CUMBERLAND GAP TO CHICAGO OVER BOONE WAY This Noted Highway To Be Extended From The Sanitosa Of The West To The Windy City BY THE LAKES Secretary Maret having succeeded in getting Boone Way on the map from Cumberland Gap to Crab Orchard is now at work on a proposition to extend the highway 'on to Chicago' via Louisville, passing thru the cities of Stanford Danville, Harborsville, Lawrenceburg and Shelbyville to Falls City thence via Seymour and Indianapolis to the 'Windy City' idea is being heartily endorsed by the cities and counties along the route. There are good turnpikes on the entire line from Crab Orchard to Chicago and the expense of improving these highways to put them in condition to deserve the name of Boone Way, 'official route' would not be great. All concerned that have been heard from are pleased with the proposition and declare their cities and counties will assist in the highway thru their dominions are improved and kept in proper condition. The matter has reached that stage where it can be declared a go. way Association and a number of all the good roads movement, were in Stanford last Saturday where they met and conferred with the business and professional men officials and others during the forenoon and held a meeting at court house in afternoon when Mr. Woods explained the State aid question. Everyone present favored the three mile construction of Boone Way from Crab Orchard to Rockcastle line 'there to meet the road coping from the South. A number joined the Kentucky Good Roads Association. The evangelists were assured that Lincoln county would not only construct the three miles of the proposed highway but would improve their turnpike over the line of the 'Old Wilderness Road from Crab Orchard thru Stanford to Boyle county line so as to have a highway deserving the name of Boone Way when that highway is named over a route from Crab Orchard to Louisville. Mr. Maret has promised that Lincoln county shall not be disappointed when the route is designated. Slightly children need WHITE'S ORANGE VERMIFUGE. MEMBER OF KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION

In the columns of the Knoxville Sentinel last week appeared a scurrilous and untruthful article describing an alleged trip from Lexington to Knoxville by automobile by a couple of men living in the latter city. Mt. Vernon was represented in an unenviable light and nearly the entire article was of such a slighting derogatory nature regarding the mountain people generally that the Mt. Vernon Commercial Club has taken cognizance of it and has written the following letter to Editor of Knoxville Sentinel, the offending paper, and a copy to Knoxville Board of Trade. No reply of any kind has been received from either, after days of waiting the Mt. Vernon Commercial Club hands the Signal a copy of said letter which is as follows:

Mt. Vernon, Ky., 12-7-14.
Editor Knoxville Sentinel,
Knoxville, Tenn.
Sir:

In a recent issue of your journal appeared an article under these headlines: "Thrilling Journey Across The Mountains" by E. R. Cochran and Louis Vedder, which is not only libelous of Mt. Vernon but of the mountain people along the line traveled, or supposed to have been traveled by these modern imitators of Manchusaus. Just a scattering of truth is to be found in the article, in fact truth was only touched in the high places. They claim to have left Crab Orchard and came on to Mt. Vernon thru Lancaster, when in fact Lancaster is north west of Crab Orchard and our town is east of that noted resort (Crab Orchard). They—these travelers—speak as though they had accomplished something out of usual, getting thru the mountains on an automobile, when in fact these machines pass thru here often on their way south and they get thru, although no one denies that the roads are rough and might be made a little more than many care to make the second trip; (good reasons for our fight for better roads). The intimation that the mountaineer had never seen an automobile is ridiculous and when they say "the natives heard mine ahead of our coming with a strange vehicle along Boone's Trail and came miles to meet us", there is some blanket stretching for you.

The portion of the article referring to Mt. Vernon is simple "to the only truths discernible are that a whistle (at electric plant, they didn't state where it was) is used as a fire alarm and sometimes firing of guns has been reported, to awaken the populace when fire occurs at night. The parties who made this "thrilling journey thru the mountains" stated in the article that they were "awakened from their slumbers by a bombardment resembling the attack of the Germans upon Antwerp" (that's humor for you) "found several people in hall of hotel with lighted matches and caudies searching for the fire". Now the hotels here use electric lights and don't have to resort to "matches and candles."

We wish to advise these would-be humorists that they these famous travelers, that they could have found bigger "hill bills" in that automobile that made the "thrilling journey across the mountains" than they met along that famous trip. It is high time for writers, fictionists, sappers and the Manchusaus, including the "smart alex" to give the mountain a much needed rest, or tell more truths than they do in many of their statements when referring to the people of the Cumberland.

This article is inopportune, especially at this period, when south eastern Kentucky is paragonously over the treatment accorded the "Boone Way" movement by Knoxville, his professional and business man. Nearly two years ago the Commercial Club of Mt. Vernon inaugurated a movement for putting a highway thru from Crab Orchard, Kentucky, to Cumberland Gap for securing a connection between the Northern and South-eastern states. The Knoxville Commercial Club endorsed the idea, its professional and business men claimed to be pleased with the undertaking and promised to aid and assist in the undertaking, and that is about all they did toward pushing the work, in getting the question before the country. They have been repeatedly appealed to by the Mt. Vernon Club to at least contribute something to the postage and printing fund to be used in the campaign, but instead of increasing that fund it was diminished to the tune of $3.50 to $4. in postage used requesting Knoxville to be shown where "she was at"; but she refused to be shown, and never so much as one penny has that city contributed to this worthy cause, yet that city continues spending its traveling money into the Cumberlands, and carrying off a big portion of our trade which should justly go to the city that knows the word "reciprocity" which evidently has not found its way into the vocabulary of the people of Knoxville, contributing nothing in return but slanders thru its press, about these same mountain people whose trade they wish to hold onto without any return whatever.

Louisville appreciates our country of the mountains generally and never lets an occasion pass without showing her friendliness by her works. The county in which that city is located will pay into the state road fund next year the sum of $20,000, the largest portion will go to the mountain counties to be used in building good highways; in addition to this the city of Louisville has organized the Kentucky Good Roads Association whose purposes are to send speakers and organizers thru-out the state, and the mountain in particular, explaining the advantages to be derived from the State aid act, enacted by our legislature, and to urge upon the people to take advantage of this great opportunity for securing good highways; the Association will aid in various ways those counties taking advantage of the situation. The Cumberlands have just been visited) by representatives of this Association and the Mountains are simply "a fire" with good roads enthusiasm (not caused by Knoxville however). One of Louisville's citizens contributed $100 to the Boone Way printing fund a few days since. That city put $2000 into the fund of the Ky. Gd. Rds. Assn. three weeks since. Seems as though she was going the whole hog and cant be stopped in her good work. And what is our report from the activities of Knoxville of whom we expected better things? Engagement? No Aid! Not a little bit. Good words? None. The "mountainers", as your article in question, slighting refers to us, would be glad to have an editorial expression from you as to your position and feelings in this matter and how you view the treatment this highway movement of ours has received at the hands of Knoxville. "Do you wish to join in boosting our work and prevailing upon Knoxville doing an editorial expression from your columns about the people of the Cumberlands? B "The worm will turn".

If Knoxville and her press continue in the course they are now pursuing, her traveling men will be obliged to carry lights much stronger than "lighted matches and candles" in their search for trade in this portion of the moral vineyard—The Cumberlands.

A copy of this communication being mailed to the Knoxville Board of Trade.

With due respect for the proprieties we are aggrieved Mountainers.
