LIVINGSTON

Mr. R. L. Thomas, of Winchester, is in our town this week looking after his lumber that is being cut here. He will ship several cars to Winchester where he will build a large planing mill. J. W. Baker, of Mt. Vernon, was here Monday having a lot of cross ties inspected. Walter Blanford, of La Follette, Tenn., is visiting his brother C. A. Blanford of this place. App Taylor was in Livingston Monday. Trip Singleton has a postoffice with the Rail Road Co. at Bradford, Ky. Mrs. J. B. Hayes has returned from Paris where she was called on account of one of her grandchildren being very sick.

Miss Lydia Cook is visiting relatives at Mt. Vernon this week. Frank and Harry Orndoff who have positions in Louisville are with her. Mrs. C. E. Rice and W. E. Gray have returned from a 10 days fishing trip at Rockcastle springs and spent a nice time. They were overboard a conversation between W. M. Hicks and a friend who informed Mart of a chance for him to get married. He explained to Mart that he knew of an old lady who wanted a husband and that she had all kind of stock and a fine farm. After the man was through Mart put him to the following questions: How old is she? Ans. 72. Has she a clear title to the farm? Ans. Yes. Is the farm well fenced and improved? Ans. It is. Has she any near relatives that could effect my title after her death? Ans. I am not certain. Mart said well you find out and let me know. It may be that this is the old gal that I have been looking for all the time. She said that Mart got married he has got to have a farm thrown in. Now I have been trying to help Mart find a wife for some time but since we have learned that he has to have a farm in the bargain we have resigned. R. J. Lemonds is in Louisville this week. Mrs. F. Neighbors has returned from Louisville where she has been visiting relatives for the past week. Mrs. J. W. Browning and little son Sammie are visiting relatives in Mt. Vernon. John R. Carter and children after a pleasant visit with friends and relatives here have returned to Lebanon. J. C. E. Rice was in Mt. Vernon Monday. Mrs. W. H. Cottongim left a few days ago and received a very painful injury and is now confined to her room. Mr. Henry Daugherty and Miss Annie Durham were married Tuesday the 4th. Rev. Richard Moberly officiating. May peace and happiness be their lot. Marshall Pennington has been working some hands on the streets and greatly improving them. A. H. Hamlin of Morehead was in our town Sunday. Miss Annie Walton is clerking in the Kruger store. Wade Graves the telephone man is here getting in new phones and repairing the lines.

CHAS. C. DAVIS PLEADS FOR PIKES.

Pike Rockcastle is our slogan. I never see our people so enthusiastic over any one thing in all my life as they are on the question of pikes. Every since the three miles of pike has been completed we have been going into the coal region of our county, it is constantly on everybody's tongue, lets do more of it. So we must assuredly can, as this is all our county and ours to do as we please.

Next November is our chance to show our citizens our most worthy magistrates have certainly shown to our people what they will do, so lets fix things so they can do still more. My understanding is that the lowest county official from the every county official from the lowest county to the far away county to the county to the Judge who sits upon the high peak of our city are for it, so why not strike while the iron is hot. If we should wait till all the enthusiasm dies down it will be harder to explain the road proposition to those who are not taking every mile of road that line. Notice if you please who it is that is constantly calling for some way for better roads and you will find him to be a man who stands for the right on nearly all public affairs. Where is the argu- ment of Mr. H. at Mt. Vernon, our grand old county? We are the best people on earth and there is nothing too good for the best. I feel like some of our friends, when they say they don't know whether it would be best to float bonds or not, that they would not say that when they give the second thought. If the citizens who pay the high tax are for it, why is not the poor man in favor of it when it stands him absolutely nothing, but on the other hand furnishes him work, and as the man that owns a good piece of farm, that he thinks high at two or three dollars per acre, what if the county will make a good pike right by his place. What then will he say about the land? He will at once think more of his place, yet ten times more of it, than ever before. Now are we going to let these golden opportunities pass by us by a business to grasp them like a greedy people should. Take the man who hauls coal, lumber and other material for a livelihood over our roads to day and ask him what he can earn with his team and he will at once say, just barely enough to feed my family. What would be his reply if he had pikes? Now, this is not a political issue but something that concerns every citizen of our county, so lets be up and doing before it is ever lastingly too late. What better investments can we offer to the home seeker than good roads, good schools and good churches, all of which we love, have with this one exception, that of pikes.

Our neighbors all around us are making great strides, for road improvements so sooner or later we are compelled to do so more. Now lets all with one accord join in and sing that only hymn of salvation for Rockcastle, Pike, Pike, Pike. Yours for good roads, CHAS. C. DAVIS.

It is worse than useless to take any medicine internally for muscular or chronic rheumatism. All that needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. For sale by Chas. C. Davis.

Hobbs—This being leap year I suppose it is proper to say "She led him to the altar." Hobbs—It is proper all the time. It is the bride who does the steering, the man generally has nothing to do. Hobbs—I am sorry for your wife during the sermon this morning, doctor. She had such a dreadful fit of coughing that the eyes of the whole congregation were fixed upon her. Hobbs—Don't be unduly alarmed. She was wearing her new hat for the first time.

The revival at the Christian Church closed Thursday night with a number of additions. The preaching by Rev. D. G. Combs, of Morehead, Ky., was fine. He is seventy six years old, but is a very able preacher. MAN COUGHS AND BREAKS RIBS. After a frightful coughing spell a man in Morehead, Wis., felt the pain in his side and his doctor found two ribs had been broken. What agony Dr. King's New Discovery would have saved him. A few teaspoonfuls end a late cough while persistent use cures obstinate coughs, expels tubercles or colds or heals weak, sore lungs. I feel sure your God send to humanity, writes Mrs. Effie Morton, Columbia, Mo. "for I believe I would have consumption today, if I had not used this great remedy." It is guaranteed to satisfy and you can get a free trial bottle or 50-cent or $1.00 size at Chas. C. Davis. Steve's My grandfather lived to nearly ninety and never used glasses. A small boy, astride of a donkey, was taking some supplies to an army camp and got there just as a detachment of soldiers, preceded by a band, was marching past. The lad dismounted and held the bridle of the donkey tightly in his hand.

"Why are you holding onto your brother so hard?" asked a soldier. "I'm afraid he might enlist like his uncle Cull McChure did," said the lad without batting an eyelash.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach diseased portion of ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is usually the result of an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running, or a stuffed up ear, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the cause is removed, the hearing will never be restored. Deafness is the result, and unless the cause is removed, the hearing will never be restored. Deafness is the result, and unless the cause is removed, the hearing will never be restored.

OUR LARGEST ENTERPRISE THE SPARDA PLANT

GRAPHICALLY DESCRIBED BY BY James Maret.

Sparda, the stone crushing plant just out of the town limits South West of Mt. Vernon, took its name from the firm of Sparks & Davis, the founders of the works...

As an air compressor and reservoir is among the machinery to be found in the engine room. The stone is brought to crusher in two ways, one by horse carts and other by tram cars drawn by stationary hoisting steam engine.

comes first as to put all the "screenings" and dust into their proper compartment of the bins; then follows the large sizes in rotation. The first on lower screen already mentioned, holds out all pieces of stone that refuse to pass through the three inches meshes and feeds them into a conveyor which carries them to the "little" crusher which breaks them up to proper size and puts them back on the elevator en route to the bins.

The steam drills, of which there are three in use, cut holes anywhere up to depth of 18 feet of two to two and half inches in diameter. The gasoline or big drill cuts a hole of five and half inches in diameter and can cut to the depth of 150 feet though 32 feet is the greatest depth now necessary to go as that is present limit of face exposed ledge.

It requires three men to feed the crusher, Asher Cummings, Henry Helled and Henry Henzman does the trick. The tram track is run on an elevated above the crusher, out of way of carts and machinery of carts so arranged that they are "self dumping".

The steam drills, of which there are three in use, can also be run by air pressure; this is especially agreeable to the drill men in summer time as the exhausting air is cold and pleasant. The oldest steam drill man in line of service on the works is Tink Owens, the old powder man.

blithed onto a hand operated dynamo or battery which generates a sufficient charge of electricity to explode all the charges simultaneously. The air pressure or dinky drills have a capacity of putting down holes of any depth up to six feet.

The other steam drills are in charge of Johnathan How and Tom Cliff who know how to do the work. The "big" drill is run in two shifts, night and day under charge of Bert Baker, days and G. L. Cunningham, night.

The officers, managers and etc. are as follows: W. J. Sparks, president and general manager of W. J. Sparks, Co., incorporated; R. A. Sparks, assistant general manager and machinist; A. G. Bartlett, secretary...

Following the ballast after it reaches the bins cars from the "upper" track are dropped down one at a time. The bin and a baller iron chark is lowered an iron sliding door is opened and the ballast pours in a stream, regulated to run fast or slow as desired until car is filled when it is run down to "lower" or staking track.

Lucas Overbay is foreman at Sparks Quarry; Grover Johnson, timekeeper and manager of quarry and farm, George Durham clerk commissary clerk. Blake Taylor engineer.

The Cluro sand plant while not so extensive a plant as the others but well equipped for the work is superintended by R. L. Payne who also has a position at Martins Station.
