We have arranged for a series of six interesting articles, "War Talks," by Uncle Dan, written by Mr. Howard H. Greig, president of the University Military Training League, in which this is the first. They will be in a graphic way give military training to the nation and to the individual, and our readers will find them of unusual interest.

WAR TALKS

By UNCLE DAN
Number One

America Must Fight Hard or Germany May Win—Necessity for Military Training.

"Now, Billie," said his mother, "you Uncle Dan is coming tomorrow to spend a week with us on the farm, and if you want to know about the war, here's your opportunity. Uncle Dan is probably one of the best informed men in the country." Billie clapped his hands and gave such a whoop that he was asked to stop, but what could he expect of a fifteen-year-old boy who is a living interrogation point and wants to know about war?

Uncle Dan arrived in due time and Billie watched for an opportunity. It came that evening after dinner when Uncle Dan had lighted a cigar and taken a seat on the porch.

"I'm mighty glad you came, Uncle Dan. I want to talk to you about the war. We have just put military training in our township high school, but we had a hard time to do it. The Joneses and the Greigs objected. They said the war wouldn't come over here. Grandma Jones said: 'They ain't no use to worry it will soon blow over.' Billie is just the same. You order-board Judge Brown, the president of the school board, said the school board. He said we can take off our coats and go to Germany may get win, and if she does, she will take over the great British fleet as well as the money we have to do what ever she wants to do; that she could make us all slaves. Now, Uncle, what do you think of that?"

"Well, my boy," said Uncle Dan, "all that Judge Brown said might be true, but I don't think we go quickly to the aid of the allies with some confidence. I don't think we can break the German line. If we can't beat the submarines, they may prevent us from getting enough food to this outfit to keep them going. In the case Germany would win. As matters stand today, our greatest need is trained men. If we had had several millions of men with military training in our industries and on our farms during the war years, we could have been called at once for service. I do not believe the Kaiser would have forced the war upon us, as it was, had he not respect for us, and now we are in it and must go through with it. But never again must we be caught so victoriously unprepared.

"There is only one safe way," said Uncle Dan, "and that is to get our own military training apply it to every young man who is physically fit up to his waistline or twentieth year. The training can be carried forward in the United States training camps that are now being established for training men called by the selective draft. As soon as these men receive their status, they should be filled by younger men, and all should be made the permanent police of the country."

Billie's mother, Mrs. Graham, had overheard the conversation. "He can out and say," she said, "Brother Dan, you are serious as to the danger of our country? It is as bad as that. It is high time for us to wake up and do something about it."

"Exactly," replied Uncle Dan. "It is better to wake up now than to be rudely awakened later. We had a worst understanding, that, this is our war and we must win it or God help America. Everything that we have, our hope to have our liberties, our blessings, our opportunities are all in jeopardy. The great issue before us is nothing more than the question whether the people's right or the Kaiser's might shall dominate the world. If there ever was a holy war, this is it. We are fighting for world liberty against everything that is the danger of humanity. We are fighting for the right of men to govern themselves. In stead of being governed against their will by a war-mad overlord. Perdition is ahead of us. We must be prepared to make any sacrifice, to perform any service that may be required of us."

"Oh, Uncle Dan," exclaimed Billie, "may I bring my chum, Jimmie Colton, when we have our next talk? He is a buy on this war business and just crazy to see you."

"Certainly," said Uncle Dan, with a hearty laugh. "If we are to have more talks, I shall be glad to have Jimmie join us."

Billie clasped his hands and ran to his room to tell Jimmie to be over at seven o'clock the next evening.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Livingston Council No. 169, J. O. U. A. M.

Livingston, Ky., Sept. 6, 1918.

Whereas it has pleased the Almighty God, in his wisdom to call from our midst, one of our noblest and bravest sons, Honorable Charles E. Mullins, who departed this life May 12th, 1918. Therefore be it

Resolved; That we know that none but those who have sat in the shadow of such great bereavement, and those who have stood by the side of loved ones as they die, have known the agonies of such a bereavement as this, and that we know that such agonies can not find solace in our tender words, be it further

Resolved; That we extend to his wife and children our heartfelt sympathy in their sad bereavement, and commend them to God who doeth all things well.

Resolved; That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the bereaved family, a copy be spread on our records, and that a copy be sent to the Mount Vernon Signal for publication.

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY WHEAT AND SHEEP CAMPAIGN

County Agent, Spence, assisted by the Magistrates and officers of Farmers Clubs of Rockcastle County will conduct a Wheat and Sheep Campaign, beginning September 17. The plan is to have meetings in each magisterial district at night. These meetings to be located by the magistrates. The magistrate of each district will ride two days and nights with County Agent Spence and help him to the meetings and daily visits to farmers.

Government pledge books for Wheat and the Red, White, and Blue cards will be at each meeting for the farmers to sign. Every section of Rockcastle County will have a meeting held for the purpose of discussing the Law in September.

All farmers are to read the following article—Directions For Growing Wheat

Directions for Growing Wheat. Seed and Varieties.

The varieties of wheat generally grown in Kentucky are the best for this State. These are Fultz, a smooth, white chaff variety; Currell's Prolific, having a smooth head with red chaff; Carter, a bearded variety, Mediterranean, or Four-rowed Fultz, thistle and Harvest King. If necessary to buy seed, one of these varieties should be chosen, and if possible the seed should be bought in the immediate locality. Home grown seed is just as good as Northern seed if reasonably clean and pure. No farmer can afford to buy enough high priced seed from a distant high priced seed dealer, with freight charges in addition, just to have absolutely pure seed. A moderate admixture of other varieties will not decrease the yield. The important thing is to have seed free from rice, cheat, and other weeds, and from onion and wild oats.

SEEDING WHEAT. It pays to sow five to six pecks of seed per acre in Kentucky. The Station has proved this by repeated experiments. Except under the most favorable conditions, as when wheat is sown rather early on rich tobacco land, or on farrow land, six pecks per acre pays better than five. Bowars of seedsmen who advise this variety of wheat which requires a seeding of only a peck or two per acre. There is absolutely no variety of wheat that gives as profitable yields at this rate as at 5 to 6 pecks per acre.

PREPARATION OF THE SEED BED

Probably the most satisfactory drill is the single disk type that puts the drill rows 7 or 8 inches apart. Experiments have shown no advantages in having the rows closer than this. The much advertised 4 inch drills give no better yields than the ordinary type, if indeed as good. Wheat should never be sown deeper than necessary to get the seed in moist soil and perfectly covered. Many poor stands of wheat are due to covering unnecessarily deep, and wide spaces between the drill rows. Poor drilling frequently contributes considerably to low yield. July 1918.

When land is plowed, the plowing should be done as early as the removal of the preceding crop permits, in order that the seed bed may be gotten firm. The later the plowing is done the greater the possibility for deep working, especially rolling, which, with any exception it pays to prepare a seed bed some time before sowing the seed if it can possibly be done.

TIME OF PLANTING. Experiments have shown that October 1 to 10 is the safest time to plant wheat in Kentucky, everything considered. In southern parts of the State it is safer to wait until October 10 to 20 when there seems much danger of Hessian fly attacks. Late seeding is the only possible way of avoiding this pest.

TIME OF PLANTING. Experiments have shown that October 1 to 10 is the safest time to plant wheat in Kentucky, everything considered. In southern parts of the State it is safer to wait until October 10 to 20 when there seems much danger of Hessian fly attacks. Late seeding is the only possible way of avoiding this pest.

SEEDING WHEAT. It pays to sow five to six pecks of seed per acre in Kentucky. The Station has proved this by repeated experiments. Except under the most favorable conditions, as when wheat is sown rather early on rich tobacco land, or on farrow land, six pecks per acre pays better than five. Bowars of seedsmen who advise this variety of wheat which requires a seeding of only a peck or two per acre. There is absolutely no variety of wheat that gives as profitable yields at this rate as at 5 to 6 pecks per acre.

Probably the most satisfactory drill is the single disk type that puts the drill rows 7 or 8 inches apart. Experiments have shown no advantages in having the rows closer than this. The much advertised 4 inch drills give no better yields than the ordinary type, if indeed as good. Wheat should never be sown deeper than necessary to get the seed in moist soil and perfectly covered. Many poor stands of wheat are due to covering unnecessarily deep, and wide spaces between the drill rows. Poor drilling frequently contributes considerably to low yield. July 1918.

When land is plowed, the plowing should be done as early as the removal of the preceding crop permits, in order that the seed bed may be gotten firm. The later the plowing is done the greater the possibility for deep working, especially rolling, which, with any exception it pays to prepare a seed bed some time before sowing the seed if it can possibly be done.

Buying three million buttons is just one of the minor tasks which had to be taken care of before the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign by Ralph Waldo Emerson of the War Loan Commission at Washington.

Every Liberty Bond bought in the United States is an insurance against hardship to the two great leaders with any necessary worries. They have demonstrated that they can handle the actual fighting. America at home must demonstrate that it can furnish everything that the fighting men need — and when they need it.

Kentucky's part in the great national war drive to raise $10,000,000 for the comfort and morale of the boys serving the flag over there, ever here, and with the hundreds of others who will be sent to the front, was discussed at a big meeting to be held at the Southbush Hotel in Louisville, Friday, September 13th and will be attended by representatives from all parts of the State.

The great National United War Work Campaign is to be carried on jointly by the seven welfare bodies recognized by the War Department in Louisville. This is at the suggestion of President Wilson and the following organizations will participate: The Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Women's Welfare Board, the American Library Association, the War Camp Community Service and the Salvation Army.

As previously planned the week of Nov. 11th, was to be given over to the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the War Camp Community Service and American Library Association to raise $750,000.00 for their united work—the coming week, the Jewish Welfare Board and the Salvation Army were to stage a similar drive the middle of January. At the recent request of President Wilson all seven agencies are now to unite in one big drive the week of Nov. 11th and the goal has been set at $750,000.00, the greatest sum ever proposed for such a purpose in the history of the world.

Definite plans for the campaign will be outlined at a complimentary luncheon to be held at the Southbush Hotel in Louisville, Friday, Sept. 13th and will be addressed by the following speakers: Sherwood Babbey, New York; W. D. Sullivan, Chicago; Leonard Fanslow, Chicago; Mrs. Harry P. Davidson, of New York; and others. This meeting will be attended by representatives of the seven agencies from all parts of the State and will be the largest conference of its kind ever held in Kentucky.

ROCKCASTLE County suspended both fairs this year because there was a sentiment started, that it was unpatriotic to hold a fair during war times. The State Fair has been going on since Monday here in Rockcastle has been reported at that fair, it is right that people should go and for our part we regret that more people from the county did not attend. Some who have been there since the gates opened Monday and will stay until the about a week in our own night, were strongest in their opposition to a fair at home. The little fairs held in Rockcastle county are to the masses of the people of the county what the state fair is to the people of the state and adjoining states as a whole. Now the point is, it is unpatriotic to have a little home fair because such a gathering will cover waste of money and food, whereas does the consistency come about in the "Big Fair". The coming together of the people from the rural districts to the little county fair means just as much to them, and the county fair means just as much to the individual county, as the State fair means to the people who attend it.

Consistency thought is a jewel. The economy and conservation of food, which we hear so much about, is just as necessary with one as it is with another, and the policy of engaging at home and encouraging away from home, is certainly not the war

A CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

The United States Employment Service is calling for 1,000,000 enlisted workmen for work in the essential war industries of our country, and urging that they be engaged in essential war work as soon as they are put in full time.

The man who is not now engaged in essential War work is urged to enroll with the Public Service Reserve and be placed by the U. S. Employment Service where he best fits in.

The man who enrolls is answering his Country's call and besides, he will receive high wages for his work. You can truly be the Hun's just as truly as if you were in the front line of battle. Get into the fight by helping to produce the things necessary to win this war.

Respectfully,
Lester B. Hamann,
District Organizer, U. S. Public Service Reserve Southwestern Kentucky District.

ROADS

Men inexperienced in road work will must build these roads taking road contracts, besides making it doubly hard on engineers to get a good job.

It makes no difference how little some men actually know about road work they are ready and eager to criticize and make foolish suggestions.

Men should be careful to know that they are correct before speaking and writing about roads, else the fruit of their efforts may not be worth gathering.

It is easy to find men who know all about road work, such is true that not a single county in the state has yet solved the problem.

Is it necessary for us to be ten years behind other states in road work in Kentucky?

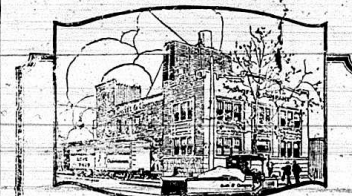

How can you build roads without money?

How many miles of road will the road fund of your county improve?

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors' prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. What is a Branch House?
The Branch House is the place in the packing organization where what the packing plant does for you is put where you can use it.

Both are the natural result of growth and development in the living thing they belong to.

Swift & Company Branch Houses are located in distributing centers all over the country. They are fitted out with refrigerating equipment to keep meat cool, sweet and fresh.

Each one is in personal charge of a man who believes in what Swift & Company is doing for people and wants to help do it.

They are directed by men who have spent years learning how to get better meat cheaper to the places where it is needed.

Meat is shipped to the branch houses direct from the packing plants in Swift & Company's refrigerated cars, in such quantities that it can be disposed of while fresh and sweet.

Your meat dealer comes here to buy your meat for you—unless someone else can treat him better than we can.

So you need the branch house in order to live well, and the branch house and the packing plant need each other, in order to be useful to you.

Friday, September 6, 1918 was a fair cool day. As we appeared at Camp Taylor in a car the "new arrival" gave us permission to enter. We at once realized very forcibly that we were citizens of a country in war. On every side were squads of soldiers drilling new recruits, teaching them the step. Those further advanced marching double file, breaking into four and eight files. The new arrivals who had not received their uniforms were being lectured, preparing to take up their work in the Depot Brigade. Artillery demonstrations were gone through twice—A test was put up by six soldiers ready to occupy in three minutes. Heavy trucks showed back and forth. Cavalry regiments were in the line. A bigging squad went cheerfully on their way with spade and pick. The check drill squad went through the manual of arms keeping perfect time with the band. Two hundred soldiers sang many solo songs such as: "Over There" and "Good-bye" without a discord. Twelve thousand Artillery men passed for review, music being furnished by six military bands.

Nothing the system of everything, the matter of fact they these boys from the mountains, from Pennsylvania and the perches mingled with the Hoosiers and those from the West of the war to learn every detail of warfare, strengthens our belief that we are going to win the war. One secret we learned was that in all the training our soldiers are not taught how to retreat. This accounts for their marching right through the Huns at Arras sleeping in enemy graves with the Lusitania, and paid for the debt we owe her with 100 per cent interest, having paid the tribute duo Lafayette and the brave men who helped us in our struggle for independence, and give all America a chance to see how many of us are for America. First help to stop the gold from the drops and real life just who are citizens worthy of that name. You will make history when you buy or refuse to buy Bonds of the Fourth Liberty Loan.

Mrs. Sherman Owens, of Mareburg, this county, has just received the following letter from her husband, who has been in France about two months:

Dear Jessie:—
I am in the Hospital slightly wounded. Am able to walk around, getting along fine and getting the best of treatment. I am getting my writing done by the fellow in the bed next to me. I cannot use my right arm, but expect to soon. Had an ice cream party in our ward the day I arrived, given by one of the nurses.

I wrote you a letter last Tuesday, hope you received it. Don't worry about me. I am sitting on the side of the bed. I think this finds you in the best of health. With love and best wishes,

Your husband,

Berea seems to have solved the problem of education for the self-supporting student. It has simply cut out unnecessary expenses, and furnished a great many things that picture shows and other recreations. An extraordinary number of boys find good and other supplies at lowest rates, and thus by superior management seem to make a first class education "cheaper than staying at home!"

THE HOME SLACKER FOR BERE A OPENS

Cashing in of War Savings Certificates becomes a public record to which every citizen chairman and officer may have access. Unexpected and unobtainable financial reverses and requirements are the only causes justifying cashing of War Savings Stamps before maturity.

The worst of all slackers is the person who buys War Savings Stamps merely to make a show of his patriotism and then quietly cashes them in to the postoffice. It is a pleasing thing to say that not many such have yet come to light in Kentucky, and there will be fewer when it is generally known that the history of their transactions in this respect are available to the public. Keep your pledge. Buy the stamps you promised and keep them until maturity if you can.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.
This is not only one of the best and most efficient medicines for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, but it is also pleasant to take, which is important when a medicine must be given to young children.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been in use for many years and has met with much favor wherever its good qualities have become known. Many mothers have given it their unqualified endorsement. Mrs. Scuby, Chillicothe, Mo., writes, "I have raised three children, have always used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and found it to be the best for coughs, colds and croup that I have ever used."
