Cadets Get Credit For Flight Training Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia youths who have prior flight training may receive credit for up to 30 hours under a new Army Aviation cadet training program announced today at Ft. Campbell Army Headquarters, Fort Hayes, Columbus, O.

The new policy will take advantage of the Civilian Pilot Training program and ease the burden on training pilots and instructors. Credit toward the 60-hour flying course now given at primary schools will be allowed at discretion of Air Force supervisors on the basis of individual proficiency. All cadets will remain at primary schools for the full ten weeks, however, to complete ground instruction.

Other new developments in the pilot training program included: Announcement of a plan whereby National Guard and Reserve officers may train while holding their present commissioned rank. Afterward they would transfer to the Air Force in the same rank and would serve for three years on extended active duty if needed.

Substitution of officers' olive drab or khaki uniforms for the blue-gray formerly worn by Aviation Cadets. Unlike the old uniforms, the new ones may be worn after trainees win officers' commissions. They need only change insignia, add pilot's wings.

Approximately 80 percent of Mountain county's school children took part in a parade during the two-day farm fair.

Effects of a Deficiency of Vitamin A in the Diet.

Research work has shown that one of the definite effects of a diet low or devoid of vitamin A is a change in the epithelial tissues of various parts of the body, such as the tear glands and the respiratory, alimentary and genito-urinary tracts.

The secretion of the epithelial cells is greatly diminished and the smooth, moist tissues become dry and scaly. Sometimes the vitamin A intake may be too low for good health but not deficient enough to cause actual disease of mucous membranes, and the only outward evidence is an early appearance of old age.

Some of the specific ways in which deficiencies of vitamin A effect the body are: Eyes - Night blindness, chemolopia. For many years it has been known that a complete or nearly complete deficiency of vitamin A in the diet causes a certain type of eye trouble known as Xerophthalmia but it has only been recently demonstrated that a shortage of this vitamin stored in the eye results in night blindness. Jeans and Zentmire of Iowa developed an instrument and studied the adaptability of 129 school children to darkness. They found that 26 percent of the rural children and 51 percent of the village children studied were below normal in adaptability to darkness. Vitamin A was added to the diet of 78 children and all except three gave normal tests of adaptation within a short period.

A recent study in the Bureau of Home Economics of the relation of vitamin A to vision shows that a deficiency of storage of Vitamin A in adaptability to darkness.

Ethrogenous formation of eyeball. Some interesting experiments have been carried on with pigs for several years at the Texas Experiment Station. When girls have been fed a vitamin A deficient diet of least 134 days before breeding, the eye balls of the young are not formed or are defective.

The respiratory tract Stunted growth.

When there is a deficiency of vitamin A in the diet there is not enough mucous secreted to keep the mucous membranes (epithelial tissues) in a normal condition. Instead of being smooth and moist, they become dry, horny and flaky or "keratinized."

This condition of the mucous membrane lowers the resistance against bacterial infection.

Over-enthusiastic statements are often made in advertisements to the effect that colds may be prevented by a concentrated form of vitamin A. It should be kept in mind that after the normal condition of the epithelial tissues has been damaged taking large quantities of vitamin A will not prevent infection nor guarantee cure. It may, however, lessen the intensity and length of the period of the infection.

The Urinary tract. Animals which have been fed a diet low in vitamin A for some time frequently develop kidney stones. There is evidence that a deficiency of vitamin A is at least a factor in the development of kidney stones in human beings. Kidney stones are prevalent in certain areas of India where cereals are the chief foods in the diet. Again quoting Dr. Rose, "Even of kidney stones are not a common result of dietary deficiency among the people of America, who are on the whole so much better nourished than the masses of India, there seems to be every reason to believe that many kidney disturbances of middle life and old age have their origin in outbreaks of infections, repeated perhaps many times before any obvious pathological condition develops. It is certainly the part of wisdom to keep such valuable organs in the best possible condition through a regular and liberal vitamin A intake throughout adult life as well as during the period of growth."

Bob Bird Wins Police Judge Race By 15 Votes. Cummins Named On Board

Old Board With Exception Of Craig Re-elected Close Races Feature City Election

Mt. Vernon voters went to the polls Tuesday to elect a new board and a police judge. The five old board members all ran for re-election and all were elected except D. C. Craig. Bob Cummins defeated Mr. Craig by ten votes. The newly elected board are Oscar Owens, Tom Hansel, Ed Banks, R. B. McKinzie and Roy Cummins.

Interested in the board race were heightened by those who were opposed to the recent filing of the city streets. Several property owners have refused to pay the tax imposed by the town, and the street question was one of the main issues in the campaign.

D. C. Craig has served for eight years as a board member and was chairman of that body the past term. Three aspirants were out for Police Judge: Steve Ballard, the incumbent, Ralph Griffin and R. B. Bird. This race was extremely close, Bird winning by 15 votes.

The complete tabulation of the Mt. Vernon City election follows:

| For Town Board | | | | |
|----------------|----|----|----|----|
| Owens | 61 | 32 | 4 | 71 |
| Hansel | 60 | 27 | 56 | 59 |

Attention Truck And Bus Owners

Kentucky truck and bus owners were urged today by William B. Elliott, Kentucky Chairman of the Highway Advisory Committee to the War Department, to make complete returns this week in the national defense truck and bus inventory launched by Governor Johnson. Prompt returns will save the expense of further audits.

The National Defense Advisory Commission and the War Department have recognized the importance of truck and bus transportation in the national defense program. The Highway Traffic Advisory Committee to the War Department has asked the Federal Works Agency to make a national defense inventory of all trucks, busses, and freight trailers.

The committee wants to set up a detailed central and regional register of all trucks, busses, and freight trailers, similar to the records already available on railroads, water shipping, and aviation. The information is urgently needed in planning more effective use of highway transportation — for example, in the delivery of military and civilian supplies, in the relief of dock and terminal congestion, in the movement of passenger traffic in case of emergency and in other ways. Questionnaires have been mailed to truck and bus owners.

Please fill out the card immediately. It will take you less than 10 minutes. The card calls for information on the make of your truck or bus, capacity, kind of body (such as pick-up, panel, platform, etc.), time of year you most urgently need the vehicle in your own business, whether in an emergency you would be willing to hire or lease it to the Federal Agency, and so on. The information is urgently needed and will be confidential.

After you have filled out the card, put it in the return envelope and mail. It requires no postage.

Editor Needed For Livingston News

For the last few months this paper has had no regular feature, a page known as the Livingston News. It is the happenings of our sister city were recounted. People over the county were interested to know the news of their neighbors. At the present time no editor can be found in Livingston to gather the news. This week Mrs. R. G. Webb pitched in and kept the page alive. Her husband Dr. Webb has been laid up with illness for the last few weeks, and she alone with the Lions Club have been a great help in seeing that proper news was gathered each week. The Signal wants to continue this page, but we must have someone from Livingston who will get an editor and take an active interest in seeing that plenty of good news is sent in every week. If you want the job or know of someone who does, communicate with us at once.

Grab Orchard Youth Takes Army Training

Lewis E. Sutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Sutton, of R. R. 3, Crab Orchard, Ky., has started Army Aviation Cadet navigation training at Maxwell Field, Alabama. Fifth Corps Area Headquarters, Columbus, O., announced today. He transferred from pilot course.

Sutton will receive five weeks of basic military training and ground school of navigation at Maxwell, then will take ten weeks of training at a navigation school, ten weeks at a reconnaissance school, and finish up with a five-week course in aerial navigation. He will be commissioned second lieutenant in the Army Air Force Reserve and go on active duty as a navigator with an Air Force squadron.

REA Repayments Ahead Of Schedule

Twenty-seven REA systems during September repaid on their loans more than was due. Administrator Harry Slattery announced today. These systems, in 11 States, during the month repaid $128,845.19 in addition to the scheduled payments. Six of these systems are in Iowa, four each in Indiana, Illinois and Texas; two each in Mississippi and Georgia. The others are in Colorado, Michigan, Minnesota, Tennessee and Virginia.

By September 1, the total interest and principal which had become due under contracts covering all REA loans was $12,156,137.48. Repayments on schedule, totaling $12,181.20, had left delinquencies totaling $128,956.28. But to balance this total delinquency, $3,446,669.26 had been paid ahead of schedule. Thus a total of $15,463,850.46 had been repaid by September 1 as against the total of $12,156,137.48 that was due.

Repayments, therefore, have been 127.2 per cent of the total due. The arrearages of individual systems amount to only 1.1 per cent of the total due. Of the advance repayments in September, two were of $10,000 each of them from a cooperative operating a generating plant. The smallest were four $1,000 payments.

"WHERE THE BOONE WAY JOINS THE DIXIE"

Adjustment Committee Of F. S. A. Meets

The Farm Debt Adjustment Committee of the Federal Security Administration composed of D. H. Gray, Brodhead, Nathan Mullins, Climax, and J. M. Wallace, Quail, met in Mr. Gibson's office, Friday, Oct. 31, 1941, where they heard Mr. A. C. Arnold, District Farm Debt Adjustment Specialist, explain the work of the committee.

Farm Debt Adjustment is a part of the work carried on by the Farm Security Administration to help farmers, both owner and tenant farmers, who might be having some financial difficulty. This committee of representative farmers have been chosen by their government because of their work with farmers and their understanding of farm problems, as well as their sympathetic attitude toward these people. Farmers who might be having financial difficulty, regardless of whether they are borrowers of the Farm Security or not, may take their problems to either one of these men and be assured that any information given out will be held in strict confidence. Sometimes just a little planning may enable a farmer to hold his farm and family together.

Subscriptions Must Be Paid Promptly

Each month subscribers whose paper becomes due the coming month are notified by mail. If you do not receive a statement notifying them that fact, no invoices are played and everyone who time expires is sent a reminder. Those receiving statements have one month to pay before their Signal is stopped. During this month you can drop in at the office or send us a check. If you still want us to continue your paper, if no notification is given us, whether you are a good friend of ours and worth a million, we feel that you don't want the Signal any longer, and it is stopped. During the past year several fine citizens have gotten sore because we took them off our list, but every month we have people we know who are in poor circumstances, come in and pay, in order to keep the paper coming. Several pay on the installment plan, and these subscribers are the kind who would rather miss a meal, than the Signal. In justice to all, we ask everyone to pay promptly or at least notify the office by mail.

During the past six months many new subscribers have been added and more are coming in every day. Your subscription is what keeps the paper going, and the bigger the subscription list the bigger the newspaper.

1937 Wage Records Can Be Checked

In less than two months the 1937 wage records of the Social Security Board may be considered closed. Persons who want to check their earnings in employment covered by the Social Security Act, before this time limit expires, may obtain post cards which are used to obtain these records. Cards may be obtained by writing to Jack M. Rucker, Assistant Manager in Charge, Social Security Board field office in the Post Office Building in Lexington, Ky. There is no charge for this service, except one cent for postage. If all wages earned have not been credited, the Social Security Board will undertake to find and rectify the error, according to Mr. Rucker.

Red Cross Drive Starts Nov. 11

Edwin R. Denney, County Chairman, The annual Red Cross drive starts officially, Tuesday, Nov. 11, and the quota for this county is $700,000. Last year's quota was only $250, but the increased amount of human suffering throughout the world, has made it necessary that much money be raised to help these unfortunates.

Denney is county chairman, and Ralph Griffin, has been named Roll Call chairman and the gentlemen are planning an extensive drive that will reach to all parts of the county.

Sunday, Nov. 9, is Roll Call Sunday in the churches of the nation, and local churches are expected to have special programs.

It is the duty of every citizen to donate something to this most worthy cause. Our quota must be raised in this county, and will be, if all will co-operate.

The Red Cross helps all the suffering, and in times of emergencies, like floods, tornadoes or other catastrophes, their help has saved many lives. Let us all remember with gratitude the assistance given during the great Ohio river flood a few years ago.

State Merit Exams Set For Dec. 13

Open competitive merit examinations for clerical and statistical positions in the State Unemployment Compensation Commission and the State Department of Welfare have been tentatively set for December 13, J. P. Glasgow, supervisor of the Merit System Committee announced today.

These examinations are necessary to establish and supplement our present register which has been almost completely exhausted. Activity due to the defense program has depleted our registers to the point that available job openings with state agencies operating under the Merit System cannot be filled. Glasgow said, "At present," he pointed out, "there is no register of addressing equipment operator, tabulating equipment operator, card punch operator, statistical junior statistician, statistical clerk, and other classifications such as senior clerk stenographer, calculating machine operator, duplicating equipment operator have 3 to 5 names. Experience leads us to believe that these will be unavailable before examinations are given."

Glasgow said that there are no male clerks on the present register. The lists of clerk-typists and clerical operators are less than 30 and are being rapidly depleted. Entrance salaries for the jobs for which examinations will be given, range from $90.00 a month for clerks to $175.00 for statisticians.

Examinations will be held in Ashland, Covington, Bowling Green, Frankfort, Harlan, Lexington, Louisville, Murray, Owensboro, Pikeville and Somerset.

Application forms which must be postmarked not later than midnight December 1 may be obtained from the Unemployment Compensation Commission's employment offices, county school superintendents or by writing to Mr. Glasgow, Division of Personnel, Frankfort, Kentucky.

Forest Ranger Gets His Man

Nearly a year ago—December 6, 1940 to be exact—Lookout Mountain on the fire tower at Starns, Ky., reported a smoke 9 miles away, 2500 to 2600 degrees. Fire fighting crews found the fire in the Cotton patch area of McCreary County, Ky. It had burned 12 acres when they arrived; burned 2 more before it could be corralled an hour and a half later. Who started this fire? "Hunter." How was it started? "Campfire." So read the fire boss' report. And so ended first chapter of the book.

Immediate investigation was made and all persons who had been seen at that area that day were questioned. Shreds of evidence were secured, but nothing conclusive. However, these shreds were carefully filed away for future use. Occasionally a new clue was added.

This week the last chapter in the book was written. On October 21, before County Judge J. E. Stephens at Whitley City, came one Tillman Slaven of Oneida, Tenn. Charge: Fought to extinguish his fire of December 6, 1940, required by Kentucky Statute 1255-1, Vermont; Guilty. Forest Ranger Smoot got his man.

For longer notices, a printed card must be enclosed or when payment will be made. Cash is preferred. We are always glad to accommodate on these items, and if the usual rate were charged, the cost would be considerably more. Your co-operation will be appreciated.

Rockcastle County

Rockcastle county's only real contest, the County Judge's race was a thrilling one, but it was over by 10:00 p. m. this morning (Thursday). The Court of Appeals had ruled that Charles C. Carter was the official nominee, and his name was printed on the ballot. However, J. H. Lambert, who received the most votes in the August primary, asked his friends to write his name on the ballot.

The thirteen precincts counted to date gave Lambert a majority of 100, but with questionable ballots thrown out, Carter would have a lead of 44 votes. In Mt. Vernon Carter carried the city by 183 votes. These tabulations are all unofficial.

The entire county vote is expected to be counted by sometime Thursday evening. The complete count will be published next week in The Signal. The two amendments are both carrying in the county, and the school amendment has a tremendous majority. Out-state indications are the school amendment at least has passed.

Subscribes For Signal Enroute To Indiana

Since the opening of the new highway in front of this office, the most traffic has been seen, but up to last Saturday, none had stopped to do business. However, it seems we hadn't waited long enough, for on the above date Casper Owen, of Lebanon, Indiana, and a son of Owen of this city, noticed The Signal's sign, while on his way home, stopped his car, and came in and subscribed. Mr. Owen said that he had wanted to take the paper for many months but had neglected to do so. He said when he saw our single decided it would be a good time to subscribe.

THE DEVIL TAKES OFF

Old Man Satan in person arrived in Landis Monday morning and took off in the direction of Kannapolis after a ten-minute rest and a short conversation with a fruitstand operator.

That, at least, is the story Miss Delia Gryder of Eleventh street, North Kannapolis, told yesterday afternoon in The Daily Independent office. She knows it's true because her father, Q. E. Gryder, saw the Devil and told his family.

Mr. Gryder was at his fruitstand on Highway 29 just this side of Landis Monday morning. He told his daughter, when he heard a voice say:

"The harvest is ripe."
He looked around to locate the voice and there sat the devil, a blazing red figure, against a tree about 50 yards away from Mr. Gryder with his hands upraised on the tree. He had ten horns and eyes as big as baseballs—a fearsome sight indeed.

Satan sat there about ten minutes not saying anything. Miss Gryder said her father told her Mr. Gryder didn't say anything either but he sprang into action a little later when the Devil started rising straight up in the air like a balloon.

When the red, horned visitor gained altitude, he started in the direction of Kannapolis. And Mr. Gryder started in the direction of a telephone, to call his family in North Kannapolis and tell them to look out the window and try to get a glimpse of the Devil as he passed.

The other Gryder didn't see it—possibly because Satan was to high. Mr. Gryder hasn't been back at work since Monday, Miss Gryder said.

She came to the newspaper office to tell the story in person because she had telephoned the information in Monday night and she hadn't seen it in print.

Anybody who doubts that it was actually the Devil that spoke to her father is welcome to inspect the strange tracks around the tree near the fruitstand and look at the glass smashed down where the Devil sat. Miss Gryder points out:

The Daily Independent, A Kannapolis daily paper, Kannapolis, North Carolina.

More Bell county farm families grew their own food for home use this year than ever before.

Carroll county, 4-H'ers exhibited and sold 21 fat hogs at the agricultural fair.

Receiving 50,000 pounds of vetch seed under the Agricultural Conservation program; Lawrence county farmers gave 10,000 pounds to other counties.

Canning and "food for freedom" demonstrations and talks last month attracted many Floyd county homemakers.

More than 15,000 national defense pamphlets were distributed by Perry county 4-H club members.

Better ventilation in laying houses seems to have increased egg production for Grayson county farmers.

In Memory

Of Mrs. Terry Masters Skidmore. Mother dear has left us. Why we never knew; But we hope to meet her, In The Land Beyond the Blue.

We miss you so much, Mother. That word can't express. The sorrow your leaving gave us. For you we loved the best.

The days when we're most fonesome We try to fix our mind. On the days that you are leaving. Not the sorrows you left behind.

We often dream of you, Mother. Of the times when you were here. The beautiful deeds you did for us. And your kind words of cheer.

You were always cheering others Through this world of toil and strife. And ever striving to make them see, The better things of this life.

Though we often pine for you, Mother. We know you are up above. Safe in the arms of the Saviors. And in His marvelous love.

A New Afghan Design for You to Crochet

THERE'S nothing like an afghan to tuck around your knees when bed, to use outdoors on a chilly evening or wherever a casual warm covering is needed. Clever homemakers realize, too, that an afghan can be quaint or severely modern, depending upon your tastes, and the colors you use can dramatize the main color theme of your room. No handwork is quite so exciting as to watch an afghan grow under your fingers, and Mrs. H. A. McClure has a design that will do just that. Crocheted in machine-proofed afghan wool with cross-stitch vines embroidered on alternating panels, this lovely design will make itself at home in a dozen different rooms and will become a household favorite. Directions for crocheting this afghan may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Needlework Department of this paper, specifying design #5072.

By W. L. S.

It's kind of a stock phrase used each year, that the Brodhead Fair will be "Bigger and Better". The directors of this fine fair are not satisfied with getting on a good fair, but each year they try to surpass their previous effort. By working hard these men behind the fair have always delivered the goods. Rockcastle county is a big enterprise and seven thousand people eat, sleep and make their living within its borders. Haggert, how many of you are out hustling to make the county "bigger and better"? Very, very few. Whenever, a big proposition comes along that would mean loss of business, a few of the more enterprising men manage to get out and put the deal over. After the "big deal" is finished, interest lags, and the county is left to shift for itself.

With such an attitude it is no wonder that the Rockcastle county is not as long as such an attitude exists it will continue to be poor. True, a few men, manage to get rich, but they are among the minority.

Richness of a county is not determined by a handful of citizens, but by the majority. Raise the gross income of the county by one hundred dollars per citizen and see what happens to business. It can be done, but it takes directors, who have an interest in the business. Recently the city of Paris put on a drive to raise funds for a factory, and 118 men subscribed $25 a year for ten years to put the project over. If fifty men in Mt. Vernon would really get interested in their town and county, nothing could stop our progress. The Commercial Club meets every Tuesday night and is a live organization. Average attendance about twelve, and come up every night and count the "business men". The Rotary Club is growing, and supports a community project. Drop in some Thursdays and count the active business men. At the present time, the professional men, such as doctors, dentists and school teachers are keeping the town alive. These men know that unless some form of organization is kept going the town will eventually shrivel up and perish.

In a short time the link connecting Highway 25 with 150 will be built, and nobody knows whether it will be constructed through Mt. Vernon. In fact, many of us are of the opinion that it will not be built through here. This road means thousands of dollars each year to business men, and still very few show any interest. As we have warned many times it will be too late to "holter thier" after the horse has been stolen. We understand the survey on this road will be made in a few weeks, and the contract let soon after the first of the year. NOW is the time for ACTION, and that time is short.

Game & Fish News

Frankfort, Kentucky

By James J. Gilpin

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 13. Any person who hunts crows, groundhogs or any other kind of wildlife, either protected by law or on the unprotected list, must possess a Kentucky hunting license to do so, according to an opinion handed down recently to Frank Phillips, Superintendent of Warden for the Division of Game and Fish, by Jesse K. Lewis, Asst. Attorney General.

Phillips requested an opinion from the Attorney General's office as to whether or not a person has to possess a Kentucky hunting license who do crow or ground hog hunting. "As you know, there is an open season on both of these species," he wrote around. Phillips stated in his written request to the Attorney General's office, "And I would like to have an opinion from your office as to whether or not these hunters must have a license."

The opinion stated that the question was covered by section 1854-d Carroll's Kentucky Statutes, Baldwin's 1839 Supplement. This section reads in parts as follows:

"No person sixteen years of age or older shall take wild animals or trap for taking the same, or use a gun or take wild birds, or take fish by angling or buy the pelts of wild animals for commercial purposes without first having secured a license therefor as herein provided. And no person under sixteen years of age shall take wild animals, except by trapping or buy the pelts of wild animals for commercial purposes, or take wild birds without having first procured a license therefor as herein provided."

Under section 1954-d-2 of the same Statutes, subsection (d) provide "Take" means hunt, kill or capture or attempt to hunt, kill or capture (2) Add Opinion on Hunting Crow and Groundhog.

"Therefore," Lewis concluded "even though there is an open season on crows and groundhogs, whereby they may be killed at any time during the year, the persons killing them must still have a license, subject to the exemptions cited in the laws—that land owners and their resident children and lessees may, without license take fish by angling from the waters therein and wild animals and wild birds therefrom."

"Therefore," Lewis concluded, "even though there is an open season on crows and groundhogs, whereby they may be killed at any time during the year, the persons killing them must still have a license, subject to the exemptions cited in the laws—that land owners and their resident children and lessees may, without license take fish by angling from the waters therein and wild animals and wild birds therefrom."

"Such being the law, as we interpret it, persons caught without a license cannot have the excuse that they are hunting crows and groundhogs. If there was such a loophole as this in the law, all persons hunting with a gun would merely say they were hunting crows and groundhogs, and the Game and Fish law would be nullified and continuously violated."

Phillips stated that this opinion would help a considerable bit in keeping down the violations committed by those persons who in the past claimed they were crow or groundhog hunting when approached by the Conservation Officer in the field.

Conservation Handbook Off The Press

The Handbook on Conservation for teachers is off the press and is now being placed in the schools of Kentucky—four teachers schools, and up by J. W. Brooker, Superintendent of Public Instruction and one, two, and three-teacher schools by the League of Kentucky Sportsmen, according to a statement issued today by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish.

The book, containing 275 pages of reading and illustrations, is creating quite a bit of favorable comment from those persons who have seen it and many requests are coming in to the offices of the Division here for copies of the book.

The book was prepared by James J. Gilpin, Public Relations Representative of the Division, and was financed and distributed through the operation of the Division of Game and Fish, the League of Kentucky Sportsmen and the Department of Education.

Wildlife Movie Films Ready For Showing

Two color movie films dealing with the conservation of the wildlife resources of Kentucky have just been completed and are now ready for showing before Game and Fish club meetings, in the schools and before meetings of civic groups, according to a statement issued today by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish.

One film in color has sequences on squirrel feeding and birds eating out in the wild and quail feeding and nesting; the "killer" during the nesting period; Mr. and Mrs. Ad Tupperwein displaying their ability with rifle and shotgun birds until they become old enough to leave. The other color film contains sequences on winter feeding of wildlife, the Red Fox; Wild Ducks; scenes in Pike, Harlan, Letcher and Bell counties and at Cumberland Falls; and the Bob White quail, from egg to adult, made at the Division's quail hatchery located near Ashland, Ky.

These films are handled by James J. Gilpin, Public Relations Representative for the Division who delivers a lecture along with the show. Wakefield stated that there is no charge of any sort for these film showings. He also pointed out that the film could not be loaned to any one but that Gilpin made the shows possible and that no one should be contracted with him. Requests should be made as soon as possible so as to avoid any conflict in dates.

Pvt. Ballinger Writes From Carolina

Well here I go again giving my honest opinion about the army here in North Carolina. I left Ft. Eustis, Va. Saturday, October 17th. Came down here and got a surprise, though the sand and mesquitos was bad but it was a good place at that. Have more to eat here and the improvements are so much better it was like getting out of jail but was close to town here. Here it is thirty two miles to the closest town and they say it isn't very big so guess there isn't any use going there. We have over 22,000 boys here in camp now. Hope they transfer me back to the north where the mesquitos aren't. Here they awoke me the first night I was here having prayer meeting on my bed. They were so big I thought it was peafowl playing on my bed. At first I was scared but when I saw what they were I only covered up my head to keep from being hit. Guess we will be on maneuvers pretty soon and I hope we go to where it is cooler but take army life all the way around it isn't so bad. You see boys you never would of seen in civilian life so when you get out and start traveling you will know boys from New York to Chicago, and every place else, but I'll take my old home state for here I can see the hills and get the good old blossom bloom smell. It's better than the Atlantic Ocean breeze. It is so damp here the mess grows on trees, looks like fox tails, makes the tall fives look pretty and makes a good shade when you get a chance to go to it. If I can get a letter once in while I guess I can put up with it nine months more and get by very well but take me back to Kentucky where they have pretty girls and fast horses and I'll die happy.

Tobacco Grading and Marketing
Mr. J. F. Hart, Supervisor of Government inspection and grading of tobacco, and Mr. W. S. Covert, inspector and grader, spent last week with the County Agent in showing the farmers how to grade and handle their tobacco to get the most money under the marketing system. This year which calls for Government grading and inspection. Eight grading demonstrations were put on in eight different communities which was attended by 200 people. At each meeting Government grading and inspection of tobacco was discussed as well as showing farmers how to grade their tobacco.

Much of the tobacco was found to weigh from three fourths to a pound per stick. D. G. Bullock, Mt. Vernon, seems to have won some recognition in that he produced 2700 sticks which weighed over nine-tenths of a pound per stick from one and one-tenth acre of land. Mr. Covert remarked at the demonstration that he could not find any tips.

Mr. Bullock turned under a crop of barley, applied 40 tons of cow manure, disked thoroughly, applied 1,000 pounds of 20-per cent phosphate with wheat drill, disked again and set 17,000 plants on the one and one-tenth acre and added 500 pounds of 4-8-8 fertilizer in the row. This tobacco was not affected by the wet or dry weather. This is not mentioned as an ideal way or that all farmers should follow this practice but this shows the effect of manure and fertilizer on tobacco.

Major J. H. Washburn, Berea, used similar method except that he used 1400 pounds of 4-8-8 fertilizer in the row and did not use quite as much manure. He will make between 2000 and 1800 pounds of tobacco per acre.

These demonstrations were conducted at Big Hill, Berea, Disputanta, Brush Creek, Mt. Vernon, Blue Springs, Brodhead and Quail.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

The Secretary of Agriculture, Claude R. Wickard, at Washington, D. C. has recently announced that the farmers of the United States must increase the dairy, poultry, hog, vegetable and beef products as well as a number of other farm commodities for National Defense. Last week 14 counties, represented by 50 Government representatives met at Somerset and heard the announcement of increases to be made for this section of the state meet the demands brought on by war.

Rockcastle county must increase its milk production 16 per cent for 1942. This means 224,000 gallons of milk more than our cows produced last year. We must increase our eggs 19 per cent which means we must produce 160,000 dozens more eggs for 1942. This also means that we must prepare to raise more baby chicks next spring. We must increase our spring pigs 22 per cent and our cattle and calves marketed, 7 per cent. We must increase our vegetable growing 30 per cent. This means that our gardens must be a third better for 1942 than we had for 1941. The vegetable increase is requested especially for building healthier and stronger citizens which is absolutely necessary in National Defense in the time of peace as well as war.

A meeting of the County National Defense Committee was held at Mt. Vernon, in the County Agent's Office, Wednesday, October 29, to discuss the ways and means and make plans for carrying out such increases for 1942. Community meetings to inform the farmers of the increase of food products for the coming year will be held in the various communities and neighborhoods throughout the county. The County Agent is now working out a schedule of meetings which will be announced later.

MORE DRAINAGE

Our past drainage work has demonstrated beyond a doubt that it pays to drain wet land. Many of our farmers in Rockcastle and Southern Madison can testify by past experience of what can be produced on land when tiled.

J. H. Bowman, Albert Miracle and Hiram Thacker of Conway community and Howard Linville and J. H. Wolfe of Disputanta community, have just recently had drainage systems' laid out by our Agriculture Engineer, Earl G. Welch, from the State College of Agriculture, Lexington.

Drain, lime and phosphate if you want to reclaim your wet land.

POULTRY IMPROVEMENT

Mrs. Cecil Kinney, Quail, and Mrs. Blaine McKinney, Williams, have done a good job of raising large flocks of birds and now getting ready for an increase in winter egg production. Poultry culling demonstrations, by the County Agent, were put on at Mrs. Gentry's, and Mrs. McKinney's last week. Mrs. Gentry has 280 birds and Mrs. McKinney 300. Both will keep records this year.

Information on Feeding for Egg Production can be had by writing County Agent, Robt. F. Spence, Mt. Vernon of Berea.

Knox county farmers have called for 18,000 pounds of vetch, far in excess of the immediately available supply.

Youth Administration For Kentucky

During the past three months 1,133 youth employed on National Youth Administration work projects have obtained jobs in private industry, according to Robert K. Salyers, State Youth Administrator. This figure, he pointed out, is based on NYA release documents and includes only those youth who told their supervisors where they found employment. During the same period an additional 2,000 left NYA without stating whether they had found permanent work. It is safe to assume, Mr. Salyers said, that many of these youth also found private employment. Mr. Salyers also reported that, since January of this year, 292 young men have left NYA for military service. About half of them volunteered.

Of those who are known to have obtained jobs in industry approximately 100 are employed as skilled or semi-skilled workers, in eastern defense plants. Their starting pay ranges up to 76c an hour. These youth were transferred from Kentucky NYA projects to NYA projects in Hartford, Connecticut, and Verona, New Jersey, where the State Employment Service placed them in jobs. Before transferred they worked in NYA defense shops, gaining experience in machine shop, welding, sheet metal or radio.

Of the 443 girls who obtained jobs during the past three months, nearly half are working as power sewing machine operators in plants making clothing for the army.

At present, the National Youth Administration in Kentucky is providing work experience for nearly 8,000 unemployed, out-of-school young men and women between the ages of 17 and 24. Approximately 18,000 other eligible youth have applied for NYA work experience. They will be assigned to work as youth now on the program get jobs or leave NYA for other reasons.

This large waiting list is the fact that the vast majority of employment opportunities today are in urban areas while Kentucky is mainly rural.

EMERGENCY SHELF

No trouble to whisk together and many's the time they save the day!

Baked Salmon Roll with Mushroom Sauce is put together from emergency shelf supplies.

A FRIEND of mine keeps menus for a quick luncheon or supper and several simple dinners posted on the inside of her kitchen cabinet door. These meals can be put together from the canned soups, canned meats and fish, prepared biscuit and cake mixes and canned fruits on her shelf.

She says her little plan has, on occasion, saved her no end of trouble—and it does seem to make sense. And there's really almost no limit to the dishes that can be whisked together from canned and packaged foods. This baked salmon roll with mushroom sauce is a good example.

The biscuit, made from biscuit mix, is light and delicate. Canned salmon is used for filling, and condensed cream of mushroom soup is the base for the delicious sauce.

Baked Salmon Roll with Mushroom Sauce
2 cups prepared biscuit mix
1/2 cup milk
1 can (16 oz.) salmon
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup pepper
Stir milk into biscuit mix until a smooth but not sticky dough is formed. Turn out on floured board and fold over 2 to 3 times. Roll out dough in a piece about 24x12 inches. Combine flaked salmon, lemon juice and seasonings. Spread this over the biscuit dough and roll loosely, lengthwise. If rolled too tightly the roll will split open on the top when baking. Place in a long pan or on a baking sheet and bake in a moderately hot oven, 225°, about 30-40 minutes. Glazed baked onions are good with this.

Mushroom Sauce
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 cup prepared onion soup
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Spicy Tomato Sauce
1 can condensed tomato soup
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 stick cinnamon (about 2 inches long)
Mix together and simmer for about 8 minutes to blend the flavor. Strain out cloves and stick cinnamon. Serve hot with the Pan-browned Corned Beef Hash.

Corned Beef Hash with Spicy Tomato Sauce
1 can (12 oz.) corned beef, chopped
1/2 pounds potatoes
1/2 cup onion, finely chopped
4 tablespoons butter or shortening
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Select potatoes about the same size and cook with the skins on in boiling, salted water 25-35 minutes or until tender. When cool, peel and cut or chop the potatoes in small dices (about 3/16 inch square).
Chop the corned beef or put it through the food chopper, using the medium blade. Cook the chopped onions with the butter or shortening until soft, but not browned; then mix the potatoes, chopped corned beef, onions salt and pepper together. Shape into individual oblong portions and brown on both sides in a hot, greased pan.

Spicy Tomato Sauce
1 can condensed tomato soup
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 stick cinnamon (about 2 inches long)
Mix together and simmer for about 8 minutes to blend the flavor. Strain out cloves and stick cinnamon. Serve hot with the Pan-browned Corned Beef Hash.

STARS IN THE SPOTLIGHT!

BY ETHEL VINE

William Powell, the silken detective, whose exploits have made the "Thin Man" series one of the most popular on the screen, is a versatile star.

While known chiefly for his suave and humorous portrayals as man-about-town, he has more recently for his super-detective, Nick Charles, his film repository includes heavies and comedians as well as straight roles.

In his latest picture, "Shadow of the Thin Man" he plays opposite Myrna Loy again and brings back Asta, the most famous wire-haired carrier on the screen. The supporting cast includes Henry O'Neill, Sam Levine, Donna Reed, Alan Baxter and Barry Nelson. W. S. Van Dyke directed the film.

His picture debut, it was in a detective story that Powell made his picture debut. He had just finished a long run on Broadway in the stage success "Spanish Love" when he encountered Albert Parker one evening at the Lambs Club. The director offered him a part in his new John Barrymore picture "Sherlock Holmes" and Powell accepted. He proved so good that he appeared in a number of screen hits including "The Bright Shawl," "Romola," "When Knighthood Was in Flower" and "Beau Geste."

Ushers in Kansas City
The actor who was born in Pittsburgh where he received his early education, later attended Central Union High School in Kansas City, when the family moved west. It was while he was in high school that he got his first modeling for the footlights. Appearing as Captain Jack Absolute in the stage production of "The Rivals," he decided then and there that acting was "his dish," but his parents wanted him to study law. So strongly did the footlights beckon him, however, that after graduation he got a job with the Telephone Company for $50 a month, instead of enrolling at Kansas University as he might have done, in order to save enough to go to New York and study at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts. During his evenings he worked at the Grand Opera House in Kansas City.

In the Movies Since 1920
In time, Young Powell had saved enough to go to New York to enter the Academy. At the end of the first term he was given a bit in a play called "The Neer Do Well," followed by "Within the Law" which ran in New York for two years. Subsequently he appeared with Lee DeLiastrin in "The Jungle Zebra" and later in "The King."

Since the early 20's Powell has been in the movies. His roles have run into the hundreds and he is one of the few silent stars who has maintained his public through the years. In fact, with his recent Thin Man series Powell fans have increased. A conscientious actor, he strives continually to improve his performance and perfect his technique.

Safetygrams

By Fred W. Braun
School men throughout the nation are making a splendid contribution to the safety movement. Every school, even the small country school is adding its bit to the safety education that children need.

The proper way to walk along public roads, the correct way to cross streets, and even the proper method of handling an automobile are topics of discussion and instruction. Many cities are getting the dual-control car for driving instruction, and high school students are receiving this type of training from police departments. This is practical instruction in safe driving and should be helpful in years to come.

The automobile driver, however, who has graduated from all of these instructions and feels he is the most nearly perfect driver on the road is the one who needs to be frequently reminded of safe driving habits. He should constantly apply the principles of good driving and set an example of courtesy and of careful driving.
