THE TOWN YOU LIVE IN Stand up for it.

Think well of it. Speak in its favor.

Encourage its industries. Patronize its merchants.

Furrah for the enthusiastic. Cheer every live enterprise.

See all that is beautiful in it. Chant praises to the good it possesses.

Sing of its wonders, you'll find it has some.

Love it, stick to it, the town you live in.

Welcome improvement, stagnation's sin.

Praise it and laud it if you wish thrith to come.

One of the leading business men of the town, after viewing the sights presented on Old Main, as it is to day, covered with a lot of worthless old harness and shackles, presented a picture of that once load ng street, as it would and could be, if the unsightly and absolutely worthless buildings were moved away and that street used for buildings for different enterprises that would come that way.

As it is the only purpose the old barn serve is to furnish a hiding place for the boot leggers and "bottled in the barn" dispensers. Last but not least would remove a terrible eye sore to those who have occasion to go on Old Main.

R. L. McFarren has erected a building that is a credit to the street, and there ought to be others, but people would be slow to build on a street when confronted with the sight as presented on Old Main.

WOMAN'S CLUB

The meeting of the Woman's Club held last Friday in the parlors of the Langdon Dormitory, was thoroughly interesting.

The program, a study in Italian Art, presented in detail by Miss Stewart and Mrs. Cleo W. Brown, was splendid.

Miss Stewart took the subject: "Florentine Art and Artists," giving an excellent description of the Florentine school of arts, and telling how the idea of religious teaching by means of art was conceived near the middle of the fifteenth century.

A graphic description of many of the great Italian pictures was given by Miss Stewart. Grotto, Filippo Lippi, Botticelli, Da Vinci and Michael Angelo, were some of the artists mentioned.

Mrs. Brown took the art of the fifteenth century, giving an instructive paper on the Italian artists Vecchio, Filian, Lotto, Raphael, Pintoretto and Gualdis Real.

By means of the Radio-phon the program was rendered more interesting.

The next regular meeting of the club will take place, Friday Dec. 17.

Please notice the columns of the SIGNAL for report of club.

Christmas hats and caps at Fish's.

Don't let another cold snap catch you without a pair of Fish's lace boots.

F. F. Robbins, of Gum Sulphur bought a car of corn of W. R. Gains, of Crab Orchard, at $2.50 per barrel and sold it to Martin Green, Pineville, Ky.

J. R. Hamilton, of Lancaster, sold to Colyer & Vanhook, of Somerset, the timber of a 1400 acre tract of land on Copper creek, this county.

The revival at Baptist church closed Sunday night the 12, conducted by Rev. E. H. Barb, of Missouri. While there was only eight additions, six by experience and two by letter, there was great interest manifested.

FOR SALE

I will, on Thursday the 23, day of Dec. 1915, at o'clock a. m., at A. J. Sams' place, offer for sale the following: One cow and yearling, one hog, and household and kitchen furniture. Terms—A credit of three months.

W. M. SAMS, Adm'r. Gauley, Ky.

The acquisition of Mr. and Mrs. P. Q. Griffin as citizens of our town is an addition of the kind we are always glad to have.

Rockcastle has no better people than they, and Mr. Griffin, who believes in progress, has already been of considerable benefit to the town by building and improving other property he owns, and in the Spring expects to resume his good work by erecting one or two nice cottages on the lot where the old mill stood.

Twice within the last year, a barrel of whiskey (50 lbs) limo has been obtained from moving libraries between Brothrod and Maresburg by unknown parties.

The last barrel was owned by Frank Collins, who was assisting Special Agent Harlan in the search, bid in a corn stock about two hundred yards from where the barrel struck the ground but on opposite side of the track.

If this continuing our production some one or some several will land in the pen.

CIVIC LEAGUE

Civic Leagues are organizing in many towns and cities of Kentucky and other States.

The purpose of such organizations is to improve the civic conditions, elevate the moral tone, and promote education—thus bringing to the community and happiness to our people.

Some think that when they join such a league they must at once take up the role of detective and informant—that their efficiency depends upon the number of cases they may be able to bring before the grand jury—the number of people they may be able to indict and convict.

My conception of the purpose of such league is that each member should begin at his own home.

First put away all grouchiness, all his promises clear, make all his promises clear, sanitary and slightly-brighten up, and look cheerful and happy himself whether he feels so or not.

Cheerfulness is as contagious as grouchiness, and when cheerfulness has once established itself in your nature it makes life worth the living. Make your friends and neighbors feel that you are their friend—Enough bitterness comes into every life at best. Help them with your cheerfulness, your friendly counsel, and your time of rest, offer something more substantial.

Now for the town: When you have put your own house in order, let there be co-operative work in cleaning and improving the streets—let there be co-operative hitching places, cleaning in from the corners, plenty resting places for them, and plenty of good, pure, clean water to drink. Make them feel that they are spending a free, pleasant hour

Langdon News

The Women's Club met at the Dormitory Friday Dec. 10. The subject for the meeting was "Italian Art." Papers were read by Miss Stewart and Mrs. Cleo W. Brown.

Mr. Allaben, Superintendent of Schools for the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, visited Langdon the latter part of the week.

Miss Donnelly, of Hustoville, Tenn., and Miss Young, of Harlan, Ky., were guests at the Dormitory, coming for a Worker's Conference.

Rev. Mac Kennan, of Louisville, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church Sunday.

There will be a Christmas literary program given at the Dormitory Thursday Dec. 23.

School will close for the holiday recess Thursday, Dec. 23. Miss Stewart and Miss Turner will remain at the school. The other teachers will spend their vacation at their several homes: Miss Beck, Smith's Grove, Ky.; Miss Coulton, Louisville; Miss Newberry, Itez, Ky.; Miss Esteb, Pittsburg, Pa.; Miss Krohn, Brandon, Miss and Miss Bradley, Danville, Ky.

"I saw a hoop snake drink a gallon of sweet milk out of a crook in my cave one time," says Sam Cox, the string-bale man, whose confidence we shall hold sacred on account of the splendid reputation for truth and veracity he now enjoys.

"The snake then crawled out of the cave, stuck his tail in his mouth rolled down the hill. He lost control of himself and could not put on the brake, so he skidded against a small sapling and had a 'blow-out.' When I got down the hill there on the ground lay the punctured remains of his snakeship and beside him a pound of butter."

KIT CARSON

Kentucky University and Other Early Kentucky History. The following historical scraps are furnished by Jim Marot, president of Boone Valley Association...

"Christopher Carson, generally known as 'Kit' Carson, the most famous mountaineer, trapper and guide in the last two thirds of a century, was a native of Madison county, Kentucky, born on Tate's farm, December 24, 1809, and died at Fort Lyon, Colorado, May 23, 1868, aged 58. Col. Wm. Rhodes, of Richmond, (who was still living at that place in 1873), remembers seeing Kit on horse back behind his mother, as his father, Lindsey Carson, of this city, started on their first expedition to the then far west, post-Howard county, Missouri.

At 12 young Carson joined a hunting expedition, which gave him a taste for wild life on the plains he never could change; he was eight years a trapper, eight years more hunter for the fur trade, then he joined in the celebrated explorations of Lieut. John C. Fremont, Lieutenant in rifle corps, U. S. Army 1847; U. S. Indian agent in New Mexico 1853 in the Federal army during the civil war, he was colonel, then brigadier general, and in 1865 resumed his Indian agency. He was one of the pioneers of the wool trade in California, in 1838 drove across the plains 8,500 head of wool on a trip of great hardship and misadventure. His trip was remarkable as a judge of Indian character and for his influence with and control over the Indians; and to the day of his death, was noted for his modesty.

Samuel Estill, a younger brother of Kit Carson, came to the celebrated Indian fighter, came to the Station in 1875. He lived to be an old man, quite as remarkable for his size as in early life, for his active bravery. It took a side of leather to make him a pair of boots and to expunge the dirt from his church and was immersed, required the strength and assistance of twelve men to baptize him seated in a chair. His weight at death was 412 pounds.

The Kentucky University, which, in 1867, Transylvania University was consolidated, originated about 1839 in an effort of the Reformed Baptist or "Christian" denomination to establish a college at Georgetown, Scott county. The feeble school thus initiated, under the name of Bacon college, was removed to Harrodsburg in 1840, and virtually abandoned in 1860. One of its alumni, John B. Bowman, actuated by a singular zeal and self devotion, dedicated his life and energies to the work of erecting on these ruins a great university, in the full sense of the word. Abandoning his farm and professional aims, personally presented to the minds of the people of Kentucky the claims of liberal education, with such success that in 1850 days he obtained $50,000 to endow the university which he proposed to Harrodsburg in a "modern American Christian basis." Under a liberal charter granted in February 1857, by the Legislature Bacon College was merged in Kentucky University; and the College of Science, Literature, and Arts, opened at Harrodsburg in September 1857 with 600 students. Mr. Bowman also received $5,000 to purchase apparatus and $50,000 with which to purchase as the site, the celebrated Harrodsburg Springs, with 200 acres of land, and erect thereon university buildings at the expense of 1850. The civil war was greatly retarded by the progress of this enterprise, and the college edifice and much book apparatus was destroyed by fire in February 1864.

In this juncture Mr. Bowman was when giving his own hand and energy to the enterprise, with an occasional visit to his own property, and with an occasional visit to his own property, and with an occasional visit to his own property...

GOLDEN WEDDING

THURSDAY, December 14th, was the Fiftieth Anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gentry, highly respected citizens of our town and county, and a beautiful dinner was served at their home in honor of the occasion. An invitation was extended to all, and those who attended know how appropriately the day was celebrated. The same table with which the host and hostess began the feast being delivered as things to eat, so well prepared and artistically arranged that it was beautiful to behold. Mr. J. W. Brown acted as Master of Ceremonies, and while nearly a hundred friends and relatives gathered around the festive board, delivered a very beautiful and fitting talk, in which he recalled the earlier days of these good people, and paid just tribute to the noble example they have lived before the world. He reminded that while they were young, the westward side of the sun, they enjoyed a blessing that comes to very young one in life, and to people very few at all. In the name of all assembled he wished them many years of happiness yet to come, and asked the guests to join him in drinking the health of their loved and hostess in pure, emblematical of the purity of their lives. After which the host and hostess were each presented with a piece of gold, the present of meeting on the occasion of the day being celebrated, and as a slight token of the esteem of those present. The ceremonies closed with a touching prayer by Rev. H. T. Young, this, however, did not end the celebration, as many will testify stayed and ate until almost dark. It was pleasant to those present to see the joy of this couple who have trodden life's weary road together for half a century, sharing equally its joys and sorrows, and looking ever to that greater life beyond. No doubt this year seems a long time to him, when they are together, but very short as they look back over the intervening years. They received many presents as kind remembrance of those of admiring friends and relatives. Four of their six living boys were present and ten of their ten, the other two being unable to attend. Mr. Gentry kept a register of all the guests, there being 200 to repeat here.

Mr. and Mrs. Gentry wish to say they greatly enjoyed the occasion with their many friends who came and to express their high appreciation for both your presence and presents.

son, Master Gravelly Farris, of Junction City, were visiting relatives here Saturday and Sunday.

—Mrs. Lou Parcell and son, Fred, of St. Louis, are here on account of the serious illness of Uncle Joe Parcell. Mrs. J. R. Cass returned home Saturday from Stanford, where she had been for a few days on account of the illness of her little grand son, Master James Butler Hilton—Born to the wife of Walter Robins, Monday, a seven and one half pound girl baby.

—Carson & Wheelidon, and a vaudeville Co., gave three shows the first of the week. Brothead has gotten to be a great show town, and the Carson & Wheelidon shows are good ones, and are usually well attended. — J. H. Ward closed a deal with James Meredith, of Lincoln county, for his farm the first of the week. This deal has been under way for several weeks, but the deed was not made until Wednesday. Mr. Ward will move his family to the Byron Owens property until he moves to the Calvin farm at Christmas. — Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Carter were in Louisville, Monday. — Mrs. Eva Caine, and Wallace Haggard, who are attending the Bowling Green Business University, are at home for Christmas. — The new depot was completed the first of the week, and turned over to J. R. Cass, who is day boss now, and we really believe the gentleman is growing younger in his old days. W. T. Brock, the all-around ball room man, has his crew here now doing some tencing and other work. — The Rev. Roxie Powell held regular services at the Methodist church, Sunday morning and evening.

Disputants

Nearly everybody is done gaiting corn. The crop was very light in this neighborhood. — There is no more corn to be had, and this will be a cold winter. Every body ought to prepare their wood and be sure to have a good, warm shelter for the cow. — W. O. Chasten has returned from Illinois where he has been for the past year. He has out as an agent in the home place to his brother. She is an "under-the-table" girl. He has bought again at near Wallow. — Sidney Croutcher has moved to the Calvin farm at Christmas. — "Aunt" Susan King aged 77, has been visiting in town. — Mrs. S. A. Brodhead

U. B. Cass and B. R. Wilmott, who were working with the bridge crew for the L. & E. Railroad, returned home last week. The crew being cut off for the winter. — The play entitled "Fanny Fells," given by the High School and others, Thursday night of last week, was well attended and greatly enjoyed. The play is a good one, and the way it was presented showed that each one had the proper training, and are to be complimented in the way they acquitted themselves. They have been requested to put the same play on again, shortly, and we appreciate the attendance will be even better than at first. — W. R. Barnes sold his residence property to J. M. Brown, the Broughton town merchant, for $900.00. Mr. Brown will soon move to the property and we understand will have his stock of general merchandise here. — Mr. and Mrs. Chas.
