THE CUMBERLANDS

By Miss Grace Dixon
(From People's Home Journal.)
"They have done it, Miss Hardie," he said, slowly clasping and unclasping his hands.
The school was dumb with horror. No one had ever questioned the authority of Miss Hardie. This was a revelation indeed!
Without a word she gave the sharp signal for the school to rise and march.

Half an hour later she came into the class room where Chester sat poring miserably over his books.
"Chester Landon," she said sharply. "You have deliberately told a falsehood. Such a thing can not be put down. Take your books and go home and do not come back until you are ready to confess your truth to the assembled school."
The boy dropped his head quickly as if a lash had struck him. Then he lifted his aching face and met Miss Hardie's eyes with such an air of shame in his face that she turned away. When she looked back from the class room door, Chester was gone.

Thereafter the pupils tiptoed into the chapel with more than usual caution and the rule of fear was enforced with greater severity than ever. But even the scholars noticed a troubled look in Miss Hardie's face, as morning after morning she looked down the chapel aisle to Chester Landon's seat and observed that it was still empty.

Word came finally just at chapel time that Chester was sick. That morning only a few recitations of Proverbs were read, and chapel was dismissed without any little sermon. A few minutes later Miss Hardie was seen going down the hill path and across the valley toward Chester Landon's home.
The softness of summer lingered in the September air. Wisps of haze climbed slowly from the crisp, yellow grass of the meadow pasture, and drifted against a flame of crimson on the distant hills like a bar of smoke over a hunter's campfire. The path through the woods was very still. Miss Hardie followed it automatically. It seemed a long time since Chester had raced down the narrow beaten trail, his books under his arm.

"You have deliberately told a falsehood. Take your books and go home and do not come back until you are ready to confess your truth to the assembled school."
It was the command of the Czar of the Cumberlandlands and Chester had obeyed. Was the door of Chester's home closed? Miss Hardie caught at a branch of sumac that flung a scarlet barrier across the leafy path.
"Chester Landon, has a man ever been taken back by the railroad after he once deserted his post?"
"They have done it, Miss Hardie." "Why the brave sturdy voice of the boy was echoing now through the breathless quiet. A sob rose in the Czar's throat.

"He was the best boy in my school." She repeated the words brokenly. "They were thug back to her in mockery. 'The best boy in my school.'"
Mr. Landon met her at the door and ushered her into the little darkened parlor. The mountaineer offered her a chair, and added with the gentle courtesy if she would have a drink of water. But Miss Hardie sat on the edge of the chair clasping her hands rigidly, finally speaking in a strained voice.
"Is Chester very sick, Mr. Landon?" she asked.
"It is an affliction," Mr. Landon replied. "When Miss Hardie has been worried a great deal over that trouble in school. The boy really couldn't go back and tell you he had lied for her, Miss Hardie. I was the man who failed to report for duty at the school office."
"It happened this way. I was on duty at a little station on the mountain line. It is a switch and a signal and one of the men came down to see me. He said that Chester had been taken back by the railroad after he once deserted his post."

thirty miles away—over in Lost Valley. I went for him and didn't get back until late the next day. The railroad men heard about my absence, they dismissed me, and then, when the matter was explained to them, they took me back."
Miss Hardie arose hastily and asked if she might see the sick boy. She entered the room. Chester was tossing feverishly on his pillow. When he caught sight of Miss Hardie he said, in a pleading voice: "But they really didn't take him back, Miss Hardie!"
"And the Czar of the Cumberlandlands bent over him and gently soothed and back his hair, murmuring tenderly, 'I know they did, Chester. It is all right. I want you to hurry and get well enough to come back to school.'"
A week later as Miss Hardie looked down the aisle and saw that Chester Landon was in his seat, she instinctively turned the leaves of her little book of Psalms to the New Testament, and with a new and softened light in her face, she read slowly and reverently the wonderful Chapter of the Beatitudes.
"Blessed are the meek, for they shall obtain mercy," she paused and looked over the school with a smile, the like of which no one had ever seen on her face. She was pale, but her voice was quite steady as she repeated distinctly:
"Pupils! I wronged Chester Landon. He told the truth. I beg his pardon."
The school room was as still as death. And as Miss Hardie in a dazed spirit went on reading, "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God," some of the boys gulped hard; and some of the girls were openly crying.
"Why did not my work, but they were conscious that a new spirit had touched Miss Hardie, a spirit which she was to make so much loved thereafter as she had once been feared. She is no longer the Czar of the Cumberlandlands. She bears a better title now. As queen of her school realm she reigns supreme in her pupils' faithful hearts."

AN ERROR IN NAMES.
Life of Democratic Candidate Given Out Letter Taking Strong Stand on Smoking Habit.
New York.—For the first time since Woodrow Wilson became the Democratic presidential candidate has Mrs. Wilson appeared. She attended in person her husband's daily conference with reporters, although heretofore she has made special requests that she be not quoted nor written about in the papers.
What Mrs. Wilson wanted to have fully understood was that if she comes the first lady of the land she will, as has been said in a widely distributed interview, have no tolerance of cigarettes in her personal code at the White House and indulge in smoking with her coffee.
Through Governor Wilson, Mrs. Will. stated that publicly he given to a writer she had written to the editor of the State Journal at Columbus, O., regarding an alleged interview with her in which she defended cigarette smoking for women. The interview had come to her in a letter signed "American Citizen," which said:
"Dear Madam—I can scarcely think of your name being mentioned in the pages of the nation than to read such a statement. I am sure that you are a workman, and I see me lose the respect of my fellow citizens who are incapacitated for work by the use of the cigarette. If I am doing good to strong men what will it do for girls and women?"
The "interview" was indeed a cordial endorsement of the woman smoker. It was one of the most interesting phrases, all credited to Mrs. Wilson: "A woman writer for a syndicate of student magazines had written to the editor of the State Journal at Columbus, O., regarding an alleged interview with her in which she defended cigarette smoking for women. The interview had come to her in a letter signed 'American Citizen,' which said:

Blood Was Wrong
All women, who suffer from the aches and pains, due to female ailments, are urged to try Cardui, the reliable, scientific, tonic remedy, for women. Cardui acts promptly, yet gently, and without bad effects, on the womanly system, relieving pain, building up strength, regulating the system, and toning up the nerves. During the past half century thousands of ladies have written to tell of the quick curative results they obtained, from the use of this well-known medicine.
TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic
Mrs. Jane Callahan suffered from womanly trouble for nearly ten years. In a letter from Whiteville, N. C., she says: "I was not able to do my own housework. My stomach was weak, and my blood was wrong. I had back-ache, and was very weak. I tried several doctors, but they did me no good. I used Cardui for 3 or 4 months, and now I am in the best health I have ever been. I can never praise Cardui enough." It is the best tonic, for women.
Whether seriously sick, or simply weak, try Cardui.

"That Tymeson or Longfellow could take a worthless sheet of paper and write a poem on it, and make it worth $75,000—that's genius; and there are others who can write a few words on a sheet of paper and make it worth $5,000,000—that's genius; and there are others who can take an ounce and a quarter of gold and stamp upon it an Eagle and make it worth $50—that's money and some of our young ladies will buy a hat for $1.25 but prefer one that cost $25—that's foolishness. I might sign my name to a cheque for a $100,000, but it wouldn't be worth a dime—that's rouse. But some people will tell you that they can serve you as well as Chink—but that's nonsense—try me.

FISCAL COURT MAKES ORDER ABOLISHING ROAD MILITIA

IF BOND ISSUE CARRIES

Rockcastle Fiscal Court. Call Term.
September 12, 1912.

Section 4308 of the Kentucky constitution provides that the people pikes will not be built and to Statutes gives the Fiscal Court of this county the power to require all able bodied men, over 18 and under 50 years of age, except those who are licensed ministers of the gospel and citizens of incorporated towns and cities, to provide themselves with necessary tools and implements to work on the public roads of the county a number of days in each year, not exceeding two days in each week and six days in each year, and in cases of unusual emergency the system is bad, and it is therefore necessary to provide for the improvement of the public highways of the county by the year. A petition having been filed with the County Court, along this line to improve the roads, signed by a number of citizens of the county, and filed in the County Court, asking that the County Court call an election by system now in use. We know which the sense of the people of the county is, and we are confident that the majority of the county will be in favor of the bond issue for the purpose of satisfaction, by maintaining the roads, and by the taxation. As provided by the constitution and an election to that general law, there will be an ample amount of taxes to maintain the roads. On October 12th, 1912, we take these sections of road where cerning the way a person is received at the dispatcher's office, and we claim if ever a man was royally entertained it is by that august body of men up in that office. You will be met by Mr. E. J. Louie, chief dispatcher, who will give you a hearty handshake and a royal greeting and present you a plush bottom chair. Then if it be in the day time you will be asked to meet Mr. J. P. E. Drummonds, dispatcher, and Mr. G. E. Pate, copier, who are both nice gentlemen, and you can wait the hours in a good jovial way, and then if you wish to meet the second trick men, Mr. J. F. Neighbors, dispatcher, and Mr. W. M. Preston, copier, will arrive at 3:30 and we will vouch you will be well repaid to mind with them and forget your troubles for a few hours, and if you wish to still remain at 11:30 p.m. you will meet Mr. J. W. Sams, dispatcher, and Joe Childress, copier, and you will remain the rest of the night with as jolly fellows as you ever met, and if you are not then satisfied, just visit the office down stairs and you will strike a bunch that love to show a stranger a good time. Mr. C. A. Blanford, the agent, who is always ready with good jokes and stories, will see J. B. Donally, the Irish operator, who is as full of fun as a monkey is of pranks, and the writer you will meet in both offices, ever ready to help entertain any one that may arrive, so this is only a partial history of the bunch at the dispatcher's office. They don't believe in going through the world with long faces. They believe that sunshine follows rain and that there never was a cloud so dark but what had a silver lining.—W. M. Hanks, who had the misfortune to get his ankle sprained some weeks ago is able to go back to work.—Mrs. R. B. Sams and children are visiting Mr. Sams' parents on Galesburg.—Mrs. D. K. Argersicht and Mrs. James Woods, are visiting relatives in Lexington this week.—Miss Mattie Baker, of Skeggs Creek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Baker, died September 14th, and was buried in the family grave yard on Skeggs Creek, Sunday. She was twenty years old, died of the dreadful disease, heart dropsy. The bereaved parents has the sympathy of the entire community.—Oscar Argersicht went to Lexington, Tuesday, on business.—C. C. Howell was in Broodhead, Sunday, visiting home folks.—There are three candidates here for Polioe Judge, viz: Judge Calaway, Hiram Whitland and John Sebern. The voters here will go war at the polls against the proposed stock law. Now voter, is the time to do your work and ever vote, as majority be put next. We are, or a majority of us, are against it and let's vote it down in this part of the county. There is not timber enough to chop one-tenth of the land and the wire trust has put the price so high we can't buy it, so you mountain voters think the matter over and you will cry: "Down with the stock law."—Uncle George Pope seems to be doing better.—Little John D. Pope, who has typhoid fever, is getting better.—F. L. Thompson is visiting his family, and strictly for the pikes.—There will be held here, about October 1st, a series of meetings conducted by the Holiness people.—The farmers in this community have been buying fodder and by having the crop so high we can't buy it, the blade will be left to rot.—The Livingston Lumber Company are turning their planning mill six days out of the week.—Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Neighbors have returned from Louisville after a few days' visit.—W. B. Gray is in Johnson City, Tenn., this week.—F. E. Drummonds and J. B. Donally have returned from Chicago, Ill.—Champ Williams, who has lived in the west for some time here has just week visiting relatives.—Mrs. and Mrs. J. W. Terry have taken leave of Mrs. Sue Mullins and has gone to housekeeping.

Hustonsville, Ky. Sept. 10, 1912
Rev. A. J. Pike is planning one to be held Sept. 20, 1912.
The reunion is expected to be one of the largest and family reunions held in the vicinity of Broodhead, Ky., is being arranged by A. J. Pike.
The reunion will be held the 29th day of Sept., 1912 at the grounds, the Park of Broodhead.
Our plan is to meet at 9:30 a.m. After devotional exercises we will have a Reunion Sermon preached at 10 o'clock. After that we will have some good singing a social meeting and greeting and family reunion on the ground. At 12 o'clock we will have another sermon followed by singing and talks.
We invite everybody to come and bring well filled baskets so that every one will have plenty to eat and drink and we have plenty of cold water on the ground.
We especially invite the good roads advocates to be present, it will be a good time to talk bond issue for our people in this part of the county need information on this subject.
So we ask all our friends to come and spend the 29th day of Sept. with us in this reunion in anticipation of the day when we all hope to meet in Heaven where there will be a renewal of the fraternal and enduring friendships of earth and then there a period of usefulness of principle and sentiment, and unbroken identity of affection and feeling will forever unite in indissoluble bonds—in the great fraternity of Heaven's long-divided family. Where there will be no possibility of division and discord and where all erring and opposing cords will be done away but where the children of Christ from every fold will meet to regret the fruitless earth and rejoice in the success and friendship of Heaven.
So we again invite all to come and be with us.
Respectfully,
A. J. PIKE

MANY DRIVEN FROM HOME
Every year, in many parts of the country, thousands are driven from their homes by coughs and lung diseases. Friends and business are left behind for other ailments, but this is costly and not always sure. A better way is the way of multitudes—go to see Dr. King's New Discovery and cure yourself at home. Stay right there, with friends, and take this same medicine. Throat and lung troubles find quick relief and health returns. It's held in coughs, colds, grip, croup, whooping-cough and sore throat. It's a positive blessing, 50c and $1.00. Try a bottle free. Guaranteed by Chas. C. Davis.

Diphtheria is always more or less prevalent during September. Be prepared for it. Chamberlain's Cough, Croup and Diphtheria Remedy is prompt and effective. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. For sale by Chas. C. Davis.

WHITLEY City and Pine Knot are in a squabble over the result of the election held last week on the location of the county seat of the new county of McCreary. It appears that Whitley City has the advantage, having a majority of the votes on a face of returns.

LAST Week the old church at Columbus O., where the Republican party was born, suddenly collapsed. The party came very near "beating it to it."

THE gruffing thing about the 1912 campaign is that apparently doesn't interfere at all with business.

BROADHEAD.

Mrs. Bettie Tharp has returned home after spending two weeks with relatives in Corbin and Wilton.—Mrs. J. E. Vernon was in town, judging Sunday night.—Gosage Jarrett, of Durango, Colorado, was with his grandfather, J. H. Jarrett, Saturday and Sunday. He left Monday for Berea where he will enter school.

Misses Lena and Lela Albright were in Pine Hill between trains Sunday.—Miss Elizabeth Storms has returned home after visiting relatives and friends in London, Corbin and Kibbly.—She will leave in a few days for Florida, where she will teach school.—Mrs. W. J. Owens is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Julian Bordes, on Copper Creek; this week.—Miss Claudia Dodson, of Mt. Vernon, was the guest of Miss Lydia Watson Tuesday.—Mrs. M. E. Likins and Master Ray Colburn returned to their home in Caneyville, after spending a few days with Prof. and Mrs. T. H. Likins.—Jacob Elzer bought a house and lot from P. A. Shelton on Maple Avenue, on Monday.

Dr. John C. Moore, of Chicago, Ill., is with his brother James W. Moore near this place. Mr. Moore is a prominent physician of the windy city.—P. A. Shelton has moved his family to Williamsburg, Ky.—Mr. Shelton is foreman of a railroad crew and moved his family close to his work. We regret to lose this estimable family.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Durham, and little son Austin Sparks, of Mt. Vernon, Cashier and Mrs. A. M. Hitt, of Mt. Vernon, and Mrs. Robbins and her little daughter, Mildred, spent a very pleasant day with Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Smith, of the Hiatt section Sunday.—Rev. A. J. Pike is attending the debate near Solence Hill, between Rev. J. W. Roberts and Rev. W. G. Roberts, of the church for Christ. The debate will last some three or four days.—The contest at A. E. Albright's store every Saturday is drawing large crowds. He gives away each Saturday a certain number of prizes and the crowd will number 50 that regularly attends.—Joe Carter and Wallace Haggard spent Sunday afternoon the guests of Mr. T. L. Smith.—Mrs. W. H. Barick is very sick at the home of her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Barick. Her mother is visiting relatives near Quail and attending the debate.—Bro. Head Chapter, No. 157, Royal Arch Masons, held its annual election of officers last Monday. The following officers were elected: John Robins, High Priest; W. E. Gravelly, King; J. F. Watson, Scribe; R. L. Smith, Treasurer; H. L. Thayer, Secretary; R. S. Shivel, Sentinel; Sylvan Bords, Captain of the Host; O. A. Frith, Principal Sojourner; A. M. Hiatt, Royal Arch Captain; Edd Smith, Master 3rd Veil; W. H. Anderson, Master 2nd Veil; J. H. Bordes, Master 1st Veil.

—If the people that are against the issuing of bonds for the building of pike in this county are only just the intelligent we have lots of ignorant people about Broadhead.—Postmaster and Mrs. John Robins and little daughter, Mildred, are visiting relatives in Garrard county. They will return about October the first.—C. H. Frith made a lucky catch Tuesday night. He had been of the opinion that some one was going into their store and roller Mill at night, so he had been watching for the past three weeks, and on Tuesday night he caught one Sam Lowery coming out of the mill. He at once took the gentleman before him and searched, and found in his pocket a key to the store. Mr. Frith was satisfied that when hoerded Lowery to throw up his hands that he threw away a key to the mill, and some parties went with Mr. Frith to the mill next morning and found the key. The officers landed Lowery in Mt. Vernon jail, and he will have his examining trial Saturday, on Monday evening at the Holy Roller meeting that is in progress here, we understand that Lowery prayed long and loud, but judging from his fate on Tuesday night, we doubt that his petition was answered, but are of the opinion as a reward he will soon be wearing the stripes within the walls of the penitentiary.

A. M. Hiatt, cashier Citizens Bank, Broadhead, speaks out on the bond issue: "If you will allow me just a little space in your paper, I believe I can express the sentiments of the people in and around Broadhead, Ky., relative to the proposed bond issue, which is being so much discussed, at present. "In the first place I beg to say the people of this county are not against good roads, but on the other hand are in favor, of pikes, and the majority, in favor of the bond issue, as we believe this the only way to get pikes, by this method, but what the people here oppose is the proposed plan, to run the pike through the county, in opposite directions, regardless of the fact that these proposed routes will not benefit as many people as it runs in other directions."

"True that this method, will give the people all a better road from all over the county, but suppose the people in general, that live closer to other towns, travel other roads, all the year, except some two or three times, he or she might need to go to Mt. Vernon, then it would be best for that person to have the pikes where they travel most."

"We beg to say that the pike passing over the route proposed, namely, the old state road running through Broadhead, will not benefit the town, nor be little benefit to the people, because this road is not used one-tenth part as much as any other road leading out of the town. "I doubt not that the same would apply to Wilkie, Livingston, and other places in the county. Now, what we want for each magisterial district to receive its proportional part of this amount, brought in from the sale of these bonds, and let the pikes be built where the people say they shall give the particular district, that can be determined by the people that want the money spent in their direction, putting up more money than those on some other route. The you see will raise sufficient funds to build several additional miles of pike in the county, and will encourage the people to make better roads to connect with these pikes, and in this way we will have the pikes where the most people are benefited and the most money raised to assist in building the pike."

"With the terms of this contract of sale of this county, we are passing this money to have it put up some money to have it there, if he does not want to do, and if he does on the other side of the county that wants it and is willing to pay for it, have the road. "If this is not a good plan let the people that can suggest a plan or something better, to what we want in this part of the county is every body satisfied as much as possible, and the way to have it is to give all an equal hour."

"Trusting and believing this will be done, I am, Yours very truly,

ORDER FOR ELECTION

For Bond Issue To Build Turnpikes

Rockcastle County Court. August Term, August 26, 1912

It appearing that a petition, signed by more than 150 legal voters who are free holders of Rockcastle County, was filed in the office of the Rockcastle County Court and with the Judge thereof on the 14th day of August, 1912, asking that an election be held in said county, October 26th, 1912, for the purpose of submitting to the legal voters of said county the question of whether the Fiscal Court of said county shall issue and sell the bonds of said county in an amount not to exceed the limit allowed under the Constitution and the Laws of the State of Kentucky, and under no circumstances for an amount greater than $100,000.00, said bonds to be sold and the proceeds arising therefrom to be used in building and constructing turnpikes throughout Rockcastle County and through territory to be hereafter designated by the said Fiscal Court, and the Court being sufficiently advised, orders that said election be held at the time and for the purposes stated in said petition, and that T. J. Nicely, Sheriff of Rockcastle County, be and he is hereby directed to cause a poll to be opened and an election to be held in the County of Rockcastle on the 26th day of October, 1912, which is more than 60 days after the filing of said petition in said office of said court, and he will cause the poll to be opened in each and all of the voting precincts in said county, and to be held on the day thereof, and the object thereof at least 30 days next before the day thereof in some newspaper having the largest circulation in the county and also by printed hand bills posted up at not less than four public places in each voting precinct in the county and at the court house door. All legal voters of said co. shall be privileged to vote at said election.

It is ordered that court adjourn.
L. W. BERTHAUD,
Judge Rockcastle County Court.
A true copy attested:
S. P. BOWMAN, C. R. O. C.

Notice is hereby given that in obedience to the above order of the County Court of Rockcastle County, I will cause an election to be held at the time and place indicated, from six o'clock a. m. until four o'clock p. m., for the purposes set out in said order; to-wit, for the purpose of submitting to the legal voters of said county the question of whether the Fiscal Court of said county shall issue and sell the bonds of said county in an amount not to exceed the limit allowed under the Constitution and the Laws of the State of Kentucky, and under no circumstances for an amount greater than $100,000.00, said bonds to be sold and the proceeds arising therefrom to be used in building and constructing turnpikes throughout Rockcastle County and through territory to be hereafter designated by said Fiscal Court.
All legal voters of said county shall be privileged to vote at said election.
This Sept. 19th, 1912.
T. J. NICELY,
Sheriff of Rockcastle County.

WO K STARTS ON DIX RIVER DAM.

The following press notice is sent out from Danville: Work has begun on the dam which is to be built across Dix River at Kennedy's mill, south east of Burgin. It is estimated that the dam with equipment will cost $3,000,000. L. B. Herrington of Richmond, took a leading part in securing funds with which to carry on the great undertaking. It was not anticipated that the work would begin at such an early date. New York capitalists are backing the enterprise. A test lasting through three years has proven satisfactory. Power will be furnished to the electric plants at Danville, Lancaster, Nicholasville, Harrodsburg, and Richmond. It is thought that a net work of interlocking dams will be in operation in this section in short time after the dam is finished. Manager Fish, of the Danville electric plant, is making arrangements with the promoters to take the power for the local plant. The dam will be about 150 feet high and will be constructed of steel and concrete. A dozen engineers have pronounced the project as entirely feasible.

The above notice clipped from an exchange gives hopes to the plan that probably sooner or later an electric line will be built through the mountains. It will get one any ways soon it will be the result of this great enterprise now begun to harness the waters of Dix river.

THE MEN WHO SUCCEEDED
as heads of large enterprises are men of great energy. Successful day demands health. To all who fail, it's ever toll for a man to endure a week, run down, half alive condition when Electric Bitters will put him right on his feet in short order. "Four bottles did me more good than any other medicine I ever took," writes CHAS. B. ALLEN, Sylvania, Ga. "After years of suffering with rheumatism liver troubles, stomach disorders, and deranged kidneys, I am again thanks to Electric Bitters, sound and well." Only 50 cents at Chas. C. Davis.
