"To the Friends of the Children: Once more the Kentucky Children's Home Society is making an appeal to the Christian people of the State to open their homes and hearts to its 'little citizens', to the boys and girls, who in a few years will be men and women.
Our home is now crowded beyond its capacity, but when a child judge writes to us of children who are neglected and homeless this freezing weather, what are we to do but say, 'Send them to us?' However, we have about reached the point where we will be compelled to say, 'Do not send them to us, we cannot take any more,' unless the kindhearted, generous people of the State come to our aid by opening their homes.
At the present time, we have in the Receiving Home two hundred and thirteen children, ranging in ages from a month to sixteen years. Many of these are bright, interesting boys and girls, sound in every way, but we also have some who are handicapped by being slightly defective in some way and this latter class need love and sympathy much more than the perfectly normal child.
We have found in our many years of experience that the best results come from the placement of the little children—"Suffer the little children," as they themselves say, as an age when lasting impressions can be made, and their characters can be most easily moulded.
Out in the State, are a great many more children, waiting to come to our Receiving Home. So by taking a child from us into your family, are doing us double kindness—a kindness to the child you take into your own home, to love and to be loved in return, and a kindness to the helpless, unfortunate, without a home, waiting to come to us.
If you are interested in the children of our State, kindly write to the Kentucky Children's Home Society, 1086 Baxter Ave., Louisville, Ky., and the superintendent will be more than glad to take the matter up with you."

MORE REASONS FOR BOND ISSUE

Judge Asher Tells Why the Road Bond Issue Would Benefit the County.

The question has been asked why I was opposed to the proposed bond issue of 1913, and now for the issue of this spring, and my reasons for same are as follows:

I was opposed to the proposed issue of 1913 because the sum called for was too large and all of same would have been Bell County's obligation. In my opinion at that time, that obligation would have become burdensome to the State and, further, the roads that could or would have been built would not have justified the expenditure of that money.

I am for the present proposed bond issue:

1. Because the amount to be voted on in the present proposed bond issue is only one-half as much as the proposed issue of 1913; and in addition to that there have since been laws enacted by the State of Kentucky by which the State agrees to pay one-half of whatever sum is spent by each of the counties in this State. If we vote for $250,000.00 in bonds the State proposes to pay one-half of the amount, or $125,000.00, leaving Bell county to pay only $125,000.00. This sum, borne equally by the State and county, as just explained, will build all the macadam roads Bell county needs at this time, and then leave a grand surplus of the present road fund to improve our dirt roads.
2. The $250,000.00 that build these roads will be paid by the property holders of this county, and they that have small holdings will pay small amounts, and they that have large holdings will pay large amounts. The cost does not reach the poorer or laboring class of this county, each man or housekeeper is entitled to a $360.00 exemption, and nothing can be added to the Poll Tax Payer. In my opinion, it will be a great advantage to the laboring man, and will help to bring prosperity to the county, now so much needed, and it will bridge us over these hard times until the financial affairs of the county rest on a more solid foundation.
3. Every dollar of the amount will be spent in Bell county except such amounts as may be sent away to purchase bridges or machinery, and as the amount will be practically all expended for labor, I CAN SEE NO REASON WHY THE LABORING CLASS OF PEOPLE SHOULD NOT UNITE IN A VOTE OF THIS KIND, AS THE MONEY WILL PASS THROUGH THEIR HANDS.
4. By taking the benefit of the State Aid would mean that we are to help all the other counties of this State build their roads, WHILE WE KEEP ON WADING THE MUD. This law may be in effect for the next 100 years and all that time we shall be paying in taxes to the State to help the other counties build their roads. Suppose we postpone our building roads for 20 or 25 years, by that time we shall be behind all the other counties just that length of time. CAN WE AFFORD IT? I think not. We should act promptly and get in on the "first floor"; by being one of the first we may be able to get in ahead of a great many of the other counties of Kentucky, and it may be that we shall secure a great sum from the State before the other counties awake to the fact that they are helping us build our roads.
5. I am receiving quite a number of letters from different parts of the county, in which the people are asking for help, and no doubt they are suffering and need help. If so change takes place, I am looking for the situation to get worse during the spring months, and I am particularly anxious to get the bond issue through, so that we can get the work started at an early date and relieve the situation.

Vote for the bond issue while we can get the benefit of the State Aid, and help the property in our county.

T. J. ASHER, Middleboro Three Stars.

It was a woman long married who wistly said to a bride: "If you want to keep your husband, jolly him."

The advice applies to husbands. It applies to wives. For that matter, it's a pretty good recipe for oiling any part of the machinery of life.

The other morning, in a crowded car, a conductor helped a woman with a heavy bundle. She thanked him graciously, took his number and promised to write a note of praise to the boss.

You should have seen that conductor's face beam.

She may not have kept her word. Possibly she was only jolly him.

But, accustomed as he was to treifful kicks and knocks, just this little glint of sunshine guided the day for him and made him courteous on the rest of the route.

Yes, we're all susceptible to blarney. Even when we know it isn't very deep, we like it. We say we don't stand for it, but the grouches of us are, nevertheless, more or less tickled on the inside.

vessels must be run at a loss, and the last is evidently contemplated. This loss will have to be supplied by the Government, out of the Treasury, which means ultimately out of the pockets of the people by way of taxation. Whether a gain or loss would differ from a subsidy?

One essential point in these calculations seems to have been overlooked by the framers and advocates of this bill, who seem to think that ships were that needed to carry cargo, and that is terminal facilities. Terminals are as necessary ships as a car is to a streetcar. A ship can not pull up at any landing and unload its cargo on the bank. Deep harbors, especially constructed wharves and docking facilities, and huge warehouses must all be provided beforehand. These abnormal world conditions have congested and overtaxed all the harbors of Europe almost beyond imagination. The war drains upon men has depleted the ranks of stevedores and dock hands. On account of these delays it is said that the vessels now to do the work of 5 under normal conditions. The English ports are congested largely because of the scarcity of labor; and in France they have been compelled to use the German prisoners to unload the cargo and to clear the quays and docks. It is not clear, as a business proposition, how few more Government-owned vessels can relieve this situation or emergency. The Government would first be compelled to purchase, construct or lease more terminal facilities before it can relieve existing conditions, and thus divert a large part of the capital this corporation from the purchase of ships.

A recent editorial in the New York Times very aptly illustrates this position. It says:

"It is especially fatuous to provide Government shipping or private ships with Government aid when the necessity of the case is not so much shipping as facilities for loading and unloading. To the facts on this fact as given by carriers' spokesmen on this side of the ocean may we add the incontrovertible evidence from the other side. Twenty-one vessels arrived in Liverpool last Thursday and not one of them was able to get a berth to discharge its cargo."

"It would be idle to add to such congestion by providing more ships. The trouble is not one of trade, but of time. Some ports are closed, throwing more business upon others that are not in favorable times. Many dock laborers have enlisted and others are leaving such high wages that they are independent. Commerce is not running in accustomed lines. Strange boats are unfamiliar routes, and require more attention than liners running on routine. If any Government should intervene, it is not to add to our own prices, and the freight is paid by the buyer, they should be left to us. We should worry only if they who are more eager than we should that we must use up our money, which is not only unnecessary in a commercial sense, but is obnoxious politically."

"Not only could this bill, in my judgment, fail to relieve the situation, which its promoters claim that it will accomplish, but it would have a tendency to paralyze present initiative and private capital from entering the field in investing in a merchant marine in competition with the Government-owned corporation, which is exempt from taxation and insurance and where all losses are recovered from the public Treasury."

"Investigation has shown that it costs 50 to 100 per cent more to build ships in this country than it does abroad, and that it costs about $17,000 a year to operate a ship of 3,000 tons under the American than under the British flag. These disabilities render which our foreign trade now is, and must be removed before one can expect to establish a merchant marine that will thrive and grow and hold its own with that of the other nations of the world. Mr. President, I shall vote against this bill recommitted, because I hope and believe that there is enough patriotism and statesmanship in this august body to handle this question in the wise and right way that is not from the viewpoint of party or personal politics. My suggestion is that the Commerce Committee, which will have the redrafting of this bill, if recommended to revise our foreign merchant marine laws as to place our merchant marine on an exact equality with the merchant navies of Great Britain, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, and other countries. This will not be in the best protection of our shipping industry which has never yet failed, and which while American shipowners meet the competition of the other nations of the world and actually foster and encourage a real American merchant marine."

"I am opposed to giving up at the present session of Congress to the corporation of this shipbuilding bill, which, in my judgment, is so unwise and will become so obnoxious to the people generally as to be difficult to understand, when we have other measures of real merit awaiting consideration, and in which the masses of the people are so vitally interested. The appropriation bill essential to the proper running of the Government must be passed. There is the tariff-reform bill which might be discussed and passed at the same time, and which would have a real interest of thousands of farmers and merchants of this country. I can not see where this bill is to be in the interest of the farmer or the producer, as it is contended by some; his grain and cotton, and other products, have practically all been sold and are now in the hands of the exporter who purchased them, and if this bill would benefit anyone at this time it would benefit the exporter. These enormous freight rates will not be paid by the farmer, but by the purchaser—exporter. I am a farmer, and have recently sold my cattle and wheat at better prices than I have sold them for in years. The war is the immediate cause of these high prices—the high price of shipping. What is to-day quoted at $1.85 per barrel. Would this not justify the Government in investing the public funds in vast acreage in the West and raise wheat in competition with the present crop in order to reduce the present enhanced price? While this may be far-fetched, what concerns us most is to determine whether Government ownership and competition with the individual is to stop. Where is the line to be drawn? If we once embark upon the project I am opposed to establishing any such precedent.

Mr. President, I have endeavored to make plain my objections to this bill, and in a manner keeping with the dignity of this body. I have not impugned the motives of anyone, reflecting only on the merits of the bill, and if you are entitled to express their own views and opinions, so am I. I am a monopoly of wisdom and virtue that authorizes him to criticize and condemn the actions of the Government. I want to let you know what is for the best interests of the people of this country, not to read out of the paper a statement which will violate his "clear convictions." At the best of a conference, subsequently called a caucus, in which he did not participate. It is his unadvised and ill-tempered remarks never won a cause, and I regret their use in this Chamber.

It is rather inconsistent for those who profess to be loyal to the Constitution and speak for the administration to criticize Democratic Senators for conferring with Republican Senators on this measure when President Wilson immediately calls into conference these Senators from the same party and the same Chamber.

It is highly inconsistent for the same Senators to criticize me because it will not violate my "clear convictions" and support a measure which I deem expedient and so-called "clear convictions," and upon which the people have not passed, when the President vetoes a measure which passed the Senate by a vote of 56 to 17 because it is opposed to his "clear convictions." I honor and admire him for his courage, but it is possible that a Senator is not entitled to the same privilege? Must he surrender his convictions? Must he surrender a measure vastly more important, more revolutionary, and upon which the people have not rendered their verdict?

A New Tax Law.

Act of Congress approved Dec. 17th, 1914, provides that on or after March 1st, 1915, every person who produces, imports, manufactures, compounds, deals in, dispenses, sells, distributes or gives away pium or coca leaves or any compound, or manufactures salt derivative or prepared therefrom, shall register with the Collector of Internal Revenue, his place of business and procure a special tax stamp, which costs 3 cents from March 1st to June 30, 1915, and $1.00 for each year, period after that date. The penalty for failure to comply with the law is fine of not more than $200 and imprisonment of not more than six months or both, in the discretion of the court.

Certain order blanks prescribed by the Department are necessary, in every case where the special tax stamp is issued, before the pium or coca leaves can be sold. These are bound in book of two sizes, one selling at ten cents and the other at fifty cents. All remittances should be made in cover cost of special tax stamp and one or the other of these order books. Copies of the law and regulations may be had by addressing Jno. W. Hughes, Collector of Internal Revenue, for the 8th. District, Danville, Ky.

BROODHEAD

Senator Claud Sutton says since herod horseback from his residence to Brodhead, a distance of about two miles, he is now strictly for the issuance of bonds for road building. If that will convince men that they should vote for improved roads, we would be glad a few around Brodhead would take a two mile joy ride in any direction from town. Whether that would cause them to charge or not, it would at least give them a chance to see how very deep the mud is. Never has roads been in such a condition in this section as now, and we have never talked with any voter who would be against this proposed measure should it pass along his way. We often wonder how any voter can conscientiously be opposed to a measure that will benefit his neighbor or even though the measure does not directly benefit himself. We should all remember that the second pipe cannot be built, until the first one has been built, and we should all see the importance of building the main lines first. We might use our railroad as an illustration. No railroad company will build its branch roads until the main road is complete, because they can use the main road to haul the material over, yet those who are opposed to the branch roads would build first. We feel sure that we are all anxious to improve the roads in this section, and that the people there would be no trouble of the bond issue, and again if the people understand the

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Catarrh is the only positive cure now known, the only medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hill's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. It cures Catarrh of the bladder, restores the urinary system, rebuilds the constitution, and gives the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. Robert Griffin has returned after a few days' visit with relatives at Buckeye.—Well, after quite a while we have left our friend and kinsman, W. M. Hicks alone in the matrimonial field, still a candidate for matrimony but because of his attitude of not doing all we could for him. We have kept a standing advertisement in the Signal for the past six years and we can't say our heart is not on the right side. Well, our conscience is clear on that subject, for we did all we could for him and yet he is single. Now, we wish the legislature would pass a bill to tax all widowers and bachelors a heavy tax for remaining single. How is this Mare, are you for this bill or not?—Living Miss Geneva Griffin is very sick at this writing.—J. H. Browning has purchased a farm in Lincoln County and will move his family there soon. We regret to give them up.—There will be services at the Christian church, Wednesday night.—S. C. Franks

So you see Livingston is not dead by a long shot. It has only been taking a snooze.—John Overbay is slowly improving and we hope he will soon be able to be out again.

COLDS AND GROUP IN CHILDREN

Many people try upon Chamberlain's Cough Remedy implicitly in cases of colds and croup, and it never disappoints them.—Mrs. E. H. Thomas, Logansport, Ind., writes: "I have found Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be the best medicine for colds and croup I have ever used, and never tired of recommending it to my neighbors and friends. I have always given it to my children when suffering from croup, and it has never failed to give them prompt relief. For sale by all dealers."

COLDS ARE OFTEN MOST SERIOUS STOP POSSIBLE COMPLICATIONS

The disregard of a Cold has often brought many a regret. The fact of sneezing, coughing, or a fever should be warning enough that your system needs immediate attention. Certainly Loss of Sleep is most serious. It is a man's duty to himself to assist by doing his part. Dr. King's New Discovery is based on a scientific analysis of Colds. See at your Druggist.
