MR. BRYAN RESISTED MARSHALL

But Delegates Ride Down His Will.

A FINAL HUMILIATION

Commoner Injects Old Line-Up In Second-Place Race.

BEATEN BY A BIG MAJORITY

Hoosier Executive Named On Ticket With Woodrow Wilson.

For President—Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey.
 For Vice President—Thomas H. Marshall of Indiana.

Baltimore, July 3.—This is the ticket named by the Democratic national convention. The nomination of Mr. Wilson came at 3:30 yesterday afternoon on the fourth ballot of the day and the forty-sixth of the convention. Wilson on the final vote got 990, Clark 84 and Harmon 12. The nomination was thus made unanimous.

Governor Marshall was nominated at 1:55 this morning, after two ballots had been voted. The convention adjourned two minutes later. The nomination was made unanimous. Governor Burke of North Dakota was Marshall's principal rival for the honor.

William J. Bryan caused trouble in the closing scenes of the convention by taking the platform and indorsing Governor Burke and United States Senator George F. Chamberlain of Oregon as against Marshall. Charles F. Murphy and other leaders who have been fighting Bryan lined up for Marshall.

In the first ballot Burke got 205 1/2, Marshall, 589; Chamberlain, 157; Elmer Hurst of Illinois, 77; Mayor Preston of Baltimore, 55; Wade of Iowa, 26; William F. McComb, Wilson's campaign manager, 18, and others scattering.

On the second ballot Marshall received 645 1/2 as compared with 327 1/2 by Burke, and 12 1/2 by Chamberlain. The chairman of the North Dakota delegation thereupon moved that the nomination be made unanimous after having withdrawn Governor Burke's name. This was a final defeat and humiliation for Bryan in the convention. His efforts were made by leaders to persuade Champ Clark to accept the nomination for vice president, but he declined.

THRILLING MOMENTS

Details of Proceedings Which Led to Nominations.

Baltimore, July 3.—When the convention reassembled yesterday afternoon after having in previous sessions taken forty-two ineffectual ballots in an effort to nominate a candidate for president, the news was all around that New York in caucus had decided to stand by Clark. Murphy and Senator Stone, the latter's press and determined, were conferring. Stone was appealing to the Tammany leader to stand by Clark until the end. Nobody doubted that the Missourians themselves would hold fast. The result of the overnight conference was apparent when the forty-third ballot was announced. Clark had 539, a loss of 115; Wilson 633, a gain of 100; Underwood 639, a loss of 514; Harmon 11, Post 27; Kern 1; Bryan 11.

In a second working order, the Wilson nomination was then stepped up for the second time.

were weakening in all the divided delegations and even in the states that had been voting solidly for the speaker. Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston announced the vote of Massachusetts as 9 for Wilson and 27 for Foss. Delegates who were weary of candidates who had no earthly chance shouted to Fitzgerald to withdraw Foss's name, but he shook his head pugnaciously and insisted that the vote be recorded as he had given it. When the vote of the entire convention was called, Murphy arose quickly, took two steps up the aisle and shouted the old familiar "Work cats go for Clark."

He fairly snapped his teeth as he called it. Tammany was dying hard. The intimacy of Bryan's triumph—for a Wilson victory was so regarded by the New Yorkers—was hateful to Murphy and most of the men behind him. The Missourians, the men from California under the leadership of Theodore A. Bell, the crowd from Arkansas and the delegates from the Clark states cheered for Murphy, but their applause was weak and perfunctory. There was not a good cheer left in the whole Clark crowd. Texas plumped for Wilson into the Wilson camp, and the chairman shouted, "the next president of the United States." Another Clark member ordered him to stand down. It looks could have stabbed him he would have been a goner. The chairman broke out again and delegates went to their feet in a splendid demonstration. The only people who did not join in the cheering were Missouri and New York. They sat silent and glum. Charles F. Murphy was glowing all over the floor, counting leaders who might be relied upon to stand against the Wilson advocates. He was showing more activity than he had done at any time since the convention met. The cheering broke out again and delegates went to their feet in a splendid demonstration. The only people who did not join in the cheering were Missouri and New York. They sat silent and glum. Charles F. Murphy was glowing all over the floor, counting leaders who might be relied upon to stand against the Wilson advocates. He was showing more activity than he had done at any time since the convention met.

At the beginning of the forty-sixth ballot Senator Bankhead, Mr. Underwood's representative in the convention, pushed his way through the excited crowd until the massive Ollie James shattered him.

"Senator Bankhead wishes to have the roll call suspended," shouted Chairman James, "until he has had the opportunity to make a statement for Alabama." Those who had been informed of the stratagem in the maneuvering of the leaders on the floor felt it was all over, and the great gathering became as still as death. Senator Bankhead began a telling speech in harmony's behalf, ending by withdrawing Underwood's name before the convention and releasing from their obligation all who had been instructed to vote for him.

The Wilson men waited patiently until they had heard Senator Bankhead release the delegates instructed for Underwood, and then they cut loose. Chairman James banged the gavel and pleaded with the crowd, but it was some time before he got any semblance of order.

Before Senator Bankhead had finished speaking, Senator Stone of Missouri, Champ Clark's campaign manager, had started for the speaker's stand. Charles F. Murphy, standing in the aisle at the head of the New York delegation, watched the effect. Senator Bankhead's speech and then he hustled around and whispered a word here and there to the leaders who were fighting to keep at least one-third of the delegates in the Clark column until the nomination of Wilson might be blocked. Murphy's face was redder than usual, and he showed some excitement. Senator Bankhead's speech, all the Clark realists, meant the utter defeat of the speaker. All their predictions that at no time would Wilson get over 600 votes, had been swept away even before the Underwood vote was released, and now that the supporters of the Alabama man were free to vote for anybody they pleased, Murphy and Senator Stone realized that all the hope for Speaker Clark being nominated had vanished.

The Wilson leaders, naturally jubilant, tried to restrain their enthusiasm, but they were shaking hands with one another while men with the impulse to get on the band wagon as soon as possible were shaking hands with them, congratulating them and saying that they were the ardent supporters of the New Jersey governor.

When Senator Stone got to the platform, he made a brief speech releasing the Clark delegates, but he said "so far as the Missouri delegation is concerned, we shall vote for Speaker Clark until the last ballot is taken."

Congressman John Fitzgerald of Brooklyn, Tammany's leader there, was dismissed to the speaker's stand and moved that the convention unanimously nominate Wilson by acclamation. There was just a stir and a smile and a twinkle of the eye from Murphy, as he heard the roar of approval from delegates and caucuses. Missouri rejected, however, and when the roll call was completed Chairman James shouted: "Wilson 645 votes." Before the words had been heard, Senator Stone, who was at the show of big Ollie, said in a staccato voice: "Mr. Chairman, I move to make the nomination of Woodrow Wilson unanimous." There was one wild hysterical cheer which quickly died in the rush for the entrance.

William J. Bryan in a formal statement has given unconditional indorsement to the nomination of Governor Wilson. "I feel sure that the action of the convention will appeal to the country," he said.

Silver City, N. M., June 28, 1912.
 Mr. Edgar S. Albright, Editor,
 Mount Vernon Signal,
 Mount Vernon, Kentucky,
 Dear Mr. Albright:—

Some of my Rockcastle County friends recently sent me a copy of the June 14th issue of your paper. I was greatly interested in reading therein of the many improvements that have taken place in Mt. Vernon and the County. The ginger germ is taking root in great shape. There are evidences that the county is on the eve of great awakening, if it has not already come. There is no evidence of a boom as that word is generally understood, but of real, substantial progress.

On the first page I read the account of the Granite Brick Company works at Dudley. The third page is full of progress; the new crusher at Sparks Quarry and the working of a night force in order to supply the demand for ballast; the strawberry patch that our industrious Presbyterian friends planted; the report on the mineral resources of the county made by Doctor Lovell and many other matters of interest.

The scribe from Livingston has extolled the beauties of his town as a place altogether lovely and desirable. As I lived there a year I can testify to the beauty of the scenery and the hospitality of the people. It is a good place to live in. When I have time I thought seriously for a time of interesting the congressmen from the Eighth and Eleventh Districts in a movement to have a small monument placed on the Wild Cat Battlefield.

In my journeys through the mountains I met many men who had fought at that place and heard some interesting accounts of the fight. It would be an evidence of the Republic's gratefulness if at this late day something be done to preserve this spot.

Do not be discouraged over the failure to get a hotel. Those things always come slowly. Right herein my town we have been talking the same proposition for several years but nothing tangible has, as yet, resulted. We have a good Chamber of Commerce—all live wires—and we are going to keep at the matter until we get results. Every town of any size whatever in the West has a chamber of Commerce or Commercial Club. Why don't you organize one for Rockcastle County and then advertise your wonderful resources? Let the outside world know what you have. Capital is always looking for means of investment, and if treated fairly, will come in and develop the country. Don't give them your resources; just give them a square deal.

I know of no place in this country of ours that offers so many opportunities for a young man of vision with a willingness to work hard as the mountains of the Southland. They are rich in possibilities. Although among the oldest settled portions of our country its development is just beginning. The next ten years ought to make a vast difference and place Kentucky in the front rank of states.

Very truly yours,
 CHAS. G. GIVIN.

This is an age of great discoveries. Progress rides on the air. Soon we may see Uncle Sam's mail carriers flying in all directions, transporting mail. People take a wonderful interest in a discovery that benefits them. That's why Dr. King's New Discovery for Cough, Cold, and other throat and lung diseases is the most popular medicine in America. "It cured me of a dreadful cough," writes Mrs. P. Davis, Stickney Corner, Me., "after doctor's treatment and all other remedies had failed." For coughs, colds or bronchitis, relief is unequalled. The course pursued by Mr. Bryan at Baltimore is unobjectionable. It is not alone that he seeks to play the role played by Mr. Roosevelt as a dictator, but that, in raising a false issue against his party and friend, he has sacrificed private duty and public faith, putting in peril what seemed a sure triumph for Democracy. He boasts the standard of hatred and revenge over what should be a marching army of brothers. He plays directly to the hand of the enemy and invites defeat. If the Convention accepts such a leadership it will abdicate the principles and rights of true Democracy and surrender all which Democrats hold glorious and great to the selfish rule of the one man power eager to exploit itself at the cost of the party interest. The response of Champ Clark is all sufficient. Replete with manly dignity and feeling it appeals to the heart of every Democrat in the land and should be followed by his nomination today.—Courier Journal.

The criticism made by the Courier Journal of Mr. Bryan, is just and right and will meet with the hearty sanction of even some of the most ardent admirers of the great commoner, and the part which he played in the recent Convention, shows more clearly than ever before the other side of the once idyllic life of many of the American people.

When elected governor of his state, it was predicted that he would own the chair of state so successfully that it will not so simply matters, easy sailing will be had by him, in November in putting the Taft roller out of commission.

COUNTY FAIRS.

The season of county fairs is approaching, and, as usual, there will be many such exhibitions in Kentucky says the Courier Journal. An agricultural paper not long ago defined the fair as an exhibit prepared by a community for the purpose of advertisement and for the education and attraction of the "public", and the definition is a good one.

The county fair is of pre-eminent importance to the farmers. Naturally it should be faithfully representative of the country's agricultural products. It is true, however, that such is not always the case, and that some fairs make a scanty showing in this respect. Evidently many farmers do not appreciate the fact that a display of products is a good advertisement for the farmer as well as for the county in general. The premiums that are offered are not always sufficiently large to be of great attraction in themselves, but the farmer who raises fine stock and neglects the fair as a means of making the public acquainted with his accomplishments in that line is overlooking a splendid advertising opportunity. The same may be said with regards to the product of the soil. It requires some time and trouble to prepare an exhibit for the fair, but the farmer who does so will not have labored in vain, even though he may not fare well when the blue and red ribbons are distributed. He, at least, has advertised himself as a progressive citizen.

Every farmer who has the energy and the ambition to get along in the world should cooperate with those who are laboring to make a success of his county fair. It will pay him to do so, for advertising pays in farming as in other things. A fair is not alone of value to the immediate locality where it is held. It brings business, of course, at the county seat or the place of its location, but it also helps the whole county, and the influence of a first class fair extends even beyond county boundaries. For that reason the fair should be representative, to the end that the best results may be attained from its advertising value.

"O, LORD, now that everything is coming our way, purge every Democratic soul of hot air and vain glory and insert large installments of common sense in every Democratic cranium; and O, remember, Lord, our proneness to make fools of ourselves just when we have the world by the tail and a downhill pull, and see that we don't get in bad this time."—Ex.

A. M. Hiat, Secretary of the Rockcastle County Fair Assn., informs us that he is working a big crew of men improving the Brodhead Fair Grounds and making ready for the coming exhibition a portion of the field fence is being made new, some of the buildings being covered, a new inside fence around the track, and various improvements. The main object is to make preparations to care for the immense crowds, that will no doubt attend this Fair this season.

James H. Brannaman the popular young Wildie merchant gave a lawn party Saturday evening June 22nd, at his home at Wildie. There were several guests from Berea, Richmond and other towns near by making a crowd of sixty or over. Watermelons, ice cream, cakes and fruits of all kind were served and a very pleasant evening was spent. Straw hats at prices way down below zero at Fish's.

The largest number of men that ever assembled together in Mt. Vernon, in any Bible school service met last Sunday at the Court House, connection with the Christian Bible school. This class was made up of men of different occupations and from various towns. John W. Brown is the next teacher of Prof. Houston's men's class and a special effort is being made to get 50 men to join this class at the Court house next Sunday morning at 9.30. Come and bring a friend. E. R. Gentry, President.

The traveling public generally ought to appreciate Judge S. D. Lewis for his efforts in their behalf. It is true that he has five acres planted in sanitary grounds of the long handled variety. After these gourds mature, next fall it is proposed to manufacture them into dippers, each of which will be equipped with a stout cord for securing the drinking water vessel around the traveler's neck or swinging over the shoulder. The folding drinking cup trust may attempt to buy or bluff our countryman from his undertakings. It is suggested that Cull McClure be made chief gourd inspector under the pure food and drug act. It is earnestly hoped a gourd trust will be developed and that congress will be asked to put this product of the vine on the free list. Unfortunately the Baltimore convention was too busily engaged in other affairs to give this matter the attention it justly deserves.

This steam roller has shoveled 7000 tons of coal, deepened 1000 feet in Salt River and released the donkey which has occupied that old swimmer hole to these many years.
