The nomination of Woodrow Wilson for President means a new Democracy. It means a new epoch in American self-government. The Democratic party at last has broken its shackles. It has emancipated itself. It has rehabilitated itself in power and principle. It has turned its face to the rising sun, to re-establish the faith of the American people in their own institutions. Woodrow Wilson will be the next president of the United States. But he will be more than that. He will be the first president of United States in a generation to be elected owing favors to nobody except the American people and under obligations to nothing except the general welfare. No political boss brought about his nomination. No political machine carried his candidacy to victory. No coteries of Wall street financiers provided the money to finance his campaign. He has no debt to pay to corrupt politicians or to corrupt business. He was nominated by the irresistible force of public opinion, and by that alone. He stands before us a free man. The American people have set out to regain possession of their government, and Woodrow Wilson was nominated for president because he embodies that issue. The bosses and the plutocrats who tried to prevent his nomination were beaten by the power of the people, and the power that nominated him is the power that will elect him.

It is said that the Bull Moose crowd will pull off a big stunt in the eleventh district, sometime before the election. They propose to make up a fine train of several coaches and to run it with a full crew of bull moose men, including conductor, porter, flagman, baggage-men, firemen and engineer, the latter to be H. H. Seavy, their candidate for congress, who has had seven years experience on the L. & N., out of Corbin. Seavy desires that the conductor be a Moose democrat. The band that accompanies the train will also form a moose herd. This train, it is said, will make a trip through a good portion of the district conducting the original and chief bull moose.

Teddy Roosevelt comes to the eleventh, for the purpose of making a whirlwind, speaking tour on this train. It is claimed that the mountains will be shaken with a story giving bull moose reasons whose revelations will be heard throughout the valleys and over hills and mountains. It will also be warm times then.

Mr. Ben V. Smith, who is Democratic candidate, and Mr. H. H. Seavy, the Bull Moose candidate for Congress in the Eleventh, were both in Mt. Vernon last week. Which shall it be is a question we often hear propounded. We say the strongest man of the two. The Republicans are sick tired and ashamed of Caleb Powers. They want him beaten, so why shouldn't the Democrats be ready and anxious to grasp anything they offer, to relieve the district of the disgrace.

This eleventh district will no doubt see some warm times between now and November. There is going to be a canvass made by the bull moose men and the regulars that will eclipse anything heretofore pulled off in this republican grip.

Teddy says the moose candidate for congress from eleventh district shall be elected; that he will come to the district himself and whoop things up for Seavy.

Livingston now has a first class bakery, a much needed institution that our place should have.

PRESIDENT CHAS. C. DAVIS WELL PLEASED. To the good people of our town and county:

We have just completed our undertaking which was a big one that of putting on the "Big Mt. Vernon Fair." I want to say that I am certainly thankful for the assistance rendered by all the members of the association, and all, who ever wished us well, for it certainly was no one man's job and only through the combined effort of every one that made us rank up in front in the Fair world. I certainly feel proud of our people for giving us the hearty support they did and all I have to say is just keep giving us that kind of support and cooperation, and we are compelled to play second fiddle, but only a very few Fairs in the state of Ky., I know of no other fair in the state of such a short duration that can boast of having as many good horses as we had as every body will tell you. Such horses as, Lord Bourdon, of Madison, Rex Hilliard, of Nicholasville, and Lady Belfast of Boyle, were seen on our track, something our people never dared to expect of the association. And in our speed runs were seen such as "Lord Arion" of Madison, with a trotting trial of 2:17 and "Mary Maupin" the grand circuit performer with a work of 2:11 and many others, with good speed were well up in each and every race. Mt. Vernon boasts of being the home of the only horse that graduated in the big show rings. To go the fine stallion belonging to Dr. Lawrence, who was the winner of five ties, and when it came time to run, don't forget Mr. Marcum of Monticello, laughing Bob Walker were always at the post with good ones. Some of the prominent horse men with good strings are, R. M. Walker, Richmond, E. K. Doty, Richmond, H. C. Traynor, Richmond, J. H. Murphy, Stanford, M. B. Beaton of Nicholasville, L. T. Marcum, Montecello, Pate Parish, of Lincoln, W. A. Gott, Berea, Mack Hughes, of Davville. The local horse men Roy Beasley, Dr. G. B. Lawrence, Wm. Bunlock John Hilten and Walter Miller. And I as President of the association want to extend appreciation for association rendered to E. A. Chilton of London, Ky. for so ably nursing us in our infancy.

CHAS. C. DAVIS, President.

GREATEST ATTRACTIONS OF THE SEASON

With the elaborate looking and specially designed posters and lithographs of Sun Brothers' Big Shows around the local hills and dead walls, announcing their appearance here on September 29, there are many to revive the old contention that the tenth show harms a city in what it takes away from it.

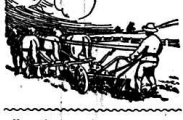

This paper considers that the show brings, to say nothing of the show dollars left behind in the nature of feed bills, license fees and other forms of paid claims, the volume of fun and delight brought to the amusement-loving element of citizenship brings us in the showman's eye.

We denote the cynical groaning that is provoked by the occasional invasion of folks who earn their living by exercising their talents of making the world happier.

The man who begrudges the patriotism is himself a very poor pattern of the virtues that he preaches. The Sun Brothers' Shows are making their twentieth annual tour, and they are bringing this season the greatest amusement effort of their long managerial career.

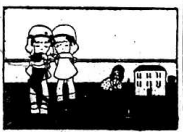

There is a greater collection of world winners, trained animal novelties and many new European and American performers. The show gives two complete and unabridged performances daily in fair or rainy weather, 7 and 8 P. M. On the morning of show days and on the exhibition grounds directly in front of the main st.

NOTES From MEADOWBROOK FARM By William Pitt

Keep the hoo going. Feed the hogs a variety. The best feed is cheapest. Turkeys devour many insects. Separating cold milk means a loss of cream. This season of the year is trying on cows and dairymen. Get a die and stamp your initials on the cream or milk cans. Paint will rub off in time. The cow that can hold up well in milk production in August is a valuable animal. Selling all the hay and grain raised on the farm is a sure method of selling the farm. From 10 to 50 per cent. of cream is lost by "settling" milk in cans, say the experimenters. With the exception of the plow, the harrow is perhaps the oldest of tillage instruments. Less than one per cent. of the feed as the weather gets warmer will keep hens from getting fat and lazy. Don't fail to divide the buttermilk between Biddy and the pigs. She relishes it as much as they. All fowls, chickens, ducks and geese that are kept in yards should have plenty of green food every day. A chicken takes naturally to cold weather, but the turkey is at most self-sustaining until cold weather. Don't allow the hen-mother to drag around all day with her brood, as many chicks succumb through exhaustion. One advantage in keeping feed all ways before poultry is that they do not have to hurry to get their feed. In building a wire fence for hogs put one barbed wire at the bottom and the worst rooster in the pasture won't stop there. One mile on the back of a fellow's head makes him just about wild. What must it be to have a million cravats? There is still time to put out a crop of roots for cow feed next winter. Rich light soil is the best place for them. Turkeys always, and a steady sale and are almost clear profit. There is always a demand. The market is never glutted. Nest, clean crates and boxes help to sell fruit even though it may not be quite up to standard of excellence set by the grower. If the season is dry, haul a few barrels of water to wash the plants' trees. Don't let the water get on the plants during a dry spell. If hogs are lazier, set a small post wrapped tight with an old rope, in the ground and soak the rope with coal oil the hog will do the rest. Overheating is to be avoided by cautious working and careful watching of work horses; with shade and water at intervals, it is possible. If you use the litter in the house keep it dry and clean. Muddy and cold litter is particularly liable to cause trouble at this season of the year. Plymouth Rocks have been made to weigh seven pounds, dressed, at the largest percentage and bred for feeding for growth and development while on range. Lead plaster has a very small percentage of lime, jump lime has the largest percentage and bred lime next. Marl is usually a little richer in lime than ground limestone. As the pastures begin to drop off the calves, calves are usually kept out for the fences. A herd of cattle will destroy more stuff in one night than you can grow in a whole season. "Shall we sale stock? A friend says to feed the mill in the feed and not let them have access to it. His grounds are that he does not like to eat small ed food, more so into the pantry and eat a lot of salt, and he takes it that the sheep or cow is like him in this respect. This looks the good logic. Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Salve. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without ulceration. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by Chas. C. Davis.
