18 Years Ago, June 2

Today 18 years ago four of my children were taken from me and today as my memory drifts back to the time I could hear their voices, see their sweet smiles, and hear their foot steps, makes me so sad and lonely, brings tears and heart aches as I think about that day 18 years ago. About 3 o'clock I was preparing supper for my family, their father had just come home from his work and taking his bath. Four children were up stairs playing, the house caught on fire and those children burnt to death in those roaring flames. Their names were Russell, Edward, Viola and Harold Stallworth. TELLING KENTUCKIANS ABOUT KENTUCKY

(This is one of a series of articles sponsored by the Kentucky Press Association through the efforts of the United States and the Department of the Interior in 1935-1936.)

BY ROSE A. BLAIR

Cumberland Falls, Kentucky's Million Dollar State Park, is indeed the most interesting and beautiful of all our Parks, Stripes or Memorials.

Located in the very heart of the famed Kentucky mountains, near Corbin and Williamsburg, this roaring cataract, offers to the public who trek there by the thousands, a place where nature did far more than she expected, she created a final and wonderful general surroundings of the Falls; a delicate touch that changes with the four seasons so that Spring, Summer, Fall and Winter finds a new and different picture.

To all who really know Cumberland Falls, this is indeed the one season that pleases the true lover of nature. At present, the snowwhite dogwoods are a real picture, with this being the grandest season for the Falls. The dogwoods in the history of the Falls. Even many rebuds are still in bloom, forming a background for the dogwoods. The white trees are beginning to spread their magnificent leaves and will soon open to the world the one and only view of the Falls worth traveling thousands of miles to see. Then we must not forget the wild honeysuckle that is now adding sweet fragrance to the atmosphere, and which will be followed the last of this month, by the delicate and abundant Mountain Laurel and Rhododendron with their blossoms of sweetness and beauty.

Cumberland Falls State Park is ever more interesting. Wonderful highways lead into the area from every direction; north, south, east, and west, with a toll-free ferry across Cumberland River a short distance above the Falls. Highways are smooth — with long straight-aways and wide sweeping curves that make driving in the hills of Kentucky a real pleasure.

After the Park has been entered, there are miles and miles of well marked trails that lead to all points of vantage — up the river to the two shelter houses, down the river to the beautiful South Creek falls, the gorge, Leipers Leap, the Bath House and bathing beach, and on down through the palisades to Dog Creek where the area is under way by man or improvements. It is little wonder that visitors, in speaking of Cumberland Falls, say they are "amazingly beautiful."

The present race of people, here and elsewhere in Kentucky and other States, know only of the Falls and the river as Cumberland Falls and Cumberland River, but long before the white man knew of the Falls and learned to love them, we are told that the Falls and River were known as The Shawnee Falls and River — named after that great tribe of Indians the Shawnees. The same history tells us that Dr. Thomas Walker, Kentucky's first white visitor, named the river and mountain creek after the Indians of the Falls, in England. Dr. Walker, viewing Southeastern Kentucky, from the Gap, had found an area far more beautiful and interesting than he had ever dreamed of finding... and Daniel Boone on his first visit said it was "the most beautiful country my eyes have ever seen."

And Cumberland Falls is just as beautiful and interesting today, and unlike the early days when it was almost impossible to even get a wagon to the Cataract, our modern roads are marvelous, and the Park, under its present management of the Department of State Parks and the National Park Service offers to the public an area in which the visitor is welcome, and services to make his stay pleasant.

Historic Moonshiner Inn, nestled on the very brink of Cumberland Falls, is again open, and the new stone duPont Lodge will be completed by mid-season. There are two groups of native log cabins, well equipped and ready for occupancy. Trained park personnel is on hand to take care of the Park and its accommodations, and everything possible is being done to present to the public a new Cumberland Falls park service that will make a visit to the park, as said by such a person, "something to remember."

It is interesting to know that more than one million dollars have been spent in the Cumberland Falls Park area, and to the lover of the Falls and this grand view of Kentucky, it is even more pleasing to note the National Forest Service, through the Cumberland National Forest, now owns and controls practically every acre around Cumberland Falls, thus making the area as it were a diamond in a platinum setting. Such a program means that forever and ever, we will have the area as it is — millions of trees, shrubs, wildflowers and wild life. A place where the tired public can rest for a moment in the shade of a paradise for the vacationist — and a section known far and wide for its beauty and friendly people. To those who live near the Falls, nothing is more pleasing than to see our "neighbors" come and go, because we want to share this bit of nature with them — and it pleases us more and more to see them return time and time again. For nineteen consecutive years a Cincinnati family has visited Cumberland Falls for their yearly vacation — are the Falls not unusually interesting to have and hold such attention?

Then we must not forget the World's Largest Sunken Garden that is just a short distance from the Falls — an area owned by the National Forest, and an area that is to be developed into a recreational unit at an early date, but is outstandingly attractive at this time and should be on the "must see" list of every lover of the outdoors.

Cumberland Falls State Park and its 593 acres was an outright gift to Kentucky by the late Senator Coleman T. duPont and family. "Kentucky" Best Trade Name Kentucky farmers and processors are continually hunting for trade names for their products so that they may be identified as to quality, economy and origin. This they hope will create a preference in the consumer's mind. All sorts of adaptations of the word, "Kentucky", and of historical spots and events, have been used, but probably any product identified as made or grown in Kentucky would carry as great a meaning, and increase sales to consumers throughout the United States. Kentucky enjoys a very enviable reputation as to the quality of her citizens and her products, and citizens of other states are more than willing to pay a premium for Kentucky products. Kentucky should capitalize on her reputation because this reputation has been built by her citizens and her products, and they have every right to enjoy the benefits from it. The Marketing Division of the Kentucky Department of Agriculture is very interested in increasing the use of Kentucky farm products and is encouraging the formation of co-operatives so as to aid the farmers to market their products more efficiently. Kentucky needs an aggressive advertising campaign if she is to continue to hold her position as one of the major agricultural states of the country. She is on the "battlefield of business" and the competition of 47 states is directed against her.

CAN 47 STATES BE WRONG AND KENTUCKY RIGHT? Kentucky Gross Load Limit ONLY 18,000 Lbs. 47 OTHER STATES 30,000 to 65,000 lbs. WHEN THE 48th motor exclaimed: "They're all out of step but Jim!" she didn't realize that her lug-footed boy was spoiling the whole parade. . . . And so, maybe the 3,000,000 people of Kentucky don't realize that our State's absurdly rigid regulation of the motor truck industry is "gumming up" the parade of national defense. The Kentucky laws limit the gross weight of any freight hauling truck to 18,000 pounds—truck and load combined. This restriction makes our State a serious bottleneck in transportation of vital war materials, both for the defense industries which are springing up throughout the State and to military cantonments such as Fort Knox. . . . No other State has a load limit of less than 30,000 pounds gross weight, and the 127,000,000 people of this country who live outside of Kentucky enjoy better service, more business, higher tax revenue from the trucking industry and—last, but not least—a saving on everything they buy, they wear, they use. . . . The situation is particularly serious in Kentucky, too, because 77% of the communities in our State have no other method of rapid freight transportation—they are served only by the trucking industry. And Kentucky farmers are the most seriously affected, since 75% of Kentucky's farm products go to market in trucks. Learn the facts; discuss them with your representatives in the Legislature and with candidates in the coming Primary. FREE MOVIE!—"Singing Wheels"—Thrilling 15-minute feature film club meetings. SLANTS

By W. L. S.

It is remarkable when a group of farmers have the good common sense to realize the necessity and importance of co-operation. Usually the merchant takes the forward step in pushing co-operation, but Wednesday evening 93 Rockcastle farmers feted the business men at a banquet to show that the two main groups in the county must work together.

We noticed, strangely enough, that many of our business men were absent. Some might have had excellent reasons, but others just lacked the necessary get-up to attend.

The men who did not attend this big affair are the ones who for the most part, take little interest in the affairs of their best customers. These fellows will be the last to contribute or to help push for a better county.

Business men of this county MUST realize that our future rests with the growth of the farmer. It is good business to help a man who helps you.

This week many things have happened that show that old Rockcastle is on the move, and refuses to be classed as a "paper" county. Check over these forward steps.

More than fifty citizens left their businesses and went to Frankfort Thursday to appear before the Public Service Commission to protest against the present telephone service now being rendered. The Courier-Journal had a special reporter present, and Friday's Courier gave a complete account of the proceedings. It is hoped that the county will soon have an adequate telephone system to better serve all sections of the county.

The county this week re-financed her indebtedness, and is now on a sound footing. This will mean much to our future greatness and stability.

Plans were formulated last week to bring 500 Northwestern eggs here and to form a protective association against them. This will add greatly to our wealth.

These things might seem small, but they show conclusively that the citizens are aroused and intend to make the most of what God has given them. Selfishness and bickering between one another over small trifles will never build a better county. The sluggards must either fall in line, (and we hope they will) or not be counted in the scheme of things. The man who is putting his best step forward to help the entire community cannot help but thrive and prosper.

Christian Church

Aubrey Russell, Pastor

Sunday is CHILDREN'S DAY. Among the days on the church calendar receiving special emphasis, this day should stand near the top. In crucial times such as we are now facing, CHILDREN'S DAY should receive even greater emphasis. We of America love our children and make a small tender plant, knowing that the way they grow will determine what kind of fruit they produce. As we strive here to make the best possible citizens through proper growth, let us not forget that in other countries this growth has been stopped or seriously curtailed. Let Sunday find at the house of the Lord, parents WITH children, thanking God for our opportunity to rear our children in peace, asking His blessings on those unfortunate little ones and pledging ourselves to keep the torch of love, justice, brotherly love and good will burning. Let us also pledge our allegiance to the Church, the agency for God's Kingdom, and that institution which has for its purpose the promotion of love, justice, brotherly love and good will.

At the local Christian church the Sunday morning worship will be in charge of the Primary Department. These children in their efforts to center their worship around the Children day theme will lead our thinking in relation to the great need of giving our support to the needy children across the world. The Pastor will use as his topic on Sunday morning—As "These Little Ones".

Saturday is Registration day for the yearly Vacation Bible School. The school will be officially open on Monday June 9th. All children of the community are welcome and urged to come and enjoy these two weeks with us.

4-H's Help In National Defense

Members of 4-H clubs in Kentucky have an important part in national defense, says J. W. Whitehouse, state club leader. Last year, 2,138 club members had gardens. This year, he expects at least twice that number to have spring and fall gardens. Kentucky 4-H club girls in 1940 canned 104,448 quarts of fruits and vegetables. This year they have been asked to can at least 25 percent more food. Many county nutrition committees include a 4-H boy or girl. In Pike county, several farmers in every community are keeping egg records.

VOTERS OF ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

I want to hold up a man, who is running for jailer. They call him "Old Cousin" I. L. Anglin. I will compare his political race, liken unto a horse. The horse he is riding is a good square strongly built dapple grey. As I see him, he is going up a long valley with no one near him. And again, next I see him, he is topping along far ahead. His neck is bowed. The bits of his bridle are in his mouth. Haven't you saw horses reach and get the bits with their front-teeth? They are not scared when they get that way. For he is headed for victory, and they can't hold him, from it. Now I am not going to say a word of harm against his opponents. Not a word. You good mothers and fathers of this county, I have known this man for many a year. He hasn't harmed anybody, and is always ready to help his fellowmen, when in need day or night. That's the way I have found him always. Mothers, Dads you have boys, would tonight if the case should be, your boy, your brother or your neighbors boy were in jail. Wouldn't you be better satisfied to really know him to be in the hands of a good jailer. That's "Old Cousin" I. L. Anglin, no matter how poor he may be. Ivory will say he is some mother's boy, and he will treat him right. Let's Swap "Uncle Dave" to this man, and give boot, for it's deserving, as I, personally know both of them. I am 66 years old, father of 14 children, 54 grandchildren. Wouldn't mislead no voter, if I could. For I, L. Anglin will make Rockcastle County, the best jailer it has ever had.

Price Control In Consumer's Hands

A price-rise in consumer goods, working hardships on everyone, may in part be prevented by united action, according to Miss Alice Morrison of the University of Kentucky home economics department. In view of repeated statements from Mrs. Harriet Elliott, consumer representative on the defense commission, and others, the Government clearly wishes to prevent inflationary prices, pointed out the home economist. To succeed in this purpose, the co-operation of consumers must be obtained. They may help in the following ways: By slowing-down on all unnecessary buying. By putting any increase in prices from farm products into "defense bonds" or other safe savings, rather than spending it. By systematically buying less expensive products, without getting poorer quality necessarily—by astute buying, in other words. With millions of Americans serving in the army, on defense projects, the ability to produce normal consumer goods is lessened. Taken with higher wages and profits, severe "competition" in buying might force prices up beyond ability of lower income groups to buy needed goods. Miss Morrison added. At the University of Kentucky a consumer group has been meeting several hours weekly to consider ways of meeting the problem, and how to give the family adequate funds without great increased costs. "Only consumers can prevent prices going higher—the Government's direct action can be rendered useless by ill-advised buying practices on the part of the public," concluded the home economist.

Co-Op. Helps Farmers

Sixty farmers in Knox county, Ky., are growing 32 acres of sweetpotatoes. They bought co-operatively 100 bushels of certified and treated Porto Rico seed, and will sell their crops through their co-operative association. According to County Agent J. F. Moore, co-operative buying of seed saved the farmers $110.

Farmers Try Planning

Trigg county farmers co-operating in the County Agent Thomas Morgan are planning project will indicate how they now are farming and how they would like to farm. A map will show the present farm layout; another map the arrangement desired by the owner.

91 YEARS OF PROGRESS

A Historical Tour of the Louisville & Nashville R.R.

TO COAL AND STEEL

Important to the L. & N., because of the impetus it gave to the Birmingham District's iron and coal industry, was the first successful manufacture of coke pig iron in Alabama at Osmore on February 28, 1876.

In 1877 the L. & N. moved into a new general office building at Second and Main streets, Louisville, and acquired several small lines in Kentucky at about the same time. Steel bridges to replace iron ones on its track in the seventies and the Westinghouse air brake was first applied to L. & N. equipment.

In 1880 the Old Reliable reached the Gulf ports of New Orleans, Mobile and Pensacola through the acquisition of the Mobile & Montgomery, the New Orleans, Mobile & Texas, and the Pensacola railroads. The timber-slicing saw worn ferro-nickel caused much difficulty in maintaining pilings-supported trestles on the line between Mobile and New Orleans but was eventually overcome by treating the timbers with creosote. This line was one of the first in the country to use the creosote method of preserving timber.

Other major stretches of trackage secured in the early eighties gave the L. & N. a line between St. Louis, Mo., and Nashville, Tenn., via Evansville, Ind., and between Montgomery and Selma, Ala.

Improvements and additions to the Road's track and rolling stock and refinements in the service have continued to the present day. Many millions of dollars were spent in the past years for new freight equipment and improvements to plant facilities. Thus, the Louisville & Nashville kept its house in order to be ready to handle any business that might be offered it speedily, efficiently and safely.

POULTRY POINTERS FOR JUNE

The demand for increased production of poultry and eggs in the national defense program concerns the poultry for the remainder of the year.

Hens: If summer egg prices maintain a reasonable level, good management on the hen flock may make egg production profitable. Keep production at a high rate by good feeding, good housing and keeping the flock free from lice and mites. Close culling must be practiced, removing all non-producers. Keep a record of production or ten days at a time to determine if production is profitable.

Eggs: The proper care of eggs during the summer months will result in a greater supply of edible eggs reaching the consumer. Sell male birds as soon as the hatching season is over. Keep eggs cool. A cellar or basement where the temperature does not get too high and where the air is fairly moist is a good place to hold eggs until they are marketed.

Send eggs to market as soon as possible, twice a week, should be done. Young Stock: One of the cheapest and best helps in growing the young stock is green feed. Put the pullets on clean range where chickens have not been for the last two years to keep down parasites and diseases. Feed a good source of protein to the pullets and thus have them ready for production this fall.

SHEEP RAISERS TO ORGANIZE

Saturday, June 7, at 1:30 p. m. the sheep raisers of the county will meet at the Court House in Mt. Vernon to organize a Sheep Protective Association. All sheep raisers of the county are invited to this meeting.

It is hoped that there will be at least 100 sheep owners ready for this first Sheep Protective Association. The organization is formed for the protection of sheep against dogs. The Association is made up entirely of sheep owners and through their own organization will make it possible to protect each other from dog losses. Other counties in the state have such Protective Associations and why should Rockcastle?

All farmers who are planning on buying some "Northwestern" black faced ewes should attend this meeting. At our meeting last Saturday, 100 ewes and 5 pure bred bucks were requested by farmers. Get your request in at once.

4-H DISTRICT RALLY

The Broadhead Farm Demonstration Team, representing Rockcastle county at the District Rally at London Saturday, May 31, received a red ribbon on their demonstration of "Permanency and Permanence" Hog Houses. The two boys who gave this demonstration were Byron Robbins and Johnny Allen from Broadhead, Kentucky. The team from Southern Madison consisting of Jack Clark, Esmer Alexander and Billy Clark, Esmer entered the contests but did not win a ribbon. The contest was won by a team from Jackson county demonstrating "The Brooding of Chicks Electrically." They will represent this District at the State Contests at Junior Week next year.

Baptist Church

By Rev. W. C. Younce

The Associational Sunday School meeting was held at Freedom Church Sunday afternoon. There were four churches represented—Freedom, Broadhead, Line Creek and Mt. Vernon. It was decided to have this meeting to come on the Fifth Sunday instead of each month as has been done in the past, thus eliminating so much going. We believe that this will be much better. Brother Mahan, Brother Filkin and myself were appointed as program committee. Our next meeting, of course, will be held at Conway June 29th, our part coming in the afternoon.

Freedom Church closed their Vacation Bible School last week with Commencement Service on Friday night. Their enrollment was 35; average attendance, 21. Miss Mary Booker, of Lawrenceburg, was in charge of the school. She was assisted by Miss Rebecca McKinnis, Miss Agnes Ponder, Mr. and Mrs. John Owens, members of the above church.

The Poplar Grove Church began their Vacation School Monday of this week, with Mrs. Stewart in charge. Miss Newman is from Pleasureville Baptist Church. She comes to us highly recommended. We believe that she will be a great blessing to this church and commu-

ity. Her next school will be at Conway.

Our Vacation Bible School began Monday morning of this week, with an attendance of 38. There were 102 present Tuesday. We believe that this is really going to be the best school yet. Our school is being carried on by the following workers: Mr. Charles Brown, Principal, Mrs. J. T. Meadows, Pianist and Superintendent, Mrs. Ella Mae Mullins; Mrs. Wash Helton, Supt. Junior Dept., assisted by Mrs. Chas. Daley and Mrs. E. Denney, Mrs. Rob. McKenzie, Substitute; Mrs. W. C. Younce, Supt. Primary Dept., assisted by Mrs. Ruby Mullins and Mrs. Ruby Cummings; Mrs. Jewell Parsons, Supt. Beginners Dept., assisted by Mrs. Estill Bullock and Miss Kathleen Hansel; Mrs. Lillian Dowell Secretary. We appreciate the fact that these are so willing to help us. Some of them are making great sacrifices, more than many would be willing to make.

Sunday Services
The Day of our fathers is fast becoming a day of business and amusement. It needs to be stated clearly and stressed continuously that "The sabbath was made for man and not man for the sabbath." When properly observed the day will strengthen and enable human life.

Sunday School—9:45 a. m. Chas. Brown, Supt. Lesson: "Paul and Barnabas Called by the Holy Spirit to carry on Foreign Missionary Work"—Acts 12:15-13:12. Those who do not believe in foreign missionary work should study this lesson.

The Friendship Bible Class, Mrs. J. T. Meadows, teacher, will have an All Day Meeting on June 19th at the church. Mrs. Meadows wishes all members of the class to plan to attend this meeting.

Public Worship—11:00 a. m. Sermon: "Practical Christianity Searching the scriptures." Training Union—8:30 p. m. Mrs. Fred Baker, Director. Attendance last Sunday, 41. Our attendance next Sunday should be 150. Let us heed the words of the divine: "With hold not good from them to whom it is due." Theme for the month: "Walking in the light of Christ's teachings."

Prayer Service
We feel that attendance at the Wednesday night prayer service cannot be overemphasized. Men and women who have been great doers have been great pray-ers. In view of the great work we have to do and the hindrances to our work, we therefore fervently appeal to you to be spirit-filled to "come to the help of the Lord, to the help of the Lord against the mighty."

In view of the fact that Brother Fuller, the Old Fashioned Revival preacher, has requested that churches throughout the country meet June 16th to pray for the welfare of our country and the world, we wish to make it known that we will comply with this request, meeting at the church at 9:00 a. m. Let us keep this in mind and make plans to attend. "We are living perilous times."

We extend our deepest sympathy to Miss Lucye Williams in the death of her father, who passed away at Barbourville last Thursday.

Christian Endeavor

Christian Endeavor was held in Mrs. Snoddy's back yard last Sunday with Betty Ann Griffin acting as leader. The topic was "Christian Service in City Slums," about thirty-four attended and the lesson was carried on very successful.

Bro. and Mrs. Russell entertained the Endeavor group at their home Sunday evening after Church. A delightful time was had and all enjoyed the delicious punch and cake. Our picnic out at Livey's Spring was successful and about twenty-five attended. We enjoyed ourselves very much. Some of the girls met at Mrs. Russell's and helped prepare the refreshments. They met at the Dinner Bell Cafe and two cars were waiting there to take them out. The older children played ball and some of the younger children jumped rope. Coming back there were more people than there was when they went out and some other rode and the rest walked back.

Bennett Hall is leader for next Sunday, June 9th. He would like a large crowd to attend.

Doris June Murphy
Publicity Chairman.

In loving remembrance of our little darling Robert Edgar Cash who passed away May 17, 1936, age three years.

He was only a bud lent to us to show us how fair, the angels in heaven might be, and then departed this life to dwell in the garden of God, where he awaits us. Sadly missed by Daddy, Mother and brothers.
