SUNSHINE

By Dr. R. G. Webb

During my college days we were not taught anything about the sun, in fact our professors in medicine did not know at that time that the sun had any medical qualities, and naturally when I began the practise of medicine I did not use or prescribe the great healing powers of the sun, I thought as a great many of you, my readers that the sun was only good to give us light and heat, but some twenty odd years ago medical science proved that sunshine was one of man's best medicines, and since then we have been using it in its natural form and with electric machines that takes it place in the winter time when we do not have it in its natural state.

So I just occurred to me that in the month of June when we are getting plenty of old, it would be wise to tell you some of the things that sunshine will do for you, and the pretty part about it, it will cost you nothing. Sunshine is the best medicine on the face of God's green earth today, and I am sorry to say that the most of us are ignorant or lazy to take it, when old is trying her level best to give us her value in violet, infra-red and other rays that we may absorb and take in her healing powers, we are like the kid on castor oil, do everything we can to keep from it. We surround our homes with so many trees that the sunshine can't get in, we stay in the house, store up our own or someone else's shade tree and fight our free medicine all through the summer months.

Sunshine kills germs—let it in wherever and whenever you can, it helps to feed our bodies with vitamins, it will cure rickets in children, it heals burns, cuts and sores better than any other remedy and a hundred other things to numerous to mention in this short article.

Sunshine like all medicines should be taken in moderation and with instructions from them who know in order to get the best results, you can over do most anything, and right here I will have to confess that I was in Florida trying to build back my shattered nerves which had suffered a general breakdown in 34. Knowing the value of sunshine and without any definite prescription, I decided that I would start with sunshine treatments. We were living in a two story dwelling house with big porches all around it and no one else in any of the apartments at the time, so I started on my own.

She said you had better consult your Florida Physician first and let him give you directions on how much to take, I shook my head and said heck no, the Florida doctors don't know any more about our sunshine treatments than I do—but I was wrong and bad wrong—I went ahead with my plans, looked the porch roofs over found the window to open and the ideal place to go so that I would get all the sun. The next day I opened the window took off all of my clothes—"nope did not use any trunks as I was on the blind side of the street where no one would see me." I put a quilt under my arm to spread out on the metal roof and proceeded to crawl through the window, the metal roof was so hot on my bare feet that I did not lose any time getting my quilt ahead and down I went, I looked at my wrist watch and said I will take thirty minutes of your old Sol—come on and do your stuff, well he did and I rolled from side to side and back to foot front, finally by the time I got in my 30 minutes, the next day I was no more sore but had to cut the time about 5 minutes short and that night I wished that I had cut it all out, for I was hot feverish and had the chills, sick as I was and had cold creaming up. Mentholatum, cold cream or dope failed to relieve my wretched body, and to add to my misery I got very little sympathy from my wife. She said I should have known better—well I do now. We have had experience—she seldom forgets it. That is why, for the first time I am passing my own experience along so it may profit you.

Sunshine must be taken in small doses just a little at a time if you want to get the proper results and the results is a nice brown tan all over the body, right here I want to warn you that blondes do not tan very well and you have to take it easy or you will find yourself in my condition, sunburned.

My friends drink in all the sunshine you can this summer, let it in your homes, it's a wonderful medicine, but dangerous if a cooked gun and by all do not drink ice water when you are hot—drink warm water and eat plenty of salt. See your doctor first.

Lesson: The Holy Spirit in World Missions, (acts 12: 25 to 13:12)

Golden Text: And he said unto them, Go ye into all the World, and preach the gospel to every creature. Mark 16: 15

Every Spiritual impact is a shout of Victory.

Be not weary in well doing, neither be ye discouraged, for Christ won the victory and it is ours to win. It is the proclamation thereof. We may not see immediate results from our expended effort but of a truth, though we can know that triumph is eventually assured and that whatever effort we make will be a part of the great work we can give all close in our hearts we can give always the best that is within us and know that every spiritual impact is a shout of victory.

On the ice reef the breakers
Raced in shattered foam;
Yet still the sea behind them
Urges its forces home.
His chant of triumph surges
Thee—'till 'tho' the thunderous din;
The wave may break in failure;
But the tide is sure to win.

O mighty sea, thy message
In changing spray is cast
Within God's plan of progress.
If 'neathers not at last
How wide the shores extend.
How strong the reefs of sin;
The wave may break in failure,
But the tide is sure to win.

Money Talks

By Frederick W. Stamm, Economist and Director of Adult Education University of Louisville

A year ago we were worrying about the large surplus of most of our farm products; today we are begging farmers to produce more. A year ago we were worrying because the prices of farm products were too low; today we are talking about a price ceiling for many farm crops.

What has happened about the changing in our economy? I would say the War in Europe, the defense program at home, and, more specifically, the passage of the Lend-Lease Bill which has enabled this government to begin the accumulation and shipment of foodstuffs to Britain.

The pattern of prices today resembles that of twenty-five years ago. During the first World War food prices in the United States did not begin to rise sharply until the middle of the second year. During the first year of this present war prices did not go up strongly. But during the past year important agricultural products increased in price from 6 to 65% over this time a year.

The department of Agriculture has already allotted larger acreage to the production of tomatoes, and dry edible beans, vegetable items demanded by the British in large quantities. Likewise, as long as two months ago the government announced that to stimulate the production of hogs, dairy products and eggs, it would try to maintain prices for hogs, 31 cents for butter, 22 cents for eggs, and 15 cents for chickens. All these prices have been surpassed already.

One of the best ways to measure price change is to study the wholesale markets as their prices are lower than the retail prices.

The Chicago wholesale price of butter has risen from about 26 cents a pound a year ago to 35 cents; eggs from 14 to 16 cents; and hogs from 22 to 25 cents a dozen; and from $5.50 hundred weight to around $9.50 average. These are but examples.

Food received by farmers and paid by consumers are now only slightly below those of 1930, and the trend now points to higher prices.

The farmers should have a good year, barring a severe drought, and should make more money than they have for some time. At least, some of their worries have vanished with higher farm prices.

Fred Adams on Dry Fork Creek has sown more pastures than any other farmer in Letcher county, over a 5-year period.

An outbreak of blackleg among beef calves in Polton county was checked by vaccination.

"Every homemaker in Kenton county using enriched bread and buying canned goods by grade" has been adopted as a slogan by homemakers.

Leslie county farmers plan to buy a potato grader to get the crop ready for marketing.

Engineering Courses For Qualified Men

Fraughton, national defense courses in engineering at the Universities of Louisville and Kentucky during the summer months have been announced by Dean Ford L. Wilkinson, Jr., regional advisor of engineering materials training and Dean of the University of Louisville Speed Scientific School.

The summer courses require full time attendance; they are being given to meet the demand for inspectors and operators in the field of ordnance materials and explosives. Those accepted for the classes pay no fees but are responsible for their own maintenance.

The University of Kentucky course, to be held at Lexington, will be in Materials, Tests, and Inspection, will start June 16 and last two weeks, and provide training in industrial testing and in chemical analysis.

The Speed Scientific School class will be in Explosives, starts June 16 and lasts six weeks, and will provide training in the chemistry of explosives.

Applicants for the course at Lexington must be high school graduates; one year of college chemistry is required those who wish to enter the University of Louisville course.

Both classes will have a limited enrollment; those who wish to apply should do so immediately to Professor D. V. Terrell, University of Kentucky, or Professor J. M. Houchens, University of Louisville.

Army Eases Flying Requirements

Broadening of the Army's Flying Cadet educational policy to open pilot scholarships to youths heretofore ineligible without examination, was announced today at Fifth Corps Area Headquarters, Fort Hayes, Columbus, O.

The new policy permits candidates to substitute college credits for any examination subject, reduces the number of required subjects from nine to five and provides two optional ones.

College undergraduates lacking two full years of credit heretofore were required to take the full examination covering subjects taught in most high schools; now they may be exempt if their college subjects cover those prescribed.

The changes will become effective with examinations scheduled August 12, 13 and 14 in larger cities of Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Indiana.

The new examination drops geography, adds inorganic chemistry and modern languages and relegates to an optional status the English composition and grammar, arithmetic, algebra to include quadratics, plane geometry and plane trigonometry. Examinees may choose two optional subjects from United States history, general history, elementary physics, inorganic chemistry, any modern language except English.

Candidates must first make formal application as Flying Cadets and must pass the prescribed physical examination. Applications may be made at Army recruiting offices by male American citizens at least 20 years old and not yet 27.

Three Men Escape From County Jail

Sunday afternoon three inmates of the County Jail sawed through the bars on their cell and escaped. The three men were Isaac Johnson, Cecil Webb and Arthur Bryant. Johnson and Webb had been sentenced to nine years in the State penitentiary for the armed robbery of Virgil Phillips and the case is now pending before the Court of Appeals. Bryant is in jail for house-breaking.

According to Bryant, Webb and Johnson forced him to accompany them and when an opportunity presented itself he made his escape and returned to the jail. No trace of the whereabouts of the two jailbreakers has been discovered.

High School Grads May Become Pilots

High school graduates who are ambitious to become pilots in the United States Army Air Corps have their opportunity, the War Department has announced. Even if their educational qualifications do not admit of their becoming commissioned officers, they still may fly Army airplanes and may look forward to careers as pilots.

All they need do is enlist for such training, which will start as soon after July 1 as administrative details can be arranged. They will be taught to fly, they will be paid while learning, and after they have qualified their future will be assured.

All this is made possible by a bill which has just passed Congress and which the President has just signed. It authorizes the Secretary of War to detail enlisted men in the Army for training and instruction as aviation students, in their respective grades.

When they have won their wings, they will fly as non-commissioned officers. And these enlisted aviation students will be issued $10,000 in Government life insurance, the premium to be paid by the Government while they are being trained, and by themselves afterwards.

Eventually 20 per cent of the Army Air Corps pilot strength may be made up of men taken from the ranks to become non-commissioned officers. While all of the enlisted pilots of selecting, training and using the enlisted pilots have not been worked out, these are some of the probabilities.

Applicants between the ages of 19 and 22 years, inclusive, will be given preference. The physical standard required of all student pilots will be lowered; it will be the same as that for flying cadets.

Graduates of accredited secondary schools who have credits for at least 1 1/2 units of mathematics will be accepted for training without examination.

A plan is being considered whereby, on completion of training as a student pilot, the high school graduate would be appointed as a Flight Sergeant, 3rd Class, ranking as a Sergeant in the Army with pay of $108 a month, while on flight duty.

After completing a three-year enlistment, he would be appointed Flight Sergeant, 2nd Class, ranking as a Technical Sergeant in the Army. Upon his third three-year enlistment, he would be promoted to Flight Sergeant, 1st Class, and rank as a Master Sergeant, with pay of $207.90.

After nine years of service, Flight Sergeants, 1st Class, would be eligible to participate in a competitive examination for appointment as Warrant Officers, Junior Grade.

All enlisted pilots will be entitled to clothing, subsistence and rental allowances normal for their grade in the Army. Air Corps officers made it plain that high school graduates who had hoped to become pilots but had been disappointed in the more stringent educational requirements might now visit their nearest recruiting office with advance assurance that there was a need for them and a place for them as pilots in the Army.

U. S. Marines Need Men Badly

At the present United States Marine Corps is undergoing a large expansion program.

Men are now being enlisted in the regular or reserve Reserves will be placed on active duty immediately for the period of the emergency with the same privileges such as promotion, travel, pay, and education as a regular.

Men between the ages of 21 and 30 years who have registered for the draft may be accepted for enlistment at any time prior to their being ordered to report to their draft board for induction into the service. Requirements have recently been modified so that young men who have passed their 17th birthday are now being accepted, for enlistment. Requirements in general are—must be over 17 but under 30 years of age, height 5 feet 4 inches to 6 feet 2 inches; single, with no dependents, must have completed 8th grade in school, in good physical condition, and be able to furnish good references as to character. Men under 21 years of age must have their parents consent.

Recruits will be granted ten days furlough shortly after completing their training at Paris Island, S. C. This training will be approximately two months.

For further information write or call in person at the U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Station, 432 Post Office Building, Lexington, Ky.

Forest Fire Danger Feared Temporary

Frankfort, Ky.—Sending of elemental forest fire fighting instructions to every county judge, sheriff, and sportsmen's club in the State was announced today by State Forester K. G. McConnell. Fear that continued drought might bring a repetition of the destructive summer forest fires experienced in 1936, and the fact that officials of one county had already requested aid, prompted preparation of the instructions.

"Information from the U. S. Weather Bureau indicates that the rains received during the past few days may bring only temporary relief from the fire," stated McConnell. Kentucky still has a rain deficiency of from seven to ten inches since January first. He added "Even if no more fires occur during the summer we know that the first frost will bring the fall fire season, and the time to begin preparations is now."

Forest and grass fires not only endanger farms, homes and industrial improvements, but they destroy natural resources vital to the National Defense and the welfare of the Commonwealth.

In a letter which accompanied the instruction the Division of Forestry offered to counties desiring it additional assistance within the limits of its finances. Such assistance would be more detailed instructions on fire control, information regarding forest fire fighting equipment, fire prevention posters for posting hazardous areas, etc.

The Division of Forestry's annual appropriation from the State is only $1,000. This amount, augmented by funds from private timberland owners and from the Federal Government under the terms of the Clarke-McNary Law, barely provides fire protection for 1,000,000 acres in 14 counties. These are Whitley, Bell, Knox, Leslie, Harlan, Letcher, Pike, Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Lawrence, Lyon and Trigg. All the other counties, which contain more than 7,000,000 acres of privately owned timberland, must rely upon their own resources of man-power and equipment.

Brodhead Adopts Daylight Saving

The Town Board of Brodhead at their regular meeting last week voted to go daylight saving time to be in effect starting Sunday, June 10. The step was taken, due to the fact that all surrounding cities are now on the new time, and as a convenience to them and as a convenience to those who do business in these towns.

Former Resident Receives Promotion

The following article taken from the June 5 issue of the Maysville Public Ledger concerns Austin Durham of that place, who was born and reared in Mt. Vernon. His wife, who was formerly Miss Joyce Price, is also a former Mt. Vernon resident. Both have many friends here who will be glad to learn of Mr. Durham's promotion to the principalship at Brooksville. The write-up follows:

"Austin S. Durham, head of the science department of Maysville High School for the past three years, was elected principal of the Brooksville elementary and high schools at a special meeting Wednesday night of the Bracken County Board of Education. He will succeed Garrett S. Harrod, who recently was named superintendent of the Augusta schools, succeeding C. E. Wood.

News that Mr. Durham is soon to leave Maysville will occasion sincere regret here since he is recognized as an outstanding school man whose enviable record speaks for himself.

Although he appeared before the Bracken county board, Mr. Durham was not advised of his election until Thursday morning. He immediately tendered his resignation to members of the Maysville Board of Education who accepted it with regret. Mr. Durham said he and his wife and son, Freddy, 5, will go to Brooksville to take up their residence within the next few weeks. His election was for one year.

It was not disclosed what Mr. Durham's salary will be but it is known that it will be a substantial increase over his present salary. There are approximately 700 pupils in the Brooksville schools with Brooksville High School being larger than Maysville High School.

Mr. Durham, who will be 31 years old Sunday June 8, came to Maysville in the fall of 1938, and has made an outstanding record as head of the science department of Maysville High School. Mark Godman, state high school inspector, who examined a number of Mr. Durham's pupils in physics during the school term just closed, they were superior to any he had examined.

Last April at the eighth annual meeting of the Kentucky Junior Academy of Science, held at Danville, Mr. Durham's students won more honors in the state contests than any other school in the state. One of them—Miss Margaret Downing—was president of the academy during the past year. And Mr. Durham deservedly was one of the three high school science instructors just physics during the school term just closed, they were superior to any he had examined.

Mr. Durham also directed the visual education program during his three years here, and this department also was outstanding, gaining national recognition.

Mr. Durham is a director of the Division of Education of the National Education Association. He is vice president of the Kentucky Visual Education Society and also is vice president of the Kentucky Association of Chemistry Teachers. He is a member of the board of the Maysville Christian Church.

Mr. Durham was born at Mt. Vernon, in Rockcastle county, and graduated from Mt. Vernon High School. He obtained his A. B. degree from Transylvania College in 1931. After entering the University of Kentucky in the fall of that year, to begin work on his M. A. degree, he was elected head of the science department of the Harrodsburg High School the following year which position he held for five years before coming to Maysville. He obtained his Master of Arts degree from the University in 1938.

Mr. Durham's wife, who formerly was Miss Joyce Price, also is a native of Mt. Vernon and she and her husband graduated in the same class from Mt. Vernon High School. Before her marriage and for a short time afterward she taught the second grade in the Mt. Vernon and Harrodsburg schools.

Mountain Series On Mutual Network

All of the wealth, tradition and color of the Kentucky mountains and its people will be revealed in a new series of weekly thirty-minute broadcasts over the coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting System, to be presented in Saturdays, 1:00 to 1:30 p. m. CDSY starting, June 7.

The series, entitled "From the Kentucky Mountains," will be a presentation of the University of Kentucky radio studios in Lexington, which will originate the program through Mutual's Lexington affiliate, WLAP.

Combating the more spectacular impressions of the Kentucky hills, which have been pictured — as a rendezvous of moonshiners, snake-worshippers, child marriages and feuds, the "From the Kentucky Mountains" series will picture this area as it really is. Performances will be made of the traditional ballads, many of them of direct Scotch, Irish, Welsh and English origin; dramatizations will be produced of the typical writings of mountain authors; and the other numerous contributions of the southern Appalachian area to the culture of our country as a whole, will be illustrated.

Interesting mountain people will be invited to participate and talk to the "outside world." The series will be directed by Ben Russak, formerly of New York City, who has produced the "Story Behind the Ballad" series and other University of Kentucky network shows.

The Doctors

By W. E. McWilliams, A. M., M. D. Nowadays there's little meaning for a person to be gleaming. When a man attaches "doctor" to his name—

He may be a chiropractor.

Or a painless tooth extractor—

Yet he's honored with the title just the same.

Or perhaps he is a preacher, Or a lawyer or a teacher, Or an expert who cures chickens of the pips.

He may keep a home for rummies, Or massage fat people's tummies, Or specialize in ailments of the hip.

Everybody is a "doctor."

From the backwoods herb concocter To the man who takes the bunion from your toes, From the frowning dietitian To the snappy electrician Who shocks you loose from all the body's woes.

If he does not give good service You can sue for what his worth is, You can law him till the cows come home at night—

But he'll fight the case and cheat you, He'll grill you and he'll beat you, Till the Judge and Jury both will swear he's right.

So there's very little meaning For the sufferer to be gleaming, When a man attaches "doctor" to his name—

He may pound you, he may starve you, He may cut your hair or carve you But you have to call him "doctor" all the same.

Remember this Sunday is Father's Day. We have set our goal for 200 in attendance for the Bible School hour. So please come and bring your Father. Help us to reach that goal. Even if you can't bring your Father, Don't you think he would be happy to know that you were in Sunday School. So please come.

We do not have to go to the university to prove the existence of God from design. We do not have to dig down into the bowels of the earth, or go up to the stars for proof of divine existence. He is not far from us. As Paul says, "In Him we move and have our being," and as Tennyson says, "Closest is He than breathing," and nearer than hands and feet." God is here. There is no escaping Him. Man is under moral law as well as physical, and if he violates the one code or the other, the penalty will in each case be inflicted. I put my hand in the fire and fell physical pain; that is proof that I have a physical system. I perform a bad action and feel the sting of conscience and the pang of regret; that is equally proof that I have a moral nature. Who made the act?—I did. Who made the pain?—Someone not myself, whom I call God.

"Little Miss Ohio, 1941" is Fifth Corps Area Army Flying Cadet June Mascot

— "Let's go! U. S. A. Keep 'Em Flying," lisps Linda Lee Peck, six-year-old mascot of the Fifth Corps Area's June Flying Cadet class, and recent champion "Little Miss Ohio, 1941" in a state-wide contest. Linda is shown here receiving a toy airplane from Colonel E. P. Pierson, Corps Area recruiting officer who is responsible for procurement of 245 future Army pilots each month from

Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia. Blue-eyed Linda Lee with the dark brown curls and a front tooth missing, is already contracted for a movie screen test this summer. Game & Fish News

Frankfort, Kentucky

By James J. Gilpin

Frankfort Ky. June—Ready for distribution today, a half-million copies of the most elaborate and inclusive pamphlet depicting Kentucky's pictorial and historical charm for tourists will be made available to hotels, automobile clubs and chambers of commerce of the nation, as well as being distributed throughout this state. According to S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, this booklet should be of great value and interest to those persons interested in hunting and fishing and the outdoor sports.

In presenting the pamphlet, Kentucky takes its place with other states in the union which have realized the value of selling to prospective tourists through this medium of all the attractions with which such states are endowed.

To Paul Brannon, informational representative of the Department of State, Hagerstown, Md., credit for preparation of the highly entertaining and informative booklet whose preparation and publication was authorized by State Highway Commissioner J. Lyter Donaldson, is given, with myriad photographs of the state's points of interest and things which would be attractive to tourists, together with informative running comment on the places and things mentioned, has turned out an altogether outstanding bit of work.

The cover and back of the pamphlet are in color, with the front, or title page, bearing the inscription, "Kentucky Highways—The Blue-grass State" showing a river scene, in color, of the Ohio at Warsaw, Ky.

The back, also in brilliant color, shows a reproduction of a painting of a pair of Kentucky cardinals, done by James J. Audubon.

The comprehensive road map, to be made in color and printed on cellulose material which makes it readily adaptable to frequent use and folding without its wearing out. These booklets may be had by writing to Kentucky Highway Dept., Frankfort, Ky., to the Division of Publicity, Frankfort.

Frankfort, Ky. June—Kentucky anglers took to the streams and public waters of the state Sunday, June 9 by the countless thousands and tens of thousands of anglers, in quest of fishing water in the state at the present time, was crowded with thousands of men, women and children who used every available craft to get them to every desirable spot on the lake.

Limit catches of large mouth black bass were reported from practically every camp and some of the larger docks reported several creek limits.

The fishermen had a wider variety of fishes to lure to the hook this opening day than in the past as the white bass and bream were giving the black bass some competition for the baits of the anglers. Newlights were not hitting but white perch and catfish were taken by the still fishermen.

For the most part of the hot weather, drouth conditions and slow-moving waters held down the fishermen's luck in other waters of the state.

Showers fell intermittently over most of the state but these were followed by hot bursts of heat from a bright-shinning sun and streams were not freshened up enough to make the fish do any striking. Everywhere it is reported that the smaller streams are practically dry and the large rivers are teeming with city sewage and other pollution which would ordinarily be cleaned out by heavy spring rains but that has not happened this spring so fish and fishing must suffer the results.

The prong-horned antelope is not a true antelope. Unlike the true antelope, the pronghorn has branched horns and sheds the horn sheath.

American's harvest of stream trout from the jumbo halibut, taken by hook in the Northern Pacific, to the periwinkle, a little shellfish picked by hand off the rocks of the New England coast.

LeSieur Miller of Breckinridge county received $39.90 for a hog which weighed almost 500 pounds.

Poor Diet Brings Night Blindness

In many cases, night flyers in the RAF have been found to suffer from "night blindness." This is due to lack of vitamin A in the diet. Probably a certain percentage of Americans also have night-blindness, but by proper diet it can be largely overcome, suggests Dr. Statie Erikson, chairman of the Kentucky Nutrition Committee for national defense.

The British are reported to be feeding their flyers carrots to overcome the blindness. Actually vitamin A is present in many foods; no Kentuckian need have a deficiency, the diet expert reports.

For instance, vitamin A may be obtained from the following foods: nearly all green, leafy vegetables such as spinach, greens, and others; most yellow vegetables; butter; whole milk; liver; egg yolk; cream; yellow fruits.

In fact, during the summer everyone who has a well-rounded diet is likely to get lots of the A vitamin, especially if he likes greens and has them daily. They can be obtained on most Kentucky farms literally without cost. Incidentally, don't discard the "pot liquor," for most of the vitamins go into it. People anxious to prepare for national defense, soon will discard any prejudice they may have against the liquor from greens, as it can be one of the best food products giving health and strength—and a strong people are vitally important now.

The spray to control elm-leaf beetles is made of 3 pounds of lead arsenate, one pint of fish oil and 50 gallons of water. One good application, made at the right time, will control the pest. The leaves must be thoroughly covered.

Mrs. Earl Mullins is reported on a recent visit to the "Helen Robins" won a 2-1/2-H-style show in Adair county wearing a dress made of fertilizer sacks.

4-H's Produce Food For Defense

Kentucky's 4-H club boys and girls are in the front lines of producing food for defense, according to J. W. Whitehouse, state club leader. Reports are not complete for this season, but last year 3,854 club members were enrolled in the poultry project, and 3,510 in the swine project. More than 4,000 hogs were sold by club members last year.

Mr. Whitehouse points out that by feeding to heavier weights this year, in response to the government's call for more food, swine club members will produce an additional 100,000 pounds of pork.

Likewise, poultry club members, by raising 10 more chicks each, will produce nearly 40,000 more chickens, even if enrollment is no larger than it was last year.

Nothing in recent years has caused more comment than daylight saving time, which the city of Mt. Vernon went on officially Saturday at midnight, June 10.

As you go down the street, people stop and ask the time, and whatever time you have, they make some reply such as, "Oh, I see you are daylight saving," or "Is that old or new time?"

Some refuse to change, and of course this will cause some confusion. We understand the Bank of Mt. Vernon will operate on old time, at least temporarily.

The main purpose of the Town Board changing to daylight time is the fact that ALL cities surrounding Mt. Vernon had changed to new time.

Although the new time will seem strange for several weeks, like all other laws, we will soon forget that we moved the clock up one hour.

It has been almost two years since this city has had a Co-operative Day. That was the Big Cow Day which drew a large crowd to town, and the Signal went $12.00 in the red because of a lack of co-operation.

Towns the size of ours need some kind of an incentive to draw people to town. If a farmer has a car it is not much further to Richmond of Somerset than here, and both these towns naturally present more to the shopper.

Most farmers prefer to come to Mt. Vernon, Brodhead or Livingston because they know the people they trade with, and can visit with other people they know. In fact, that is the main reason why the smaller towns can still get trade if they would only PUSH.

Some merchants chafe because they see people going to larger towns to shop, but if they were not in business, the chances are heavy would be to come themselves.

Many of the dollars could be rung up in the cash registers of our local merchants if they could only see the light.

Last year the grocery stores of our three largest towns spent the sum and total of $15.00 for advertising in the Signal. One merchant at Wildie spent more than all the others combined in advertising his merchandise. This man has an excellent business and he intends to keep it so.

Some day another grocery store will open with a proprietor that believes in advertising and who knows that advertising does pay. When that day comes, the stores who don't advertise now, and who believe that advertising is a waste of money will be hurt.

Several farmers have asked us recently, "Why Don't Mt. Vernon Have Something Big?" I replied that the merchants had been talking on having something soon, but plans had not been worked out.

The fact of the matter is that the ten men who always help on any kind of a community project are sick and tired of finding their day when every merchant in town prospers by him being the "sucker." A recent survey showed over forty business men who were helped when a large crowd came to town. If these forty would ALL help, Mt. Vernon could have one of the biggest crowds in her history and everyone would prosper.

THINK THIS OVER BUSINESS MEN—More and more farmers, who could and would trade with you are looking elsewhere to do their business. Soon they will get in the habit of going to these towns when they want something. Unless steps are taken AT ONCE to bring this trade back, five years from now, many of our stores will be closed for lack of trade. The trend is for more and better roads, and better roads means an outlet to another bigger and better town.

To those who do not believe that farmers are trading in Somerset, Danville and Richmond, it would be an eye-opener for them to inquire with merchants in these towns, whether they get any business from Rockcastle county. Only recently we were talking with a clothing man in Richmond, and we asked him the above question, he laughed and said that only an hour ago he had outfitted a family from close by Wildie and the bill had amounted to $42.80. He showed the bill of sale and the man's name.

Now is the time to act, when many farmers still do their buying in Rockcastle county. Let's don't wake up five years from now, and find our best customers have migrated for greener pastures.

Baptist Church

By Rev. W. C. Younce

The Woman's Missionary Union of Rockcastle Association held its quarterly meeting at the Fairview Church on Wednesday of last week from 10:00 a. m. to 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Wash Helton, Superintendent, presided. Miss Brown, W. M. U. Field Worker for this region, was the principal speaker. Besides Fairview Brodhead, Conway and Mt. Vernon societies were represented. We wish that more of our women could be present for the splendid program and fellowship. Dinner was served by the women of Fairview and Conway Churches.

In behalf of the Conway Baptist Church, we wish to announce the opening of their Vacation Bible School Monday, June 10th. It will be conducted by Miss Mary Newman, who is working in our Association under the auspices of the Sunday School Board. She will close school at Poplar Grove Church on Friday night of this week and come to Conway Saturday. Further announcements will be made by Pastor Conroy Sunday morning. We are glad to have the children of Poplar Grove as well pleased with the work of Miss Newman. Some fine reports have come to us already. We feel sure that the people at Conway will appreciate equally as much.

A full report of the Vacation Bible School which is, being held at Poplar Grove will be made next week. We urge all the people in their community who are interested in this work to attend the Commencement Exercises Friday night.

Our Vacation Bible School is in progress. The average attendance last week was 93, which we think is very good. Our present enrollment is 117. We are glad to say that interest and attendance are holding up well, in view of the rain which we are having this week. The public is cordially invited to attend the commencement exercises Friday night, 7:30 o'clock, Central Standard Time. We are planning to have a picnic for the children Friday afternoon if the weather permits.

Saturday, June 14th, 2:00 p. m. Executive Board Meeting at the church.

Sunday Services
The matter of Daylight Saving Time was discussed last Sunday morning at the close of the Sunday School period. It was decided by vote of the majority to continue to use the Central Standard Time. We realize that some will be confused. Nevertheless we must do our best to co-operate in our church work under present conditions.

Let every Christian remember that Satan is trying to hinder the church in its great work. Many devils are employed. We need to be on our guard as never before. One person who is completely controlled by the Satan can do much in promoting his interest. When we think of the intolerance, the jealousy, the malice, the spite which have been displayed in the lives of Christian people we are made to

We are not in the habit of writing what is familiarly known as out and out editorials, but we feel that the people of this county must realize that when they spend their money out of the county, they are only hurting themselves. Some make their living here and spend the profits in Lexington and other places. Most stores in the county can get you any article you need, and they really appreciate your business. In fact they feel more inclined to go out of their way to do you a favor.

The Signal is the only newspaper in Rockcastle county, and our policy is to publish a paper that will tend to make a better county. Our subscribers and advertisers make the paper possible. Some of our citizens only come around when they want a favor. These people read their neighbors paper, and advertise once or twice a year. They are a part of the community, but are living off the efforts of those who really have the interests of the county at heart.

This year is election year, and some of the candidates who live in the county are asking the people for office, and getting their printing done elsewhere. These gentlemen intend to get elected, and they are thrilled when they see their name in the headlines proclaiming their election. After they are in office they expect the newspaper to give them a boost, whenever they accomplish some worthwhile public service. Strange as it may seem, several of our present officers were not subscribers until election time rolled around.

The majority of those running in the present primary are giving the Signal all their printing. We feel that the citizens of the county want these men to patronize home industry. The public official who has his printing done in Chicago or New York, certainly is not thinking about the future of his home county. True, he might save himself a dollar or two, but the savings he makes are at the expense of local people.

We intend for the benefit of the men who have given us their business to run a list of those who have given us all their work. If they are elected we feel that they will work for the best interests of the county, and that is the type of men that make good public officials.

To publish a good newspaper requires lots of money. If support is lacking The Signal might have to curtail news by making a smaller paper.

Our friends are legion throughout the county and we know the majority really want a good newspaper. A booster for The Signal is a booster for Rockcastle county.

Ruth and Dorothy Smith spent Sunday with Nellie Singleton of Crooked Creek.

We have had some good rains in this past week which was very much needed. Gladys Gilliam visited her sister, Nellie King Sunday afternoon.

Aubrey Russell, Pastor

Our Vacation Bible school is moving along nicely except for the fact that there are quite a few new pupils that should be enrolled. For the mornings of Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday we have had an average of 75. This number would have been greater had it not been for the showers that fell on or about opening time. We were so thankful of the rain however that it quickened our spirits and we were glad to have the smaller group and talk at the same time. Now if there be anyone who has been missing Bible school it is time you get ready and come on. There will be just one more week and it is possible for those who haven't enrolled to enjoy the closing week together with the picnic on the closing day and the commencement exercises on the closing night. The Bible school is also open to any adult that might wish to come either to help us or to observe the work we are doing.

We are anxious to have a Young People's organization in the Church. We have some fine young folks home from college now and it would be an excellent time to plan for our summer program. Mrs. Miller, teacher of the Young People's Class, and the Pastor together with some helpers are planning a get-together for the Young People. The meeting will be on Friday night of June 20, at the church.

Last Sunday we were some what bewildered by the many questions as to what time we were going to start Sunday School and the other meetings of the church. As a result of the misunderstanding our attendance was small and starting time late. The Congregation however voted to adopt Daylight Saving time for all of its meetings. So there need be none late or too early for Sunday School this Sunday. Our Sunday School will open at 10:00 a. m. S. T. The Pastor's topic for the message of the Morning will be "A CHOSEN GENERATION".

Public Worship—11:00 a. m. Sermon—"Kiss the Sabbath Day Holy," the third message on "Making Christianity a Practical Thing in our Every Day Living." People would get more from the preaching service if they would always regard the pastor as being the Servant of Jesus Christ, and their friend, whose business it is to please God rather than man. He does not ask people to agree with his preaching. He insists that "the Word be received with all readiness of mind," and then searched in case of doubt.

Training Union—6:30 p. m. Mrs. Fred Baker, Director. Theme for the month: "Walking in the light of Christ's Teachings." Present last Sunday, 80.

Public Worship—7:30 p. m. Sermon—"The Charities of God." Services Next Week Monday—9:00 a. m. Prayer for our Nation and the World.

Wednesday—7:30 p. m. Regular Prayer Service. Subject: "Habakkuk's Prayer."

Thursday—The Friendship Class Will hold an All-Day Meeting at the church.

Good Manners— True Or False

In a 4-H club circular of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics, boys and girls are asked to check as true or false the following:

- It is good manners to chew gum in public.
- A boy should rise when he is introduced to a girl.
- A girl should stand when an elderly woman enters the room.
- Lack of consideration for others is bad manners.
- It is permissible to whisper when someone is talking.
- A whole slice of bread is buttered at one time.
- The knife and fork are placed across the plate when the meal is finished.
- The spoon is dipped toward you when eating soup.
- Attracting attention by loud talking or laughing is to be desired.
- Good manners is largely consideration for others.

Immediately after picking is over, cultivation of the strawberry patch should start again. The row should be narrowed to about 8 inches, and given a side dressing of sulfate of ammonia or nitrate of soda at the rate of about 20 pounds to a tenth of an acre or 50 pounds for a quarter of an acre. This is about a pound to 50 feet of row.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for the many kindnesses and services shown in the sickness and death of our dear mother and wife, especially those who sent lovely flowers.

Civilian Use Of Power Will Have To Be Reduced In Some Areas

The Office of Production Management on June 5, disclaiming any opinion that no shortage was to be expected in electric power, stated that a program was being developed to provide the additional power needed for defense industries, and that curtailment of civilian use would be necessary in certain areas if enough power is to be ready in time. The statement follows:

The press reported that C. W. Kellogg, an OPM consultant, in a speech at Buffalo on June 3, expressed the opinion that no shortage was to be expected in electric power.

This view could only have been expressed by Mr. Kellogg in his individual capacity, it does not represent the position of the OPM. The Office of Production Management is not in agreement with the views on this subject which the press has ascribed to Mr. Kellogg. Developing A Program of the OPM have been actively engaged with other agencies of the Government in developing a program to provide the additional power needed for the expanding defense requirements, particularly in the fields of aluminum and magnesium production. It is clearly evident that without civilian curtailment in important areas, sufficient power will not be available in time to produce the supplies of aluminum and magnesium demanded by the growing aircraft and lend-lease program. All possible efforts are being made to expedite completion of the necessary hydroelectric and steam projects to meet the shortages that are known to be imminent.

On the contrary, representatives

10,000,000 More Kilowatts To Be Needed, FPC Chief Estimates

There has been a tendency to underestimate the requirements in the way of power for defense production. Chairman Leland Olds, of the Federal Power Commission, stated June 5, after a conference with utility executives and Government officials in New York. "It has been estimated," his statement continued, "that the expanded defense program will put from 5,000,000 to 8,000,000 persons to work and consume about 2 kilowatts of power a worker. So far defense requirements we will require upward of 10,000,000 kilowatts of new capacity within the next few years."

The New York conference was the second of six scheduled by Mr. Olds throughout the Nation of canvass the power situation and to discuss steps toward assuring an adequate supply of power for defense in the immediate future and over the next two or three years. The first meeting was held June 4, in Atlanta. Others were to be in Chicago, June 6; San Francisco, June 9; Portland, Oreg., June 12; and Denver, June 13.

As a result of a similar conference held May 19 in the Commission's offices, the EPC reported, a power shortage loomed for essential defense industries in the Southeast has been partially met by the formation of a power pool among utilities in 17 States.

Ikkes On Power

Excerpts from Mr. Ikkes' June 5 press conference: Mr. Ikkes, I think there is sufficient justification for daylight savings. There are several arguments in favor of it, but just now sufficient justification is that we haven't got as much power as we need. Q. This would not be daylight saving time, just for summer—would be for the full year—would it not? A. Well, that depends again on the prospect of adding to our power and resources. We won't get our needs for power in two or three years.

Q. Where does OPM want these additional kilowatts? A. Anywhere they can bring it in. You see, take aluminum for instance. New plants have to be built and they will locate themselves where power is available.

Q. Do they want you to bring in an additional million kilowatts on Federal electric projects? A. That's right.

Safetygrams

America is now vacation bound. For the next few months, thousands upon thousands of automobiles will cross the country in all directions. Here are a few tips to follow on your trip:
(1) Watch the road, watch the other fellow; but chiefly watch yourself.

- (2) It's a lot better to take a little time being careful than to spend a lot of time being sorry.
 - (3) Signal what you are going to do before you do it.
 - (4) Stay on your side of the road.
 - (5) Don't trust the other fellow; check on yourself first.
 - (6) Your pleasure trip has no right to promote the other fellow's funeral trip.
- It's Smart to Drive Carefully!

Examination of 508 children of pre-school age in welfare agencies in Washington, D. C., revealed that 10 per cent had serious defects in vision. When such defects were corrected with glasses there was marked improvement in behavior and attitudes.

4-H JUNIOR WEEK
The Assistant Agent, Kermit Mills, and a 4-H delegation consisting of Byron Robbins and Johnny Allen, Brodhead; Kenneth and Wayne Stewart, Wilde and Maurice Coyte, Silver Creek met Monday morning, June 9 to attend Junior Week at the University of Kentucky where more than 4,000 club members, leaders and agents will spend this week. A program for special study and instruction has been arranged. The attendance is limited at Junior Week due to the lack of room at the University. Each county can only take five boys and five girls. Rockcastle and Southern Madison are always represented.

HAY SHORTAGE
Dry weather has cut our hay crop. Farmers who have sufficient hay to supply their hay needs should be planning to sow Soybeans and Cowpeas to make up for the hay shortage. Now is the time to arrange to seed Soybeans and Cowpeas for best results. It may be a little late for Soybeans but the best season for Cowpeas, Virginia Broad and Haberland Soybeans, are good varieties to seed for hay. Use about 15 to 20 bushels per acre. Whippoorwill Cowpeas are recommended for hay. The land need not be plowed but disked for peas and beans. The beans or peas may be sowed or disked in or they may be seeded after the disk and harrowed in. In any case a dragger or roller should be used to give proper germination and a better start in the growth. It's a pretty good practice to seed a little come or milk with Cowpeas in order to hold the Cowpeas up and cause them to cure out better. In fact, come or milk and Cowpeas combined make a splendid feed. Soybeans should be seeded alone.

SHEEP RAISERS
Thirty some odd sheep raisers of Rockcastle county met in the Court House last Saturday and discussed, for the third time, the possibility of organizing a Sheep Protective Association. There was a special committee appointed to draft by-laws which will be presented to the next meeting to be held on Saturday, June 21, in the Court House in Mt. Vernon at 1:30 p. m. All farmers who would like to have their sheep protected from dogs are invited to attend the meeting June 21, and let it be known to the Protective Association.

The investigating committee will continue it's work this week in locating some pure bred registered Southdown bucks. The committee will go to Clark, Bourbon and Scott counties. It is hoped that arrangements can be made to have these Southdown Bucks on exhibit at Mt. Vernon June 21. Any farmer desiring to purchase a pure Buck or some other registered blackface ewes should get in touch with the County Agent or Clyde Linville who is chairman of the investigating committee. If bucks and ewes are desired they will have to be purchased soon. Both will be scarce and the price will probably grow higher the longer we wait.

FOODS IN A DRY YEAR
Should the Summer continue dry, will you have adequate hay? Plan now to save all hay that is available and protect it from the weather. If an emergency hay crop is needed, seed it on adapted land in time for a mature crop. Avoid interrupting the regular cropping system by selecting places where grass has failed or places which can be easily fenced off that need plowing early. Plan to make full use of folder, sorghum and other roughage.

Should there be a shortage of pasture, hay and grain, can you maintain your present livestock anyway? Plan now to get winter cover crops seeded early to supplement harvested feeds with fall and winter pasture. If a place is available, without excessive cost, seed an emergency pasture crop such as Sudan grass. This might be a way to avoid the necessity of selling of some livestock due to feed shortage. Great economy may also be gained through the fact that permanent or rotation pastures provide more grazing if the livestock pastures are turned off each field for a week or more while pasturing another one, rather than remaining constantly on a large boundary.

It is human feed prices, especially, will you be able to have an adequate family diet from the farm food supply? Make the garden space larger, fertilize it well, keep weeds out and plant late crops where early crops matured. Can and preserve more food than you expect to use next winter in view of a probable need, greater next year if the labor supply should be reduced by war and defense activities.

If any of these emergencies exist, good farm management requires quick action, careful thinking and diligent planning. Greater farm incomes and more savings result from planning the farm business continuously. When changes are necessary in one's plans they should be made on the basis that the cost of the change will be less than the failure to make such changes of plans.

The Garden

By John S. Gardner, Kentucky College of Agriculture

WINTER POTATOES
Winter potato planting time extends from June 15 to August 1, depending on the variety. The dry weather may have made some gardeners wish they had begun preparing the soil weeks ago. However, thoroughness and persistence may still win the advantage back for them.

The problem is one of making full use of soil moisture reserves, the deep-lying moisture. To this end, gardeners will continue to disk and drag their broiler ground, to keep down all weeds and to present a dusty soil surface, dust being an "insulator," through which moisture is lost slowly. Also, a finely broken surface absorbs even lighter showers more readily.

Those who have put off ground-breaking until now may be faced with the difficulty whether it can be done at all, or whether a suitable seed bed can be made of cloddy breaking. Procedure in such a situation is to disk the land to a 3-inch stub, then wait 10 days for moisture to rise, to make the soil crumbly enough to break and to transform into a seed bed.
