.

MEADOWSBROOK FARM
By William Pitt
Mulch the trees.
Rhubarb is a very healthy fruit.
Horseradish is mostly grown for the packers.
Do much care cannot be given the dairy utensils.
The calf should be trained to lead and be halter-broke.
Don't have a lot of manure lying in the yards all summer.
Obtaining the seed is the important thing in growing potatoes.
Potatoes need should be sown in a protected spot or in the cold frame.
A very desirable and useful tool which is not found in all farms is a level.
Sweet potatoes require a warm sandy soil well filled with rich rotted manure.
To get eggs set this month will give good "table carcasses for Christ-mas feasts."
Two sprinklings a week with kerosene oil should keep the house free from lice pests.
New potatoes can be got earlier by allowing the seed to sprout in strong light before planting.
Practical farmers know the value of plowing and harrowing land when in the right order for working.
Just one setting of thoroughbred eggs may be the means of working a revolution in your poultry business.
Don't keep little ducks and chickens together if it can be avoided. Keep each separate, and they will both do better.
The best marked heifer calves from the largest and most persistent milkers should be raised and not sold to the butcher for a few dollars.
When geese become quite old—say five or six years—they acquire an abdominal pouch of large size, and this is an unfailing sign of old age.
To have large juicy stalks of rhubarb the ground must be fully 13 to 16 inches in depth and freely pulverized.
Give the setting hen a thorough dusting with insect powder two or three times during the incubation. This may save your little chicks from lice and mites.
Farmers now having a silo can very well afford to grow what roots they like during the winter. One peck of sliced roots daily to each head of stock wintered.
Sore necks in horses are due usually to one of two causes, a short collar or too great weight coupled with the side motion, as noted in a two-wheeled vehicle.
Divide the dahlias roots and start some, but not all of them. The early ones will come into flower during the hot weather, and they will not give so large flowers as later-planted roots.
Plow your ground deep and prepare the soil as carefully as you would for the corn field. Nature often performs wonders with trees, but as a general rule she ought to have a little intelligent help.
If you are quite sure that alfalfa will not grow on your land try Essex rape. It makes fine hog pasture—some farmers even going so far as to say that it beats clover, which of course it does not.
A few years ago when concentrates were cheap, sheep and wool were also cheap. Now wool is worth twice as much as it was five years ago and the sheep must have some rich feed in order to grow a rich fleece.
Ground oil meal may be either the old or the new process. The old process oil meal is made into cake by pressing the oil out of the flaxseed by hydraulic pressure, but these cakes are frequently ground before selling.
If your favorite berry tree is badly decayed, clean up everything in the cavity as carefully as you can. Instead of merely a hole for filling, then spray thoroughly with a two per cent solution of formalin, and the cavity will wither and die after one or two years.
set the world talking, but Paul Mathews, of Buffalo, N. Y., says he always KEEPS AT HOME!
King of all executives—Dr. King's New Life Pills—find that they're a blessing to the man in Care of Constipation, headache, indigestion, dyspepsia. Only 25c at Chas. C. Davis.

Oil of the Work Horses
You can't overwork the horse.
A lousy pig is a sure sign of a poor farmer.
The neglected colt or calf will prove profitless.
Phosphorus is an element that is essential to plant life.
How are the farm implements? Any of them need repairs?
Look suspiciously at eggs that have been laid in a stolen nest.
The canna, like corn needs moisture and heat to develop properly.
Don't let the weeds get a start—kill 'em while they are a-borning.
The horse is known by its teeth, but the mule is better known by its ears.
When you hoe corn, thin it out to not more than three good stalks to the hill.
The ewes must have plenty of palatable food both before and after the lamb come.
A flock of 50 hens, or not more than 100, properly fed and cared for will pay handsomely.
If the butter is packed in jars or other receptacles they, too, must be sterilized as above stated.
The sashes of the elm, oak and beech are the most valuable for applying to farm and garden crops.
Cattle should not be pastured in the orchard, as they pack the ground hard and bruise the young wood.
After trees are planted, mulch with one foot of leaves or rotted straw; water if season should be hot and dry.
The calf should be kept in the pen and not tied out on grass until the weather is warm and the ground is dry.
Enormous yields of potatoes can be secured under irrigation, provided the moisture in the soil is uniform and continuous.
Tobacco stems contain large quantities of potash and are worth eight to ten dollars per ton for topdressing grass and grain.
You will get more fruit by spraying thoroughly and the quality will be such that you can sell more of it as first-class fruit.
Good orchardists say that an orchard neglected for one year without irrigation, and without fertilization, puts it back fully three years.
Five dollars invested in package material will pay many times the investment in the better prices the fruit will bring when properly packed.
Plan to raise a fine flock of general purpose, standardized birds this season. They will yield much more satisfaction and profit than a mixed flock.
Western alfalfa is found today very fine and firm and after being mixed with molasses is sold to stock raisers, men and poultry raisers for from $20 a ton up.
If there is no other chance to get sunlight into the cow barn it might not be much of a chore to cut a few openings in the south or west side and put in some windows.
To feed 50 laying hens one month will require 200 pounds of oats and 200 pounds of corn or 300 pounds of wheat screenings, in addition to the rye and grass pasture and ground meal and bone.
Two perennials which are comparatively hard and most beautiful and satisfactory are the Burbank daisy and the lovely cherry-red, hairy carnation pink. You make no mistake in ordering them.
The leguminous crops grown on the farm are the clovers—red, mammoth, white and alsike—alfalfa, peas, beans and vetches. Much of the farmer's prosperity depends on the use he makes of these plants.
Ten million dollars is a vast sum to pay each year for the ravages of one animal, yet this is the figure given by the United States Department of Agriculture as the damage done by the pocket gopher.
A practical method of keeping animals out of corn fields and pastures and cats, from injuring the hedges and its contents, is a section of wire fence cut to the size of the bed, with a detachable clasp on the four sides.
The practical farmer by harvesting the clover in season and securing the hay in the best possible condition can secure an additional profit by feeding out the clover to stock and in saving their excrement without loss of fertility.
It is a matter of common observation that the seed corn on a field which has been plowed in the spring will take a longer time to germinate. This is true in all cases, except when a shower falls shortly after the seed has been sown.

Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and threaten and appetite fail. RALLIES.

To the County School Superintendent, Teachers, Trustees, and Parents, Greetings:
There has been, and is now, a school awakening in Mt. Vernon. But what of the rural districts in Rockcastle? Children throughout this county are being daily robbed of a chance to which they are justly entitled. The school attendance in Rockcastle is small; yet, in many places, it is only fifty per cent, and in many instances, twenty-five per cent. Our children are entitled to the best, but at present, are being cheated out of it. To succeed, they should have sanitary, well ventilated, and larger school rooms with well trained and efficient teachers.
It is true that we have a better lot of teachers than ever before, but the standard can yet be raised for the benefit of all. Then how can the children be induced to attend, that we may get out of this mire of illiteracy? It is a duty required by law that the trustees prosecute those who fail to send their children to school, unless they have a mighty good excuse for their absence. Rockcastle is in dire need of a few prosecutions of this kind. They would teach a splendid lesson.

This paper calls attention to the last election of trustees, as it does every year, with the hope that some interest would be aroused among the people, so that a live progressive trustee may be had in each district. They have an important duty to perform, and it should be on the alert, ready, willing and anxious to perform it. All must join, heart and soul, in this campaign to interest the children in obtaining an education. The movement is now on, and the time is ripe.
Proclaim it from the hilltop, preach it in the valley, let the very welkins ring with the battle cry of "Storm the citadel of ignorance and up with the flag of better school attendance." Talk the Common Schools, help the Common Schools, fight for the children of Rockcastle.
What is our Superintendent doing to increase the attendance and to create more interest among the parents? In Clarke and other Counties, the Superintendent is holding educational rallies. Mr. Kincaid should do something with an eye single to helping the children, Kentucky's future men and women.
Let us do some rallying ourselves. Get busy, Mr. Kincaid, and we will be glad to help you give the movement the greatest publicity possible.
As expected President Taft has voted the bill admitting Arizona and New Mexico, on the ground that Arizona has a provision in her constitution by which her people would be able to exercise the recall that is to remove a judge from his bench by a majority vote. In effect President Taft is saying to Arizona that she shall not come into this Union as a sovereign State, but denies the privilege so far as he can of regulating her affairs in her own way. Of course Arizona can strike out the recall provision and then come in the union, and when once in, she can amend her constitution to include the recall or any other provision she wishes. When the constitution of the United States was framed, it was the desire of the convention to have a state and national judiciary entirely independent of the appointing power. The great revolution which was led by Oliver Cromwell of England and which caused the beheading of Charles I, in 1649 was due entirely to the judicial despotism. The King of England had the right to remove any judge from the bench, and having that power over them, he could get from them any kind of a decision he wanted which of course was an intolerable state of affairs. So we determined to have a constitution that would prevent the president or governor from removing a judge from the bench. However, in recent years the temptation to graft has become so great that our judges are not resisting the temptation to corruption so firmly and there is certainly no objection to the people removing a judge when they are convinced that he is corrupt. The appointing power should not have the right to remove a judge but the people can be trusted with this or any other power. Nobody has ever heard of a majority of any community rising up and condemning a just upright judge, but they should have the right to remove a corrupt or a fraudulent judge from his bench.

POLITICAL FORECAST.

"Ye prophets of old" did by special and divine appointment called inspection, tell the chosen men, then do. In the law and in the record called the "prophets", were ample and full instruction to those for whom the law and the "prophets" were established.
With all of these provisions and safe guards, the people neglected and forgot the law became reproaches, disloyal to Jehovah and brought upon themselves the dire penalties recorded in the "Book of Books". So when the Jewish Nation became extinct as a nation the Book was preserved. It contained and does yet contain God's will as revealed to man in former ages through chosen individuals and in later times, through the Christ, the Son of the Living God.
The will of God is that individuals shall enjoy to the utmost, all the blessings physical and spiritual temporal moral and eternal, that are vouchsafed and bequeathed to his creatures.
The Jewish system of government was of theocracy whose King and law giver was Jehovah, and the agencies through which it was administered were the people themselves under King's and rulers, appointed for the purpose.
Again the Jewish nation and its government was purely political and for temporal benefits primarily.
The "Holy Land" as it is called was bequeathed, to Abraham and his descendants, as an earthly possession to be held and governed by political methods, necessitating devastating and cruel war even to the wiping out, blotting from the map whole tribes and nations.
Now why recount all of this sketch of ancient and medieval history, referring to its political phases?
For political purposes, do you surmise, Yea, verily!
Because there has in time past existed politicians of the partisan type, who affirmed that the 'De calogue had no place in politics'. That public men of the "Sunday School habit, who insisted on pure politics and clean administration of public affairs were not the kind of men to put in office, that "politics and religion shouldn't mix" or that business methods and religion were not closely allied Hence the preacher attended to preaching, and the teacher not but in and denounce the evils, that manifest the evils in school affairs intimately connected with graft, the result of corrupt politicians.

It is notorious fact that preachers have been compelled to give up their positions because of their active opposition to evil practices. The logical conclusion of such premises is that teachers or preachers must keep their mouths shut, and their eyes closed to the corrupt influences of partisan politics.
The Kansas politician retired to who flourished as a Senator several decades ago who affirmed that the "Decalogue had no place in politics soon had his eyes opened by being promptly retired to the swaths of private life and so today thanks be the author of all things good of all good we see men of all shades of politics, standing in defense of the rights of the people of all classes, ascribing that this State and this Nation shall be freed from the domination of privileged classes, who have so long entrenched upon the rights of citizens who are opposed to the deadly influences of graft and intemperance.
When a State like our own has lagged so long in its educational, and material development, with natural resources so abundant, it is high time that the people regardless of former political affiliation, rise up one man to wipe out the prime causes of so much of our illiteracy misery and degradation. The people demand it, and the times are propitious for the removal of some of the most effective dangerous and diabolical causes that handicap our State in its efforts to forge to the front in education and civil and religious advancement.
Not till that is done can we hope to place our State in line with the progressive aggressive States, North and South of us and not till then will our people realize that it is important an necessary that the preacher and the teacher and that class that holds the principles enunciated in the Decalogue as the paramount issue in politics have a word to say in politics and may God speed the day.
Yours for good government.
