WHO ARE THESE PEOPLE?

REFUSED GOOD HOMES—Last week a woman and her three daughters and a son came to Danville. The woman said her husband had driven her and her children from their home near Mt. Vernon and that they were out seeking assistance. They applied at the Salvation Army headquarters and Capt. McDonald's secretary in placing all of them in good homes. They were given their rooms and board and were paid salaries. Each was placed in a different home. In less than two days the woman quit her job and went around to various places and gathered up her children and left home. All slept on the roadside on the Sinkerton pike one night and another night they were taken in by people and cared for. The woman spread the report after she had induced her children to leave good homes that the Salvation Army would give them to assist them and that they were welcome to sleep on the roadside. Capt. McDonald will furnish anyone interested with the names of the families in which the children and woman were placed. Those who offer a good home and secure full information as to the facts in the case. When last heard from the woman and children had reached Frankfort and were seeking assistance.

People in Danville are so generous in giving beggars that many impostors come this way. All beggars without exception should be referred to the Salvation Army headquarters where each applicant is investigated. Impostors are refused help, the worthy are helped and placed in good homes. Those who offer a good home and secure full information as to the facts in the case. When last heard from the woman and children had reached Frankfort and were seeking assistance.

Democratic State Campaign Com.

Galt House Louisville, Ky. November, 13, 1915 Hon. F. Logan Thompson, Chm James Maret, Secretary.

My dear friends After a most strenuous and what in the end, proved to be, the most closely contested election ever held in Kentucky, we have come out victorious. Official returns are all in and there is no longer any doubt as to the result. Mr. Stanley has been elected Governor and the entire Democratic ticket has won The majority is not very flattering but it is entirely sufficient. On the seventh of December Mr. Stanley will become the Chief Executive of the State and to your efforts and those of other members of our organization the happy results of the election is attributable.

No candidate for the high office of Governor ever had so much to contend with as did Mr. Stanley, and it is doubtful if any other man could have, under the same circumstances, led the party to victory.

On behalf of the candidates and this committee, I thank you most heartily and through you, thanks are extended to every precinct committee member for the assistance so cheerfully rendered during the campaign. Expressing the hope of seeing all of you at the inauguration, I am, Sincerely yours,

ELDER A. J. Pike closed a very successful meeting at Oak Hill church, in the Hiatt section, Sunday evening, baptizing six converts here. At the afternoon he was assisted by the Rev. Fred Jones. Mr. Pike left Tuesday morning for Jellico to attend the General Association of Baptists—Elder B. T. Young and County Attorney E. R. Gentry were here Thursday of last week, and organized a District Civic League subordinate to the County Civic League organized at Mt Vernon a few weeks ago. Prof. J. L. Pilkerton was chosen Vice-President and A. M. Hiatt, Secretary. Rev. Young and Attorney Gentry both made very interesting talks on the subject of Law and Order. About forty, some of whom were ladies, signed the pledge, and it is hoped that this movement will grow to such an extent that Law and Order will reign supreme in old Rockcastle and that peddlers, vote buyers and sellers, and every sort of crime can easily be stamped out of our town and county.—Miss Elizabeth Brown was visiting in Crab Orchard, Saturday and Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Rigbee, of the Preacher's section, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Robins and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Howell from Saturday until Monday.—The Rev. J. R. Lunford will preach at the Christian church Saturday evening, and Sunday morning. Everybody cordially invited to attend these services.—Dr. W. F. Carter was in Shelbyville, Sunday and Monday, with relatives.—J. L. Erickson was in Mt. Vernon, Monday, between trains.—The Rev. Royal Powell filled his regular appointment at the Methodist church, Sunday. Walter Robins was in Mt. Vernon, Saturday. He was appointed Deputy County Court Clerk, and a bond hearing license to a number of the boys here.—Guy

Roberts, 25, and Miss Mae Bray, 19, were married in Mt. Vernon, Sunday afternoon. Mr. Roberts is a son of Mrs. Nellie Roberts, of Gum Sulphur, and one of the county's best citizens and teachers. We know nothing of the lady that he has chosen to be his life partner, but the fact he made the choice is sufficient for us to say that she is a noble, good girl, who will join their many friends in wishing them unbounded happiness throughout their wedded life.—Attorney E. B. Thompson was the guest of his sister, Mrs. C. T. Riddle, here during the week.—Tinsley Saylor died at his home in the Hiatt section, Tuesday, after a illness of typhoid. He would have no physician, though his condition has been serious for several days.—For some time Brodhead and vicinity has felt the want of a real estate agent, or company to do real estate business, and there has recently been organized a company to be known as the Brodhead Real Estate Company. Whether this new enterprise will be successful or not, it supplies a long felt want. Real estate in this vicinity has been of considerable demand lately, and doubtless many more sales could have been made, or town property exchanged for farm, or visa versa, had there been some individual or company whose business it was to list property for sale or exchange, and bring the buyer and seller together. This company will do a general real estate business, write B. R. life, health and accident insurance, prepare deeds, mortgages and other legal documents and hold public sales, and act as having-depositary for sale or exchange of goods to be sold, or write, the Brodhead Real Estate Company.

BEST MAN IN TOWN.
 The best man we have in our town for the general good is one to whom you will all ways see on the front seat of the progressive band wagon. He is the first one to extend an open and warm hand to greet the stranger and welcome him to the best town in the state. He will receive an insult to our town as quickly as he would star at a member of his family. He very politely invites the chronic croaker "to move." He is ever ready to give his just proportion to every public enterprise. He talks up our town at home and abroad, and he flows in the best place upon God's green earth in which to live and desire to be buried here when he dies. Let us all try to be like that man for our glory and our little city will take on new life and improve as never before in its history.

THAT a wave of prosperity is spreading over the entire of the United States is not to be denied, and one encouraging fact is that in many cases, it is not the result of any effect the European war is having on the trade relations of this country. From the papers and trade journals from every section can be seen the reports of the opening of factories, mills, etc., in every line of business and an increased output in nearly every line of work. This is evidence that prosperity is returning regardless of the war in the foreign fields.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON, founder of Tuskegee College, and the greatest of all colored educators, died at his home in Alabama last Saturday after an illness of only a short duration. Washington did more for his race in America than all others combined, and in his death the black man has lost his greatest benefactor.

The entire Democratic ticket was victorious, but that was all, the majority is so small that there is nothing to boast about.

McCLURE'S DEFEAT
 Indians Slay Six People on Skaggs Creek

EMIGRANTS ATTACK AT NIGHT
 In the Year 1785.
 On East Fork of Skaggs Creek, on a spot of ground now owned and occupied by Erank Kirby, four miles south-east of Mt. Vernon. In the year 1785, there took place what is called McClure's defeat, an emigrant campment under the charge of a man named McClure, was attacked by Indians at night. Six whites were killed and scalped.

Mrs. McClure ran into the woods with her four children, and could have made her escape with three, if she had abandoned her fourth, this infant in her arms, cried aloud and thereby gave the savages notice of their whereabouts. She heard them bounding through the night, the great ones suffered her concealment without the infant, but she was a mother, and determined to die with it, the like feeling prevailed her from telling the three eldest to flee and hide. She feared they would be lost if they left her behind, the hope they would not be killed if they remained. In the meantime the Indians arrived and extinguished both ears and hopes in the blood of the three children. The youngest, and the mother they made captive. She was taken back to the camp, where there was a fire, and she was compelled to watch the emigrants as they about an unbroken horse, and accompany them on their return home.

QUALITY OF THE SECURE.
 In consequence of this and other troubles being connected to Whitley's station (near Crab Orchard), he was not at home. A messenger, however, was dispatched before the arrival of Mrs. Whitley, who at the same time sent others to warn and collect his company. On his return he found twenty-one men collected to receive his orders. With these he directed his course to the "war path," intending to intercept the Indians returning some of the road. Fortunately they had not started to divide their plan; and Whitley succeeded in gaining the path in advance of them. He immediately saw that they had no rest, and prepared for their arrival. His company consisted in a favorable position, but did not wait long before the enemy appeared, dress in their spoils. As they approached, they met a deadly fire from the concealed rifles, which killed two, wounded two others and captured the rest. Mrs. Whitley, her child and a negro woman, were rescued, and six scalps taken by the Indians, at the camp, recovered.

FIRST BRICK HOUSE.
 Col. William Whitley built the first brick house in Kentucky, about three miles west of Crab Orchard, on the south side of the railroad, it can be seen by passengers passing that way. The building is still a substantial structure today. It is claimed that "the brick used in this building were baked at the Virginia kilns." The brick was made near the house, he made in Virginia, for the reason at that time the territory was a part of the State of Virginia.

Col. Whitley was killed in the battle of the Bluffs, Kentucky, while fighting the British and Indians, on October 5, 1813. The noted Indian Chief, Tecumseh, was slain in this battle, as also was Col. Richard M. Johnson. It has never been fully, and clearly shown which was the better soldier, noted Kentucky hunter, or the great Indian chief.

The rifle and powder horn that Col. Whitley carried to Canada is yet in possession of the Buchanan family (relatives) at Crab Orchard.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS.
 As a result of vocational schools some callings formerly despised, and justly so, have become professions. Dentistry provides a good example. It was once about upon a party with umbrella lending. A dentist had a bit of tools and tramps about looking for victims. As a professional dentist is only about fifty years old, and although it was a calling in the days of Herodotus, America's colleges of dental surgery made this country the founder of the profession. American dentists became boasted acquisitions at European courts and well paid practitioners in European capitals became vocational training schools in this country set a constantly rising standard of requirement.

Medicine and surgery formerly were haphazard callings. The barber was often the surgeon. Priest physicians were resident prescribers of portious and poisons because they had other work to do. Surgeons who were not barbers were itinerant, and did not dare double on their track for fear of meeting mobs composed of enraged relatives and friends of the deceased. They were the bolder adventurers who attempted operations. The use of boiling oil or white hot iron to stop the flow of blood after amputation were among the practices. Anesthetics were, of course, unknown, and the man who fell into the hands of the surgeon, fared worse than the man who was taken by savages. He could neither escape nor resist torture. Courier Journal.

In our last issue we failed to mention the wedding of Miss Kate Parsons and Mr. Esmer Hayes. Mrs. Hayes is the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Parsons of the Buckeye section. Both are popular young people of the Widdie and Buckeye vicinity. The Signal gives a host of friends in wishing them lots of happiness.

BRAY-ROBERTS.—Last Sunday afternoon during a heavy down pour of rain, Miss Mae Bray and Prof. Guy N. Roberts, accompanied by Misses Dessie Thompson and Emma Davis, stole the march on other friends and drove to the home of Rev. H. T. Young of this place, and were made man and wife. Mrs. Roberts is the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Bray, of Wadd this county, and Prof. Roberts is one of the county's popular young teachers. They left on the afternoon train and will make their home at Gum Sulphur. The Signal extends hearty congratulations and best wishes.

The display of corn, vegetables, fruits, nuts, sorghum, etc., in Fish's show window is well worth going miles to see. There are mammoth pumpkins large enough to toss Porter's wife in, a splendid assortment of white, yellow and mix corn, including the "bloody butcher"; pie melons, gourds in varieties, the straight and crooked handles, the rattlesnake, nest egg and baby gourds. Whoppin' big beans and turnips. Squashes to throw at the birds. Two young Irish potatoes and big sweet potatoes, each large enough to make a family meal. Ground cherries, popcorn, chinquapins, chickory, jumbo and dwarf hickory nuts, cornmeal with 3 ears to stalk, second crop apples, beside giant apples and pears, as well as medallion sized fruits of finest variety. There are many other things in this interesting display. There is hardly an hour of the day when there is not a number of interested spectators inspecting and admiring this splendid show of Rockcastle products, each specimen on display bearing the name of the producer and they are, and have reasons to be proud of the results of their labors.

Under the impression that because an owl stays awake all night our industrious barber, Cox, thought it would add to his earning capacity to be able to imitate the owl. His barbers had a friend slay a large specimen of the night prowler, cook and ate the whole bird at two meals, forgetting that bird's habit of sleeping in day time. The trick worked all right in the way. Cox stays awake nights but goes to sleep standing "at the chair" cutting hair or shaving customers. Now he is asking his old patrons to eat owl and report at night to be shaved.

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY CIVIC LEAGUE
 The plan of organization is to maintain a civic organization, with subordinate leagues throughout the county. A local league was organized at Brodhead on Thursday evening of last week. This was the best attended league meeting that has been held in the county, to date. The crowd, that met in the town hall, was not only good numerically, but it was representative of the business and professional people of the town. These people are interested and are going to support the league. Thirty five cards were signed that night, a number were signed the next day, and the secretary says that one hundred pledges will be signed in Brodhead. These names have not been checked, the secretary in Mt. Vernon, but shall be printed in this column later. E. R. Gentry, F. L. Durban and H. T. Young, of Mt. Vernon, were at Brodhead for this meeting.

The following pledge cards have come to the secretary for the Mt. Vernon League: J. S. Irvine, W. H. Livesey, J. H. Bowman, C. H. Mullins, R. A. Sparks, Mrs. Zula Sparks, K. J. McKinney, C. T. Sigmon, J. A. Owens. Wallace La s a well, (Orlando). The r pledges have been turned in. Plans are being made to organize leagues at Livingston and Widdie within this month.

The telephone girls occupy small, wire-fenced coops, where they can not be reached by anything but the appealing voice of the grocery salesman who is trying to locate the shipping department on a reverse ticket. Each girl wears a receiver on her right ear, which enables her to drink in a great deal of subtlety which was not intended for publication, along with some very animated love passages which bob up in the divorce proceedings at a later date.

The best thing about the telephone girls is that her mother is shorter than a Coney Island walking skirt, and she is harder to pry information out of than a witness for the defense in a saloon fight. If telephone girls ever get together and started to tell all they knew the number of abrupt and hurried departures from the city would make the exodus from Egypt look like letting out prayer meeting on a rainy night.
