COSSIE SUTTON WRITES AN INTERESTING ARTICLE AND MAKES A SERIOUS SUGGESTION.

Being engaged in the general merchandise in this town and interested in the growth and prosperity of it, as well as the development of my own business, I desire to offer a suggestion to the business men of Mount Vernon and Rockcastle County.

I am in favor of the formation of an organization to promote, encourage and advertise the development of the commercial, manufacturing, industrial and civil interest of the city of Mount Vernon and the County of Rockcastle and to the end that the club's usefulness may not be misunderstood or impeded, I would suggest that the organization shall by resolution announce and declare that the Club shall never be committed to the support or endorsement of any candidate for public office and that no subject or measure, sectarian or political, shall be considered or discussed or voted on by the club; that the membership of the club be divided into two classes, active and associate; that the membership fee of the active members shall be ten dollars and that the annual dues shall be fixed by the club, not to exceed fifteen dollars per year, that associate members be admitted under such regulations as the club may provide but that they shall have no right to vote or participate in the management of the club's affairs; that the club elect a secretary and Treasurer, who shall hold office one year and whose salary will be fixed by the club; that there shall be the following committees, on membership, on city and county development, a committee on press, who shall have charge of the publication of all documents and articles suited for publication and shall secure such notices in the news paper or papers as they may deem advantageous to the club and who shall have charge of all printing, etc. That the money collected from the dues and membership fees shall be expended in defraying the salary of the secretary and treasurer and in the development, by publication, through pamphlets, cards and various advertisements in Mount Vernon and Rockcastle County.

We are very much in need of advertising to the world what we have at home, what Mount Vernon offers and what Rockcastle County has, the inviting of manufacturers to locate among us; to advertise our splendid schools, our farming interests, shipping facilities, our beautiful and excellent quality of free stone, lime stone, our splendid sand and gravel, fire brick, cement, pottery, saltpeter as a fertilizer. Mount Vernon should have a population of ten thousand instead of one thousand. She can easily have a taxable value of ten million in stead of two million dollars, but this can only be done by proper advertising. The manufacturers attention needs be called to our inviting fields. We need foreign capital, we need business, to get it, the way, in my opinion, is to get it. By increasing the population of Mount Vernon and Rockcastle, all of us would be benefited. It would not be confined to any one merchant or businessman, but all would share in the profits. It would cause an awakening of every industrial interest and bring into our midst much more money and a high class of people. Prosperous towns and cities have adopted this plan and great have been the results. With the establishment of such a club, there will be a new dawn of civic pride, an awakening of municipal patriotism and the bringing of many industrial plants to this county, which to-day are our greatest needs.

In conclusion, I would suggest that the organization, when formed, be called the "Industrial Club". Respectfully, C. D. Sutton.

NUMBER 61

JUDGE WILLIAMS WRITES ON GOOD ROADS FOR ROCKCASTLE AND HOW TO GET THEM.

In our neighboring County of Lincoln where they have good roads, sixty-five per cent of the children attend the public school in the County of Marshall, where splendid roads prevail, sixty-eight per cent of the children attend school. In Rockcastle, where the roads are a disgrace and abandonment, only thirty-nine per cent of the children attend.

Rockcastle is also known as a "Finger County". This condition is the fault of the people because with bad roads our farmers have not enriched themselves and the children have poor means of education because of the very rough and rocky roads to the school houses. Where you see good roads, you find the farmers with plenty in the purse, neat looking and productive farms and the children well educated. Our citizens have been painfully slow in demanding better highways. Even our good women do not realize their power, or, doing so, fail to exert it for a cause that will greatly benefit the home. The only way to get good roads is to work for them. A Good Roads Association should be formed in Rockcastle for the purpose of an effective agitation of this question. People should fully realize that to win the better roads, we must have improved roads. Such an organization will produce an effective agitation and develop a desire for better roads. It will also encourage the Fiscal Court to construct roads and bridges. Good roads will create a demand for better school houses, larger school districts, more and better qualified teachers.

It is a tragedy to encounter a high grade over a hill, which means excessive use of fuel and slow trained light load, the company cuts down the heavy grades to save coal bills, to move freight faster and to carry bigger train loads. It borrows money to make stronger culverts and bridges, to bear heavier freight in Rockcastle. The railroad officials all agree that it is good business sense and economy to borrow all this money, if it need be, to make these improvements to the people of Rockcastle must have better roads. They must get money with which to build them. With them the farmer can get from his farm to market or the shipping station much quicker and carry a much bigger load. In other words, "Time saved is money made." Not only does the farmer save time by having good roads, but he actually saves money that is now paid out on broken harness, broken wagons, distraction of horses and additional feed for his work stock. Yet all the time he hauls only half a load on bad roads. The association of road advocates largely for their growth and prosperity. The members of a Good Roads Association would know the truth of what we say, but there will be many not members who do not appreciate or understand the true value or advantage derived yearly from improved highways. At these we must keep pointing that they, too may join the association of road advocates, struggling for better highways, that our farmers may make money faster and easier and that their children may have opportunities equal to the children in other states and other counties in "Old Kentucky". Rockcastle children are as worthy of care and attention as other children and we must at least provide them with equal advantages. To do so, the citizens of Rockcastle must be up and doing with a heart and heart for every thing that will improve our general condition. We have been covering a good road tax long enough. Let us begin to pave a good road tax. We will quickly see the advantage of it. At this time we find the people of Rockcastle wanting roads. Hence the best, the quickest and most businesslike way is to submit to the voters of Rockcastle the question of a bond issue for the construction of them, the amount to be equally distributed in the five magisterial districts of the county. Or another plan could be used successfully. Let the Fiscal Court agree to give $1000.00 on each mile of pike to be built, the remainder of the cost to be made up by private subscription. Next year we will have state aid with the help of both, our prospects for better roads are brighter, our people will wake up and vote to benefit themselves and to furnish the children an opportunity for better education.

Mr. Laboring Man, strike and strike hard for better roads, while the merchants and professional men should wake up and drive home to every voter this all important question. Gentlemen we can have better roads in Rockcastle, so let's go to work and get them and rest not until we have them.
Respectfully,
R. G. WILLIAMS.

INTERESTING ARTICLE

In response to a suggestion made by the SIGNAL some time since that we should have a writup of some of the leading families, Mr. D. T. Chesnut, of Oakhollow, who was at last time visiting in Corbin, contributed this splendid article.
Mr. Albright:
I have just read in SIGNAL your suggestion about history of Rockcastle county and I will be glad to render any information I can in way of getting up high facts as will be of interest. I can only remember back to about 1854 and not very much that transpired till after that time as I was born in 1849. My grandfather Little Abe Chesnut lived on the old farm at Pleasant Valley now Cooke. My father Ben Chesnut was born there in 1830 and there were several children older than he so that my grandfather must have lived there as early as 1820 or possibly before that time. W. B. James, Bennett, (my father) Ben, Abe Jr., Lucy (who married Jonathan Newcomb) and Mary the youngest who married Capt. R. L. Myers were the children. My grandmother was Summers Blatt before her marriage all those named I knew and remember well except my uncle Bennett. My grandfather on my mother's side was Charles Colyer and his wife Mary (Polly) Renfro. They began house keeping sometime I think about 1814, or 15 settled in the place now known as Brick Creek and remained there till 1854 and moved to Laurel county; my grandfather Charles Colyer represented Laurel and Rockcastle counties in the Legislature sometime in the 40's at the time the first act of Legislature establishing public school fund and providing a tax of one cent on the $100 worth of property. If I am not mistaken it was that got an appropriation of some lands on Green River to be sold and the proceeds was used in building the primary school in London and I think was the first school in the county. I was then just a boy and remember the culvert and fill at south end of town of Mt. Vernon and the grading of the road "around the hill" going south from Mt. Vernon. While living at Brush Creek (Roundstone) my grandfather engaged in the goods business raising a sum of six six horse teams (with those old fashioned high bed low front wheels and high hind wheels) in hauling goods and selling it between Louisville and points in Va., and Tenn., and on return trips load with county produce, leathers, glassing, beeswax, wrapping twine etc., he also made mill stones and handled those to distant points. I could have known enough of my ancestors to have filled a large book had I cared to before it was too late both my grandfathers were well posted men and would gladly have told me a hundred times more than they did if I had asked them or even let them know that I was anxious to know but I did not and now too late. My grandfather Colyer was in the war of 1812 and his father with 6 brothers 7 brothers in all were in the Revolution and I am very sorry that I do not know more about all of them. My grandfather Jacob Chesnut and three brothers (4 brothers) were the first settlers where Louon now stands. I have traveled a good deal and in every state I have found Chesnuts and Colyers and can always trace Chesnuts back to Ky., and usually to Laurel county the Colliers (Colyers) are a little more difficult to trace back but I knew names of my great grandfather and his six brothers I think I could find where nearly all the Colliers (or Colyers) were at that time. I could tell many anecdotes told me by my grandfather Colyer but will only tell one as told by Wilson of Laurel and I think Smith of Rockcastle. On one occasion my grandfather told Smith that he would be in "some" votes in Laurel and was enough they did. Smith had clients a majority in both counties but had the position at that time was for 3 days after my grandfather was elected some of Smith's friends told him about what he said about wanting the election when Smith said "Don't say things that they will be the crying sensation five of the best friends I had come up and voted against me". I only happened to write a few words to tell you when you got ready. I would like you to what I could learn and now have wrote enough for a column and could tell as much more about other families in Rockcastle as about my own but am out of space.

GOVERNOR McCREARY ANSWERS JUDGE O'REAR

Judge O'Rear has hit one string to his harp "county unit" and he thumps on it all day and far into the night. Although every law for the promotion of temperance in this State has been put on the Statute books by the Democrats...

"Judge O'Rear, in his speech at Nashville, on the 31st day of August asked me to answer the following questions: 'Are you in favor of the extension of the county unit law in Kentucky, etc., and when did you come to that conclusion?'"

"I have already said in my speech today that I endorse every section of the Democratic platform adopted at the State convention at Louisville on the 15th day of August, 1911, but I will say now specifically I am in favor of the extension of the present optional law as applied to the sale of liquors so that there is one of each and every county in the State may determine for themselves whether spirituous, vinous, or malt liquors may be sold there."

"I came to this conclusion some time ago when the question of the extension of the county unit law became prominent, and I regard it as the best plan to settle an important question."

"If Judge O'Rear had read on the day of the State Democratic convention the publication among of the views of the State Democratic candidates for office, he would have known that I and the other candidates for State offices were in favor of extending the county unit law."

Governor McCreary's bold acceptance of O'Rear's challenge will shock that distinguished jurist. He had hoped to put his Democratic opponent in a position where he would repudiate the solemn declarations of his party platform; but he evidently does not know the leader from Madison when his party takes a stand he never falters, and when, as in this case, it is in line with his convictions, he enters the contest with renewed courage.

PELLAGRA vs CORN-BREAD

[Barboursville Advertiser] This is a much discussed question of today. The pellagra exists in this country, is an established fact. The first case reported was three years ago.

Corn-bread has been prominent on the bill-of-fare in Knox County since the first log cabin was erected and the oven was placed in front of the broad chimney fire place.

Now, if the corn products of today were the same as used by our fore-fathers, the question would be in order. "Why did not they develop pellagra?" But they are not. The corn they used was grown here, put up after it was matured and well dried, and allowed to lay in the shucks until mid-winter, when the old fashion husking-bee was in order, and the short, and decayed ears were well aside and only the sound and well matured ears sent into the crib. This was ground in small quantities at the old water mills, or horse mills as they were in use at that period. The boy returning home with his arm assured the household of pure and wholesome bread.

But today, the mill boys are few, the water mills have vanished in decay, the grist mill in the country are run so fast that the meal is still hot when emptied into the barrel at home.

Corn's scarce and much faulty corn is sent to mill.

One cause of bad corn in this country is the eager desire to save seed, causing the farmer to cut and shuck his corn too sappy and too many cobs mold developed, the fit and nutritious part is destroyed, and meal made from this corn is not healthy. But this is not all of the story; as in the west where much corn is grown for the market, both at home and abroad, the farmer wishes to market his corn early, needing the money and desiring to get the job off his hands, the product is gathered and thousands of bushels are piled in the fields, some of it not mature.

After the shucks are removed it is shelled by machinery, not in the manner in which we used to shell with bare hands when every ear was closely inspected. It is then loaded into tight boxes and shipped to the mills. If it should heat while in transit, which quite a lot of it does, it is rushed through dryers before grinding and bolting, so, when the consumer receives this meal, nicely put up in sacks of uniform size and branded in large colored letters, with no assurance that it has not been shipped damp, heated and mottled in transportation or in elevators, nor having been dried before grinding.

While the exact cause of pellagra is unknown, indications point to corn products as being not the least contributory to its existence. What shall we do? Must we stop using corn for bread purposes? I think not, as it is one of the staple food products and would be much missed from our tables on account of its popularity, as well as being the leading crop of this country, hence, making it a cheap, as well as palatable food.

Typoid fever germs are known to exist in drinking water, well and drink the water. Tuberculosis beil is known to be in milk, still we drink milk. In the latter we endeavor to avoid the contamination. Let this same rule apply to corn products. Patronize home industry as much as possible, using only Kentucky raised corn, ground at the mills in the vicinity of your homes, even if the wheels turn slowly and the time passes with some impatience felt on account of waiting. Leave corn syrups and starches off the menu. Every farmer should keep the very best corn out of his year's crop, placing it in a dry and well ventilated crib, for bread purposes. Trying to help the Pellagrains in every way possible, if there be any of the unfortunate in the community, and I believe disease due to be contagious unless science proves it to be otherwise.

Dr. M. Pennington, Boonville, Ky.

O'REAR WANTS TO CHANGE THE SUBJECT

No matter what policies the Republican national and State administration are committed to, they must not be discussed in Kentucky this fall, because it might offend Judge O'Rear, whose peculiar mind can only shelter one idea at a time, and whose high sensitive organization is so easily disturbed.

When President Taft comes out for reciprocity and has to rely on Democratic votes to pass the measure, and Congressman Langley, O'Rear's Campaign Manager votes against it, no mention must be made of the matter, because it annoys the super sensitive Judge. When President Taft urges Republican Senators to pass the abrogation treaties, and Ex President Roosevelt appeals to them to defeat them, no reference must be made to the fact this year because Judge O'Rear wants to change the subject.

When a Democratic house passes bills reducing the tariff on wool, and the farmers and laborers free list bill, and the Democrats of the Senate with the aid of Republican insurgents enact these measures into laws, and a Republican President vetoes them, every Kentucky speaker must keep silent on the subject for the reason that Judge O'Rear publicly confesses that he has never read the bills nor heard of the vetoes.

When the official records show that Governor Wilson spent in three years and a half over $700,000 for State militia, Judge O'Rear objects to Governor McCreary's discussion of the matter, although the Republican platform, which he and Caleb Powers wrote, unreservedly endorses Wilson's administration. Nor does the Republican candidate thank his voters for anybody to quote from the records the astonishing fact that Governor Wilson's Board of Equalization raised the value of farm lands for assessment purposes $61,000,000 to help pay the debt incurred in running out the troops.

Judge O'Rear will not permit the discussion of national questions in this Campaign, although he is urging the election of a Republican Legislature which will send to the United States Senate a man who, like Bradley, will vote against the reduction of the tariff and will line up with the predatory trusts.

Judge O'Rear will not permit a discussion of the issues that have been raised by an incompetent, extravagant Republican State administration, because he does not
