W. P. A. Library News

On Monday night, March 24th the theme of the Radio Valley Broadcast by John Lee and his wife was an old fashioned quilting party. This party had been announced on the previous Monday night and the crowd was so large it was necessary to hold the party in the big barn instead of the school house. The quilt is made of pieces of material left from costumes, old coats and will be sold to the highest bidder either in money or in value in books and the proceeds go to the W. P. A. Bookstore Library.

At the quilting party, Mr. Lair stressed the value of such a library to the community and recalled that no such privileges were available when he was a child.

Since the crowd was large, work progressed rapidly on the quilt and it will be finished again later. Mr. Lair will make a report of the work accomplished on next Monday night's broadcast.

Notice to Taxpayers

The law is becoming more stringent each year in regards to delinquent taxes, under the law now the sheriff is forced to sell household and kitchen furniture or any personal property which the taxpayer may possess.

All this of course is embarrassing to the sheriff and also the taxpayer and adds quite a little cost to the tax bill.

So to avoid cost, embarrassment, and trouble please come in before April 3rd and settle your taxes.

This also applies to poll taxpayers, there is no possible way for us to get around advertising unpaid taxes both real estate and poll taxes, and we must advertise in the April 3rd edition of the Mt. Vernon Signal, in order to have time to make out the State and County, when required. 18-2n R. E. Phillips, Sheriff

MAKES GOOD PROFIT WITH ELECTRIC BROODER

Robert Speake, one of the 40 Garretts County breeders reported last week that he had sold 600 fryers at a profit of 9 cents a pound. Mr. Speake started 1,000 chicks in January, and at the age of two months the 600 which he sold weighed more than two pounds. It cost 13 cents a pound to produce the chicks, he said.

Earl G. Welch, University of Kentucky, was here last week inspecting the various farms where electric brooders are being used. For the past several days County Agent B. W. Fortenberry has been giving talks before Homemakers groups on raising chicks with electric brooders. - Lancaster Central-Record.

A Fellow Editor Gets Poetical

The following poem clipped from the Woodford Sun at Versailles follows:

Dear friends, the wolf Is at the door; He howls, and howls, And then comes more; And yet, you know; It is quite funny, How quick he'd leave - If we had money!

Please don't send flowers When we are dead - Just send a check, Right now, instead. The check will give Us happy hours, While we could never Smell the flowers! Poetically (and truthfully) THE WOODFORD SUN.

Coffee Imitation Will Be Ready Soon For Manufacture In This County

New Product Will Be Known As Ekko. Rev. Fite And Renfro Valley Enterprises Manufacturers.

A brand new product will soon make its bow to the world commercially when the first pounds of Ekko come off the roaster located at Renfro Valley, Ky. To many the name Ekko is foreign, but for several months local clubs and the restaurant at Renfro Valley have been serving this delicious hot drink to guests. All have been high in their praise of a beverage that closely resembles coffee in taste and color but has none of the after effects that harm some people.

The following poem composed by Rev. Fite tells the story of Ekko. It was in Eighteen Sixty One, The Civil War had just begun, And even in old Hoosier State, Things were scarce which people ate. Everything was high that sold, And Coffee worth a pot of gold. Nothing—People had to drink, So grandma then began to think, She met her family's expectation, Made Ekko, a coffee imitation. Ekko contains Vitamins A and B and is rich in iron. It is a not...

of the Civil War people were unable to secure coffee, and Rev. Fite's grandfather, Mrs. Samuel L. Stevens, being a resourceful lady of the old school worked out a formula, whereby only products of the farm were used to make a tasteful and nourishing drink. Many guests at the Stevens home commented on her fine coffee, not realizing it was only a substitute. Rev. Fite commented to his grandmother many times that if her product could be marketed it would sell like gobs. The formula for its manufacture is human, and until recently it had not been in its present book. About a year ago some was made for the Rotary club and the members were found in their praise of its merit. John Ladd, of Renfro Valley became interested in the possibilities of this new drink and a combine was formed for producing it under the trade name Ekko. Practically all the ingredients in Ekko are to be found in this county and if the demand becomes universal it would be a boon to the farmers of this locality.

It will be made at Renfro Valley and marketed as a product of Renfro Valley Enterprises, Incorporated. Many of Rev. Fite's friends have expressed a desire to be first to purchase the first pound of Ekko. Accordingly Rev. Fite will reserve the first one hundred pounds to come off the roaster for those who put their order in advance. Purchasers should notify Rev. Fite at once. Machinery has been made for producing it.

Brothage, and as soon as the containers can be secured it will be offered for sale at a very reasonable price. You should try it and boost another Rockcastle product.

Miss Jane Sparks Honored At Phillips

The following items of interest to Miss Sparks's many friends here were received from Phillips University at Enid, Okla., where Jane is a student. The text of the items speaks for themselves:

Officers Confiscate Large Still

One Man Captured Other Escapes

Sheriff Earl Phillips and deputies Walter Sowerd and Walter Robins made a raid Thursday afternoon near the Well Hope section and bagged a still of 40 gallons capacity. Four hundred gallons of beer and four gallons of moonshine whiskey was confiscated.

Charles Kirby, one of the operators was taken into custody, but the other was identified by the officers as Radford Rash, ran, and escaped Kirby was taken to London where he will appear before the Federal Court.

The still was one of the largest taken by the officers in some time and incidentally was the second taken in three weeks. The one taken last week showed evidences of much wear and had probably been in operation for a long time. Two twenty gallon kettles had been riveted together to make a 40 gallon receptacle. The county officers have been especially active in the last few weeks and are waging an intensive drive on the moonshining business in this county.

County Directory Draws Comment

Many Enthused Over Coming Publication

to this office and expressed enthusiasm over the coming publication of the Directory of Rockcastle County. Besides the comments several took advertisements in the book, and at the present time the prospects are bright for a book of at least eighty pages.

Those who would like to insert ads should communicate with this office not later than April 23. The fact that the directory will be a full and complete record of matters interesting to all Rockcastle citizens and will be a book that will be kept for years on the family mantle is a paramount reason for all business houses in the county to carry at least a small advertisement in its pages. Your message will be read for many years.

If enough revenue can be derived we hope to run pictures of several of the Advisory Board in the county, which will be taken by a professional photographer and will add considerably to the book.

Items of interest will be solicited from the county and everything possible will be done to make the directory the best possible.

We invite you to come in and look over the proofs of the cover page and will be glad to give any information desired.

A REPORT to America

The Ford Motor Company's business has always been to serve the needs of the American people. In providing them with low-cost transportation for the past 38 years, we have developed one of the country's largest and most useful industrial units. During a national emergency, we feel that these facilities should be devoted without reserve to our country's needs. Toward that end we started rolling months ago, with these results:

- 1 A $21,000,000 Ford airplane engine factory, started only 6 months ago, is nearly completed. Production will start with an initial order for 4,236 eighteen cylinder, air-cooled, double-row, radial engines.
- 2 We are building a new $800,000 Ford magnesium alloy foundry, one of the few in the country. It is already producing lightweight airplane engine castings.
- 3 Army reconnaissance cars—military vehicles of an entirely new type—are rolling off special Ford assembly lines at the rate of more than 600 a month. We have produced Army staff cars and bomber service trucks.
- 4 The government has given the "go-ahead" and work is now under way for the fast construction of an $11,000,000 Ford plant to produce bomber airplane assemblies by mass production methods.

5 Several months ago work was started, on our own initiative, on an entirely new 1500 horsepower airplane engine especially designed for mass production. This engine is now in the test stage and plans are being developed for producing it in large quantities when and if needed.

6 A Ford aircraft apprentice school has been established, to train 7000 students at a time.

That is a report of progress to date.

The experience and facilities of this company can be used to do much of the job which America now needs to get done in a hurry.

Our way of working, which avoids all possible red tape, enables us to get results and get them fast. This benefits users of our products and workers who produce them.

We are ready to make anything we know how to make, to make it to the limit of our capacity if it need be, to make it as fast as we can go, and to start the next job whenever our country asks us to. And to this end, we know we have the full confidence and loyal support of the workmen throughout our plants.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY

91 YEARS OF PROGRESS

A Historical Tour of the Louisville & Nashville R.R.

REGULAR THROUGH SERVICE TO NASHVILLE ESTABLISHED OCT. 31, 1859

FOLLOWING THE opening of stock subscription books, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company held its first stockholders' meeting in September, 1858, and moved into its first general office building at Bullitt and Main streets, Louisville, in October of that year. A year later, after several preliminary surveys, and with $3,000,000 in the treasury, the board of directors definitely ordered the line to Nashville located by way of Elizabethtown and Bowling Green, Ky.

Actual construction of the road was begun on May 2, 1853, but many difficulties were encountered—and six years elapsed before Louisville and Nashville were linked by rail.

As construction progressed, trains were run to the end of the line. Actually the first train was run in 1855 when the track had reached a point twelve and one half miles south of Louisville. That city subscribed its second million dollars to the venture in 1856 and proudly dedicated the L. & N.'s first freight and passenger station in 1858. . . . The first regular through passenger service between Louisville and Nashville began Oct. 31, 1859.

DEPOT 516 E. BROADWAY, LOUISVILLE DEDICATED 1858, Present Building

TODAY 7,000 stockholders own 1,170,000 shares of L. & N. stock and there are about an equal number of bondholders. The Company's investment in road and equipment is now 443 million dollars. It owns 942 locomotives, 53,000 freight cars, 700 passenger cars and 2,000 pieces of work equipment. . . . The ability and the purpose of this railroad to efficiently and courteously serve its patrons are at the highest levels in its history. It is ready and willing to handle all transportation business offered it, whether peak-time commerce or for national defense.

SLANTS

Springtime is in the air. Soon the countryside will be green as nature, as always, co-operates with the coming of the new season. It is a time when all humans feel a rebirth of renewed energy, as the lethargy of the long winter months fades before the twittering of the birds and the warm spring sunshine.

Spring is the season of hope and new ambitions. This year finds the nations of the world in a death grip, striving for supremacy, and the battle fields of Europe and Asia are echoing to the unknown noises of man-made weapons of war. We made expressly to snuff out life and cripple young bodies.

Nevertheless these soldiers on the firing lines stop to sniff the warm spring air and it causes them to pine for the loved ones back, and to wonder at this strange fantasy called war.

From time immemorial men have fought to uphold the rights of their native land. The dictators have installed a feeling of right in the hearts of their soldiers, although many are fighting from fear.

The coming of spring finds America in a common effort to save our vast industrial plants and working three shifts a day to turn out planes and weapons of war. By July this country will have almost a million and a half men under arms, the greatest peace-time army in the history of America. These men are well-trained, well fed and all believe in the spirit of liberty and freedom. This type of fighting man is unconquerable. They believe that the American way of life is the best way to live, and are willing to back this belief to the limit.

Nobody cares to forecast what will happen before the advent of another spring. United America has set her shoulder to wheel and is ready to come what may.

Baptist Church

By Rev. W. C. Younce

With the spread of the European conflict into Yugoslavia, another mission field of Southern Baptists is threatened. In 1921 the Foreign Mission Board sent Vincent Vacek, a Croatian in America, back to his home land to do the general missionary for Yugoslavia. For 18 years Brother Vacek worked faithfully amid many difficulties. Securing permission from the government for missionary work and even for residence for American missionaries in the country was the greatest difficulty. In 1938 a house for the work was purchased in Belgrade with the aid of our W. M. L. About all that can be said in this connection is that our foot-hold in this mesate state will be lost if the present situation continues. Although very little money has been invested in this work, the field is needed "ripe unto harvest." Surely we will remember these people in our prayers.

There is much that is happening in the world which should concern our Baptist people, as well as others. We sometimes feel that the present crisis, with its storms of hate, its unassured loss and frightful wreckage and enormous cruelty, is not being considered as it ought to be Christian people. Those interested in Christian work and keep abreast of current events know that it is "time to look up."

Fifth Sunday meeting will be held with the Freedom Baptist Church. Every Baptist in Rockcastle Association is urged to attend. Wouldn't it be glorious if everyone would? There are matters of great import that shall be considered. The general theme will be: "A Revival in Rock-

Income Tax Blanks At Clerks Office

A limited supply of State Income Tax Return blanks and Form Schedules for 1940 has been sent to county clerk clerks. The Department of Revenue announced today. It was suggested that persons required to file returns who had not received the necessary blanks might obtain them at the county court clerk's office. It was pointed out that single persons having a gross income of $1,500 or a net income of $1,000 and married persons having a gross income of $3,000 or a net income of $2,500 are required to file State income tax returns by April 15. According to figures released by Commissioner of Revenue H. Clyde Reeves, 15,900 individuals and 1,450 corporations had filed returns by the close of business March 14. Of this number 6,035 individuals and 723 corporations showed that no payment was due, and the remainder paid $394,451.50 and $305,229.51 respectively. Comparable figures for the same date last year show 11,550 individuals and 946 corporations filing returns, of which 4606 individuals and 568 corporations showed no payment due, and the remainder paid a total of $274,838.18 and $97,402.67 respectively.

Go-Op Buys Onion And Potato Seed

Farm activities in Laurel county, as reported by County Agent P. G. Grimwood, include plans to grow about 100 acres of potatoes and 20 acres of onions on a commercial scale. The Laurel County Farmers' Co-operation, Inc., has delivered 482 bushels of onion sets to farmers. The crops will be graded, sacked and sold by the co-operative association.

Says Butt Kernels Are Good Seed Corn

The irregular-shaped butt kernels produce as good corn as the flat kernels, says Prof. E. J. Kinney of the Kentucky College of Agriculture. Their shape, however, presents a planting problem. If they are so shaped that they go through the planter evenly, then there is no reason why one should not buy "rounds". Many producers of hybrid corn sell "rounds" for less than they quote "flats". Boone Farms To Grow More Food Plans of farmers in Boone county, Kentucky, to grow more of their food are reviewed by County Agent H. R.

Foraker. Gardens are to be bigger and contain a greater variety of vegetables. There are to be at least five hens for each member of the family, and one to two cows per family. The meat supply is to include pork, beef and lamb, all produced on the farm. The family fruit garden will include 250 strawberry plants, 50 raspberry bushes, six grape vines and six to 12 bunches of rhubarb.

Clark county farmers expect to grow 400 acres of hemp, under agreement with the Kentucky-Illinois Corporation.

Mr. Rockcastle Farmer

We feel proud of you and the Rapid Strides you make. Because of your efforts you now have better farms, better homes, better equipment, better roads, better communities and a brighter future.

You were among the first in the state to realize the great need and value of lime for your soil. It was because of your co-operation and the co-operation of Mr. Spence, Mr. Lee and the AAA, that we were first to make and deliver you a high grade lime, taking your assignment as full payment.

As life-long citizens of old Rockcastle we are grateful for the loyalty you have shown us and our product. In return for this loyalty we are determined you shall profit. United, we stand - Divided, we fall.

There is a difference in the quality of shoes, clothes, seeds, crops, stock, roads etc. and there is a DIFFERENCE in lime.

Our lime tests better than 98% pure calcium carbonate. It is a soft, snow-white, finely ground, dirt free product that fully dissolves in your soil. The stone is mined from the soft Krueger lime vein and loaded by hand to prevent dirt dilution. No hard insoluble road rock is used.

Please give us your order early as the year ends with June.

COUNTY AGENTS NOTES

TOBACCO MEETING

Thursday, March 13, at 10:00 a. m. a group of tobacco leaders met in the County Agents' Office to make plans for our tobacco program this year. Mr. Russell Miller, Tobacco Specialist from the College of Agriculture, Lexington, was present and showed several pictures on fertilizing tobacco, location and care of plant beds and the effect of diseases on tobacco plants and how to control them. Following is the tobacco program for Rockcastle county for the year 1941. For more detailed information about the above subjects see the County Agent.

Be sure to use No. 16 seed if ground has been limed recently or if root-rot has appeared. Two struck teaspoonful will sow 100 yards of seed.

Treat beds with Bordeaux mixture (bluestone, lime and water) at least twice to help control Blight in the bed and leaf spot diseases in the field.

Select your best ground, well drained and well supplied with organic material.

Fertilizing Program
Use stable manure, 8 to 10 loads per acre; two-thirds turned under early, not more than one-tired disked in after plowing.

If not phosphated in the last 4 years with 500 pounds of 20% equivalent, broadcast 500 pounds of 20% per acre. The more manure used, the more phosphate that will be required to balance it.

Apply 500 lbs. of 4-12-8 or its equivalent per acre in the row or 150 lbs. of 9-18-18 or its equivalent per acre in the row.

Larger amounts of nitrogen and potash will be received for the same money by using 150 lbs. of 9-18-18 instead of using 250 lbs. of 4-12-8. The total cost of the fertilizer and the phosphate will be about $10 per acre which is reasonable when expected increase yield and quality of such a valuable crop are considered.

Rate of setting to be determined by fertility. 16 to 18 inches minimum distance in row, and 3 to 3 1/2 feet maximum distance between rows.

Cultivate just enough to keep vegetation down and to maintain a mulch.

Insect Control
Budworms—corn meal 65 lbs., Arsenate lead 1 lb. to acre. Two applications.

Fireworms—Use a duster. Be careful of burning. Use either arsenate of lead or Paris Green.

Be sure to top. Allow top suckers to grow.

Prime. If tobacco is burring at the bottom but is not ripe, be sure to prime.

Be sure the tobacco is ripe when or if tobacco is about one-half ripe and it begins to rain and there is a possibility of second growth, belting is very desirable practice.

Harvest: Set stalks in flat stalks. Scaffold at least one day if not going to fire and this procedure is desirable if fires are to be used.

House in ventilated barn.

Use heat if needed. CharKets, petroleum coke, or gas coke are desirable.

Deterioration in barn after tobacco cures. Bulk early as soon as crop is safe to come down. When pith is dried and topmost leaves in average case will snap off without leaving a sliver, it is safe to bulk.

Stripping: Class properly at home. Press; bulk after stripping in a hot-dry bulk.

Deliver to market on stick.

CHEICKENS IN ROCKCASTLE CO.

Around $125,000 were brought into Rockcastle county last year through poultry and poultry products. This represents a large sum of money, but it would be much larger if poultry, fat and eggs consumed at home were added to this, because the majority of farms in Rockcastle county follow the practice of raising poultry for home use then selling their extra eggs and making them since we have so many people raising a few chickens for home use and since this is a practice every farmer in Rockcastle county should carry out, you are making the following suggestions for the people who raise poultry for home use. Five to six chickens for a basis of calculation assume a flock of 25 hens and 2 roosters to supply the average family of five. Similar budgets can easily be arranged for families of different sizes. Such a flock with a little extra care should produce 100 or more eggs per hen in a year, or enough to furnish one egg per person per day, several dozen to set and so on. However, if the flock laid as few as 90 eggs per hen, there would still be eggs sufficient to supply the essential needs for this size family.

such, could be remodeled at little cost into a satisfactory hen house. Two feeders 2 feet long feeding from both sides for meat scraps and grain and a 12 quart bucket for water or milk should be provided for 25 pullets.

Baby chick feeders can be made at home for 75 chicks two should be provided which are 3 feet long. Also two quart jars with star tops should be available in which to put the water or milk.

EAT OR CAN CULL HENS

During the summer and early fall the old hens should be eaten, supplying meat for many meals. Stew or bake the roosters when you are through saving hatching eggs. If you cannot eat all of the cull hens you may can them for later use. Should you desire information about canning chicken see your County or Home Demonstration Agent.

If you wish to have some late fivers it would still be more economical to buy the chicks and brood them in the lantern brooder. However, if you should use the hens you would do well to follow these suggestions:

Hens that are to be set should be moved after dark to nests away from the rest of the flock. The nests should be at least a foot square, clean and free from vermin, and not too far above ground as the eggs will loose too much moisture. Slat-fronted nests are used in all probability these will be nites hidden in the corners, so it would be best to clean thoroughly and scald with boiling water. Then spray or paint with disinfectant from an automobile crankcase, before bedding the nest with hay or straw.

The broody hen should be dusted with some louse powder before transferring her to the nest where she is to hatch the eggs. Sodium fluoride which can be bought at drug stores, is a pound of drug stores, is a good factory louse powder. Dust the sodium fluoride on the skin under the feathers at the base of the neck under each wing, below the vent and on the fluffy part of the thighs. The hen should be dusted again about ten days after she is set. Do

FEED A COMPLETE RATION

It is important that the chicks have a well balanced ration at all times but more so during their early life. Hence, the reason for recommending a commercial starting mash for at least the first 4 weeks. If the feed is not well balanced, the chicks will be deficient in the length of time. Chicks may be fed as soon as they are hatched but it is best never to wait longer than 48 hours.

What to feed during the second period. At 12 to 14 weeks will depend upon the feed available on the farm. Good results have been obtained at the Western Kentucky Substation farm and by many farmers throughout the State from feeding corn, wheat, meat scraps, salt and liquid milk. All these feeds were fed separately in hoppers and the milk in small cork containers. The chicks were permitted to make their own choice of feed and did just as well as those fed on these same materials when group up and mixed together in an all-mash. They had free range on bluegrass from about the 4th week until housed in September. Using this method it will take approximately 1/2 pound of mixed feed per chick during this period.

It is during the period from the 12th week to the time of housing that the pullets are neglected and left to shift for themselves on many farms. If one expects to have a nice home of pullets to start laying the latter part of September and early October it is absolutely necessary that they be properly fed and kept on clean range during the summer growing period.

Very much the same system of feeding outlined for the second period will work except it isn't essential that the corn be cracked after the 12th week. In fact it is best to start putting some whole corn on top of the cracked corn back as early as the 6th week as it takes them some time to get into the habit of eating whole corn. It is always best to feed yellow corn. If wheat isn't available corn alone will give satisfactory results. During this period each bird will eat about 2 pounds of meat scrap and 13 pounds of grain.

It will be observed that nothing has been said about feeding milk since the 12th week. Few people can afford milk successfully during the summer months because it attracts flies. The common house and stable fly are the principal carrier of tapeworm eggs in chickens.

After the pullets are put in the laying house the same feeding schedule may be followed as has been used since about the 12th week except milk may now be fed since the flies are not generally a problem after October 1st. During the laying year each hen will eat about 60 pounds of grain, 4 pound meat scraps, 5 gallons of milk and about 2 1/2 pounds of limestone. For more information on feeding see your County Agent and ask for Circulars 157 and 287.

NECESSARY EQUIPMENT

A laying house 10'x12' or equivalent to 120 square feet of floor space would be sufficient room for 25 to 30 pullets. On some farms the south side of the barn or stripping room, wood shed or the old hen house probably was never satisfactory as not disturb the mother hen while chicks are hatching.

DO NOT DUST BABY CHICKS-

The baby chicks should not be dusted with sodium fluoride until they are feathered. The mother hen should not be dusted at night as the powder might injure the chicks. She may be dusted on a bright sunny morning after the warm sun has dried so that she should not have to cover the chicks during the day. Never use any grease or oil on a hen that is brooding little chicks. If it is desired to put grease on the heads of the little chicks to kill lice, be sure not to let the chicks out in the hot sun that day.

Safetygrams

By Fred W. Braun

In this column I have frequently mentioned the absolute necessity of the courts being strict in their interpretation of the traffic laws.

No safety program in any community can succeed in the courts are lenient. Judgment should be used, of course, in deciding some cases, but frequent offenders merit the strictest interpretation of the law. Here is a story a judge told me recently:

"This is the fifth time you have been brought before me for speeding," said the judge severely.

"Yes, Your Honor," smiled the offender, "because I am a feller. I generally give him all my business."

"Nice business that is, too—endangering the lives of others."

"What did you do with him?" I asked the judge and was glad to hear that the judge gave him the limit that the judge gave him the limit the law allowed in order to prevent a recurrence of the same offense against the public on our highways."

We must have strict courts and strict enforcement traffic laws.

Signing Cadets For Air Corps

Examining Board Opened In Fayette

Mr. Cecil T. Williams, Somerset, deputy civilian aide to the Commanding General Fifth Corps Area, for the procurement of flying cadets, announced this week that the Air Corps Flying Cadet Examining Board No. 3 opened its operation for the reception of young men for the Air Corps at the City Hall, Lexington, Monday, March 17, for a ten-day period.

Any young man and between 20 and 27, who is single and desires to learn the latest in aircraft operation, from the best instructor in the Nation, and at the same time, receive $75.00 per month pay, plus food, clothing, lodging, and medical attention—all at no additional cost, may make application. A period of training of approximately eight weeks, at the expense of the candidate to enter the Air Corps Reserve where he remains for three years, at a salary of more than $200.00 per month. Should he desire to continue as a career, he is eligible to make application for a permanent commission.

While two years of college work exempts applicants in this category from the required mental tests, any with a high school education is eligible to apply and undergo the mental tests prescribed for entrance in the Flying Cadets. At Lexington, a free school is operated daily by the Government for these applicants.

They may be in need of such additional study, so that they may prepare themselves for the mental examinations; at this school the mathematics branch—advanced algebra, plain and solid geometry, trigonometry, and spherical geometry—is taught. Regular mental tests, approximately every six weeks, tests for entrance in the Flying Cadets are given those men who do not fulfill educational requirements. Many applicants who studied at the free Government school in their field, and are now undergoing training in the Army's Air Schools, Mr. Williams said.

"If you don't succeed, try again," was the advice given by Mr. Williams to Army Flying Cadet aspirants who failed the last educational examination.

Failure to receive the 70 percent in no science disciplines applicants in no entering since examinations.

Examinations are given by appointment every 90 days at Columbus, O., Louisville, Ky., Indianapolis, Ind., Cleveland, O., and Dayton, O. (Patterson Field) and the next is scheduled for May 12.

Other qualifications prerequisite for taking the examinations are that the aspirant be physically fit, unmarried, male American citizen, at least 20 years old and not yet 27, have unblemished formal application. Application forms may be obtained at any Army recruiting office or by writing to the Air Officer, Headquarters Fifth Corps Area, Fort Hayes, Columbus.

A Short History Of Livingston

By Dr. R. G. Webb

Livingston, Kentucky—Located in the south eastern part of Rockcastle County, was incorporated as a Town in 1879. It was born a railroad town and has continued to be one through all these years. Like all towns and people it has had its healthy periods and its sick periods. When I hung out my single in Livingston, Sept. 1st, 1908, the town was sick and had sick, the L. & N. Co. had moved the yards from here to Corbin, Ky. The town then presented a dismal picture, pay rolls gone business houses closed, dwellings empty the three hotels empty—everybody down in the mouth and wondering just how they could stay, or how they were going to live, we talked, fussed, cursed, waited and prayed, then after a few years of this sickness the town began to recover, nature had provided for us with something, but could not be moved, its location and water, so we got part of our yard back, service and extra engines and crews, the old town took on new life and began to grow and prosper, this healthy period continued till 1932. The great stock crash struck New York City in 1929, but we did not feel it here until 1932. The old railroad, the L. & N. felt that crash and they had to retreat by cutting down expenses so they cut our yards out, cut off and moved engine crews. So once more the town was sick again, empty business and dwelling houses and everybody down in the mouth and I want to tell you how we were sick this time. It was much worse than the first attack as we were older and had more to lose, our bank had to close its doors which added to our misery and loss to a great many of us, pay rolls gone, business and dwelling empty again, moving was the order of the day and this time it was headed north instead of south to the New Railroad Town of Linton, Ky. So the town of Livingston was dead again in the minds of everybody except a few of us that decided we would just stay with the old Gal. give her a little medicine and nourishment and wait and see if we would not live again. Some of us had even sensed away back in 1927 that the old Town would be day be struck with the same malady, due to the different forms of transportation, the Automobile, Bus, Truck and Airplane, so we got together organized a Chamber of Commerce under a brand name and built us a new modern school building, started in talking education for the children, Soy Beans, gardens, chickens and geese for the one horse hillside farmers and at the same time hillside planning has helped to bring the old town out of its sickness and it is now that I want to tell you that we are again able to sit up and yell the world that we are not sick but a healthy and vigorous body of home loving citizens. We hope today a bigger and better town than we had in 1932. It is true we do not have as much money, but we have better business property and better homes, people take more pride and keep things in better shape and order. Since 1932 we have had around $50,000 spent for the construction of new buildings mostly brick and stone, and our school and farmers are enjoying a prosperity they never knew before. Livingston has her head up and is looking to her business men, farmers, coal operators, truckers, railroaders and list but not least the Lions Club to keep it up. Livingston needs a better and knockers, won't you come go along with us and do your bit to help make this a better place in which to live, and to those outside the fold if you are looking for a new location don't go west come to Livingston and grow with the town that is bound to be a big one some day.
