GAME WARDEN HERE.

Col Henry Goff, the big game warden, was here this week and said to the Signal Man: I have just received instructions to get after all violators of the game laws, and I am going to do it. I have just finished up the appointment of deputies and have them scattered all over the county. There is no way on earth that the boys can get away from us if they do get wrong and try to kill game out of season. From what I can learn there is going to be very little of the work done, and I hope that I have been correctly informed. You can tell them that we are on the look out. Mr. Goff is one of the very best game wardens that we have had in this county for years.

RED CROSS NOTES.

To successfully carry on a war our country must be equipped with machinery, every part of which works in its place harmoniously. We cannot conduct a war without strong, active soldiers, or without guns and ammunition. A soldier cannot train and engage in war as a farmer, so some must feed him. He must also have comfortable clothes and the volunteers armed with knitting needles are doing their part just the same as those in training camp, on the high seas or on the battle front.

Anyone who can knit at all can knit a sweater just as well as sew. A muffler or a wristlet is easily knit. Come in, get yarn and try your hand.

Red Cross headquarters will be kept open each Saturday to furnish supplies of yarn and instructions. Call at the postoffice any day and Mrs. Brown will find some to serve you.

Last Monday was the regular annual election of officers of Mt. Vernon Royal Arch Chapter No. 140. The following officers were duly elected and installed:

R. K. Gentry, H. P.; John H. Coffey, K.; J. W. Brown, Secretary; V. C. Tate, Treasurer; A. Landrum, Secy.; R. H. Miller, C. of H.; Rev. H. T. Young, P. S.; D. H. Lyon, R. A. C.; James Prector, M. of B. V.; Cam Mullins, M. of 2nd V.; W. C. Johnson, M. of 1st V.; M. Pennington, Sentinel.

McNew and Masus of Wildie are threshing wheat through this section. They report a good yield. There is also a big crop at Buck Woods.

BODLE THOMPSON.

Mr. E. B. Thompson who is now in the U. S. A. Officer's Training Camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, writes his relative, Mr. J. W. Brown, a letter in which he gives an account of some of the duties required of some officers in our National Army. Mr. Brown has given us permission to publish the letter which we give below. We are sure it will be read with much interest by the many friends and admirers of Mr. Thompson in this, his home county.

"F. Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, Co. 10, U. S. A. Training Camp, Sept. 9th, 1917."

Dear Uncle John:

"I have never spent two busier weeks than the last two, up at 5:30 A. M., and don't get up till 5:30 P. M., though bright lights out in the middle of the night, three meals, shave once, wash dishes, sweep the floor, tuck up beds, brush our clothes, sew on buttons, clean our arms and kit, drill, drill, drill, attend conferences and instruction and study every moment of every minute in the day. We may write letters but can not do so when busy. Not forbidden to the use of tobacco, only don't use it when on duty."

"Honest, the job is a hard one and men are falling out every day. The examinations are dreaded. We have so many books and so little time to study them. We had our first real inspection this morning. Nothing was said to me but some of the boys were dragged over the coals. It is a great life and I like it. Some of the officers are grand while some of them appear a little stiff even for soldiers. It would knock me out if I should fail to pass. I am going to do my utmost, and yet I am fearing it, it is so hard to do so much in so short a time."

"You said you were coming to see me while I am here. If you do, come on Sunday as I would not have time to shoot at you much less talk to you on any other day. Give me the news at home."

Kindly yours,

E. B. THOMPSON.

Langdon Memorial school, that institution which has for many years been the pride of Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle county and whose school hundreds of worthy girls, who otherwise would have been deprived of an education, can point to as their greatest benefactor in preparing them for life, opened yesterday with almost their full capacity. The faculty is the same as last year except, Miss Cuiver of Greenville, Tenn., takes Mrs. Hall's place as Domestic science teacher.

The opening of the Graded school on Monday, showed an enrollment first day of '20 the best in the history of school. A large number of patrons and friends were present to see their presence and speak a word of encouragement for the success of the 1917-18 school year. Prof. Lyon and his corps of assistants are very much pleased with the splendid start, and judging the future by the past, have every reason to look forward to a good and successful year under his leadership.

The news of the death of W. T. Purcell, age 41 years, a farmer living on Beons Way 3 miles North of here, was made public Sunday when it was announced Sunday afternoon. He had been sick for more than three weeks with typhoid fever. The deceased had never been married and made his home with his father and step mother. For a number of years he had been an invalid and preceded the son to the grave only two months. One brother, S. S. Purcell, of Ottawa, survives. The burial took place Monday.

SWEDEN DELAYS REPLY

Foreign Office Claims No Official Report Has Been Received.

Diplomats at Washington See Opening Wedge in the Struggle for Political Freedom.

London, Sept. 12.—The Swedish foreign office, according to a dispatch from Copenhagen by the Exchange Telegraph company, has issued the following statement regarding the Swedish-Argentinian revolution:

The Swedish foreign office has not received any account regarding the transmission of telegrams concerning the statements of the government of the United States and the Swedish government, therefore the Swedish government is unable at present to determine what its position should be on the questions opened up by these statements.

"It is, however, accurate to say that just after the world war broke out the Swedish foreign minister expressed the opinion that he would transmit a German telegram concerning the still population of Kiao Chow (the former German fortress in the Chinese peninsula of Shantung)."

Washington, Sept. 12.—Another European theme is being shaken as a result of the world war. Whether the kingdom of Sweden will survive the storm aroused by the disclosure of an neutrality on the part of the Swedish minister to the Argentine, or the exposure of the Swedish attitude in the struggle for political freedom in Sweden, is the question foremost in the mind of diplomats and statesmen of international politics in Washington.

There can be but two results from the exposure: either a complete overthrow of the king and the present government, and the usurpation of power by the socialist party.

Should the situation become tense enough to threaten war with Sweden on the part of the allies, it is declared here by those familiar with conditions, revolution will precede war in Sweden. Should such a revolution come, it would probably be a bloody revolution, but a quiet overthrow of the reigning party.

The schooner suspects, several of whom, it is said, had been hiding below the boundary line since September, were attempting to get to Mazatlan from Escondido, having sailed from the lower California port last Friday.

U. S. FLEET SINKS SIX SUBMARINES IN BIG BATTLE

Two Merchantmen Are Lost in Fight Off the Coast of France.

DESTROYERS ATTACK DIVERS

American Warship Convey Engages German U-Boats and Is Believed to Have Sent Whole Unit to the Bottom.

Washington, Sept. 12.—One German submarine was probably sunk in an engagement between a flotilla of American destroyers and German U-boats off the coast of France, according to a revised statement by Secretary of the Navy, Daniels. In making the statement, the secretary said an error in the department's handling of the dispatch telling of the encounter made it appear six submarines were probably lost.

Washington, Sept. 12.—America's first night blow against the German naval forces has been struck and six of the Kaiser's U-boats probably have been sent to the bottom. The news of the naval engagement, which took place off the coast of France, and was announced by the navy department late this morning, electrified the capital.

Details of the battle have not been received, but enough is known to show that the American forces covered themselves with glory.

Battle Off French Coast.—While scouting off the French coast with a flotilla of five other merchant ships, the American steamer Westwego was attacked by a squadron of German submarines in a massed formation. The first torpedo missed the Westwego and the submarine commanders turned their attention to the other ships of the American flotilla.

Two of the American destroyers were sunk before the United States destroyers conveying the flotilla had account of all the boats.

The news of the encounter was forwarded to the American embassy at Paris by the embassy of the Westwego, the vessel of which a French crew probably by the news was dispatched to Washington by the American ambassador.

Secretary Daniels personally announced the engagement at the navy department for the safety of the navy guard of the steamers at sea and the crews of the boats at sea. The navy department has information of yet on the names of the destroyers that accompanied the Westwego.

The official statement of the navy department is as follows:

"The U. S. destroyer Westwego, conveying a flotilla of five other merchant ships, was attacked by a squadron of German submarines on September 8 that while cruising with sea and about 100 miles off the coast of France on September 5. With result of this attack being that two of the steamers attacked were sunk and probably all of the submarines were lost."

For 24 hours it had been rumored in Washington that an American transport carrying troops to France had been the victim of a submarine attack. The first words given by Secretary Daniels seemed to confirm these reports.

Not Transports.

It was stated immediately afterward however that neither the Westwego nor the vessels that accompanied her were in transport service. All probably carried war munitions and food stuffs, however.

The messenger states that have reached the navy department do not make clear whether the shells that played havoc with the United States fleet were fired by the naval guard aboard the merchantmen or by the conveying destroyers.

Practically all merchant ships sailing for European ports are now going in flotillas, each flotilla surrounded by a heavy convoy of naval vessels. These reports set at rest all doubt of the ability of American naval convoys to take care of the ships going into their charge.

Expect Few Casualties.

Secretary Daniels, immediately upon receipt of the advice from American Ambassador Sharp at Paris wireless for further information. The first reports did not make clear whether there had been casualties among the men aboard the two American merchantmen sent to the bottom. It is believed, however, that unless the vessels went down very obliquely the other craft standing by probably had time to pick up all those in the water before they perished.

Vernon on the following Saturday, as he had arranged a meeting between James Maret and myself, so Saturday, my better half and myself caught 22 and went to Mt. Vernon and after meeting with my friend Maret and Franklin, we went to the home of Mr. Franklin, and he drafted the terms of peace, or drew up the plans by which peace was brought about. Well, after we had buried the hatchet and had been invited to the table which was loaded with good things to eat, prepared by Mrs. Franklin, who can cook to suit a queen's taste, we visited the moving picture show, which is run owned, operated and controlled by Geo. Owens. After enjoying the show with our friend Maret, we started back to Mr. Franklin's and as we were passing the property of E. S. Albright, Signal Editor, we noticed in the yard some iron rabbits which were painted white. Mr. Maret told Mr. Franklin that he saw us throwing rocks at the rabbits thinking they were real ones, and he said he was going to write us up on that point. We will say we know just where that hatchet is buried and it will not take us long to bring it to the surface, and besides we will tell all we know about shes that he wore 15,000 miles, and why the shoes can be seen in J. Fish's show window. — Mrs. Maggie Martin was in East Bernstadt last part of month is with his parents Mr.

Mr. Franklin is acting as mediator between Maret and myself but we would not be surprised if he does not add more fuel to the fire, altho he claims that he is pouring oil on the trouble matter. — C. S. Griffin has returned from Louisville, where he purchased lots of fall and winter goods. — I. P. E. Drummond has returned from Knoxville after a few days stay in that city. — Mr. and Mrs. I. W.
