For the next thirty days, regulations restricting the use of meat will be lifted. The increase in the number of hogs on the market is the cause for lifting the ban. Food Administrator Hoover is making the announcement upon the people not to make the occasion a holiday and connoled thrift. At a meeting New York hotel men pledged not to use any wheat or wheat products till next harvest.

The Food Administration is planning drastic action against farmers holding wheat in face of the dire necessity of increased wheat shipments to the Allies and American troops in France who are fighting the battle for democracy. The plea to the farmers' patriotism had but slight effect as mill receipts increased to 3,250,000 bushels as compared to 3,000,000 bushels of the previous week.

One of the twin babies of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Noe was found dead in bed Tuesday morning. The little one had been sick for a few days and at four o'clock Mrs. Noe was up with it and apparently it was doing alright. She dropped off to sleep and at 4:30 awoke again to find the little one dead.

There was a great shock to these parents when they were extending part of their twin babies and the son of their twin babies and the son of their twin babies, makes it still harder to bear. We join with their host of friends in extending our sympathy in their hour of bereavement.

A storm passed over East Bernstadt, Laurel county Tuesday night, completely wrecking four small cottages and turned four box cars which were sitting on side tracks over on the main track stopping traffic for several hours. Noe who was a passenger on the delayed train got off and helped extricate a man who was caught in one of the wrecked buildings. He came out smiling and without a serious scratch. No one was hurt and the buildings blown down were small, deeply erected buildings.

Red Cross Notes.

The wonderful work done by the Red Cross is so apparent everywhere that we must not be slackers in this important branch of war work. A little time and a little money given for the fund will keep things going. One dollar for Red Cross goes further for relief than five dollars given thru lots of other sources.

Sewing and knitting is going right along in Rockcastle and we are far to the front in this line considering population of county.

The Civilian Relief work will be an important branch of the Red Cross inside of a year. We are getting organized for that work and will be able to help dependents get part of soldiers wages. Many people do not know how to proceed to get these claims before the War Department. Mr. C. C. Williams will look after the legal side of these cases for the Red Cross.

We are now getting a card index of all soldiers from this county and will have a list of dependents and will take care of a case of deserving charity in any part of the county. Any woman desiring to serve at this time can do so by getting in touch with some of the Red Cross workers who are sewing every week at Livingston, Brodhead, Wildie and Mt. Vernon.

That we return to our first love, has proven true in the case of Chas. C. Davis, who two years ago sold his drug store at this place and located at Winchester. A little more than a year ago he returned to Mt. Vernon to live and on last Saturday bought from R. E. Miller the drug store which he successfully ran for many years. Mr. Davis will continue on the road for U. J. Co. and Mr. Miller will have charge of the store for some few months at least.

The Fiscal Court which met Monday ordered a new bridge across Roundstone at Langford and one at Wildie. The citizens along the Wilde road have agreed to build the road taking in out of the creek. The Fiscal Court is certainly to be commended for ordering both of these bridges. They are badly needed, as the creek at both ends is often past fording in the winter season.

PATRIOTISM ON THE
AMERICAN FARM
BACK TO THE LAND

"We can count on the utmost degree on the patriotism of the American farmer," Herbert Hoover said in a recent conference with Food Administration workers of the different states. This was the message brought back by the Kentucky representative who attended the conference.

Food must first be raised before it can be sent to American soldiers abroad and their English, French, Belgian and Italian associates here. The only people who can raise food in large quantities are the farmers, and the Kentucky soldiers at Hattiesburg and Camp Zachary Taylor are counting on the folks back home producing the largest food crop in the history of the state.

People who live in cities and small towns in Kentucky are asked to help win the war by raising their own back-yard gardens. Every time a city family raises a bushel of beans in a garden the Food Administration is enabled to take a bushel of beans from the farm and send them to Europe. Gardeners are urged to raise enough beans and potatoes to last all next winter, and to store them on their own premises. The Food Administration announces that the entire country east of the Mississippi River would have been short of potatoes this last winter except for this home supply raised in gardens last year, but because they were raised in gardens potatoes today are plentiful and one of the cheapest foods in the market and every one should use them freely. The man who raises a garden this year, and does not do so, will not only help win the war, but will be in actual danger of himself suffering for food next winter.

Save Food.—The Food Administration announces to the people of Kentucky that there will be no sugar for canning this year. Those who have sugar for canning have only to apply to their County Administrators at the canning time, who will give them certificates entitling them to purchase in necessary quantities.

Save Food.—During the next four months America will be short of wheat for flour, etc. Lessening of wheat consumption is a military necessity. We must raise wheat to last until about July 1st. Saving wheat is war work and garden or woman who wastes wheat must be made to last until about July 1st. Saving wheat is war work and garden or woman who wastes wheat must be made to last until about July 1st. Saving wheat is war work and garden or woman who wastes wheat must be made to last until about July 1st.

Save Food.—The campaign for additional signatures to the Household Pledge Card is progressing throughout Kentucky. About 200,000 women have signed, but 30,000 have not, and the campaign will continue until every one of the 90,000 have either signed or positively refused to do so. In some of the counties the secretaries are printing the names of those who sign. In those counties everybody knows that those whose names are not printed are not helping to win the war, and are not good Americans.

Save Food.—Food Administration workers in every county are taking the names of those who sign and those who do not sign. Copies of these names will be sent to each county in Louisville and Washington. Soon this record will be complete, and the children of future generations of Kentuckians will be able to tell 100 years from now whether their grandparents were good Americans or selfish slackers.

Save Food.—In an interview today, Fred M. Jackett, the Federal Food Administrator for Kentucky, said that the active cooperation he was receiving from the people of the state in all the efforts which the Administration at Washington was making to insure adequate supply of foodstuffs and equitable distribution at fair prices, was intensely gratifying. It was time, he said, that all foodstuffs are high, yet high prices in these large production, and it is quantity of food that this country needs today. Whatever sacrifice of personal gain is being made is by our people who produce our needed food, it is but the tribute of the man and woman at home to our boys who have gone from our community to fight for our freedom and our liberties.

Save Food.—

Rock Spring Cemetery
From Saturday until Monday the writer spent the week with his little grandson, J. J. Maret, near Level Green. Sunday afternoon a walk of two miles was taken along the upper Skeggs valley, one of Rockcastles prettiest scenic localities. The destination started for was the old Rock Spring church cemetery where the writer was present at the burial of Mrs. Susie Brinkley, wife of M. F. Brinkley, in August 1879 nearly 39 years ago. Mrs. Brinkley died on the writers birthday, when he was 24 she was 26. The large monument at her grave stands as erect as the day it was placed there. The death of 39 winters have caused numerous cracks in portions of the marble and will get worse as time goes on. Mrs. Brinkley was a sister of F. L. Thompson and a daughter of James Thompson, 1815-1865 who is buried only a few feet from the Brinkley monument.

In approaching the cemetery from the south side one enters the old unenclosed portion of the graveyard. The first thing to attract one's attention is a huge white oak tree nearly four feet in diameter which has grown up from a grave, the head and foot stones of plain limestone, one on each side of the tree. More than a hundred years must have passed since this grave was made. But few of the head and foot stones, in this old portion of cemetery remain erect. It is to be noted the following stones are lying low: Wm. Bethuram, 1815-1846; Elizabeth Harris, 1822-1844; Pleasant Harris, 1820-1840. These are erect. Andrew Carson, 1823-1848; Sam'l Carson, 1783-1841; also the stone at the grave of the wife of Jonas Brown. This portion of the cemetery is in a beautiful grove. The enclosed part of the burying ground has a neat wire fence, gate and etc, and covers an area of about 90 by 30 feet, and is well kept, almost the entire enclosure is an immense bed of flowers. Among those resting in this enclosure are: Susie Brinkley, Aug. 6-1879; J. Burdett Brown, 1888-1890; J. M. Brown, 1881-1904; James Thompson, 1819-1865; Araminta McMullin, 1837-1908; Mollie Owens, 1847-1892; Wm. H. Burton, 1817-1866. One old ally's head stone reads, Peter Shutta, 16th Ohio Inf.

A LETTER FROM E. R. GENTRY

Pinceton, N. J.,
March 24, 1918.

Dear Editor:— I had made up my mind to write no letter for publication until I was at least aboard ship, but I have promised so many people to write them I must make good some way and we are being put through such a course of training that I really haven't time to write my own people even and feeling that the people are interested in me to want to know what I am doing I write this letter.

I landed in New York at 10 o'clock at night and as I had missed my train in Pittsburgh on which I was to meet a friend, I had no idea where I was going to sleep, but soon found a good room and had a good sleep.

Next morning I immediately reported to Y. M. C. A. headquarters and started through my examination and preparation which took me to many different places in the city. I got along fine. I was as much at home on the streets of New York as a fish in water and was beginning to think I had more sense than any body, until about 3 o'clock when some son of a gun told me to take the subway to a place I wanted to go to town he said it was quicker than the surface car. I got above ground after getting off the car, alright, but I was never able to find myself in New York after that and I was mighty glad when my friend got me back to the Pennsylvania station to come down here. Maybe when I go back Thursday, I can take a new start and I will either walk, take the elevator or surface car until I know New York a little better.

The only objection the committee found to me, or all they made known to me rather, was my age, as I am one of the youngest I not the youngest man in this crowd of nearly two hundred, but I am wondering every day as I realize the delicate and important mission, on which I am going, why they selected me at all.

We were sent here Thursday for a weeks special training before sailing. I can hardly imagine myself living and studying even for a week, in historic Princeton. I have had very little time to see the things of interest yet, but every thing in any way connected with President Wilson is soon pointed out to you. This afternoon we went over to the cemetery and stood by the graves of some of America's great men, Jonathan Edwards, Aaron Burr and Grover Cleveland being the most noted. And they were just graves, no tombs. There are more imposing stones in our cemetery, at Mt. Vernon than the one at Cleveland's grave and the others are even more simple. Just outside the city is the battle ground of Princeton where Washington made a stand against the British and was forced to retreat to Trenton and eventually cross the Delaware. It was here that General Mercer was killed and the old house where he died is still standing and in pretty good condition. Near by is a little Quaker church built in 1726 Many buildings in Princeton date back to Revolutionary times, the most noted of which is possible Nassau Hall. It was shelled by the British during the war and the room is still in use where the Continental Congress once met and was addressed by Washington. So impressive was this room to me that it almost seemed that the great life size painting of our first president on the wall would get out and speak. This painting was given to the University by Washington while he was president. He at first gave some money but the University returned the money and ask that he give them a picture of himself which he did, and this painting has since hung on the wall of this historic old hall.

We are studying French and having one lecture right after another all day and until 9:30 at night, but I tell you they are wonderful. All of them by big men of the world. It almost seems that "Big Duns" grow on trees up here. We go back to New York March 28th, and sail some time after that. My address on the other side will be 12 Rue D'Aguesseau, Paris, France. I shall be mighty glad to have a big stack of letters waiting for me when I get there. This will be my permanent address while in France, which does not at all mean that I will be there.

With the same old feeling for home,

I AM,
E. R. GENTRY.

"GO TO SUNDAY SCHOOL DAY"

May 24—OBJECT.
The object of the Go-To-Sunday-School-Day established by the Kentucky Sunday School Association is to give larger publicity to the work of the Sunday Schools of the State, and to so organize the present forces that, those who are not, new members of any Sunday School may be invited and urged to attend until there shall be One Million People in Kentucky with the Sunday School habit.

PLAN
One day in the year is chosen as Go-To-Sunday-School-Day when all the Christian forces of the State work together to get just as many people as possible to Church and Sunday School. This requires during the weeks preceding thorough advertising all over the State, the best possible organization in counties and communities, and a large amount of personal work. The day should be followed by earnest efforts to conserve the results of the day.

KIND OF ORGANIZATION NEEDED
The organization should include the entire county and should be composed of a General Chairman and Secretary, with a representative from each community in the county. This committee to divide all the schools of the county into community groups.

TODAY—the call on everyone to practice economy is greater than ever before. The basis principle of this great demand is for everyone to economize and thereby do his "bit" toward winning the great World War.

Men who have money have not made it in a hurry, but most of them have made it by practicing economy and getting on the ground floor with their buying.

Whenever you see one of my customers you will see a satisfied customer and one who has practiced economy.

Watch my prices, they will show you how you can practice economy.

FROM a number of States come reports of citizens, who are under the opinion that our Government is allowing too much freedom to Germans and pro-Germans in this country in way of upholding the Kaiser in his frightfulness, are taking matters in their own hands and in many cases taking the culprits by force and compelling them to kneel and kiss the American flag and condemn the Kaiser. The provocation is great and is more than should be heaped out to the miserably cowed. We fear such proceedings will lead to grave consequences for when the mob spirit gets fairly aroused and starts firing upon its mad, the apparently justified cause, it is difficult to conceive its end or where it will lead to Americans are a patient and long suffering people, but when once aroused in cases of this kind it will be to pay. These persons of the disloyal leaning are simply not safe in their imagined security and protection of the Government, and just a little more of their insolence will cause the old powder magazine of wrath of the people to explode and dire results will follow far beyond reason or control. The lashed wrath of the American people is likened unto a volcano which is liable to be coming active, violent and destructive beyond control. The pro-Germans and anarchists and pro-Germans should read the handwriting on the wall and take heed.

The last legislature passed bill providing hoop-netting and sealing in the navigable creeks of our state, with meshes not less than one and a half inches; sensors to procure license in the same manner as getting hunting license. Other navigable rivers of the state in which seining will be permitted under license is the Kentucky, Green, Barren, Rogg, Cumberland, and Lewis Fork of Big Sandy River; seining to be of a mesh not smaller than two inches, and provided that all small or large mouthed bream which caught in nets or seines be immediately returned without injury to the water. No seining or netting to be done during the month of May.

Many of our people have been under the impression that the late law allows netting and seining in creeks but it does not. Rockcastle river the having been created a navigable stream, by Kentucky legislature in the early seventies it can be seined with a two inch mesh seine under conditions mentioned above. Our people are limited to hook and line in their fishing in creeks of the county.

The Questionnaire in last week's Signal means more than filling space; it means that every citizen of this county should have a credible record as to co-operation in the war work, and the time is when it will be very unpropitious if not considered disloyal to fail to get in line with the helpers. So far Rockcastle has a fine record, but there are quite a number who, could have bought Liberty Bonds, have failed even to buy thrift stamps. It is the duty of Americans to show these fellows up and the record will place them in a class that will soon be so unpopular that life will prove a burden to such slackers.

Gov. Stanley has signed the bill to consolidate the board of control and the prison commission, with five commissioners, whereas the two boards had seven.

Every indication points to the successful routing of the third Liberty Loan, and the Hun.

BOONE WAY AND DIXIE-BOONE.

The long contention over the routing of the Dixie Boone Highway beyond Livingston, to make connection with Laurel county, has been settled at last, and what is known as the "river route" has been accepted by Federal authorities who had a say in the matter inasmuch as Federal aid is to be used in the work of construction is expected to be begun soon.

The Louisville Automobile Club, in connection with Boone Way Association, is making arrangements to mark the Boone Way from Louisville to Cumberland Gap in addition to erecting signposts for the convenience of tourists and travelers. They are also working out plans for establishing a branch of this highway which will be a shorter and more direct route from the Falls City, which will give a connection between the Western and Eastern divisions of the Dixie Highway—Louisville and Mt. Vernon—the Boone and Dixie using the roadbed between Mt. Vernon and Cumberland Gap, taking in the historical places in Bullitt, Nelson, Washington and Boyle counties, including the Ferryville battlefield, Danville's most noted points of interest, Lincoln county with Logan's Fort, Bright's Inn, the Whitley brick house, the first brick structure erected in Kentucky, as well as other points of much interest. When completed, all possible data will be published and carried in the Auto Blue Books of the different Associations and Clubs, in addition to the publicity that will be given by Tourists Routing Clubs in the larger cities, especially those of the north, which are actually receiving several thousand inquiries every month as to when the road will be open thru the mountains. The direct routing no doubt, catch a large portion of the touring traffic which will prove quite valuable to the communities thru which it is routed.

AMONG the best speeches made during the session of Congress are those of Senator Ohio James in reply to Chamberland's attack upon the President and Hon. Harvey Helm's patriotic address in opposition to a proposed raise in salaries of Government employees in Washington.

The Devil of all Devils—the Kaiser.

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE.

March 3, 1918.

My dear Colonel Maret:—
I have been intending to write you ever since arriving near the place over on this side of the globe where Uncle Sam is figuring on showing the Kaiser where he "gets off at." We've been kept rather constantly on the go ever since landing and then during my spare time I find that our old enemy procrastination is just as active as ever. There is a whole lot that a fellow could write that would be very interesting—we were allowed to cut loose. Have already seen some things that would make a good many of those hair-raising pictures we used to see together in Winchester look pretty small. In instance I saw, not many days ago, a battle in the air. A German aeroplane passed over the place we were at work, and was fired upon by French and American anti-aircraft guns somewhere around. We could see each shell burst in the air—some of them seemingly mighty close to the target. Before the German plane got out of sight, several of the Allies' planes gave chase and we saw the fight. It was at such a distance and height however, that we were unable to tell whether our aviators were successful or not. We've been within sound of the big guns now for some time and pay little attention to the sound any more. Although, we're within range of the German guns, this afternoon—today being Sunday and we're not working—four of us walked to a little village that had been just about wrecked by the German shells sometime back. About all the civilian residents have gone and there were shell proof dugouts around the streets for the use of the soldiers quartered there. I suppose there are many such villages in France near the front like that one. With you could see how we dress around here. Can you imagine a fellow going out walking Sunday afternoon wearing a steel hat on his head and a couple of gas masks hanging from our shoulders ready for instant use? Well that was us this p. m. Quite a ways from our pleasant quarters in Clark County?

In spite of a great many necessary hardships, an enjoying myself very much. About the only thing we can kick about is the weather, and I thoroely love the weather around here. I have anything in this city I ever saw before beaten city blocks. Mud, snow and rain—but think good weather is bound to come before long.

Now Col—I'm going to try and not let such a long time elapse before I write you again, and I sincerely hope that you will find the time from your many duties in connection with "Boone Way" etc. to write me often for your letters are most thoroughly enjoyed. Am looking forward to the after the war days when I can resume my work in interest of good roads in old Ky. in some capacity. Probably by that time Boone Way and the Association that fosters it will have so grown in importance that both its Pres. It is sufficient.

The Council of National Defense

The United States Fuel Administration has ordered all consumers of coal to place orders with coal dealers for next winter supply. This order must state amount used last year and coal must be delivered at earliest possible date. This applies to small dealers as well as larger ones and coal for family use the same as large consumers, and for coal delivered from wagon mines as well as larger operators.

The people who are building extensively, or putting up any new houses, except those absolutely necessary to protect health are doing so against the wishes of the Government. All the labor and building material is needed to conduct the war. We hope our citizens will respect the wishes of the Federal authorities and help whip the Huns.

The Navy is in need of a large number of carpenters for ground work in the Aviation Branch. This branch offers good pay, rapid promotion, and valuable instruction to men to 25 who are skilled cabinet makers and men for family use the same as large consumers, and for coal delivered from wagon mines as well as larger operators.

War Savings Stamps Are as Good as Money and Pay You 4% Compounded Quarterly

Both the money and the stamps are guaranteed by the richest nation in the world.

Suppose we were to lose the war? What good would money be?

None at all. It would be a mere memento of the past. And if we bought our freedom back, by indemnity, it would be at a price so colossal as to wipe out our savings and mortgage our earnings for generations.

The safest place for all your money is in War Savings Stamps, because the money saved and raised by War Savings Stamps will win the war, and thus insure the preservation and solvency of our Government and the safety of our homes and families forever.
