FOR RETURNING SOLDIERS AND OTHERS

The World Conflict of Arms is Over: that of commerce, industry, and social reform is just beginning. The flower of the manhood of America which rallied to the defense of our great nation is now returning home to follow the ordinary pursuits of peace. These returning soldiers with their enlarged vision of life will naturally become the leaders of their communities, and to do justice to themselves and their people, they must be thoroughly prepared.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Mr. Marion Holcomb, of Nancy, Ky., says: "For quite a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headaches. I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these, I would be constipated. It just seemed to tear my stomach all up. I found they were so good at all for my trouble, I heard

BLACK-DRAUGHT

Recommended very highly, so began to use it. It cured me. I keep it in the house all the time. It is the best liver medicine I ever do not try it for heart or stomach trouble any more." Black-Draught acts on the liver and helps it to do its important work of throwing out waste matter and poisons from the system. This medicine should be in every household for use in time of need. 5th Liberty Loan Is Being Assailed By Propagandists

D. C. Willis.

"We are not detracting our bit from the great glory of our day when we say that the United States, in a measure, emerges from its war 'burnt child' said D. C. Willis, chairman of the Central Liberty Loan Committee of the Federal Reserve District in a recent lecture in Cleveland.

"And as the burnt child avoids the fire so must we be ever on the alert, ever watchful of that 'despicable, treacherous fire which stings us in so many places—propaganda.' Willis' statement continued.

"Until all our war obligations, all our post-war obligations are cleaned up, we must continue down the straight road of thrift, avoiding all the frogs, swiches, side-tracks and 'spread' talk with which unscrupulous, unscrupulous and rumor will beset our track.

"One of the early and malicious stories of this kind which has come to me in the tale that the Fifth Liberty Loan is to be taken up by the bankers—that the people will not be called upon to buy bonds.

"That is not the real news. The Fifth Loan will not be floated until April, but preparation for it must be undertaken immediately. It will be a popular loan just as the others were and the people will be called upon to subscribe to it just as they have been in the past.

"I do not believe any great amount of counsel is necessary to the average American along the lines of thrift and investment in government securities. I believe the benefits of the loan drive that we have taught him the superiority of Liberty Bonds as a safe, sane and lucrative investment. We must consider it, deny of the government not to give him this means of putting by for the future.

THRIFT MUST STILL BE OUR WATCHWORD

"While Reading Good News From Europe Sit Tight On Economy," Says Writer

It is not yet time to let down the bars and spend as you may be inclined. The country's welfare continues to depend to a serious degree upon the thrift of its people.

The Saturday Evening Post emphasizes this need in a report editorial in which it argued the necessity for a Fifth Liberty Loan, citing the fact that even with all proceeds of the Fourth Loan and all current taxes the government will still have a deficit of $1,000,000,000.

"Receipts from many states indicate that we are building at only a quarter of a third of our normal rate," the editorial says. "There are big areas to make up. Road improvements and numerous things are deferred. No news that can come out of Europe will have any relevance to the present necessity for strict economy at home.

"They weather this you see people in the same direction. In a notebook, which a bank clerk had up in red-inked paper at a Federal Reserve bank, the volume of Federal Reserve deposits is a measure of the money which is being hoarded.

LEE CHANDLER In France

Bourges, France, Nov. 24, 1918.

Dear father:—

Well I guess I am doing what most of the boys over here are doing today. I suppose you have heard of the campaign for all the American boys to write to their father today, as we had a Mother's day, some time ago on which I compiled. Since the censor has let up considerably I can tell you where I have been, and when I was there. So here goes. I left Hoboken on March 24th, on the good ship Pocahontas late in the afternoon, and was twelve days coming over. We had no mishaps of any kind on the voyage. We certainly had the best eats I have ever had in the army. We were well enough crowded but enjoyed it fine as I was not sick at all.

We had a Y. M. C. A. man on board with quite a lot of books and magazines and I put in a good part of my time reading about. We had some moving pictures occasionally and plenty of singing, as the Hans had left a good piano when the ship was taken over by the U. S., which came in handy. We anchored outside the harbor at St. Nazaire, France, March 26 about noon and waited until five o'clock to pull up to the docks. The fields and gardens were all green and looked like summer time, but I found that it was not warm as it looked, and most of the vegetation except the grass, was a kind of cabbage or carrot variety that grows in most any kind of weather. As you can imagine the landscape better than any thing I had seen. It was the first time I was ever where I could not see all I wanted to.

We unloaded the following morning and hiked out for a camp about thirty minutes walk and I got my first view of a French town. The French people all along the road cheered and yelled at us, but I couldn't tell what they were saying. I didn't do so very long before I was except keep out of the rain as it rained every day the week I was there except the first. I left the first day of April for Blois not far from this place (you can see it on the map) as I had a good sized map, in box cars, very small ones, as all the French cars are, and after a day and nights ran arrived there. I found it is a little town of about thirty or forty thousand inhabitants located on the river Loire, in a beautiful country. We were there for about three weeks and had a chance to look around more than any place I have been for the length of time, as I did not work any and only drilled a while each day. I visited the Chateau de Blois while there with a bunch of others, including a Y. M. C. A. Secretary, and at all in the history of the place and he explained it all to us. The building was constructed during the twelfth and thirteenth centuries and was used as the home of a number of French kings and other men of the Royal families before they went out of existence. Among them was Louis XIII and Queen Anne. It was during their reign that most of the building was erected and on all the pillars and many other parts of the building you can see the letters L. A. Katherine, the woman who is compared with Nero for wickedness lived and died here and all the items in which she lived, the chairs and other furniture which she used they are all intact. I also visited the dungeons in which she kept her prisoners. There were many other things around there that were interesting to me. I visited the statue of Francis, Pagan, the man who the French claim as the inventor of the steam engine. It is located on a knoll with steps leading up from every side and looks as though it had been a hundred or more people. I left this place April 24th and arrived, next day at Chateaufort, a little town not far from the Swiss border. This was the first place in France I had ever seen any hills, and as it was a little more like home I believe I had it fully as well as any place I have seen in France. But no farther here. I am not so sure of my own mind as I am of your own. I have been out in the country several times of this day after noon of this day

DR. GROVER C. PRICE WHO DIED IN FRANCE

Grover C. Price, oldest son of Thomas Jefferson and Mattie Price, was born in Woodstock, Ky., Feb. 21, 1858, and died in Toul, France, Oct. 30, 1918, age 30 years, 8 months and 7 days. He attended the public schools in his home community, and later attended the Brown Memorial school at Mt. Vernon, Ky., from which he graduated in 1900. He then entered the Sae Bennett Memorial school at London, Ky., and completed the course with exceptionally high grades. When seventeen years of age he began to teach and taught three successful terms at Wadd, Ky. He decided to take up the study of medicine to become a physician and entered the Nashville Medical college in 1904 and later entered the Louisville Medical college, graduating in the year 1909. He located at Mt. Vernon, Ky., and began his profession, but upon the death of his father in 1910 he moved to Level Green and took up his father's practice, remaining there until 1912, when he came to Judson, Ind., where he built up a good practice and erected a beautiful home.

He was united in marriage to Laura Baker, of Plato, Ky., July 18, 1904, to this union was born one child, Sallye Jefferson Price. He became a member of the Church of Christ when he was 12 years of age and as he lived so well he was prepared to die, with a faith in Him who doeth all things well. Doctor Price was a kind, just and loving husband and father. He especially loved his home and was always pleased when it was filled with friends. He was loyal and intensely patriotic and felt that he must serve his country in the ranks. He volunteered his services in the Medical Corps shortly after America entered the war. He was commissioned First Lieutenant and called into service in January, 1918. He received his training at Camp Gretnah, Georgia, and Camp Greene, North Carolina, and sailed for France with the Base Hospital Unit No. 78 in September of this year. He was killed by a gas shell in Toul, France, that he was stricken with pneumonia and died after a week's illness.

He was a life of well spent service for others and in paying his heavy personal, loving sacrifice to his relative and friends. To them his death has brought a sense of personal loss and grief. Those who enjoyed his acquaintance and friendship will long remember his broad, generous heart and his noble character. He was a true patriot and a true American. His death was a great loss to his country and to the world. He was a true patriot and a true American. His death was a great loss to his country and to the world.

RED CROSS NOTES.

The people of this county responded to the Christmas Red Cross call about on an average with the other counties in this section of the state. None of them did what they should have done. It was a hard matter for workers to get the people to separate Red Cross activities from the war. They thought when fighting ceased, the job was done. This is not strange when we consider there was no Red Cross organization in the state of Kentucky before the outbreak of the present war. The United States War Work Campaign which was conducted just before the Red Cross and after fighting had ceased, possibly, caused people to be more reluctant about joining the Red Cross.

The aim of the American Red Cross is to relieve suffering from disease, burning and following war. There is more danger for their service, and the people, helped, out by the Red Cross. They are to be thanked for their service, and the people, helped, out by the Red Cross. They are to be thanked for their service, and the people, helped, out by the Red Cross.

World Supremacy

Boston, Dec. 30.—Germany's wartime plans for after-the-war commercial supremacy were disclosed by A. Mitchell Palmer, alien property custodian, today at a luncheon of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, with a warning that danger from German ambitions is not past and cannot be ignored.

Mr. Palmer said that his own country had been the beneficiary of the German plan for world supremacy, and that the United States had been left unprotected.

Mr. Palmer said there can be no question of the legality of the policy of the alien property custodian to continue to sell and liquidate enemy-owned businesses in the United States. Germany and the United States are still at war, he said, and the trading with the enemy act is still in full force the selling of enemy-owned property is fully justified.

Cattle Buying for Swift & Company

Swift & Company buys more than 9000 head of cattle, on an average, every market day.

Each one of them is "sized up" by experts.

Both the packer's buyer and the commission salesman must judge what amount of meat each animal will yield, and how fine it will be, the grading of the hide, and the quantity and quality of the fat.

Both must know market conditions for live stock and meat throughout the country. The buyer must know where the different qualities, weights, and kinds of cattle can be best marketed as beef.

If the buyer pays more than the animal is worth, the packer loses money on it. If he offers less, another packer, or a shipper or feeder, gets it away from him.

If the seller accepts too little, the live-stock raiser gets less than he is entitled to. If he holds out for more than it is worth, he fails to make a sale.

A variation of a few cents in the price per hundred pounds is a matter of vital importance to the packer, because it means the difference between profit and loss.

On account of the excessive rains the first of the year, the time limit for getting tags was extended a few days. But we are requested to say, that those who have not secured tags yet, must do so, or be liable to a fine. Besides it is the duty of the sheriff to take up or kill every dog found without a tag. County Court Clerk Bowman has issued the following marriage licenses since our last issue: Willie Smith to Miss Mary Clark; L. M. Vanhook of Palatka, to Mrs. Mary Hannel; Davy Cozongin to Miss Lula Bustie; Logan D. Taylor to Mrs. Lula Farmer; Milt Mize to Mrs. Carrie Laugford, widow of the late Ella Langford; Jack Slatenworth to Della Proctor; John Baker to Miss Lelia Leger; Robert Chapel to Miss Mirley Saylor; Robert Childress to Miss Maggie Smith.

SMITH-CHILDRESS—Miss Maggie Smith, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Smith, of near Brodhead, and Sergt. Robert E. Childress, of Camp Meade, Md., were quietly married at the home of the bride on Christmas Eve Day. Sergt. Childress, who is a brother of Mesdames Minnie Anderson and J. S. Langford, of this place, was at home on a furlough, and has now returned to camp, but he expects to get a discharge from service within a short time. This is a splendid young couple and their many friends join in wishing them the greatest happiness that a long wedded life can bring.

The loss of live stock being killed by trains is greater than one might suspect. During the month of October 1918 there were killed in Rockcastle County eight head of cattle, seven head of hogs and two other animals, a total value of $513.50. This was not an exceptionally bad month but more stock is killed in some of the summer months. Everybody should be interested in stopping this loss of stock, as at the above rate more than $6000 worth of stock is annually killed. As a rule the parties losing stock are not well paid for same. The loss of this much stock from the county is a great waste and is not of value to any one.

ELECTION NOTICE. On Saturday Jan. 11, 11 p. m., there will be a meeting and election of officers for the Rockcastle Stock Pens for the ensuing year. Now that the war is over and nothing to prevent building, there is no reason why these pens can't be built, and get to business right away. We want every stockholder present at this meeting. This is the biggest and best enterprise ever started in our county. It must be finished. Don't forget the date. Gus Staverson, Pres.

FAIR MEETING. There will be held a meeting of the stockholders of the Mt. Vernon Fair Association following the meeting of the stockholders of the stock pens on Saturday Jan. 11, about 2 o'clock for the purpose of electing officers and getting things started for the 1919 fair. The boys will be back home by that time and they will be looking forward to that event. Come and help get things started for the holding of the best fair ever held in Rockcastle. W. A. THE BEST COUGH MEDICINE. When a druggist finds that his customer all speak well of a certain preparation, he gives a good opinion of it and when in need of such a medicine it is almost certain to use it himself and in his family. This is why so many druggists use and recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. J. P. Jones, a well known druggist of Carter, Ky., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for the past many years, and have found it to be the best cough medicine I have ever known."

NO GREAT ACT OF HEROISM REQUIRED. If some act of heroism was necessary to prevent a child from coughing, no mother would hesitate to protect her offspring, but when it is only necessary to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and give it as soon as the first indication of cough appears, there is many the mother of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is with in the reach of all and a prompt and efficient.

DON'T YOU FORGET IT. Bear in mind that Chamberlain's Tablets not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. They convert gas poison or other digestive ferment but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. ADVERTISING YOUR BUSINESS.
