ELDER—CRAIG.
Miss Nannie Elder, of near Peck Lick, and Mr. Joe S. Craig of the Qual section, were quietly married at the home of Rev. D. R. Ricketts, Sunday afternoon.
The bride is the attractive daughter of Rev. and Mrs. John Elder. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Craig. This is a splendid young couple and we wish them a long and prosperous wedded life.
When you hear some fellow talking about his county paper, how right it is, you can go for a wager, ninety-nine cases out of one hundred that, that fellow owes for his paper. They always begin to kick when pay day comes, yet some of them never pay, and if the newspaper man fails to bow down and call them blessed, gay and good next morning behind good name, he is a scoundrel, liar and the truth not in him.
Rev. H. T. Young, of the Christian church and Rev. J. M. Macmillan, of the Presbyterian have perfected arrangements whereby that two Sundays out of each month, the evening services will be unobscured, and one Sunday evening the services will be held at the Christian church conducted by Rev. Young, and next service in two weeks at the Presbyterian and Rev. Macmillan will preach. Such an arrangement appeals to us as the proper thing to do and at each of those services, there should be crowded houses. Next Sunday the first service will be held at the Christian church, at 7:30 p. m.

CHILDREN CRY FOR FLETCHER'S CASTERIA
The tomb is waiting for us all, for every Jilf and Jack, the baron in his stately hall, the pauper in his shack, the autocrat and the grand, the beautiful, the brave; such thoughts come to me when I stand by Mrs. Pinkham's grave. A few short years—or maybe days of earthly calm and storms, and then the village cows will graze about our sleeping forms. A few short years—or maybe hours in which men fear and fumes; the mourners there will strew their flowers upon our misty tombs. A little while of grief or glee, to frolic and to slave; a little trip upon the sea whose harbor is the grave. So what's the use of buckling down with fiery, frenzied zeal, to corner all the fish in town, to nail each plank and wedge? What shall it profit us to heap our coffers full of gold? It won't be with us when we sleep down in the churchyard mold. What shall it profit to deny the poor's appeal for aid? Go ask that man of wintry eye—the sexton with his spade. So while this morn'g we still infer, let's revel in good deeds; let's think less of the treasure chest, and more of human needs; and when at last, of honors fall, we've laid down and died, the world will say, "They were all wool, and forty inches wide."

We trust that those who owe the Signal, will appreciate the fact that the editor needs his money. We are not giving papers away. It costs money and plenty of it to publish a country paper, even though it is as sorry as some says the Signal is.

WHY FOR THE BOND ISSUE

DEAR MR. EDITOR:
As this is my sixty-ninth birthday I thought I would write a few lines from this point as I had never seen anything in your valuable paper from here. And as I am a native of old Rockcastle was born and raised there and lived there all my life up to a little over a year ago. I love old Rockcastle and the people there seem near and dear to me. As I grow older everything seems to be more dear to me. When I was a boy I rambled up and down these creeks fishing and over these hills hunting squirrels, rabbits and other game. Little did I think that I would be here in this good year 1915 to write about it, but God in his infinite wisdom has spared me to stay this long, but how much longer I cannot say. He only knows. Not my will but His be done.
I love those rocks and ridges. Those plains and wooded hills. For they are the birthplace of my Lord of my native birth. When all was joy and mirth. 'Til it almost makes me cry.
I see you are agitating a bond issue of $100,000 for road repairs. Well, if I was out there and allowed a vote, I would vote for the bond issue. I know that I was against it the other time for various reasons. This time, with the aid we get from the state and other things considered I think it is the best thing the county could do. Some may think it is not much of my business now, but I still own a farm and pay tax in Rockcastle.
Wishing the Signal success and Rockcastle people good luck.
I am, Yours respectfully,
W. M. JAVES
CONWAY, KY, Jan. 20, 1915.

JAS. MARRT, Mt. Vernon, Ky.
DEAR JIM:
I hereby return petition: I only got a few signers quiet to fact I could not get out. However, I guess there will be signers enough to enable the court to make an order directing the election. I was, as you are aware, against the bond issue before, but I understand the law in regard to building roads, now, questioning aid from the state and in building under state supervision. I think the time is ripe for everyone to act. Don't think would be prudent or wise to fail to vote the bonds, thereby losing our chance of obtaining the money thereby due the county from the State. So, as I understand the matter, now I am as strong for this issue as I was against the other. Wishing success to the good road under taking, I am,
Yours truly,
T. J. HAVES.

JOHN SOTT, Bono, Ky.—I am for the bond issue for many reasons. It is the only way we will ever be able to build good roads, and it is the only way we can get our money back. I will give a pleasure. Will advance the value of our farms. Give us an easy way to get our produce to market, and this is the right step towards building up our schools and churches. Over one half the expense will be borne by corporations, and there is no other way in which we can ever hope to bring our country to the front. Boys will have the farms where there are good roads.
J. P. E. Drummond, Livingston.—The greatest value at the least cost is what the people want. The bond issue is the best and quickest way.
Dr. R. G. Webb, Livingston.—There is no faster way than a community money conducive to good morals, happiness and progress than good roads. All thinking persons agree upon this fact. All good citizens therefore ought to be in favor of good roads and to think they are.

Addition to Livingston
We understand that in the next few months there will be a large sum of money spent in Livingston in the way of improvement and will be a great help to every one in the city. We have always thought that our town would take on a new growth which it so well deserves.

Chamberlain's Tablets are just the thing for stomach trouble.
"Chamberlain's Tablets are just the thing for stomach trouble," writes Mrs. G. C. Dunn, Arnold, Pa. "I was bothered with this complaint for some time and frequently had to get up at night. Chamberlain's Tablets afforded me great relief from the first, and since taking one bottle of them I feel like a different person." For sale by all dealers.

THE GOOD ROADS people are preparing a paper, to be issued sometime next week, on the bond issue question, in which efforts will be made to cover all points connected with the road question; such as showing total amount of taxable property in the county. The per cent of total tax the railroads and corporations will pay, including incorporated towns; where the two proposed roads through the county will run. State require to pay off the bonds. Interest. How and by whom the bonds will be handled. How the contracts for construction is to be awarded. In fact it is meant to give, in the proposed paper, information covering every point possible in connection with the road and bond question. It is the intention to place the above mentioned statement in the hands of every voter of the county.

Monday's Courier Journal says that the Boone County Fiscal Court, at Danville has completed arrangements to accept State aid and will expend $45,000 in the reconstruction of her turnpikes. The larger portion of this sum will be expended on the pike leading to Harrodsburg and the one leading to Stanford, as these are to be part of the Boone Way from Cumberland Gap to Louisville. As a matter of boasting the Boone Way movement, Boone county proposes to be the first in the State to actually construct such a turnpike as will meet the expectations of those in charge of the movement to establish Boone Way.

WHYS FOR THE BOND ISSUE

Sam McClure, Skeggs Creek Road.—Am always for good roads. They make improved conditions.

George Fredricks, Pine Hill Road.—I have been overseer on our road for many years and can say I certainly know the need of better highways. I am for the bond and all other laboring men should be.

F. M. Marshbanks, Mareburg.—Am just back from North Carolina. The many good roads there makes me anxious to see Rockcastle give a show.

(First name on petition)

Albert Griffin, Pine Hill.—For the benefit of our county, my neighbors and my family and self I wish most heartily to see the bond issue successfully carried. This is one of the most important periods in the history of our county, which is now 104 years old. The greatest opportunity for receiving improved highways that has ever been presented is now before me. I appeal to our people to take advantage of it.

Julian Borden, Broadhead-Copper Creek Road.—I will vote and work for bond issue. It is the opportunity of a lifetime.

"Jarhead" Thompson, Crab Orchard Road.—It is particularly the interest of the laboring man to lend his aid in putting this bond issue thru. Most of the funds raised from sale of bonds will be paid out here in the county for the laboring man giving the man a market for his labor and an opportunity for the farmer, the merchant, mechanic and every one to get some of the benefits from the money put in circulation. Any laboring man voting against a bond issue is standing in his own light and is voting against the interest of his county, his neighbors, his family and himself.

Mesack Gentry, Crab Orchard Road.—To give labor to the unemployed, to make opportunities better for our people in many ways, for improved transportation of farm products to market, better church and school facilities. Every voter should study this subject closely and support it at the polls. The laboring man especially should work early and late in inducing his neighbors and friends to see the matter in its proper light and stand shoulder to shoulder on election day and in the great work in carrying this bond issue.

Allen Hiatt, Quail.—In good roads depends the salvation of our county toward improvement. We should not remain satisfied with present hard conditions of travel and transportation over our miserable roads.

Michael Cress, Wad.—In addition to many other advantages it will improve our live stock market and opportunities for better prices.

C. E. Mullins, Withers.—Am always in favor of improvements, especially good roads and the bond issue is the quickest and best way to secure them.

W. H. Carnahan, Pine Hill.—The tourist travel to and thru our county will leave money enough at the stopping places to more than pay the interest on bond issue.

Ed Fletcher, Skeggs Creek Road.—It will bring into our county people who will invest in farms and mineral lands. Roads will bring them.

Will McHargue, Pine Hill.—Many of our mountain tops will be covered with summer cottages of people from other counties and States.

Hardin Moore, Climax.—If this opportunity is not taken advantage of, our county may never get another such a chance to secure that which is our greatest need—good roads. Now is the time to push the movement. The small tax for redeeming the bonds will be so easily met when we have good roads that it will not be felt by the farmers for the reason of their income being increased by the great convenience and ease of transportation over the improved highways.

R. L. Payne, Pine Hill.—Improved roads banish the locusts of the country home.

Isaac Smith, Hiatt.—We continue to permit bad roads to keep thousands of women and children from the sunlight of civilization is to aid and abet one of the greatest crimes of the time.

Claud Griffin, Buckeye.—Distance is now measured by watch ticks and not yard sticks. The watch ticks longer on a bad road than on one that is improved.

Squire Sherman Chasteen, Climax.—The bond issue would give us two highways across the county and side lines and cross connection roads would follow, so it would not be many years until we would have a splendid system of highways throughout the county.

Bob Norton, Soperet Road.—I am perfectly willing to work just as hard for a $100,000 bond issue now, as I did against it two years ago, provided the State will send its engineers here and first survey out the nearest and most practicable route from the Pulaski line to the Madison line and from the Lincoln line to the Laurel line and thereby guaranteeing to the public that the $100,000 will be spent proportionately equal on the two roads and these engineers to give us an estimate of the cost per mile.

Sod Row.—The people will heartily support a bond issue for $100,000 provided the roads will run across the county in two ways thereby giving the most of the people benefit.

P. M. Rish, Skeggs Creek.—It is the quickest and best way to secure the roads and we get the use of them while they are being paid for.

Pete Cummins, Sand Spring.—I save 40 cents on every load of coal I take to town over our three miles of pike. What a saving it would be to the people if we had two improved roads thru the county and others to follow later.

T. N. Nee, Crab Orchard Road.—It would be a great misfortune and a calamity to our county's interest to let the bond issue be defeated. It would throw us backward in the march of progress probably twenty years or more, as compared with our neighboring counties that propose to take advantage of the State aid offered in assisting along in this great highway movement. We need roads as everybody knows; then why not vote for it?

Charlie Mod Mullins, Livingstone.—As the moped men and corporations are willing to pay the most of the bill and it costs the laboring man nothing, but gives him employment, I see no reason why he should be against the bond issue.

J. H. Bowman, Crab Orchard Road.—Improved roads are inseparable from the prosperity of our county. This bond issue will give the poor man work.

The SIGNAL will use every means to keep the people posted as to what is really being done to lift them out of the mud.

Dick Moore, Livingston.—Stop abusing the road and say something appropriate about the man who who opposes making the roads. He is wrong and not roads.

H. H. Wood, Wilkie.—There must be a state system to promote into state business and develop the resources of the counties, and there must be a national system to make possible the interstate communication.

Vote for the bond issue to accomplish this.

JUDGE M. L. JARVIS

To the Republicans of the 28th Judicial District of Kentucky: I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney, subject to your action in the primary election to be held August 7th 1915.

You have been kind and generous to me in the past, and I have endeavored to show my appreciation to repay you, by faithful, honest and sincere service.

It has been brought to me from you that my conduct of the office has been satisfactory, and my work appreciated by the many, and with full confidence and assurance, I make this announcement. The term I am now serving has given me acquaintance with the varied duties of the office, and the practical knowledge and insight into the details that can be obtained, only by experience.

You know of my public services and are acquainted with my official record, and it is not improper for me to say that I have striven earnestly to discharge every moral and legal duty, fearlessly, honestly and impartially.

We have entered the new year determined to handle our work with a united bond, with the same spirit of cooperation, and with the best of personal consideration for the interests of the citizens who will to state that during our association with the law enforcement machinery of the district, crime has been reduced to a minimum; offenders have learned to respect the law and the public peace has been secured. This is a pleasing condition, and is the result of the united efforts of the courts, courageous jurors and law respecting citizens. Law enforcement is essential to peace and good government, and can be effected only by the united efforts of those interested.

I earnestly ask your support in this contest, offering to you my past record as a guarantee of the future, and promise you that in the event of my renomination and election, I shall continue to give you my best efforts, and that I shall devote my entire time, energies and capabilities to law enforcement and good government.

Respectfully,
M. L. JARVIS.

THE COMMON SENSE WAY

The Times yesterday printed the following special dispatch from Mt. Vernon...

"Bill county will vote on road bond issue on February 13; Knox county on March 6; Laurel will file petition at next session of County Court; Rockcastle will file petition on January 25."

These counties mean, the trail followed by Daniel Boone when he first came into Kentucky. It was a trail then, it is but little more than a trail now...

The counties named in the dispatch from Mt. Vernon have decided to convert the Boone trail into the Boone highway...

At first it was proposed to raise the dollar to meet the dollar offered by the State by appropriation by the Fiscal Court and popular subscription by property owners along the highway...

Evidently the folks down in that part of the State have been giving the question a second thought. They have been shut off from the rest of the State thru the course of the natural rivers and the lives of their fathers and forefathers before them...

Some of the men who have signed the petition for a bond issue are getting along in years. They want to see good roads before they die. A bond issue will give it to them...

Such would seem the course of reasoning that has led to the call for Bell and Knox and that will lead to the call for Laurel and Rockcastle. To a friendly onlooker it appears to be the reasoning of good, hard sense.

A SCARLET WOMAN'S CAREER

I saw a new-born babe, fresh from the hand of God, placed in the lap of a loving mother. I noted as pure and immaculate as the snowflakes that fell on a Yankee slope...

et for that infant. Day after day she fed it upon the milk of her fondly formed by her own milk. Day after day that infant grew and waged stronger. The days lengthened into weeks. The months reached out into years and the years galloped down the highway of time in quick succession...

But what was that transformation taking place within her? Her types and aspirations (brought on by longings and strange desires that could not be satisfied) had entered her heart and mind. And what did it all mean? It was the dawning of her womanhood. While I am yet a child you the story, lo, her womanhood blossomed out into its beauty and majesty...

The average country boy and girl have very little opportunity for real enjoyment and have, as a rule, a vague conception of the meaning of pleasure and recreation. It is to fill this void in the life of country youth that the rural church has risen to the necessity of providing entertainment, as well as instruction, for its membership among the young.

It would take whole volumes to describe the mental anguish and suffering that the members of her family here. I never could tell you the pain and sorrow that they endured. There was a great void left in the home that the human power could fill. There was a great void left in that man's heart that never could be filled.

It is a springtime when human hope moun's high. The sun in the heavens is shining warm and bright. The air is soft and balmy. The birds were singing cheerily in the trees that stood in the front yard of her former home. The bees were busy sucking the honey from the flowers that were growing beside the front porch. The flies were lazily buzzing about the mother sat quietly and calmly with a broken heart. Her little three-year-old boy who was playing on the walk that led from the gate to the front stoop, was sitting playing on his mother's chamber, end up in her lap, nestled in his arms around her neck, and said: "Oh, mamma, when will sister come back home? Oh, those God of purity, may they upon my fallen daughter, may they, Oh, that merciful God, may my son never fall a victim to the god of lust. And she ceased her weeping for the tears ran down and washed away the words.

And shall we take the last peep into that dark dungeon? There she laid upon her bed of affliction. An utterable, unspeakable, awful disease had laid his slimy fingers upon her and left her a victim unto death. She was rolling in her bed of pollution. She was wallowing in her debauchery. She was writhing in her agonies. She was decaying. She was rotting. She was dying. At last, relief came when the angel hovered over her with his black wings to accompany her to the great beyond.

THE CHURCH AS A SOCIAL CENTER. The social duty of the rural church is as much a part of its obligations as its spiritual side. In expressing its social interest, the modern rural church does not hesitate to claim that it is expressing a true religious instinct and the old-time idea that the social instincts should be starved while the spiritual nature was overfed with solid theological food.

Now I don't want to levy on your property, but I must have this money, so I will have to levy on you if you don't pay at once. THE NATIONAL HIGHWAYS ASSOCIATION with headquarters at Washington, D.C., an organization with members in every state and co-operating with all other Good Roads Associations and Clubs, is already causing Congress to sit up and take notice of the roads movement. It is only a question of time when Congress will have to advise their constituents how they stand on the road proposition before they get committed and elected. The people are going to have appropriations for roads fifty thousand miles of them—and they are not going to wait always either. Boone Way will be taken over and maintained by the Government in next few years.

BILLIQUENESS AND CONSTIPATION CURED. If you are ever troubled with biliousness or constipation you will be interested in the statement of R. F. Erwin, Peru, Ind. "A year ago I was in bed and an attack of indigestion followed by biliousness and constipation. Being Chamberlain's Tablets so highly recommended and heard a little of them and they helped me right away." For sale by all dealers.
