Livingston Wedding Draws Crowd

Miss Charlie Parson Weds Mr. Calvin Webb

The society people for miles around all came to the big womanless wedding held at the Livingston High School Gym Tuesday evening. The affair was sponsored by the Lions Club and was directed by Mrs. R. G. Webb.

All the kin folks and friends of the bride and groom were in attendance. The bride, Matilda Jane Armantia, acted by Chas. A. Parson was bedecked in a gorgeous chest-of-steel ensemble which closely resembled a four sack. The groom, Henry Jake Neuhancez, Calvin Webb was attired in the latest wardrobe that 1890 afforded, including a high stiff collar. He made a cute figure besides the massive frame of his bride.

The wedding was officiated by Dr. R. G. Webb.

He spoke words of sympathy to the groom and cautioned him to be sure and put the cat out each night and to give the bride her cod-liver oil each morning.

The maid of honor, Mary Bell Avenue, C. M. Bales, looked like an angel from heaven with his sleeveless gown and garland of flowers astride his head.

The best man, Courtlander James C. F. Mullins, was a distinguished looking gent and reminded one of an old-time card-shark.

The brides mother, Mrs. Gene Strat Armatia, Clyde Linville acted the part of the worried mother at her daughters wedding. Her children, Minnie Lou Junior Mason, Edna Elvira Kanotte, Elmer Schwoer, (twins) were constantly into mischief and they had little respect for the august occasion.

The grandfather, Mr. Angelo Saxo Pilean, P. L. Owens, and the grandmother, Mrs. Angelo Saxo Pilean, W. L. Simpson, got a big kick out of the wedding, although they looked like they wouldn't be able to attend many more.

The brides aunt, Mrs. Reptile Silas Hinks, Walter Chestnut, was one of those crusty looking individuals, but she looked like she enjoyed the wedding. Her husband, who played by Edil Mullins who had to look after the jilted sweetheart, Mae West, acted by Clell Pike. Mae came near breaking up the affair when he discreetly crossed his legs together that he had on a dress. Also his loved waiting of grip on losing his beloved, reminded one of the howl of a wildcat.

The little baby, Nancy Alfair Armatia, Dorey Bingham was a sweet little thing and the crowd roared when his colored nurse, Aunt Africa, M. H. Owens wheeled him in a wheelbarrow. He was a good baby as long as he had his bottle, and Aunt Africa saw that he had it. Mrs. Knowall, a neighbor, Marvin McWhorter acted her part well, as the gossip lady who knows all.

Miss Howler Bawl Yell, a college chum, Elmer Halcomb, was dressed in a lovely evening gown which set off her red hair. She sang a solo appropriate to the occasion.

The usher, Ples Skip, Sam Halcomb was kept busy bringing in the guests and introducing them to the audience. He was dressed like a ringmaster in a circus.

Two unexpected guests, Mrs. Emaline Buttnisky, Bill E. Singleton and Hebrew Worthington Buttnisky, Garnett Rinkin, came a little late but they brought a lot of provisions for the wedding feast so were excused.

Clifford Bales acted the part of a big radio star.

Ivory Anglin was PopEye the sailor man and he was fixed for the part, even down to little Sweet Pea, Ralph Wayne Halcomb, who really stole the show. This little ten months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Halcomb, never cried once during the whole proceedings and seemed to enjoy the strange goings-on.

Miss Roseuffles, the flower girl, was portrayed by Bud Egan, and he made a sweet little girl. His last night in spreading the flowers was perfect and could not be equalled anywhere.

Mr. Holdit Standard, the ring bearer was acted by Delmas Rowe, and he carried the large ring with great ability; knowing its importance. The wedding was a success from every standpoint and the director, Mrs. R. G. Webb deserves a lot of credit for her patient and untiring efforts in producing the play.

To The Readers Of The Signal

This space was reserved for an article by one of the Selective Draft Law but due to the fact that Uncle Sam called on this County for 25 of our boys to report for service I had to put in two days at Mt. Vernon examining the boys in order to get enough ready to fill our call, and then we have had and unusual amount of sickness, also our Womanless wedding has required a lot of my time, with all these things happening it was not possible for me to complete my article in time to get it in this week, but if things run good we hope to have something next week that will be of interest to everyone.

Tenancy One Step To Land Ownership

The recent conference on a farm tenancy held at the Kentucky College of Agriculture attracted farmers, members of the faculty of the college and heads of government agencies interested in agriculture. Tenancy in itself is not a bad thing, Dr. W. D. Nichols, head of the college's department of farm economics, declared. Farms to rent permit men to farm who do not have land or much capital. He considered tenancy one of the steps in the ladder to land ownership. Dr. Nichols said a good land owner-tenant situation attains three results:

- (1) Tenant and his family get a good income and a good living from the rented farm.
- (2) The land owner gets an income sufficient to compensate him for the use of his land and his expenses in maintaining the land and improving it.
- (3) The productivity of the land is maintained and increased and improvements are kept up satisfactorily.

4-H Members Plan Defense Gardens

Four hundred boys and girls enrolled in five 4-H clubs are taking the lead in a defense garden project in Carroll county, Kentucky. At least 20 demonstration gardens containing 100 or more standard vegetables will be grown in each community. Then two or more "new" vegetables will be grown in each garden, such as asparagus, egg-plant, Chinese cabbage, okra, etc. Certified seed to plant a 100-foot row of potatoes will be furnished 4-H gardeners.

A tour will be held in August, when the gardens will be scored and prizes will be awarded.

Should Keep Milk Cows For Home Use

In answer to a question of whether it pays to keep cows to furnish milk and butter for the family it is stated in Kentucky College of Agriculture circular "Make the Farm Your Family's" that dairy products for a family of five would cost $214.50 if purchased. These products include 1,400 quarts of milk, 130 pounds of butter and 156 pounds of cottage cheese.

It is suggested that at least two cows be kept to provide dairy products. There should be at least four acres of pasture for them, and four tons of legume hay, such as alfalfa, lespedeza, soybean or clover. Then each cow should have about 1,250 pounds of corn, oats or barley or a combination of them.

Chick Season Here Discusses Failures

Here are some reasons for chick failures, as listed by J. E. Humphrey of the Kentucky College of Agriculture:

- Buying cheap chicks of unknown breeding and origin.
- Too many chicks put in a brooder house.
- Brooder houses improperly cleaned and disinfected; drafty and cold, and kept too hot.
- Rations not well balanced.
- Not sufficient feeder space.
- Permitting everybody to go into brooder house.
- Not putting in roost poles early enough.
- Sun porches too small.

- These things can be corrected by: (1) Purchasing clean, healthy chicks from hatchermen near home whom you know to be doing a good job. Taking the chicks home yourself, if possible. (2) Allowing one square foot of floor space for every two to three chicks. (3) Sterilizing, cleaning and disinfecting brooder houses. (4) Adding one ounce of lye to each gallon. (4) Seeing that the house is properly ventilated to prevent drafts and keeping the temperature from 90 degrees to 95 degrees at the edges of the house during the first week or ten days. Thereafter decrease the temperature about 5 degrees each week until the heat is lowered to 70 degrees. (5) Feeding a commercial starter for at least four weeks. This will insure a well-balanced ration. (6) Allowing one inch of feeder space for each chick during the first four weeks and at least 1 1/2 inches thereafter. (7) Permitting only those who take care of the chicks to go into the brooder house. Even then persons should not go from old hen houses or over contaminated soil into the house unless over shoes are put on when going through the door. (8) Building a sun porch as large as the brooder house. This will give the chicks ample room and keep them off of old contaminated ground. (9) Putting in low roost poles when the chicks are three or four weeks old.

Early Broilers—Return Profits

Robert K. Speck, a Garrard county farmer, put approximately 1,000 broilers in the brooders January 10, and March 12 sold 600 of them for 22c a pound. They weighed two to two and a half pounds. Their cost was about 9 cents a pound, according to County Agent B. W. Fortenberry. Thirty-five to 40 electric brooders are being used in Garrard county. Fortenberry says they are cheaper to operate and more satisfactory than some other types of brooders.

Defert Soils Hurt Fruit Trees

When fruit trees fail to develop properly and when the leaves are sparse and yellow, the soil probably lacks sufficient nitrogen. The following are some of the causes of nitrogen deficiency: (1) Runoff of the second 1/2 inch of rain. (2) Excess of phosphorus and potash in the soil. (3) Defective soils didn't make much growth, and the trees were slender and yellowish-green in color instead of deep-green. Lack of a proper supply of nitrogen and phosphorus also may have something to do with fruit production. Prof. Waltham's experiments are reported in Bulletin No. 410.

Other men in the county have had their drainage systems laid out. At this writing I do not know just how many feet their drainage systems consist of. Some have not had their systems laid out yet, but they intend to before spring is over.

There are two essential things to remember in laying out tile. (1) Always lay the system out with an

County Agent Notes

By Robert F. Spence

During the past week Mr. Earl Welch, Extension Engineer, Lexington, Kentucky, was in Rockcastle county helping the County Agent lay out some drainage systems.

Some farmers in this county have been doing tile drainage for several years but the majority are just now beginning to realize the importance of getting excess water off their land by tile drainage.

Tiling is the first step in improving wet land. The second step is adding lime, phosphate and turning under cover crops.

In this way some wet land has been stepped up from 15-20 bushels of corn per acre to 70 bushels per acre.

They increase with the first year.

Tile systems were laid out on the following farms:

C. H. Owens, Boone, 5,500 ft. Hiram Thacker, Conway, 5,500 ft. Albert Miracle, Conway, 2,500 ft. J. H. Wolfe, Disputants, 4,800 ft. W. S. Stewart, Wildie, 1,200 ft.

There are two essential things to remember in laying out tile. (1) Always lay the system out with an

Rotarians Drive For Membersrip

Banquet Held At Christian Church

The Mt. Vernon Rotary Club held a banquet last Thursday in the basement of the Christian Church, the purpose being to further membership in the organization. Guests were Rotary-Anns, prospective members and their wives, Dr. M. Pennington, president of the Commercial Club, Dr. R. G. Webb president of the Livingston Lions Club and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Willis and wife of Richmond, Mr. Willis is a candidate for District Governor of Rotary International and was the main speaker of the evening.

The table was beautifully decorated with white and pink ribbons and candles spread a warm glow over the festive board. A lovely bouquet adorned the middle of the table telling more appropriately than words the coming of Easter-time.

President W. L. Chapman called the meeting to order and regular business was dispensed with for the evening.

For the musical part of the program Miss Nina Cox sang a solo accompanied on the piano by Miss Ruth Mullins. Auditt Luskion, professor of music at the local high school and pupils, Jack Lincoln Adams and Miss Kathleen Brown gave several musical selections that showed the talent of these two fine students. Atkinson and Adams played a duet with cornets and Jack Lincoln adorned a cornet solo. Miss Rowan Short talks concerning Rotary were made by W. L. Chapman, W. A. Fite and Howard Egan.

Edt. Willis, the speaker of the evening, opened his remarks by saying that he was going to talk on a homely subject, and would illustrate same. The subject proved to be wrenches, and he had three different types of these tools.

The first wrench was one that was fit for only one kind of nut, and was small and insecure looking. A man using this wrench could place much dependability on it. The speaker then contrasted this wrench with many. Many people in communities are like this. They do only one groove, and never have the ability to branch out, take up new things. This type of man as well as wrench cannot be depended upon. This kind of man is never a Rotarian or a community worker.

Mr. Willis then showed the second wrench and this was the kind of tool, commonly known as a monkey wrench. The speaker said it had lots of merit and that it was a good substantial tool, but could be used only on special kinds of work. From the human angle many men are like this common implement of work. In all communities you can find this type of man. A good substantial citizen, but always a little reluctant to try modern methods, and is content to stay put. This man very rarely is a community builder.

For the third illustration Mr. Willis had the well-known Stillson wrench. He commented on its ruggedness and dependability. It was a tool that could be relied on in an emergency. It could take a small nut or a large one, and hung on like a bull-dog. Workers like the Stillson because it delivers the goods. A man who closely resembles the Stillson is the one who is always ready for the march of progress. He donates to worthwhile enterprises and lends his support to community affairs. He stands ready at all times to work for the common good. People go to him for advice and encouragement. He is a man that can be depended on in an emergency.

By his graphic description the speaker brought home the gist of his subject, and his talk was much enjoyed by his listeners. The banquet was served to forty-five guests and members, and was prepared by the ladies of the Christian Church.

Mrs. A. R. Parsons spent last week in Louisville with her husband who is employed there.

Judge Chas. Carter Seeks Re-election

I hereby announce my Candidacy for the Republican nomination of County Judge for Rockcastle County at the August Primary, 1941.

In my former campaigns for this office I pledged to the people of this County that, if elected, I would discharge the duties of County Judge fairly and impartially and that no person or persons could dictate to me or control my decisions unless the law was for those parties. I have honestly and sincerely attempted to carry out my pledge, and if re-elected I will again carry out that pledge.

The active support of each citizen of this County is and will be greatly appreciated.

Chas. C. Carter.

Sorghum Co-Op Assured Faci

80 Acres Signed For Production

The Rockcastle County Sorghum Co-operative became a reality Monday of this week when articles of incorporation were filed in Frankfort. After months of meetings and personal contacts with prospective members the necessary amount of $2500.00 was secured to make the cooperative workable.

Jan Jett, head of the marketing division of the department of agriculture has been a potent factor in helping to organize in this county. Mr. Jett met with the Commercial Club several times and also attended meetings out in the county to help further the program.

The Commercial Club as a whole worked untiringly toward forming the Co-op, knowing that the benefits derived would make a better county. Keeney Campbell vocational agriculture teacher deserves a lot of credit for he attended many meetings over the county and signed many members. N. M. Smock, cashier of the Bank of Mt. Vernon also donated duty in many capacities. Other members of the Club did their part to put the program over.

The Sorghum Co-operative as has been stated is a bona fide farmers organization. Only growers of sorghum can join and they elect their own officers.

A mass meeting of all growers will be held soon to elect the officers for this year, and to make plans for the erection of a blending plant.

The forming of this co-op is a step forward in the right direction and shows that this county has the proper initiative to take up the modern ways of farming. If this cooperative is successful, others can be formed without a new charter being granted. Let us hope that this new organization will lead the way to a unified system of farming that will raise the standard of living of many of our farm people.

SENIORS PURCHASE INVITATIONS

The Senior Class of the Mt. Vernon High School purchased their invitations for commencement a few days ago. The invitations were changed this year and the Seniors feel they are prettier than any the school has had.

SENIORS READING PLAYS

The Senior Class has begun its series of plays for the annual event that takes place every year. There are three plays which they have in mind "Wild Cats Eat", "One Dumbious Night", and "Faith, Hope And Flarity." It seems the play that is preferred by the majority is the latter play. All of them are fine plays, written by able play-writers and each of them given would be a great success.

JUNIOR PLAY A SUCCESS

I am sure all those who attended the Junior play "Meet My Wives" at the High School last Friday night will agree that it was a success. A large crowd attended the play and that encouraged the actors to do their best to give them their money's worth. The Juniors had a well written play and a splendid cast. Nina Cox, which contributed to its success.

The third year girls have learned that it is really possible to feed an individual on 15 cents a day. They have planned and prepared some of these Menus. Their last Menu, which totaled 15c per person was: Breakfast: Rice, Coffee, Butter, Bread, and Eggs. Luncheon: Salmon Loaf, Potatoes, Tomatoes, (canned), Milk, and Bread. Supper: Cold Slaw, Macaroni, Milk, and Bread. They all agreed that it would be better to have more, but that this Menu for the day included all the minimum essentials except a child needs more milk.

Hitch-Hiker Takes Oscar Graves Car

Warren Lakes Gets Auto In Richmond

The following news was taken from Wednesday evening's Richmond Daily Register:

A hitch-hiker left him to hitch-hike home, Oscar Graves of Rockcastle county told Sheriff Leslie Turpin this morning.

He said that he picked up in Hamilton, Ohio a youth with whom he was slightly acquainted, Warren Lakes, 18, of Rockcastle county, who told him that he was going home, having just finished working in a CCC camp.

Graves said that they stopped at the Dixie Restaurant in Richmoud and went to the rooming house. Graves said he was in a hurry to get home and he did not return Graves started to look for him. Not only had Lakes disappeared but so had the 1938 Buick in which he was registered in his wife's name.

Questioning of the boy's father developed that the young man was either in McKee or Hamilton, Ohio. Graves called the police and gave them the license number of the stolen car and today was informed that they had both Lakes and the wandering automobile in custody. He said that he would swear out a warrant for the man's arrest and was going to leave for Hamilton today to recover the car—but this time, no more hitch-hikers.

Mattress Program Starts April 2

Mrs. Elizabeth Hatcher To Supervise Project

The construction of cotton mattresses will begin at Conway Wednesday, April 2 under the supervision of Mrs. Elizabeth Hatcher, Home Demonstration Agent. The mattress project has been adopted as part of the farm program and through the co-operation of the Surplus Marketing Administration, the U. S. Extension Service and the people in Rockcastle county. It is going to be possible for every family in the county, who has had a cash income of not more than $800.00 last year, to make from one to three mattresses, depending upon the number in the family and at a total cost of one dollar for each mattress. Applications for approximately 1,000 mattresses have been received and approved. A time limit for filing applications will, no doubt, need to be set since there is no assurance that cotton will be available after June. The first carload of cotton has arrived and one shipment of ticking and percale for comforts. But on account of the rapid progress in national defense no more percale for comforts may be obtained. However there is enough on hand to allow one comfort for each family who has made application up to and through March 22.

One of the mattresses shall be displayed on Main Street in Mt. Vernon Saturday, April 5, and at least part of the following week. Everyone will want to take time to inspect the quality of ticking, cotton and workmanship. The ten communities and their local committees who have made necessary arrangements for opening the work centers are: Livingstone: Dr. R. G. Kidnapers Captured At Mt. Vernon

Taxi-cab Driver Nabbed by Desperadoes

Excitement was running riot in Mt. Vernon Saturday afternoon when it was learned that two men who had kidnaped a LaFollete, Tennessee taxi-cab driver were at large in this community. Earl Phillips, sheriff and deputy Walter Sowder, were notified and in short while both men were captured and lodged in jail on a charge of grand larceny. According to the taxi driver's story two men, hailed him in LaFollete and asked to be taken a spot on the edge of town. He recognized the men as Walter Thompson and Dan Yorbce. They immediately pulled up and continued him to drive north on Highway 25. The taxi-driver, Ancil Tidwell, said that one of the men held the knife between his shoulder blades and he had no chance to escape until he arrived in Mt. Vernon. Here he pleaded illness and asked to have a drink. The kidnappers stopped at a local cafe and Thompson went in. Tidwell got Yorbce's attention attracted elsewhere and he jumped out of the car. Yorbce drove off leaving his partner in the cafe. Not knowing the streets of the town he drove to the main highway close to the street next to Bentley Sparks and John Griffin, which of course is a blind street. He left the car at the end of the road and run through the fields toward the railroad.

In the meantime Tidwell had notified Deputy Walter Sowder, who got on the trail at once. He contacted Thompson at the cafe, but the man was well dressed and not like a locomotive. They commanded him to halt and he hesitated in the middle of the track. Sowder threatened to shoot, and the desperado surrendered. No weapon was found on his person. The officers later searched the surrounding territory and found $47 on the track which the robbers had taken from the taxi-driver. It was then learned that Thompson left town walking north on 25, and he was the driver of the drive of Renfro Valley thumping a ride. The officers accompanied him and he was arrested and taken to jail.

Tuesday a United States Marshal from London came and took the two men to London. They would be later to Tennessee where they will be tried for kidnaping and transporting a stolen automobile over a State line, both Federal laws.

Americana Vividly Dramatized in Leigh's Western Paintings

The Navaho "Fire Dance" is in William R. Leigh's one-man-show being held in the Sargent Gallery of the Grand Central Art Galleries, 15 Vanderbilt Avenue, New York, March 4-22.

In the whole of Indian life, nothing more spectacular can be seen than the Navaho Fire Dance. Mountain Chant. Unlike the Hopi Snake Dance, prayer for rain, and held in autumn, the Navaho Fire Dance is performed in the spring and is confined to winter.

Over 1500 Navahos assemble to witness the spectacle, which costs as much as or more than $1200. Some of the tribesmen in the foreground are dressed as the warriors of the patient. The dance lasts from sundown to sun-up; the most dramatic part of it—depicted here—occurs after midnight. The dancers, smeared with whitish clay, impersonate ghosts who through carotting, the waving of torches shaking of rattles, are supposed to frighten away the evil spirits responsible for the illness.

Very few white people have seen this dance which has never before been depicted. It is the first of a series of Indian dances Mr. Leigh plans to paint. During the winter of 1935 to 1936 he spent a deep snow. Mr. Leigh accompanied by his wife, Ethel Traphagen, founder of the Traphagen School of Fashion, New York, journeyed twenty-five miles from Gallup, New Mexico into the Navaho Reservation to obtain the preliminary sketches done on the spot for his picture.

This canvas, which is still at the charcoal stage, is supplementary to 14 recently finished pictures and 15 studies never before exhibited. Among these are "The Shield," "The Boat in the Bonch," "The Mariposa," "The Starvation," "The Mystic," and "Arizona, the Woderland."

The exhibit is planned in a unique way to give the layman and student an opportunity to see some of the steps involved in the creation of pictures. The studies represent data painted from life in the Southwest.

William Robinson Leigh, a descendant of Pocahontas, in a Virginia, who more than thirty years ago made his first visit to New Mexico and Arizona. He continues to carry on most thoroughly the tradition of the Grand Central Art Galleries, is representative of one of the few painters who were known in the Old West and Africa. He was selected by Carl

Records Training Begins Class

Two hundred sixty Ohio, Kentucky West Virginia and Indiana "dodos" began army aviation garb of the first time this week as they began 30 weeks of flight training leading to becoming "flying cadets" in the Army Air Corps Reserve.

As the fledgling pilots arrive at civilian aviation schools throughout the Midwest, award of four more Flying Cadet scholarships, was announced by Fifth Corps Area Headquarters, Fort Hayes, Columbus, O. The newest appointees, selected from the alternate list, were:

Walter Wayne Price, R. F. Findlay, Ohio, assigned to the Mississippi Institute of Aeronautics, Jackson, Miss.; John Luther Rosen, 134 Colingwood Av., Fremont, O., Spartan School of Aeronautics, Muskego, Okla. (correct); Billy Robinson, Salvia, Meeker County, Ky., Spartan School of Aeronautics, Tulsa, Okla. (correct); and Robert Lee Ruple, Jr., 338 Hillcrest Av., Louisville, Ky., Park Air College, East St. Louis, Ill. All were to report for enlistment this week.

The last-minute appointments added to 264 (correct) the number enrolled in three schools for the March class, a Corps Area record for any one month.

Although the new cadets now are characterized as "dodos"—or birds without wings—by their superciliousness, all will be expected to solo within three to five weeks after arrival at the primary schools. The rest of the ten-week primary course will be devoted largely to flying on their own.

The Army fledglings again will require dual instruction at the basic school—second step toward winning their wings—before they solo the more complicated trainers there. They again will fly initially with instructors at the advanced school where planes are even more elaborate. At all three schools, no cadet is permitted to take a ship up alone until he has fully mastered the plane being used.

During their 30-week course, 10

The Garden

By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture

Among the first of the vegetables to go into the garden are parsnips and salsify (oysterplant), both needing all summer to mature. Here are two distinct flavors, that of the latter most intriguing, for escalloped oysterplant and real oysters taste so much alike...

As with other root crops, they prefer sandy loams, or the lighter soils in general, but even heavy clay loams into which has been plowed enough humus matter, they may be raised and managed properly can be made to produce these crops to perfection. As root crops, again, they should not be put in soil that has just received much fresh stable manure...

Land breaking should be deep, so that long and unworked roots may be grown. The soil should be so smooth that the seed will drop smoothly. A fine seedbed is needed, too, because the seed of both these crops, particularly the oysterplant, is heavy. However, no matter how careful the preparation, spring rains sometimes form soil crusts through which the seedlings cannot break.

The rows may be as close as 15 inches, but 24 inches is more usual. One ounce of parsnip seed sows 100 feet; of salsify, 2 ounces is needed. Parsnips should be sown in 2 inch beds; salsify, in 1 1/2. The varieties are, Guernesey parsnip and Mammoth Sandwich Island salsify.

Cabbage—This being a leaf crop, heavy fertilizing with nitrogen is needed. Also, inasmuch as it is a part of cabbage, water, humus is needed a plenty. The best way to provide both is to turn under great amounts of stable manure, or better, poultry manure, in that portion of the garden where cabbage and the other leafy vegetables are to be. The seed bed should be finely and deeply prepared.

The plants should stand from 12 to 15 inches apart, in 24-inch rows, and they may be set March 15.

For early crops, Jersey Wakefield and Charleston Wakefield, are so apt to burst after a rain, it is more satisfactory to use the round heads, Golden Acre and Copenhagen Market. The former is quite as early as Jersey, and the other exactly parallels Charleston in season and in quality.

It has been the several-times repeated experience to have cabbage die just as heading should begin, it may be suspected that the soil is infested with Cabbage Yellow, against which ordinary varieties are not proof. The remedy is to prepare the special sorts, Marion Market, Wisconsin All-seasons, or Resistant Golden Acre, not perhaps from "frostproof" sources, but from local plant men who have the interests of stricken gardens in mind. Or, the grower may sow seed now in protected frames and have plants in 6 weeks that should make usable heads by June 1, or soon after.

SLANTS

By W. L. S.

Several years ago a columnist in Oklahoma wrote a column called "Did You Ever Stop To Think..." Although only a small town writer he attained nation-wide fame and his column was carried in many papers.

The title "Did You Ever Stop To Think..." caused the reader to stop and think, and usually the author had a topic that caused one to think.

Did YOU ever stop and think what county, I can think of many things, without unity and co-operation ideas are useless.

One thing that would help the county immensely is better livestock. If Rockcastle had a thousand pure-bred Jerseys or Shorthorns...

A national manufacturer put up a cheese factory in Stanford, because that county produced lots of milk. They investigated Rockcastle and found a lack of the product necessary to make cheese.

Statistics show that five good cows can make a fair living for a farmer, if he raises his own feed. Alfalfa grows readily on our limestone soil and we have an abundance of lime at a low price.

Picture some of our farmers coming to town each Saturday with 30 to forty gallons of good cream. It would mean in a few years that these farmers would be known as substantial men with a fine prospect for the future.

With a herd of cows, properly managed, your weight increases each year. Farmers who have a good cow that gives three or four gallons of rich milk a day know that if they want to sell her, that it is no trouble at all to find a ready sale.

One suggestion made by a business man here is for the merchants to give a priced cow away each month, with the understanding it couldn't be sold out of the county. In three or four years many registered cows would have homes in this county.

This is just a suggestion and if other farmers or business men have other ideas, bring 'em in.

This is an agricultural county and the only way the wealth of the county can be increased is to help the farmer make more money through different ways of farming.

Baptist Church

By Rev. W. C. V.

We are glad to report that the Fifth Sunday Meeting held at the Freeborn Baptist Church, March 30th, was a real success. Several of the deacons were represented. There were some seventy who attended the Bible School and many more who came for the preaching service. Pastor Mast bringing the message. The principal speaker on the afternoon program was Rev. V. B. Castleberry of Richmond, Ky. It will not be exaggerating to say that his was a soul-stirring message, on the subject "A revival in Rockcastle Association," On behalf of those attending, we want to thank the Freeborn Church for their hospitality, especially in reference to the splendid dinner.

We wish to remind our people again that State Superintendent, Dr. W. A. Gardiner, is willing to send a young woman into our association sometime in the early part of the summer to help carry on Vacation Bible School work in churches that are anxious to have one. Some have already indicated their willingness to co-operate in this unusual opportunity. Please consider this matter prayerfully and let us know if you are interested. Let the deacons in churches concerned bring this before the brethren and sisters just as soon as possible.

Sunday Services
In our work for the month of April we want our people to consider five selected passages of scripture:

1—Proverbs 6:16, "These six things doth the Lord hate: Yea, seven are an abomination unto Him: a proud look, a lying tongue, and hands that are innocent, blood an heart that deviseth wicked imaginations, feet that be swift in running to mischief, a false witness that speaketh lies, and he that soweth discord among brethren."
2—Corinthians 13:1, "When I was a child, I spake as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child; but when I became a man, I put away childish things."
3—John, 21:22 "Jesus saith unto him, If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? follow thou me."

4—Ephesians 37:23, "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord, and he delighteth in his way."

5—James 5:16, "Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

Sunday School—9:45 A. M. Lesson: "Christ Promises Power for our Task"—Luke 24:48-49; Acts 1. All that Jesus began; Ye shall receive Power; A world Mission; Holding on in Prayer; Where are we to-day; are high points in the lesson. Present last Sunday, 203. Average attendance during March 171.

"Rockcastle County Farmers"

Rockcastle County has recently been selected by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration as one of the Counties now eligible to receive "Grant of aid" on Agricultural limestone under the 1941 Farm Program which ends June 30th, 1941. Let us suggest that you check on your soil building units at the Office of the County Agent, Mt. Vernon, Ky., and place your order now to insure early delivery. We are now in position, having been awarded this Government contract, to deliver to your farm, finely ground, high test (98%) lime dust.

REMEMBER FARMERS every load of lime delivered from our quarry at Mt. Vernon is weighed on Government inspected scales by a Bonded weighman, therefore you get 2000 lbs. per ton (No guess work). For your information this lime is paid for by the Government without any actual cost to you, and without making any Assignment.

Is Your Child A Teaser?

By Mrs. Marv M. Van Cleve, Department of Home Economics, University of Kentucky

If the teasing only takes the form of good-natured banter, the results are no doubt good. There should be a balanced give and take in a teasing situation. It may help to develop a good sense of humor and perhaps successful repartee in adult life. Also the disappointed behavior which brings forth teasing often disappears as a result of a little good-natured banter. It often occurs between good pals and can be enjoyed by both individuals.

But teasing often is a serious problem. Good-natured banter gives way to tantalizing jeering and real bullying, and the poor victim suffers both physically and mentally. If the age, physical size, ability or temperament of the aggressor and victim are very different, then the teasing is more apt to take an extreme form. As a result the victim may come to have an irritable disposition, perhaps a feeling of real inferiority, or even worse, he may try to retreat from reality and shun contacts of all kinds. The tensor of course meanwhile is not developing a brotherly and kindly spirit which is a necessary part of ideal social relationships.

Sometimes parents use teasing to draw attention to undesirable behavior in their children and often to their surprise and chagrin find later that they have brought on a very negative attitude and have developed an additional bad trait instead of successfully discouraging the original behavior.

Teasing is rather natural to most of us and often gives the aggressor a real sense of power, so satisfying to his ego. Often his teasing is a definite indication that there is something wrong with his personality. Perhaps he has an inferiority complex and if he does; teasing would naturally give him a sense of achievement as he watches for the reaction of his victim. We have all heard the familiar nicknames such as "skinny," "pig-eyed," "big-lummock." When several children play on one particular child, it is more tragic still, as the child tries to retaliate and give the teaser a dose of the same medicine, probably weakens, perhaps through a temporary tantrum or cries for help and protection. Then these reactions stimulate the aggressor to further teasing, resulting in still more distress for the weaker individual.

Sometimes parents unwittingly put their children in situations which make them appear different, such as keeping boys in curls or knickers after that they have brought on a following stage of development. A child would rather take physical punishment than be socially ostracized by his peers. We cannot always control his overweight; we cannot change the color of his hair or straighten crooked legs or back. We can, however, help the child to learn to meet his difficulty squarely and adjust to it as happily as possible. We can make him self-reliant and develop particular characteristics or qualities which are promising, so that he can excel or feel superior in some way. His playmates will not ridicule him if he does any one thing well, which is socially acceptable to them.

To over-protect the child and not help him to learn to defend himself makes him a victim and his friends will soon be saying he is weak to his mother's apron strings. We should encourage him to take his own part and meet the group single-handed if he is ever going to make a happy adjustment to the group in which he so much wants to be included.

Sometimes the one who is doing the teasing has no idea how his victim feels and in this case, he really needs to have some one land on him with some stiff teasing in order for him to fully appreciate what such in this manner with proper explanation of his reasons for indulging in this behavior toward the child, teasing him just enough to let him see what a bitter dose it can be. Jealousy of another child, often coupled with private teasing. A parent will be the must first of all be overcome in that case. Children who are unduly teased at home often practice the same type of behavior on their playmates at school.

Incubators Used To Hatch Poults

Turkey hens on many Kentucky farms no longer are the mothers of poults. They lay the eggs, but incubators do the hatching. Strong, vigorous poults that may be raised with a low brooding mortality, now can be hatched artificially, says a Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station bulletin dealing with the incubation of turkey eggs. Here are some of the points set forth:

Turkey eggs should be gathered at least once daily and stored in a cool place of 40 to 60 degrees until set. If turkey eggs are to be held a week or longer they should be turned daily.

It is best to set turkey eggs within a week or 10 days after laying, although they will hatch well if held under the best conditions as long as three weeks.

Turkey eggs should be turned at least four times daily from the second through the 24th day of incubation.

Turkey eggs require as much moisture during incubation as chicken eggs if not more, especially during the last three days of incubation.
