

Joseph Pulitzer's school of journalism at Columbia University is to be established according to the plans of the great journalist who endowed it, and much good may come of its establishment, but the best school journalism left by Mr. Pulitzer was that which he built with the work of his tireless brain and at the expense of his relentlessly driven body in Park Row.

The late William Nye once told the truth in just when he wrote an essay upon preparation for journalism in which he would occupy the aspirant's tasks that would occupy 100 years. "The student should then spend a few years in reading and travel, after which he will be prepared to begin journalism at the bottom and gradually work up to the editorial chair," said Mr. Nye. Into his list of branches of learning that should be mastered the humorist put a great quantity of those that would be useful to an editor, admitting at the same time that the list was not complete. The kernel of truth in the humorous article was that no kind of knowledge that is not merely half-knowledge comes amiss in journalism, and that no journalist need hope to learn all that the ideal writer for the press should know.

Schools of journalism may teach young men much of that which they should know, but there will still be room at the top, and a room to the top, though not a real one, for royal roads are rare, for the bright young man who has a good general education, plus a nose for news, a leg for the chase, a stomach for work and a "job" upon the local staff of a strong and sane newspaper. Those who attend the school of journalism at Columbia should be benefited. The young man who learns plain and fancy book-keeping at a commercial school has a certain advantage over the young man who begins by sweeping out the store, works up to the position of salesman, makes entries in the day book and learns to advance them to the journal and the ledger, but at fifty there is little difference in the equipment of the two provided they were equal in general education, mentality and industry at the beginning.

A school of journalism was rather a hobby of Mr. Pulitzer, who knows how many reporters begin without suitable equipment and how few editors even among the most successful, do not regret that they have not four times as much stored up knowledge as they possess. But as witness of that genius and gift may do without a special education or special work there stands the World building. And as a practical school of journalism, there is the World.

President Taft was the guest of honor at the unveiling of the statue of Abraham Lincoln in the rotunda of the Capitol at Frankfort. Henry Watterson delivered the address presenting the statue to Kentucky on behalf of its donor, James B. Speed, of Louisville. The gift was received for the State by Gov. Wilson. An immense assemblage, in which were many visitors from outside States, attended the exercises. Mr. Taft was Louisville's guest Wednesday night, speaking at a public reception at the Armory and later at the Press Club banquet.

TOWN TALK

One trouble with our beloved country is, we are doing a lot of big work that doesn't amount to anything.

If you don't get "No" pretty often your money wouldn't last long.

Every little while a good gentleman appears with a statement that death under the age of a hundred and fifty years is unnatural. Here's where Doc Wiley comes in; people believe they become old at seventy because storekeepers sell them adulterated food.

Did any one ever pay you a compliment without adding a stinger of some sort?

Honesty not only means that the other fellow should be square with you; it also means that you should be fair with the other fellow.

I have known a certain man thirty-three years and when he is in a drinking whiskey is acting like a temperance pledge. And so far as I am able to make out he divides his time about equally between the two occupations; he has never been shot, apparently, to decide which suits him best.

In country towns, we are often fooled by "opera bouffe" companies that the girls in the chorus wear almost nothing; the men talk of the show in a mysterious way, and the women are jealous. But when the show arrives, it is a wretched affair, and we find we have been "sold" again. I suppose everyone imagines that he is greatly misunderstood. There is probably no fact more creditable to this country than that the buffalo has been driven from the Western plains, in order that the plains may be occupied by farmers. Yet some people are always complaining because the buffalo has been exterminated.

It is a poor writer who has not at some time in his career been likened to a mule, and who is supposed to be an old wretch second only to the devil in meanness.

Democrats and Republicans respectively scored in the election battle outside. Eugene N. Fox, Democrat, was re-elected Governor by a plurality of about 7,000. The remainder of the ticket is claimed by the Republicans. Tammany Hall won in New York county, by greatly reduced pluralities, while the Republicans gained control of the lower house of the New York Legislature. Democratic Mayors were elected by Cleveland, Cincinnati and Columbus. Socialists made pronounced gains in Ohio, electing candidates for Mayor in several of the smaller cities. At a late hour the result in Maryland was in doubt, with the Republicans claiming the election of Goldsborough, candidate for Governor. At midnight the returns indicated a general Republican victory in Rhode Island.

STARTS MUCH TROUBLE. If all people knew that neglect of constipation would result in severe indigestion, yellow jaundice or virulent liver trouble they would soon take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and end it. It is the only safe way. Best for biliousness, headache, dyspepsia, chills and debility. 25c at Chas. Davis.

The official count of Rockcastle in Tuesday election, gives O'Rear for governor a majority of 694 over McCreary; Bethuram for auditor carries the county by 745 over his opponent Henry M. Bosworth and in the Senatorial race Joe E. Beazley ran away with himself carrying the county 639 over his opponent, Dr. J. Harry Hendren. The stock law carried in Brown's precinct by a majority of 104 and in Broadhead the majority to keep up the cows was 85 making a total of 100 majority in the two precincts.

From the general talk, it will not be very long until the stock law will be voted upon in every magisterial district in the county. In the representative and railroad commissioner races, the republican had no opposition and of course the democrats ran along with the rest of the ticket. ONE OF THE SEVEN HEIFERS. measured that morning. When she was led to the horns near by I knew she was a royal princess, for the stable boy was waiting to throw her overboard over her head and lead her to her stall.

"How many heifers have you here?" I asked the stable boy when he had finished leading her to her stall. "I have my hands full this time," he exclaimed. "I have seven to take care of. That about the limit which you are doing the State Fair, all right."

I left the barn and went out into the road to think the matter over. A school visited only the day before when a young man in Jefferson county was sitting in a room with six boys and girls in all eight grade and another school where a first week was reported that I have seen 100 in one room.

The roadway was crowded with rowdy looking boys and girls, brown with the kisses of a summer sun. They were laughing and chattering, full of mischief and fun.

I had known for a long time that Kentucky's standing in matters educational was very low. I had known that she was in the grip of illiteracy with all its attendant evils, but I had hardly expected to find such a large number of her rural population, who are simply "to let things go."

The old gentleman stroked his eyes and I felt certain that I had made a vivid impression. "You bet," he exclaimed. He caught sight of my camera and continued, "Don't you want to take a snapshot of my heifer?"

As he turned the splendid young animal into position for a photograph I had a chance to look her over carefully. I was certain she was of royal blood for her horns looked like polished ebony and her eye balls had been

A fine boy arrived at the home of Ge. Evans, Orlando, Wednesday. The Mt. Vernon Dramatic Club will present "Mr. Bob" the two act comedy at Broadhead Nov. 17th. Should all arrangements be perfected and the troupe go down we hope that our sisters town will give them the patronage they so justly deserve.

The play is well put on and will be appreciated wherever presented. In the town election the first ward composed of Rob. Welch, J. J. Lawrence, R. A. Welch, M. J. Tiller and E. B. Brown won by majorities ranging from 14 to 25 over the last board announced which was composed of R. A. Parks, W. T. Davis, S. T. Proctor, V. M. Poynter and Dr. R. W. Lynch. The town election was so important that it was of more importance than the State and so far as the voters within the corporate limits were concerned, was about the only thing considered.

The "hucky party" given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Lynch last Friday night was one of the most enjoyable occasions of the season. The prize offered by the ticket couple was awarded to Miss Lella Mae Lovell and Mr. Herbert Cox. Religious songs which included a pumpkin with a good and larger snipe served from wooden jars were served by Misses Viola Jones, Anna Tate and Virginia York. About fifty were present. Everyone reports a delightful time.

GROWING ALFALFA.

IN KENTUCKY—A PROFITABLE
CROP WHICH IS A SUBSTITUTE FOR CLOVER HAY.

Present hay prices seem to necessitate alfalfa culture in it. It has been successfully grown by Mr. W. P. Glens, of Shelby City, Mr. Allen S. Edele, of Burgin, and others by sowing it in broad prepared soil for hemp and preferable the seed should be sown from the Kansas Experiment Station, and inoculated with bacteria from the Commissioner of Agriculture, after the soil has been coated with 5 to 10 pounds of lime to the acre, sown broadcast with manure, and covered together with a few pounds of seed, one inch. Sown in this locality in September the plants become rooted before freezing weather and produce a heavy crop in May, when the plants after the hay has been cured on tripods of poles and wire, should be diced to split the crowns of the plant to eradicate weeds that the second harvest in six weeks may be heavier and free of weeds growth. There being four crops annually, the yield is from three to five times as great as in clover, a cousin not so rich in protein and less food value for horses, as well as other stock. Any one may grow alfalfa who will use care in the incupation of soil and seed which is necessary in Kentucky, since our land is not in its nature fertile to this plant and propagation will not take place without artificial means, which can be done here by manure and treatment with lime.

The bacteria is sensitive to light, and the seed must be sown and covered in the dark, or on a cloudy day or at sun down, and for that reason the successful growers whose names are mentioned, sowed only six to ten acres at first year and increased the average when the value of the crop was estimated from experience.
Those interested in better hay will learn the details of alfalfa growing, as in addition to fertilizer for this land the yield this year per acre at $1.75 per hundred pounds will equal the value of the land on which the crops were grown.

ELECTION DAY HAD SURPRISES

There Were Several Political Reversals.

KENTUCKY NOTABLE EXAMPLE

McCreary, Democrat, Carries the State For Governor by One of the Biggest Majorities Ever Given in the Blue Grass State—Gov. Sang James Cincinnati, Dix Gets a Rebuff and Maryland Goes Republican.

New York, Nov. 8.—Tuesday's battle of the ballots brought out several significant features. In this state Governor Dix has been rebuffed by a complete reversal of the general assembly. A year ago the New York state assembly stood 47 Democrats to 63 Republicans. As a result of Tuesday's elections the assembly this week stood, Republican, 102; Democcratic last year, which would give Governor Wilson an opposite assembly to work with.

For the second time in over thirty years Kentucky elected a Republican state ticket, Phillip Lee Goldsborough defeating Arthur P. Gorman by a majority of 3,000 or more. The Republican state chairman claims the state by 5,000 and over.

There were several interesting majority contests. Henry T. Hunt, the young Democratic proponent who futilely presented Isaac Cox on the charge of perjury, was elected mayor of Cincinnati by a decisive majority over Mayor Schwab, Cox organization candidate for re-election. Hunt carried the entire Democratic city ticket with him.

Rudolph Blankenship, Independent Republican and Democrat, was elected mayor of Philadelphia by about 1,000 over George H. Earle, organization Republican candidate.

E. C. O'REAR

Unsuccessful Candidate for Governor.

St. Louis, Nov. 8.—In New York City the fight between Tammany and the Republican-Hearst fusionists was renewed. Tammany again coming out on top, the highest plurality for any of its judicial candidates being about 8,000. In Brooklyn, however, the fusion county ticket was victorious.

Kentucky also gave a reversal, the Democrats there coming into their own, giving former Senator James B. McCreary, the Democratic candidate for governor, a majority of about 3,000, the largest that any candidate for governor has received in that state for many years. Both branches of the legislature will be Democratic, thus insuring Congressmen Ollie James' election to the United States senate.

New Mexico at its first state election polled the heaviest vote it ever cast. Many scornful critics made the counting slow. The Democratic central committee claims the state for McDonald by 4,500 and the election of McDonald seems assured.

The most strenuous efforts of the Republicans of Massachusetts pro Eugene N. Foss out of the governor's they elected a board of supervisors almost solely anti-fusion.

In Pittsburg all the Republican candidates for county offices swept everything before them, the average majorities in the county running close to 20,000.

At Columbia, O. G. J. Kern, Democrat, defeated Mayor George R. Marshall, reform Republican, for reelection by a plurality of 4,000 on a total vote of 45,000. Marshall lost thousands as a result of his attitude during the Streator strike a year ago.

The legislative election in Virginia produced no material change in the complexion of the general assembly. At least 85 out of the 100 members of the house of delegates are Democrats.

The election passed off quietly in Mississippi, a small vote being polled because of lack of interest and for the reason that it was raining all day.

In the Cook county (Chicago) judicial elections the parties divided evenly by the superior court judgeship, and the Democrat elected one circuit judge. A higher pay for judges proposed was defeated.

From indications the election in Nebraska was a Republican victory, although the only congressional election to hold an election, went Democratic by a large majority. Three members of the supreme court elected were all Republicans.

IN KENTUCKY

McCreary and the entire Democratic ticket is probably for this reason more than any other, that there has been such a marked reversal over the last few years. The most interesting features of the election in the state are the victory of the Socialists in the municipal election in Chattanooga and the defeat of Thomas Mott Osborne, one of Governor Dix's most bitter enemies, as mayor of Auburn, Maine, is the leader of the Democratic party of Auburn county and is considered a bit of a Democrat in the stock type. He has always been a bitter opponent of C. P. Murray of Kentucky, and one of the most ardent supporters of the late Governor Dix in his candidature for United States senator before the legislature last winter. It was said last winter that Murray might have run for Osborne but he took his own party, the Auburn team, to hang on.

Democrat of Jefferson county. State Treasurer—Thomas G. Rhea of Logan county. Auditor—Henry Bowdoin of Fayette county. Attorney General—James Garbutt of Adair county. Secretary of State—C. F. Crecelius of Pendleton county. Superintendent of Public Instruction—Barkadale Hamlett of Christian county. Commissioner of Agriculture—J. W. Newman of Woodford county. Clerk of Court for Appellate—R. L. Greene of Franklin county. Railroad Commissioner—William F. King of Fayette county.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—An eleventh hour landslide toward the Democratic ticket in Kentucky gave James B. McCreary, the Democratic nominee for governor, the largest majority that any candidate for governor has received in Kentucky for many years. Indications are that his majority will reach 25,000. Both branches of the legislature will be Democratic, insuring Congressmen Ollie James' election to the United States senate.

AT CINCINNATI
Hunt Completes the Downfall of the Cox Organization.

Cincinnati, Nov. 8.—Henry T. Hunt, the young Democratic proponent of the only county ticket of the Cox organization to retain control of the city and county offices; also in spite of the fact that Mr. Hart a few days ago, in an open letter to former Mayor Finckelmann, declared his intention of voting against entering Republican ticket, thus in effect, repudiating his famous speech at Akron, G. denouncing the Cincinnati boss.

These results were in spite of the vigorous, even almost frantic efforts of the old guard of the Cox organization to retain control of the city and county offices; also in spite of the fact that Mr. Hart a few days ago, in an open letter to former Mayor Finckelmann, declared his intention of voting against entering Republican ticket, thus in effect, repudiating his famous speech at Akron, G. denouncing the Cincinnati boss.

A DETERMINED FIGHT
Both Parties Claimed the Victory Up to the Last Moment.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—Up to the very hour the polling places were closed the managers of both the Republican and Democratic parties claimed the state, the latter by 21,000, while the Republicans pointed to the fact that four years ago Kentucky went Republican by 12,000 and that conditions were even better this year than they were then. Their claim was 15,000.

During the last week of the campaign there had been much activity on the part of Democratic leaders, while there had been more or less inactivity on the part of Republicans. Republican leaders declared thousands of dollars were thrown into eastern Kentucky. They claimed that the Democrats were trying to buy the state. In a proclamation issued at the close of the campaign Governor Wilson promised indignantly to the man who informed of such a move that if such conditions were even better this year than they were then. Their claim was 15,000.

The campaign had been a vituperative one, and it was feared that the factions of the mountains which broke out years ago at each election might again bring Kentucky into the limelight. Every precaution was taken to prevent any trouble on election day.

Their claim was 15,000.

During the last week of the campaign there had been much activity on the part of Democratic leaders, while there had been more or less inactivity on the part of Republicans. Republican leaders declared thousands of dollars were thrown into eastern Kentucky. They claimed that the Democrats were trying to buy the state. In a proclamation issued at the close of the campaign Governor Wilson promised indignantly to the man who informed of such a move that if such conditions were even better this year than they were then. Their claim was 15,000.

The campaign had been a vituperative one, and it was feared that the factions of the mountains which broke out years ago at each election might again bring Kentucky into the limelight. Every precaution was taken to prevent any trouble on election day.

If the building, the main building, looks like a country school, it is much worse. It looks like a country school and that is not a compliment of being and fear the fact that the school is in such a state that it is not a schoolhouse, it is a place of a donation party.

It is merely a sum of money that is being used to keep the school in operation. The school is a place where the children are kept, and the school is a place where the children are kept, and the school is a place where the children are kept.

Joseph Pulitzer's school of journalism at Columbia University is to be established according to the plans of the great journalist who endowed it.

The late William Nye once told the truth in just when he wrote an essay upon preparation for journalism in which he set for the aspirants tasks that would occupy ten years.

Schools of journalism may teach young men much of that which they should know, but there will still be room at the top, and a road to the top, though not a royal one.

position of salesman, makes entries in the day book and learns to advance them to the journal and the ledger, but at fifty there is little difference in the equipment of the two provided they were equal in general education, mentality and industry at the beginning.

A school of journalism was rather a hobby of Mr. Pulitzer, who knows how many reporters begin without suitable equipment and how few editors even among the most successful, do not regret that they haven't four times as much stored up knowledge as they possess.

President Taft was the guest of honor at the unveiling of the statue of Abraham Lincoln in the rotunda of the Capitol at Frankfort. Henry Watterson delivered the address presenting the statue to Kentucky on behalf of its donor, James B. Speed, of Louisville.

TOWN TALK

One trouble with our best country is, we are doing a lot of big work that doesn't amount to anything.

If you don't say "No" pretty often your money wouldn't last long.

Every little while a good gentleman appears with a statement that he has made the age of a hundred and fifty years is unnatural.

Did any one ever pay you a compliment without adding a stinger of some sort?

Honesty not only means that the other fellow should be square with you, it also means that you should be fair with the other fellow.

I have known a certain man thirty-three years and when he is not drinking whiskey, he is circulating a temperance pledge.

In country towns, we are often fooled by "opera bouffe" companies. The story gets around that the girls in the chorus wears almost nothing; the men talk of the show in a mysterious way, and the women are jealous.

"Suds" again. I suppose everyone imagines that he is greatly misunderstood. There is probably no fact more creditable to this county than that the buffalo has been driven from the Western plains, in order that the plains may be occupied by farmers.

Democrats and Republicans respectively scored in the election held outside Eugene N. Fox, Democrat, was elected Governor by a plurality of about 7,000.

The crowd that witnessed the naval reviewed from Riverside Drive, New York, was estimated at 2,000,000.
