Livingston P. T. A. Met Monday

The Livingston Parent Teacher Association met Monday evening Oct. 13. Mrs. Brewer acted as President. Motions were made and carried for the P. T. A. to sponsor a Box Supper and Hippocrene Carnival to obtain funds for installing a water system in the school. An interesting discussion was given by Mrs. Rankin on "Democracy in the home."

Supt. Walter Chestnut explained the proposed amendment to the constitution of Kentucky whereby an equalization fund could be set aside from the general fund for the poorer school districts of the state. Mr. Chestnut also gave interesting facts and figures on how the amendment would benefit Rockcastle and adjoining counties. Dr. R. G. Webb stressed the importance of the amendment to the voters of Rockcastle and other mountain counties in the coming November election. A suggestion was made by Miss Lela J. Harris and carried unanimously for the Livingston P. T. A. to go on record endorsing the amendment.

War

By Dr. R. G. Webb

The events of the past week has influenced me to talk about that subject none of us like—WAR. But whether we like it or not we are now faced with a condition more serious than a year ago, Russia is staggering under the mighty war machine of Hitler and we and England say go to it Joe we are with you, we will furnish you the rocks and you do the fighting! We are not ready to throw in any men to help you, we have to play politics and listen to Lindbergs, Wheelers and others of their kind while Rome burns. I am with our leaders—no hundred percent but I have come to the conclusion that we have to make ourselves heard in taking care of our own country. Somebody said now that this country needed most was a good five cent cigar, I do not agree I think what this country of ours needs most right now is another Teddy Roosevelt, a man of action and not just a good radio voice. Perhaps some of you will say Doctor why don't you talk to us about the weather and leave off the war, our leaders politicians, knucklers, etc. Well in that case I will just have to refer you to the Federal Bureau to get the weather. You know we are getting do depend on the Federal Bureau for almost everything. But to be serious, here we are enjoying ourselves speaking our minds without thought of restraint, going where we please, doing whatever we like, voting for whoever we prefer, going to any church we prefer, our money still worth what it says on its face, our property secure, our family and friends safe from harm. What more can any man desire?

This country has been our good fortune to inherit, not through any merit of ours, but by our forefathers with their blood, their lives and their treasure; it is pitiful to read and think about the condition this world is in right now—people peacable people—are being slaughtered in vast numbers, their homes destroyed, their means of livelihood destroyed before their eyes, their women and children murdered in cold blood, just because a little nervous abnormal man has delusions that he and his people are the heirs of the world and the chosen race to rule.

Where do we stand on this? Do we accept that, No, our President said in his fourth of July speech that we must be prepared, if necessary, to sacrifice our lives—well it begins to look like it is going to take that before this Austrian Paperhanger is stopped. I hold no brief for Russia, I do not like their form of government, their religion, and above all things did not like their partnership in crime with Hitler, yes they helped during that partnership to wipe the Poles off the map. Did that save them? No, now Russia is fighting our battles we should help her with men as well as materiel. If an infidel is after a mad dog trying to kill it, should we stand back and say we can't, do nothing, of course not we would take the infidel every time instead of the mad dog. Before I close I want to say something about Charles Augustus Lindbergh, he has been running up and down the country saying to Americans stay out of the European war let them turn their own affairs, I wonder what Washington, Jefferson, Andrew Jackson or Theodore Roosevelt would say about that.

Some time back we all said that Lindbergh should have the right to speak his mind—but now read this weekly Liberty Magazine and see what they say about it. They say no that he is the most dangerous man in the U. S. A. to-day and that he is Hitler's agent in this country and should be shot—and I agree. However he has done only one thing to make him big and that was crossing the ocean, he is no soldier, no statesman and has done nothing smart except marrying the Morrow millions, he is the opinion of a successful pilot who did a spectacular stunt, that is all. Why should we take him seriously? I ask WHY?

"Telling Kentuckians of Kentucky"

(By Mason Rust)

In 1750, when Virginia was a Royal Province of the British Crown, the Loyal Land Company of Virginia sent Dr. Thomas Walker with five associates, Ambrose Powell, William Tomlinson, Coffey Chew, Henry Lawson and John Hughes, across the Appalachian Mountains into the wilderness of Kentucky to locate lands suitable for settlement.

They left "Castle Hill," Walker's home near Charlottesville, March 6. After struggling through the rugged mountains covered with primeval forests and dense undergrowth down through the southwestern end of the state and through eastern Tennessee, then a part of North Carolina, they observed the dip in the mountain range now known as Cumberland Gap just east of the present site of Middleboro. Pressing on through this gap they came on down northeastward through the great gorge at Pineville where they discovered and named the Cumberland River after the Duke of Cumberland. Due to heavy rains they could not cross at the aged old Cumberland Ford and accordingly traveled on down the south side of the river.

Ascending Brush Creek and Little Branch and on over the Divide they descended Swan Pond Creek to the river again. Finding it too deep to ford they made a high canoe and crossed on April 25. After wading through the low marsh land and up onto a knoll they, in the next seven days, built a house 8 feet wide and 12 feet long; planted some corn and peach stones as well as killed many bears, curing the meat to use for food in further travel.

On April 30th, they left for continued exploration down through central and eastern Kentucky. Returning over the rough mountainous area of West Virginia, they reached their point of starting on July 13th. During the journey of 4 months and 7 days they had killed 13 buffaloes; 8 elk; 53 bears; 20 deer; 4 wild geese and about 150 wild turkeys. Dr. Walker states in his daily Journal that they could have killed three times as many had they so wished.

"That Kentucky's First House was built on this site verified by folklore, proximity of the spring and Dr. Walker's Journal, a copy of which is available at the office of the Park custodian.

The Kentucky First House replica is a faithful reproduction of the type of pioneer log hut of the period. Its roof poles hold the oak clapboards in place. The door is made of rough slabs pegged together and hinged in the early pioneer fashion without iron. Other items added are the one-post bed, trundle decked; the hinged wall table; three-legged stools; and outside one is amazed at the skinning pole and salting trough. The visitor gains respect for the hero he hears from the displays that he was strong, sensible, sturdy and unafraid. Here one becomes thankful for the very great heritage of his forebears in these days of stress. No one visiting this historic park will regret it. Come and bring others. The children will find swings, teeter boards, and a slide for their entertainment. Adults will enjoy the nearby mountains and the beautiful valley and will take stock of their blessings.

School Amendment Important To Co.

Will Mean Much To Rockcastle County

Amendment No. 1 to be voted on Tuesday, Nov. 4, in this county is of vital concern to all voters, and every eligible voter should make it a point to vote YES on this amendment.

The rich counties in this State are naturally against this amendment for it would affect them slightly, but the poorer counties such as ours would benefit greatly without added taxation of any kind.

Under the amendment the General Assembly would distribute up to 10 per cent of the county fund on either than the census pupil basis. This would mean that Rockcastle county would receive between seven to fifteen thousand dollars additional money to help support better schools.

Court Of Appeals Rules Carter Be Named Nominee For County Judge

Ruling Given Last Friday Reverses Decision Given By Trial Court. Lambert Asks For Re-hearing

The Court of Appeals gave their decision Friday in the contest instigated by Charles C. Carter against J. H. Lambert. Carter alleged that Lambert had violated the Corrupt Practice Act in his race for the nomination for County Judge.

The Court of Appeals decided that "Since the appellant (Carter) both alleged and proved that he had not violated the Corrupt Practice Act the trial court should have entered a judgment voiding the nomination of appellee (Lambert)." The appellant to be the duly elected nominee and directing the County Clerk to place his name on the ballot at the time of November election as the Republican nominee for County Judge.

The appellant, "Chas. C. Carter, and the appellee, J. H. Lambert, were candidates for the Republican nomination for county judge at the election in August, 1941. The appellee received 1,596 votes, the appellant 1,305 votes and a third candidate 653 votes. Appellant filed this contest alleging that the appellee had violated the Corrupt Practice Act, Kentucky Statutes, sec. 1565B-1 et seq. in a number of different ways.

The third candidate filed a petition to be made a party which he made successful against both appellant and appellee alleging violations of the Corrupt Practice Act on the part of both of them praying that he be adjudged the nominee. Proof was introduced only by the appellant and on final submission the trial court adjudged that the appellee, Lambert, was the duly elected nominee and dismissed appellant's petition. This appeal follows.

While a great portion of the evidence was devoted to establish certain other grounds of contests set up by appellant, we have concluded that the fourth ground alleged, namely, that the appellee illegally expended money at the polls on the election day, was sustained by the evidence and warranted the trial court in rendering judgment in appellant's behalf. It therefore becomes unnecessary to discuss any of the other grounds relied upon.

Editor And Family Visit Payne Home

Last Friday after the Sorghum stirring at Climax, the editor and family visited home by the way of what was supposed to be the "Wildie route." Somehow, they got lost en route, and in surveying the country for some familiar landmark, we observed the tall figure of John Payne, feeding the cows in his barnlot, and we knew that "Lon John" could see us right as to the way home.

Through a coincidence and a happy one, the Payne family hadn't eaten supper, and of course invited us to dinner. Mrs. Payne, besides being a good stenographer, is also a cook of no mean repute, and in a short time she had a meal fit for a king or a poor editor, on the table to which we did ample justice.

The Payne family live at Disputanta, and have a fine farm home, with running water and electric lights. Mrs. Payne's kitchen is equipped with all modern conveniences and would be the pride of any city housewife.

We were more than glad to have had the opportunity of visiting the Payne's, who extend the hospitality of their home, to three travelers, who had lost their way; and were fortunate enough to arrive, when supper was being served.

All of these men are in training at Camp Croft and have many friends in this county.

County Featured On Broadcast

Half-Hour Program Devoted To Farming

Last Saturday morning this county was honored by having a half-hour program devoted entirely to Rockcastle County. John Merryfield, agricultural co-ordinator, for WHAS, had charge of the broadcast, and he interviewed several prominent farmers of this county, and other outstanding men of this community.

The program originated at Renfro Valley and several stars of the Renfro program interspersed the interviews with several old-time numbers.

Dr. M. Pennington was the first gentleman to appear before the microphone, and he was asked about the progress of farming in this county since he first settled here more than forty years ago. The Doctor stated that a marked improvement had been made, and more progress was being made each year.

Nathan Mullins, a prominent stock buyer of near Climax told of his activities in this field. J. Wolfe, one of the best farmers in this county related how he made farming pay and said he had 165 head of cattle on his farm at the present time.

Keeney Campbell, vocational agriculture teacher, told about the sorghum co-operative and the Plans for the future. Keith Norton a pupil of Mr. Campbell's also was interviewed.

A. V. Lee of the Soil Conservation department gave a very comprehensive picture of farming conditions and the improvements being made. This program was a decided boost for Rockcastle County, and showed the farmers of other counties who listened in that faraway place, the right methods are used.

4-H College Girls Get Home Practice

For the fifth year, a limited number of former 4-Hers will have the opportunity to get "practical home economics" by going through school. They will live at Shelby House at the University of Kentucky, the "4-H co-operative house" which is managed cooperatively by students with an adult supervisor. By doing their own meal planning under a strict budget, marketing, food preparation, etc., they get actual home economics practice as they go along.

Only about 20 young women can be accommodated at Shelby House every year, and there is a long waiting list at the 4-H club office at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington.

Only 4-H club members with outstanding records are accepted at the club house. Incidentally, while most of them enroll in the university's home economics department, they may take any course they please.

4-H Club Members To Handle Family Poultry, Gardens

That 4-H club members may take a more active part in national defense, plans have been made at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics whereby boys and girls may enroll in a project to handle the family-poultry and garden next year. Such members of 4-H club will assume responsibility for the family supply of eggs and chicken and vegetables.

Boys and girls enrolling in the new projects will be encouraged to raise good poultry, do a good job of feeding, housing and general management, and thereby increase the supply of eggs and chicken for the family and some to sell.

"New" vegetables will be introduced into the family gardens, it is hoped. The boys and girls will be expected to plan their gardens, to prepare the soil well, to grow improved varieties, and to combat insects and diseases. As a result, there will be larger supplies of home-produced foods, which is one of the main planks in the national defense program.

The 4-H club gardens for defense program was stressed this year, with more than 100 club gardens in some counties. Family food supplies were increased through the assistance of 4-H club gardens.

W. H. Whitehouse, 4-H club leader announces that food production will be stressed in all club work in 1942.

Former Rockcastle Man Places Second With Filly At Kentucky State Fair

The above article was taken from the Shelby Sentinel, published at Shelbyville. Mr. Hayes is well known here, having been born and raised in this county. His mother, Mrs. Janice Hayes, still resides near Ottawa, Mo.

Dr. Hayes has been a resident of the Shelbyville for fifteen years, and is a permanent citizen of that place, being a member of the Rotary Club and other organizations. He was named Casper after the Casper Williams, and was a close friend of the latter. His many friends here will be glad to know that he is attaining success in his hobby, for it is quite an honor to even place at the Kentucky State Show.

"The smiling gentleman pictured above with his filly, Belle of Shelby, is Dr. Casper W. Hayes. The animal is a Chestnut filly, foaled in 1940 and is by Advertiser, a son of Kingstone's Choice out of Alberta C, by American Born.

Dr. Hayes is very proud of the filly, and is justly so. With a limited amount of training she has a good record and her first appearance at the Shelbyville Fair she was placer second in the yearling filly class, and at the State Fair she was unplaced in the stake but in her next class she was second among fifteen starters in the open class. Being of study build chances to become a good mare in her three-year-old and upward form are exceedingly bright.

READ IN BED?
Certainly... with correct light

There's nothing harmful about reading in bed, provided your posture is good and you have the correct light. Put one of the smart, new, pin-to-wall lamps on the wall above the head of your bed and you can relax and read in perfect comfort. Hang it up like a picture. It gives you generous light on your book and soft light throughout the room, preventing dark, eye-straining shadows.

John Lair, of Renfro Valley, receives many letters from fans over the country inquiring about the programs and many other questions pertaining to the broadcasts.

Our friend, Bill Tyree, has become immune to jokes regarding the immunity of some of his stories.

The other evening several Rotarians were limbering up at the high school gym in preparation for the basketball game with the Lions of Livingston.

As this is the time when the youngsters will be bringing their report cards home we pass along a little joke that applies to this important occasion.

FARM LABOR AND NATIONAL DEFENSE

In some areas of Kentucky a farm labor shortage is anticipated for the 1942 crop year. If the supply of farm workers becomes too small for normal operations and the wage rates appear too high some changes in the farm work are necessary.

Conway

(Deferred from last week)
Mrs. Grover Doering and two sons and daughter of Covington were the week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Forthing.

The calf would provide later as replacement or sold at reduced prices. Also tobacco is not on the list of goods whose production needs to be increased.

When the regular labor supply is reduced, remember that boys and girls can help in many cases without injury to them if work is well planned to suit their abilities.

Farm And Home

Fall is not the best time to prune shrubs, other than to shape them up so that they will not look ragged.

Lack of green grass, green crop, green alfalfa or other green crops may cause poor eggshells in live stock. An exclusive ration of ground, cuttensed meal, corn stover and straw deprives animals of vitamin A, which is found principally in green feeds.

A possible scarcity of commercial fertilizers increases the importance of saving manure. Manure should be stored under a shed and kept compacted or, if kept outside, it should be piled in deep rick with straight sides and a concave top.

With the supply of labor reduced it would seem good management to repair farm machinery during odd times in fall and winter. It has been promised that repair parts will be available, but they may be long in coming.

A table loaded with food may not be an indication of hospitality, but rather an effort to show ability in cooking or to outdo neighbor women. Such meals may indicate that guests are hard to please, or else eat excessively.

If no cover crop is grown, gardens on level land may be plowed in the late fall and covered with manure. Gardens on slopes should be left unbroken to prevent washing. Both cover crops and manure should be used on all gardens.

Maintaining roads is my business, and, believe me, you save with CONCRETE

"After you've spent years trying to keep so-called 'low-cost' roads in travelable condition, it's a relief to get assigned to a stretch of concrete. Concrete is easy to maintain—saves the taxpayers real money."

Real money is right! Concrete roads cost $71 to $495 per mile per year less for surface maintenance than other pavements. Less to build than any other road of equal load carrying capacity. Less to drive on than lower type pavements.

Depredations of thieves and dogs have become a menace to farming in Woodford county, Kentucky. Thieves made away with some $3,000 worth of livestock, and losses from dog raids have been more than could be met with funds collected by the sheep protective association, despite an assessment of 7 cents a head.

About 5,000 pounds of vetch will be seeded in Lewis county, where this crop was unknown before 1939.

Edward Scott Green Passed Away Oct. 9

Edward Scott Green was born March 29, 1911 in Nowtown, Indiana, the son of Myra Parrott Green and Samuel Green. He spent the first 18 years of his life in Nowtown where he attended church and school and graduated from high school in the class of 1929.

In the fall of 1929 he came with his parents and younger sister to near Sadieville, Ky. He made his home there until 1933 when he went back to Indiana and began driving a truck for the great Central Transport Corporation Co. He was working for that firm when on Oct. 23, 1934, he met with a serious accident which never recovered. He departed this life at 8 p. m. Oct. 9, 1934 at the age of 23 years 8 months and 19 days. He sank peacefully to rest like one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams.

Surviving him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Green, two sisters, Mrs. Everett Smith of Attica, Ind. and Mrs. Robert Faulcover of Sadieville, Ky.; four nephews and two nieces, four aunts and four uncles and many other relatives and friends.

Red Cross Conference at Danville, Oct. 21

Plans for "all out" civilian defense aid and the greatest membership Roll Call in history will be the objective of the three Red Cross regional conferences to be held in Kentucky in the last half of October. Conferences will be held in Morehead, at the Morehead State Teachers College, on Tuesday, October 21st; at Danville, at the Danville Christian Church, on Wednesday, October 22nd; and in Owensboro, at the Owensboro Hotel, on Thursday, October 23rd.

Representatives of the 138 Red Cross Chapters in Kentucky are expected to attend one of the conferences, which will be the most important Red Cross meetings in Kentucky since World War days. Those who will represent the Rockcastle Chapter are E. R. Denney, Chairman, Doris Smock, Mrs. J. H. Rowe, Mrs. S. T. Proctor and R. W. Griffin. They will attend the Conference at Danville.

Prominent National and State Red Cross "Materials" will speak and include Mr. Nat C. Wilson, Assistant Manager, Eastern Area; Mr. Douglas Moore, Assistant National Director of Roll Call; and Miss Ruth Riley, Miss Annette McClaran, and Mr. C. F. Dixon, General Field Representatives, American Red Cross.

Sessions begin at 9:30 a. m. and will end with the Roll Call discussion after luncheon. Chief among the topics to be discussed are the Red Cross services to the Armed Forces, the role of the Red Cross in Civilian defense, and the plans for the annual Roll Call.

Red Cross membership this fall must be doubled or more in order to conduct the Red Cross defense services as well as maintain the normal Red Cross work being continued all along the home front, Red Cross officials say. Kentucky Red Cross membership last year totaled 103,255, an increase of 12,108 over the previous year.

Through its Congressional Charter, the Red Cross uses as the link between men in the military forces and their families back home. Co-operating with the 800 Red Cross field directors and staff members stationed at military and naval stations, and hospitals, local Chapter home service workers are prepared to aid army this fall by investigating from 25,000 to 40,000 applications for discharge from military service. This increases in Red Cross home service work and the vast expansion in all the Red Cross aid to the nation's armed forces are only two of the problems to be discussed at the conferences.

Baptist Church

By Rev. W. C. Younce

The Lord willing, our Revival Meeting will begin next Monday night at 7 o'clock. Brother V. B. Castleberry doing the preaching. He closes a meeting this week with the Mt. Zion Church. Brother Castleberry is a real servant of Christ. He believes in the old-time gospel. Surely everyone will want to hear him. Further announcements will be made concerning the day services. Every member on praying terms with God is urged to set aside a few minutes each day to pray for the salvation of lost souls and the re-dedication of the inactive members.

Sunday Services

Sunday School—9:45 a. m. Charles Brown, Supt. Lesson: "What the Holy Spirit does for Us" John 3:8-8; Acts 1:8; Rom. 8:26-28; Gal. 5:22-26. This lesson merits the prayerful study of every member. Some have eliminated the doctrine of the Holy Spirit as the third Person of the Trinity. Others believe in Him but seem to have little of his power. We insist that every believer who can make a special effort to attend this service.

Morning Worship—11:00 a. m. Sermon: "The challenge of the Starlike Light upon the dark sky of Surrounding Sin."

Training Union—6:00 p. m. Lesson: "Crowding Christ in Economic Life" taken from Christ's parables—The Pearl of Great Price; the laborers in the vineyard; the talents; the judgment; the rich fool; the faithful and wise steward; the unjust steward; the rich man and Lazarus and the ten pounds. Those who contend that nothing is to be derived from this service are urged to visit with us Sunday night. Present last Sunday 68.

Evening Worship—7:00 p. m. "The Antidote which Neutralizes the Poison of Temptation." Those who are having trouble with temptation and invited to hear this message.

We extend our deepest sympathy to Mr. J. O. Williams and family in the death of his nephew.

Word has just come that Mrs. D. C. Parker is getting along nicely at the Pineville Hospital. We deeply sympathize with Brother and Mrs. Parker in the loss of one of their little twin boys; born last Sunday.

We are glad to report that Mr. Sim Purcell is back from the hospital after a serious injury.

There is little change in the condition of their little girl, Charlotte Kay, now in the Children's Hospital at Louisville.

Mr. Robert Daley who is in the London Hospital is about the same.

We want those who are in trouble and sorrow to know that we are praying for them, and willing to help in any way we can.

Christian Church

By Aubrey Russell

The opening day of the "Eight Weeks with God" found us in a good spirit but few in number. Many no doubt have planned to attend these services but have put it off. The longer you stay away the harder it is for the church to make advances. Plan to be with us Sunday and to fill out one of the Activity cards which will indicate the type of service in which you will enter. The Sermon topics Sunday morning will be "The Savior Hood of Christ"; The second of the "Series of the morning worship for the Sunday School hour will be in the hands of the "Sunshine Class". They have planned a fine program so let's be there on time.

The Evening Message will be "The Sacredness of Law", the second in the series relating to the validity of the ten commandments.

The Building will be warm. So if the weather is cool you can be assured that you will be comfortable.

Christian Endeavor will meet at 6:00.

30th ANNUAL STATE FOX HUNT TO BE HELD AT RENFRO VALLEY

Frankfort, Ky.—The Kentucky State Game and Fish Commission will hold its 30th Annual State Fox Hunt at Renfro Valley, Ky., October 20-26, according to a statement issued today by Edmond Foster, President of the department and chief secretary for the Division of Game and Fish.

The Kentucky State Fox Hunt is known throughout the United States and hunters from all sections of the country are expected to be at Renfro Valley for the fox hunt, and to show the sports of their fox hounds.

The Derby for hounds, under 21 months of age starts at Renfro Valley, October 20 and will continue three days.

The All-Age stake will begin Thursday morning at daybreak and continue for three days.

One of the highlights of the State hunt will be the Bench show which will be held Monday night, October 20, with Roger Stone, Lexington, Ky., as judge.

The Hunt show will be held Tuesday all day, Oct. 21, at Renfro Valley, with live classes for saddle horses and four classes for hunters. The saddle horses will be judged by Churchill Newcomb, of the state of Virginia.

Powers stated that the Hunt Ball will be held on Tuesday night and a Barn Dance will feature the entertainment program for Friday evening.

Other features, both social and sporting will be on the program.

Sealed bass may be obtained from J. L. Law, Reelfoot, Ky.

Nothing is being overlooked to afford a warm welcome to all hunters and needless to say, the hospitality of this institution is famous from coast to coast. The town of Renfro Valley, therefore, away, also will take extra pains to extend all hunters and visitors the glad hand of welcome, and will endeavor to make their stay in that vicinity a pleasant one.

MIGRATORY WATERFOWL SEASON OPENS OCTOBER 15

The open season on migratory waterfowl will open in Kentucky on October 15 and continues through December 31, according to a statement issued today by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish.

Wakefield stated that, according to a report just received from Ducks Unlimited—Canada, the 1941 waterfowl crop is increased over North America's "Duck Factory" in the Canadian West. This report is based upon results of the fifth annual Ducks Unlimited land air census of waterfowl populations in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

The report also claims the "best duck crop in many years," with marked increases in canvasbacks reaching the wintering grounds. Numbers of redheads is reported "especially pronounced." Canada geese were said to be more widely distributed than revealed by any previous census. On the other hand, the increase in numbers of the less desirable coots was said to be "alarming."

With this report as a guide, Wakefield pointed out, Kentucky nimrods should enjoy an unusually good shooting season on ducks and geese.

KENTUCKY WILL OBSERVE WILDLIFE WEEK OCT. 20-26

Kentucky Wildlife Week will be observed throughout the Commonwealth during the week of October 20-26, at which time sportsmen comprising the League of Kentucky Sportsmen, in practically every county of the state, working with personal members of the Division of Game and Fish, will carry on a conservation education program in every school of the Bluegrass state.

"This annual wildlife week program was inaugurated in 1938 and has proven very popular, both with the sportsmen and the teachers and their pupils."

SPORTSMEN URGED TO "HANG ON" TO THEIR LICENSE HOLDER

Kentucky hunters and fishermen were urged today to "hang on" to their metal license holders and use them again and again, by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish.

"Because of Federal Government priorities on metal of all kinds, it is almost impossible to get metal for common consumption," Wakefield pointed out, "and as the holders were originally designed to be used indefinitely over a period of years, I hereby ask that the license containers

STARS IN THE SPOTLIGHT!

BY ETHEL VINE

Virginia Grey grew up in the movies. When she was still toddling, such celebrities as Charlie Chaplin, Gloria Swanson and Louise Fazenda used to pay visits to the home of her parents and she was always as regular in the house as breakfast. All because Virginia's father, Roy Grey, was a motion picture pioneer. At one time he was one of the famous Keystone cops; later he became a director for Mack Sennett.

It is not altogether surprising that Miss Grey is now making her debut as a leading woman in "Whistling in the Dark" which stars Red Skelton. For she began her movie career as a golden-haired, blue-eyed child, playing Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." This first screen role led to other youthful character parts in such pictures as "The Secret Garden," "Pickford," "The Symphonies with Jean Harlow" and "Dark Streets" with Milton Sills.

Virginia Grey

But like so many Hollywood human-interest stories, Virginia's was interrupted by a series of setbacks when she got no screen credits and, in despair decided to give up the idea of becoming an actress. She was rescued by her beginning her career as a nurse in the hospital of the heroism of Florence Nightingale, thought she would like to become a nurse. So she began a nurse training course but in the midst of it Warner Bros. offered her one of their stock players.

She appeared for a time as a stand-in; in close-up shots and in inserts. On the sets inserts of players show such things as a hand holding a book or writing a letter.

She was about ready to quit pictures again when an M-G-M talent scout offered her a screen test for a chorine's role in "The Great Ziegfeld" with Wallace Beery; "Test Pilot" with Clark Gable; "The Showman Angel" with Margaret Sullivan and "Idiot's Delight" with Norma Shearer.

It was in "The Women" and later in "Hullabaloo" that she began to attract the attention of the executives who discovered they had a natural actress in Miss Grey. In "Whistling in the Dark" she has one of the leading feminine roles. Her other pictures include "Rags Ragland," "Henry O'Neill," "Eve Arden," "William Tannen" and others.

The picture was directed by S. Sylvan Simon and produced for M-G-M by George Heatter.

If she could spend a day just as she wanted, Virginia says she would play tennis or badminton in the morning; lunch on strawberry shortcake and the afternoon reading poetry; go for a horseback ride; dine at a smart restaurant on fried chicken; see Katharine Cornell, her favorite actress in "St. Joan," her favorite play; then top off the evening by going dancing in the company of a young man who is tall, dark, but not necessarily handsome. She lives with her sister, Lorraine, in a Fernhooch.

Expert Deplores Haste in Buying

There is one ideal during the present war-emergency—strictly normal buying on all non-defense goods, according to Miss Laura Deephouse, who teaches consumer courses at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Do not be hastened into buying (1) beyond ordinary needs, or (2) beyond income on the basis that "no goods" when more goods will be available, once the present small stock is exhausted.

Instead, try to keep up clothes and household and farm equipment in the usual way. Avoid letting things "go down" but equally much avoid hoarding or consumer goods.

"Probably fresh stocks of goods will be available before the American public or the American farm-home is in a tatter—to think otherwise is to underestimate seriously our capacity to produce fever in 36 months," and the Government's concern for the general welfare," adds the consumer specialist. Even though immediate orders may be shelled off, permit filling deferred orders, in time.

It is a waste of money to buy non-defense requirements will be met.

is Loading up on anything—frozen food compartments, electric equipment, clothes, washing machines, farm machinery or anything else—beyond present capacity to pay is to court family disaster. The family may find itself burdened several years from now trying to pay for it, with a market then flooded with improved equipment at moderate prices.

Also, allowance must be made for higher taxes for defense and this patriotic obligation should be considered before personal buying. Savings through defense bonds and stamps or other means should be kept up, Miss Deephouse continues.

Money Talks

By Frederick W. Stamm, Economist and Director of Adult Education University of Louisville

This past week I received two interesting letters criticizing my stand on the price control bill. A union member was against any control of prices and farmers did not favor any price ceiling placed on farm products. The union member was in favor of regulating rents and the farmer was in favor of regulating prices of industrial products.

We have no price or wage control now and what has happened and is happening is that we are in the spiral of inflation. Prices of raw materials, farm products, and finished goods go up; then wages go up; this causes production costs to rise again; prices go up again. Labor to assure itself of the same purchasing power, demands still higher wages which further increases costs and causes higher prices. In the meantime, taxes have risen and rents have gone up, both adding to increased costs. This upward spiral of higher and higher prices keeps on until it falls of its own weight. Then depression!

In criticizing the price control bill C. I. O. President Philip Murray said it meant "government control of the industry here begins and the beginning of enslaved labor." Likewise several farm organizations opposed the regulation of farm prices.

In our complicated economic system we must recognize that wages, rents, taxes and prices are all interrelated in the entire national price picture. It seems to me that labor would support a control of prices and wages, for it would stabilize industry and enable one to adjust his standard of living with a decrease of cost. It would help the farmer, for he would know how much he would receive for his products and what he would have to pay for the things he bought. A price control bill would bring stability to our present chaotic price structure.

Again, I recommend the passage of an all-inclusive price and wage control bill.

five and a half months old. He also raised 25 baby beaves from high-grade Hereford cows and a registered Angus bull. These calves were all black and weighed 550 to 600 pounds at the time of the tour.

Mrs. Robert Carroll showed the farmers 36 Bourbon Red, Lucerne raised in a sanitary manner on winter cooperatives for the 1941 crop were over 6,000 gallons from the Great Atlantic and Pacific Company and the Kroger Grocery and Baking Company. In 1939 approximately 3,000,000 gallons of sorghum was produced in Kentucky but in 1939 this had dropped to 640,000 gallons with most of it consumed by the producer.

Kentucky seems on the way, receiving a crop which will mean considerable cash income to farmers in many parts of the State. A high quality product, standardized, graded, and attractively packaged is bringing it back.

Moisture has been sufficient in parts of Eastern Kentucky to warrant sowing all cultivated land to cover crops, including wheat, rye, clover, crimson clover and vetch. Much land may remain uncovered in other parts of the state.

More Fertilizer Sold in Kentucky

Approximately 117,000 tons of fertilizer were sold in Kentucky last year, according to a report of the Agricultural Experiment Station. This is an increase of about 6 percent over the tonnage of 1934. About 50 percent of the 117,000 tons was mixed fertilizer, the rest being superphosphate and other fertilizer materials. In addition, about 11,500 tons of 40 percent superphosphate and 58,000 tons of 45 percent superphosphate were distributed by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The analyses made at the Agricultural Experiment Station showed that the manufacturers met their guaranties well, says the report. Deficiencies were mostly of a minor nature. The records of a few manufacturers were poor.

A state guaranty law issued by the Experiment Station, showing the manufacturer's guaranty, must be attached to each bag of fertilizer before it can be lawfully offered for sale in Kentucky.
