THE "GOOD DOG LAW" Tax Payer Takes Issue With It.

(Paid Advertisement)
Quite a lot has been put in our local papers recently extolling the merits of the present Dog Law. The columns of these papers have been thrown wide open, to those endorsing the bill, and the "punishment" meted out to him who fails to comply with the law, have been pictured in blood-red letters, and no doubt has served its purpose, as practically every dog seen, has a new shining tag, dangling from his collar. I doubt if there is a man in the state who is not willing to pay tax on his dog, a reasonable tax, and I dare say there are just as many who believe his dog should be protected after his license is paid. Further more, there is not a man in Kentucky, but that believes the state should pay for all sheep killed by dogs, and pay the assessed value, and pay it when the claim is proven and presented.

They believe furthermore, that the entire dog tax should be applied to this fund, and the state make up the deficit. But what is the use of having an exorbitant tax on the dog and then pay 40 per cent or nearly half of it, to have the law drafted and placed upon the statutes, and for collecting the tax. Look at the instance, Lincoln County, as I see she has reported in full. She has collected $2,561.50 per cent of this was paid to the Commissioner of Agriculture, which amounts to $1280.50. The number of licenses issued by County Clerk was 2079, who received for every license issued 25 cents. The assessor received 10 cents on every license, in this case he received $207.90. Now of the total County live stock fund of $308,50 the sum of $293.00 or 40 per cent of this total is used to augment the salary of State and County Officials instead of being paid for sheep killed by dogs. This law provides that any surplus remaining after the sheep claims have been paid shall go to the School Fund. To have believed that the School fund would ever be benefited by this law would have required a stretch of the imagination amounting to the breaking point.

Now taking Lincoln County as a basis of the 100 counties in the state, we find she has paid $12,805 to the Commissioner of Agriculture, but for fear Lincoln's fund should be larger than the average County fund, we have $100 as the basis. Taking this as a basis the 100 counties would pay the Commissioner of Agriculture $12,000 annually. With L. coli as a basis the County Clerks of the State would receive above their salaries $62,870. The County Assessors of the state over and above their salaries would receive $20,000, making a total received by state and County officials over and above their salaries $100,000. This sum if used to reimburse the farmers who had sheep killed by dogs, would pay for 4,000 sheep valued at $25.00 each. Now we leave the reader to judge whether or not this law was enacted to encourage the raising of sheep for the benefit of the Commissioner, Clerks and Assessors.

With his salary thus increased one can readily see why the Commissioner of Agriculture was so intensely interested in the passage of this bill and also the aggressiveness with which he impresses the County officials of their duty to enforce this law.

As Lincoln and Garrard Counties have already settled with the Commissioner, the Commissioner of Agriculture, the County Clerks and Assessors, we presume the other Counties of the State have done the same and yet a Garrard County farmer a few weeks ago presented his claim for sheep killed by dogs, these sheep being valued a fraction over $20.00 per head, and although he had paid $20.00 each for them three months before, he was told that $10.00 was the limit on grade sheep and he would have to wait 15 months for his money, and receive his prorata of the leasing of the State and County officials.

Now we have found what the Commissioner of Agriculture gets out of this, we have found what the County Clerks get out of this, we have found what the Assessors get out of this, we have found what the man who owns the sheep don't get out of it, and now we want to ask the Legislators who passed this law what they got out of it. They get the pleasure of the man who have presented their sheep claims.

Signed, TAX PAYER.
HOW DIPHTHERIA IS CONTRACTED.

One often hears the expression, "My child caught a severe cold which developed into diphtheria," when the truth was that the cold had simply left the little one particularly susceptible to the wandering diphtheria germ. If your child has a cold when diphtheria is prevalent you should take him out of school and keep him off the street until fully recovered, as there is a hundred times more danger of his taking diphtheria when he has a cold. When Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given it quickly cures the cold and lessens the danger of diphtheria or any other germ disease being contracted.

WORK AND FUN FOR KENTUCKY BOYS.

Kentucky's far-famed strawberry crop will be a big one this year, according to reports from Bowling Green. Ten thousand pickers are to be in the fields of Warren County alone. The U. S. Boys' Working Reserve and the State Y. M. C. A. will cooperate in running a camp for Kentucky boys on the Claggett and Covington farm, a mile and a quarter from Bowling Green. The camp will open for the berry picking season about May 19. At the close of the berry season, which lasts about 3 weeks, the two agencies will run the camp for general farm work for boys who are enrolled in the Reserve. In addition to good wages, the boys will receive the Bronze Badges and the Honorable Service Bar awarded by the United States Government for various periods of work. The season done during the berry season will apply on the badges and the Service Bar. All matters of wages will be between the boys and Employer and Controller of the Boys' Working Reserve and the State Y. M. C. A. mostly supervised by the camp.

The camp at all times will be under the personal supervision of the State Y. M. C. A. and will be located in a beautiful grove, high and dry. The boys will be provided with good food and a few of charge and will receive their own meals provided by their own camp. They will receive a hot bath and a

COUNCIL OF NATIONAL DEFENSE

In following the grade for the Dixie Highway across Seaford Case you will go through a virgin forest around the head of a beautiful glen where the giant oak, poplar, beech and sugar tree hold communion; where the wild flowers shyly peep from the brown carpet of fallen leaves; where the lark sings and the squirrel scampers; a place where Dame Nature invites you to stop and rest. When you reach the top of the hill you are in the midst of human industry, comfortable homes, well kept farms, acres of clover and small grain, and large orchards on either side of the road which is an ideal grade. This land has more than doubled in price in the last fifteen years. While the people look happy and prosperous, many of them do not realize the value of a home on this fertile soil, and in this excellent neighborhood. The landscape is very beautiful and when you near the Madison line looking to the right, a valley is seen, the beauty of which can not be surpassed in this county. The knobs make a background to the right, and the left fades into a purple mist which is the Blue Grass region. This beauty full and productive community is crying for a good road. Madison has heard that cry and is now ready to start putting metal on the grade which reaches the Rockcastle line, and from this point to Roundstone the road alternates between runs, bumps and mud holes. The consequence will not be pleasant to think about. The people in this part of the county would be glad to patronize the business houses of their home county, to buy farm implements, seed and fertilizer from them. We should like to sell them stock, have them attend our fairs, but the lack of a good road, and a shorter distance to other markets will outweigh their desire to do business with home county people, so Madison County stores, banks and stock dealers will get the benefit of Rockcastle County business, and unless we have good roads, we will not get the benefit of them. A good road leading into May to win is the very best bid for business and wide awake people make every effort possible to have this advantage

BRODHEAD

The citizens of this place and vicinity, in fact all along Boone Way north of Mt. Vernon, are considerably worked up because there is little visible prospect of better roads, and we feel there is just cause for complaint. When bonds were voted a few years ago nothing had been heard of the much talked of Dixie High way, but it was the belief of every voter in the county that at least one road would be built thru the county and that road would be the then much talked of Boone Way, and had this road been completed and not a foot of other road built in the county, the money having been expended judiciously, no word of complaint would have come from any section of the county; but later the Dixie Way was born and for some unexplainable reason much interest centered there and so much so that nothing is being done toward completing the highway thru the county that would indirectly benefit every citizen of the county. We are not prejudiced against the Dixie Way and hope it can be completed, but we feel that it should not be given preference over the highway that divides the county nearly equally. And now that coveteers have been secured to build roads we feel that some thing should be done along the road that the people first expected to be completed, and not all the money, time and labor spent on the Mullins county line to Laurel. JAMIE THOMPSON Says 'Y'oughta Been There

[From Louisville Post] Fifty-eight carloads of gas, stored loose at one time, quite a hard, according to Jamie E. Thompson, of Mt. Vernon, Ky., just home after a year in France. Thompson belongs to the 10th Engineers, of the 1st Division, and he was in the something of the Blainville line. A sense of humor has been a valuable possession to Thompson, and kept the poison gas that got into his lungs from going on up into his disposition and nervous system. "Souvenirs" said Thompson, in the well-known Southern intonation, "guess I did see a few more, and got a lot of 'em, but after a fight you'd see the 'goin' back just weighed down with helmets and planes and watches—everything that would carry. See this ring?" Thompson displayed a curious, bright gold ring, with an old-fashioned crest engraved on it. "Well, I found it on a live German. Sure did? And I was an American. It wasn't a diamond, I didn't know what to say to that, and I talked to him, the? I said him it oughta been a diamond, but that'd take it, even if it wasn't, just to show I didn't hold my grudge against him. Now what he did? Cried! Just like a baby. Good land I remember he thought I wanted his ring, too. But I didn't. That ring was enough to remember him by." Thompson is a great talker in luck, but the day the Americans "lost their possession" was the one when they "earned the big gas cloud loony" just as the wind changed. "That was the worst thing I ever in France," said Thompson. "We had fifty-eight carloads of gas up there, and we let it all go at one time. It started off with covers in a hurry-like front, and we could see it rollin' over to meet their bundles, and hear those gas and chlorine point of let us know what was coming. Then without a second warning the wind turned and we saw that stuff rollin' back on us. The fellow was who, like a look on his face, 'cause they weren't ready, and didn't have time to get on their masks. The Germans had started up a terrible barrage when they saw the cloud, but that with the high explosive and the gas comin' back we had a rough time. Some of the fellows went right toward the German lines, tryin' to get out of the gas, and they were shot down with machine guns. I saw others running up and down the trench with masks burst off, and still others with a greenish fluid running out of their mouths, noses and eyes. That poison gas was fearful, and the fellows that got it were scolded inside and out. You could see your ribs gettin' rusty and everything metal changin'. But I was lucky enough to get on mask in time. Thompson rubbed his hand across his head, as if he were shaking away a grewsome picture. "Well, the doctor sent me back to Kentucky to drink milk," he said, "and that just suits me. I'm glad to get fat and forget those war was a brags." LIVINGSTON Mrs. W. T. U. S. FIGHTING MEN

WANTED A CHURCH

REPORT OF Y. M. C. A. IN CENTRAL MILITARY DEPARTMENT CONTAINS INTERESTING INFORMATION.

Chicago.—Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors go to church. Figures showing attendance at religious services in Y. M. C. A. huts in military camps of the central department prove it.

Attendance at the religious meetings and Bible classes held in the huts between May 1, 1917, and December 31, 1918, was more than 3,200,000.

A. H. Lichty, executive secretary of the central department of the national war work council of the Y. M. C. A., has issued a report covering statistics of the Y. M. C. A. activities in the 131 huts in central department camps. Mr. Lichty is in command of nearly 1,000 workers. Before coming to Chicago for war work he was secretary of the Ohio State Y. M. C. A. During his administration more than 2,500 men and women have been recruited in the 14 Central stables for overseas service with the Y. M. C. A.

The number of letters written in huts in the 33 military camps totaled 62,708,410. The total attendance was 60,693,806.

Movies were the most popular feature of the "Y" service in the camps. The attendance at the 12,493 motion picture shows was 5,979,308, an average of more than 400.

The "Y" educational features were popular. In the 20 months 7,570 lectures were heard by 2,302,810 soldiers and sailors. The 68,272 classes of various kinds drew 1,394,418 and the 98 science and art clubs 62,530. For the American Library association the "Y" passed out 1,423,968 books.

Athletics Popular.—The number of participants in athletic contests under the direction of the "Y" was greater than the number of spectators. There were 3,308,259 in the contests and 4,437,017 "looking on."

The 902 workers in the 131 huts in the army and navy camps and the 18 S. A. T. C. units passed out to America's fighting men 1,000,000 scriptures. There were 282,229 personal interviews on the subject of religion. 32,754 decisions to accept the American flag and 117,770 signed the "war roll" pledging themselves to a Christian life.

The 17,361 entertainments not including movies, drew 6731,640 soldier and sailors.

The fighting men were thrifty. In the period covered by the report the "Y" sent home for the valiant men $3,064,025 in money orders.

"Y" to Open Clubs for Troops.—At the request of the French minister of marines the Y. M. C. A. is planning the establishment of clubs for American and French troops in Toul and in the suburbs of that city.

Y. M. C. A. NO LONGER TO MAINTAIN ARMY POST EXCHANGES

Paris.—The American Y. M. C. A., at its own request, has been relieved of its work of maintaining the post exchanges with the American army. Correspondence exchanged between General Pershing and E. C. Carter, in charge of Y. M. C. A. with the army, shows the reason for this arrangement was that the Y. M. C. A. now has "increased responsibilities in promoting educational, athletic and entertainment activities in the American expeditionary forces," thus placing a rapidly increasing burden on its personnel.

General Pershing in a letter to Mr. Carter approving the change, expressed his thanks for the "very valuable services and assistance which the Y. M. C. A. has rendered to the American expeditionary force in handling these exchanges. General Pershing added:

"Handicapped by the shortage of tonnage and land transportation, the Y. M. C. A. has by extra exertion served the army better than could have been expected, and you may be assured that its aid has been a large factor in the final great accomplishments of the American army."

ANNOUNCEMENTS
We are authorized to announce
HON. E. BULLOCK

WHETHER the railroads are returned to private ownership or not, there is one thing absolutely certain, there must be an increase in freight and passenger rates.
There is no need for any one to dispute the fact that, under the present conditions, high priced material and labor, the railroads can not meet the expense at the present rates. These facts are shown from the records and not from hearsay from the uninformed. Every business enterprise is dependent upon the railroads to a more or less degree and when the operative powers of the railroads are crippled, all other business industries must bear their proportional part of the burden. Whether the railroads shall be returned to private ownership or not, the public may expect an increase in rates to meet the increased expense of operations. When it comes to the extremist and pessimist will do his kicking, but the conservative and informed public, will accept it in that spirit which has characterized the greatness of the American people during the recent world struggle.

"RAILROADS of the country should be returned to private management under a guarantee by the Government of a moderate fixed return on capital, declared Railroad Director Walker D.
Hines in an address before the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, in session in Chicago.
A 4 1/2 per cent limit on the reposed guarantee was suggested by him. He denied that the transportation systems have made a poorer showing under Government control than under private management."

TAX LAW.

To the Editor of the Herald:
The action of the State Tax Commission at Frankfort in requiring county tax commissioners in various counties to re-assessments is causing a great deal of complaint and nearly everywhere the new tax laws are blamed for the present condition.

Under the old laws the state board of equalization exercised the right to raise assessments horizontally in counties, while under the new laws the authority is limited to requiring any increase to specify property in possession of taxpayers, and then only when such property has not been listed at its "fair cash value," in accordance with the constitutional law.

Under the old laws all kinds of property was subject to uniform taxation for state, county and municipal purposes. Under the new laws bonds, stocks, mortgages, notes, accounts, money and credits, agricultural implements, manufacturing machinery, raw materials and products in process are taxable for state purposes only.

Under the old laws money on deposit in Kentucky banks and trust companies was subject to state, county and municipal taxes the rates approximately 3 per cent, while under the new law the tax on such deposits in one-tenth of 1 per cent for state purposes only.

Formerly vast amounts of investment property were greatly undervalued and included entirely, thereby placing the burden on property owners that less than one-tenth of the value of the taxable property in the state contributed towards the expense of government and it was inevitable that sooner or later the law would be enforced and assessments raised in proportion to value.

Forecasting this result the advocates of tax reform secured the exemption of intangible personal property from local county and municipal taxation in order to encourage industrial development and offset the coming increase in the assessment of other property and at the same time secured a reduction in the state tax rate from fifty-five to forty cents.

It is unfair to compare present tax bills with tax bills under the old law. The comparison should be based on what the former tax bills would have been had property been assessed according to the law, which has not been changed in this respect, and what the tax bills would be under the increased assessments if the new laws exempted intangible personal property from local county and municipal taxation had not been enacted.

Without the beneficial effect of the new tax laws the enforcement of the old laws would have been disastrous in the extreme and to attribute the action of the taxing authorities in their endeavor to equalize assessments all over the state to any provision in the new laws is a mistake.

Where taxpayer succeeded for many years in evading responsibility by undervaluation and omissions it is doubtless somewhat disagreeable to be reminded that the conditions could not last forever and that the attempted enforcement of the law, which existed, but was not observed, should be coincident with the introduction of a new system of taxation very naturally points to the new system as the cause, but this is not true as the raising of assessments is merely the Increasing government expenditures and depletion in the revenue from the effects of prohibition and other causes doubtless induced the application of the long dormant laws at this particular period but instead of attrib-uting the cause to the new tax laws the latter is the really saving clause.

One of the most profound changes that has come about in American life through the action of the recent Congress has been the mode of taxation that has been adopted, and that will not be given up, although it may be somewhat modified, since the Government required approximately $3,000,000,000 and did not hesitate to take what was most available. It appropriated the excess earnings of war-time industry and it has its hand upon a large percentage of the incomes of wealthy citizens. While thus taxing the profits of capital and the current income of the privileged and the wealthy, it did everything possible to stimulate the prosperity of the wage-earing classes. Through its power of control over industry in wartime the Government has new methods of high taxes, and according to fair measure the wages and salaries of the social reformers regarding the conditions under which men and women should live and work. Thus it will be seen that the Sixty-fifth Congress brought about a marvelous shifting in the proportions of wealth distribution. The new status is, both for taxation and for minimum wage payments, must be a great extent have become crystallized in social habit.
Thus economic changes are impending that ought to be guided and controlled by the most thoughtful and intelligent leadership.

Let everyone keep hustling to improve the appearance of their streets and lots. Keep all kinds of rubbish off the streets and sidewalks, and see that your steps, fences, etc. are neatly painted. There is nothing that helps the looks of town and industry more than to settle in it more than neatly painted fences and fences, neat and tidy streets and sidewalks and fruit and glance trees on your lots. Let us see what you will do for the benefit of our progressive little city.

We call attention to the reports of our four splendid banks shown in this issue. The combined resources of the four banks is $521,978.81, or more than a half million dollars. It has only been a few years since Rockcastle did not have a bank and when the first one was started, there were those who opposed it, for the reason that it would not pay, could not succeed, in fact could not live. The same thing applies to day with reference to other enterprises Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle could have, if her people would wake up. What about a canning factory, beam factory, cheap chair factory, ice plant, bottling works, overall factory, spike factory for working up the very kinds of timber, of which we have an abundance. We have just the right kind of cedar to supply the world for many years with cheap lead pencils. Our fire clay, the best in the world and inexhaustible, should be used and sooner or later some outside man will reap the harvest from it. We have as good clay as can be found for making the common brick. These are only a few of the many things Rockcastle has to offer. We are classed and properly so, as a pauper county, but it is not the county but the people who have lived in it. The tail end of too many pair of breeches have worn out, when other parts of the same garment looked fresh and sew.

Life Was a Misery

Mrs. F. M. Jones, of Palmer, O., writes: "From the time I entered into matrimony I looked with dread from one month to the next. Nothing seemed to help me until, one day, I decided to try CARLISL."

Has Never Been Down Sick Since Taking PERUNA
Read this letter from Mr. Robert Mink, Great Range, Montana: "In June I was out in Kentucky during a heavy rain. I had to sleep out of doors for the night. I was feeling very ill from sleeping out of doors and I had a headache and a sore throat. I had a bottle of Peruna and I took it. I felt better and my headache and sore throat were gone. I took another bottle and I felt even better. I have never been down sick since I have taken Peruna."
