Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Many doctors like them to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the kidneys clean, constantly producing urine to filter out the waste products of the body. When the kidneys fail to function as they should, the result is a condition known as kidney disease. This may be caused by various factors, such as high blood pressure, diabetes, or other conditions. It is a serious condition and can lead to blindness, deafness, and other complications.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbances.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess potassium body waste.

all fenced off in four or five acre lots, sown in grass, clover, wheat, rye, etc., and were living in good and well painted frame houses, with good stables for their stock. They done their own work and each spoke well of the others.

The health of our country is another reason why I prefer living there; the great reason is, I think, it is not right for people to crave riches in this world, for if a man possessed the world it would do him no good in the world to come. We had better try to lay up treasures in Heaven, where moth nor rust doth not corrupt, where war, sin nor sorrow nor pain dwells but all one in Christ. I want you all to seek the Lord and obtain a pardon, and be prepared to meet me in Heaven, where we will part no more. I have a good hope when I leave this earth I will meet my two children, who have departed this life in Heaven.

If I could only know that my wife and the rest of my children and my friends were prepared to meet me there, I would be much happier than I am.

Children, above all things obey your mother, for she will give you good counsel. Rachel, try all you can to get your children to do right. Levi Pennington.

P. S.—I would say to you that there are a good many of our troops here. It is reported that the rebels are retreating before our men who left before we came here, and it is believed that the fighting is about done, as there are several propositions of peace. I am in command of the Company and will soon be commissioned as Captain. Col. Garrard is our General and Col. Rigel is the commander of our regiment. I have received but one letter from you since I left.

Facts and Stories

By Ralph Griffin

Readers are beginning to make occasional contributions to this column, which is as we would have it. We want this to be your medium of expression rather than our own. An interesting contribution will be used as time and space permit and credit given to the person who sends them in.

Eighty-one years ago our Government issued a call for volunteers to fight in our own private war between North and South. Thousands of men and boys answered to the summons, while other thousands failed to do so.

Levi Pennington was forty years old and a family man, but he was among the first to leave Jackson County for the Union side. He sailed for Camp Dick Robinson upon the 18th day of Aug. 1861. He became a First Lieutenant of Co. C, 7th Ky. Infantry and served his country such until Dec. 29, 1862. Upon that day he was killed in action at Vicksburg.

Three weeks before his death Levi wrote to his family for the last time and a copy of that grandson, Dr. M. T. H. York, says are as well as interesting at any time; it is doubly so now.

Did this man have a promotion? The one who awaited him? You may form your opinion as you read his letter.

Camp, Wolf River, near Memphis, Tenn. December 9th, 1862.

My Dear Wife and Children, and Father and Mother: I once more take the opportunity of writing you a few lines to let you know that I am well and have been in tolerable good health since I left you. The boys are all as well as common, except J. C. Turner, who has been very sick but is now recovering.

We have traveled a great deal since I left home. We traveled about one thousand miles on steam boats.

We have been in several states since I left you. We first went from Kentucky and Ohio, crossed the river and then thru Ohio, then 60 miles up the Kanawa River into Virginia, stayed there ten days, then got on boats and went down the river, passing the states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, and are now camped in the state of Tennessee.

I have seen a great deal of good land, but I have become satisfied, if I could be discharged from my camp, to spend the balance of my days in Jackson county, Ky. I will proceed to give my reasons for being satisfied to live in my own county as Jackson: In passing thru the state of Ohio I saw the happiest people I ever saw anywhere living in poorer land than there is in Jackson county. They had their farms

FEATURES IN THIS ISSUE

Let's Get In The Scrap!
America is in the biggest scrap in its history. That's why the national war scrap drive is being urged by you. To-day the Signal presents an interesting story on why scrap is so important. The writer, Robert W. McShane of the Western Newspaper Union, has prepared a three-column story on this big hunt for scrap. Don't fail to read it!

War Output Pressure
Local news on the U. S. is slowing down war production, so points out Baukhaus in our Washington Digest column today. A different angle on America as war is presented by the writer points a telling finger at the organized minorities.

Features For The Family
There's a feature in this paper followed each week by every member of the family. While it may be interested in one article, another provides reader interest for the next. That's why a comic section has been included for the children.

Tension Of False Leaders
Local news through the centuries the opposition to Christ and to Christian teaching has been practically unchanged, thus reminds Harold L. Livingston in the Signal's Sunday School lesson today. His subject, "Growing Tension With False Leaders" stresses the fact that the chief opposition came from those who professed to be religious leaders.

We'd Say Progressive
Local news and personals combined with interest-provoking features make the Signal a progressive paper. A family by family coverage speaks for itself. Ask your neighbor if he is a subscriber. We'll warrant he never misses an issue.

Duncan and Colyer were brothers-in-law. They were traveling together in Putaski County before going to Cincinnati.

Duncan, who told a coroner's jury Saturday that he was unable to explain the cause of the automobile accident in which Colyer was injured, said the two were returning from a trip to Tennessee. The defendant was held in county jail here with bond.

Colyer's body was found in the burned automobile Friday night after the blaze had demolished it. The body was taken to the morgue for recuers to get inside the car.

Baptist Church

By Rev. W. C. Younce
Inasmuch as there are always some people who are not as happy as they would like to be, we wish to quote Mr. George Mueller of Bristol, England, who sent a beautiful testimony as a message to the young people of the Christian Endeavor Convention.

"The joy of serving God increases with the multiplying years. I have never had more fun in my life than the work of the Master, than now, at the end of three score years and ten. The richest blessing will be discovered in the work of service."

Our church has a program which merits the consideration of those who are not enlisted in the Master's service. There are many of our people who can bear similar testimony to that of Mr. Mueller. "Come what with us and we will win the victory."

Appeals For 50 Cent Per Person In Stamp-Bond Drive

On Monday, April 13th, in the afternoon session of Circuit Court, the court room. This meeting was addressed by Judge Kennedy, Judge Soskowsky, and E. B. Denoy. They appealed to about 150 people present to be economical as possible and invest their money in Defense Bonds and Savings Stamps in order to get the amount of our goal by July 1st. To do this, it would require the purchase of Stamps to the extent of at least 50c for every individual of the county. This means that the ones that can buy Bonds of larger amounts and the ones that will buy smaller ones. It must be an average of 50c for each person in Rockcastle County.

The purchase of Bonds and Stamps is important, that without getting up this amount it might be the cause of the United States losing this war. This is so important.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall was with his family upon the week-end.

Mr. Sim Brown left Monday for Clarksville, Tenn, where he is employed in defense work.

As its principal project for the future the organization is trying to obtain play ground equipment for the school.

This year the P. T. A. has sponsored the school lunch room and has bought fruit jars for canning, cooking utensils and silverware and dish replacements.

May 1st has been appointed by President Bevelitt as Child Health Day. The Summer Round-Up Committee of P. T. A. is planning to assist in this work and it is hoped that many pre-school children as possible will be immunized then.

The sixty-two paid members of the P. T. A. feel that much has been accomplished during the past year and hope that many more will become members and help in the future.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned Casper Elder as Executor and Verma Lewis as Executrix of the estate of Mrs. Eva Eider, Jr., deceased, will on Monday the 20th day of April, 1942, file their final settlement with the Judge of the Rockcastle County Court, and will at said time move the court to be discharged as Executor and Executrix of said estate.

Long Expected Defeat on Bataan Cited as Heaviest Single Reverse; Labor Leaders Present Solid Front To Keep Production at High Peak

EDITOR'S NOTE:—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the author and not necessarily those of the newspaper. (Continued from page 1)

Chiefs of the A.F.L. and C.I.O., appearing together on a public platform for the first time since the split in labor ranks in 1936. William Green, left, president of the A.F.L., and Philip Murray, president of the C.I.O., are shown shaking hands, symbolizing the national labor unity which they hope to create.

BATAAN: The Curtains Fall

When the curtain of American defeat on Bataan fell, it was the heaviest reversal ever suffered by an American force in a single engagement with a foreign foe. News of the fall of Bataan was made blacker still when Secretary of War Stimson disclosed that 36,583 white defenders, exhausted by short rations, disease and lack of relief, were overwhelmed by a numerically superior enemy.

LABOR: United Front

The A.F.L. and C.I.O. leaders, at the first time since 1936, had gotten together on the same platform at Pittsburgh, had pledged themselves to an unselfish and complete war effort, and to produce all the things America needed for victory.

RUSSIANS: Air Victories

Claiming more than 400 German planes shot down on the east front in the period of a little more than a week, the Russians had given figures indicating that the Nazi spring drive in the air was well repulsed.

BURMA: No Side-Issue

More and more observers were inclined to believe the Burmese campaign of the Japanese to be a major one, and not just a side-issue with Australia the main target.

NEW DEAL: The White House

The New Deal, despite some opposition, has been able to carry on in the fields of taxation, profits and labor, was winning victories.

Nation's Pressure Groups Threat to War Production

Organized Minorities, Anxious to Maintain Hard-Won Advantages, Overlook Importance of All-American Front

By BAUKHAGE News Analyst and Commentator

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. The United States is having a time of it trying to do its share in a war where the guardians of every one of the United Nations' many fronts think theirs is the most important one.

Thirst Versus Sweet Tooth

America's alcoholic thirst is about to suffer in order to satisfy America's sweet tooth. And 50,000,000 bushels of grain will be going to find a market most of which will go in smoke.

Big Business, which nobody could call the spoiled child, of the New Deal, probably has quite as much influence as Citizen John Q. Public.

Peanut to You

What do they mean to you? Something in the monkey in the hat (an elephant in the circus)? Or perhaps your daily bread, or merely your peanut butter.

British Farmers Increase Yield

When the war broke in earnest about the British Isles a terrific challenge faced the British farmer.

More than 4800,000 bushels of farm commodities were sold in the week ending March 15, 1942, and March 15, 1942, largely as supplies available for shipment to the United Nations.

GROWING TENSION WITH FALSE LEADERS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 11:37-46, 52-54. GOLDEN TEXT—He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth.—Luke 11:23.

Opposition to Christ and to Christian teaching has come down through the centuries practically unchanged. Hence, we find in Christ's dealings with the enemies of His teaching the same principles which are to be done in our time.

It is sad to note that the chief opposition came from those who professed to be religious leaders. It is expected that from the world, the flesh, and the devil should fight God's truth, but one might expect better of the men who profess His name.

I. Hypocrisy Unmasked (vv. 37-41). The Pharisees professed great interest in the observance of religious laws, but their concern was for the outward appearance, while God judges the heart.

U. S. Requests Citizens' Aid In Scrap Hunt

Nation Searches Junk Piles For Vital War Needs.

By ROBERT W. McSHANE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Help win the war by getting in the scrap!

With this plea, Uncle Sam is enlisting the aid of every man, woman and child in the nation's war effort.

This new battle cry isn't a call to arms. Rather, it's an urgent plea to salvage every available scrap of metal, paper, old rags and rubber. That old stove in your basement, the rusty, ancient binder near the machine shed, the jumble of papers in the attic—all can be used to defeat the Axis.

In fact, almost every unused item on pieces of equipment around the home or farm can be used with telling effect in the war against the totalitarian powers.

With the launching of the salvage program, officials of the War Production board and representatives of industry groups are making a critical shortage of scrap metal now available in the United States.

Salvage for Victory. "Under normal conditions," a WPB representative pointed out, "the steel industry, for instance, depends upon scrap for approximately one-third of its supply of raw material."

With the vast expansion of our armament program, including the aid that the nation is sending to Britain, Russia and China, it is obvious that the salvaging of metals heretofore wasted or discarded must be augmented to a tremendous degree.

In frequent instances recently, steel mills have been threatened with shut down for lack of scrap.

As this is being written, one of the nation's largest steel mills reported only enough scrap metal on hand for two days production. This is less than one-tenth of the company's normal supply.

The importance of general salvage is emphasized by the bureau of industrial conservation, officials of which point out that the success of the "Salvage for Victory" program will have a profound bearing on the outcome of the war.

According to bureau figures, waste materials have supplied 50 per cent of the raw materials for the steel industry, from 20 to 25 per cent for the manufacturers of aluminum and a large proportion for many other essential materials.

Guns Versus Automobiles. For every automobile that isn't manufactured in 1942, we will have saved enough zinc and copper to make brass for 1,400 cartridge cases for 30 caliber ammunition; enough nickel to make 100 pounds of nickel steel for armor plate, projectiles, and armor plating bullets; enough tin to coat 1,000 cans in which we need for our soldiers and sailors.

This is only a small part of the critical material which has been made available to war industry through the stoppage of automobile production.

Disposal of old papers, in a manner both patriotic and profitable, is made easy through the use of housewife's paper baler. The baler, which holds 25 pounds, is equipped with a spool for cord and a razor blade holder.

Scrappy Party Ends With Row

Patriotic duty was mixed with pleasure recently when Mr. and Mrs. William Coburn gave a party at their home in Boston, Mass. Party invitations requested each person to bring at least 25 pounds of scrap. Mr. Coburn views the potential gains contributed by the guests while Mrs. Coburn tries out a new machine donated by Gov. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

Government figures disclose that there is an enormous pile of scrap iron and steel in the six million farms throughout the nation. The estimates run from 1 1/2 million tons to 3 1/2 million tons—more than enough, when combined with other materials, to build twice as many ships as there are in all the navies of the world today.

The British ministry of supply estimates that one ton of waste paper makes possible the production of 1,500 shell containers, 47,000 boxes for 30 caliber ammunition, 71,000 dust covers for airplane engines or 50,000 practice targets. Only 26 per cent of the nation's paper is now recovered.

Leon Henderson, price administrator, has estimated that defense needs will require 50 per cent more waste paper in 1942 than was used in 1941. A large share of this must come from family units.

Sixteen per cent of the 882,000 tons of rubber which the U. S. will use in 1942 must come from rubber reclaimed from old tires and other used rubber goods. To get this 141,420 tons of reclaimed rubber, wheelbarrows will need all the old tires and tubes, boots, shoes and garden hose the public can contribute.

Immediate Action Needed. Even the lowly rag plays an important role in wartime. Every woman knows how necessary cleaning rags are to her domestic life. A large share of this must come from family units. Sixteen per cent of the 882,000 tons of rubber which the U. S. will use in 1942 must come from rubber reclaimed from old tires and other used rubber goods.

What can you do to help in the nation's salvage for victory program? The answer lies in direct, immediate action. The scrap material lying about the home, around your farm and around your business place must be uncovered and turned over to war production. It must be done immediately.

Local salvage committees are being formed in every community throughout the nation. These committees will furnish complete lists of needed scrap materials to every interested person.

Farms Are Best Source. Farms, the greatest single source of scrap material in the general salvage program, are expected to furnish thousands of tons of scrap metal in the form of obsolete machinery and tools, junked automobiles, old logging chains, wire fencing, old tires and tubes, obsolete motors and motor parts, wheelbarrows, rusted gears and the thousand and one things which find their way to the scrap heaps on almost every farm in the nation.

State salvage committees have recommended that every citizen sell their own scrap to the nearest salvage depot have merely to haul the closest salvage committee (or the nearest agent) and arrangements will be made to dispose of the material.

State salvage committees have recommended that every citizen sell their own scrap to the nearest salvage depot have merely to haul the closest salvage committee (or the nearest agent) and arrangements will be made to dispose of the material.

Winning the War With Waste. Enough steel and rubber go into a single 27-ton medium tank to make 24 automobiles. The steel in the hull of a heavy cruiser totals 6,638 tons. In a 35,000-ton battleship, 15,000 tons are needed. The shells turned out by army ordnance plants are packed in 30,000 tons of paper board each month.

INJECTION TREATMENTS

During the last war, the only way a recruit with hernia or rupture was accepted for any form of service was to be willing to undergo surgical operation.

Another advance during the past few years is in the treatment of severe pain by the use of injections into the nerves and roots of nerves supplying the painful part.

Alcohol Injections Successful. Dr. E. A. Rovagosta and H. M. Wertheim, New York, in the Journal of the American Medical Association report their success at the New York university college of medicine in the treatment of inoperable pain by injections of procaine and alcohol.

Another distressing pain is that suffered by cancer which has made it necessary for physicians to prescribe opium and other pain killing drugs.

Conditions other than pain, such as excessive perspiration, phlebitis (inflammation of veins) were also reported successfully treated by these nerve blocking injections.

For Eye Strain See Your Doctor. Some months ago I attended a symposium (a number of short speeches) on headache.

As eye strain has always been considered one of the most frequent causes of headache, I was surprised when four speakers and the eye specialists in the assembly said little or nothing about headache as an eye condition.

Fortunately eye strain as a cause of headache came up amid the questions and answers and the chairman and others admitted that while there seemed to be a headache due to eye strain about an inch above the eyes, at the back of the head, nevertheless it was not an eye condition and could be due to other conditions besides eye strain or other changes of the eye.

What, then, are the signs and symptoms of eye strain or eye defects? Persistent pain in the eyes themselves, persistent flow of tears, dimness or blurring of vision, inflammation of the eyes and lids, itching or swelling of the lids, are the usual symptoms.

MEN OF WAR

General Electric men and women—thousands of them! Four typical scenes show the spirit with which they are tackling the grim job of producing for war!

- Thousands of employees, only ten days after war declaration, gathered in mass meetings to pledge all-out war effort!
- Almost 85 per cent of all General Electric employees signed up to buy U.S. Defense Savings Bonds totalling more than $20,000,000 a year!
- A sign chalked by a G-E workman on a big machine being built for war. The sign carried this challenge to fellow workers: "Remember Wake Island!"
- And day and night—around the clock—G-E workmen keep steadily at the most important job of building weapons and supplies for U.S. fighting men!

General Electric believes that its first duty as a good citizen is to be a good soldier.

New High in Ship Production

Bethlehem ship production this year will represent the greatest all-round shipbuilding output by any company in the history of the country.

Speed, speed and more speed is the constant objective; and always speed with quality, for a jerry-built ship is virtually useless in the grim tasks of maritime war.

The first Liberty ship which recently discharged supplies at a Red Sea port was built in a yard that was virtually non-existent a year ago. A tanker was delivered in 100 days from laying of keel. A battleship will be delivered 14 months ahead of schedule.

Cargo ships are being built in less than one-half the time required in the first World War. Comparable speeding up has been achieved on other types of ships and the schedule is being constantly stepped-up.

Expanding old yards, building new ones, tripling employment in a year's time, training thousands of new men, putting every effective facility to use, adopting pre-assembly and mass production methods—all these spell tonnage and more tonnage, a steadily-mounting output of ships from Bethlehem yards.

All hands are doing their utmost for Victory, working to achieve the maximum for the U.S. Navy and the U.S. Maritime Commission, so that the "bridge of ships" shall be maintained and steadily enlarged.

DEEPWATER ISLAND

by ALAN LEMAY

INSTALLMENT FIFTEEN

THE STORY SO FAR: Karen Waterman, who has come to Honolulu to claim to the island estate of Alaska, learns that she is not an heiress at all as her grandfather, Gerrit Waterman, is still alive and on his way to the island. She and Tonga Dick of Richard Wayne, a member of the Wayne family which has been in control of the property since her grandfather's disappearance, and Dr. Shimazu who they travel over Karen's claim to the island. Karen and her lawyer, John St. Louis, sail in love with their heads to leave Alaska. But when Dick's captain, Ramsey, asks for a man pilot them through the dangerous reefs in Alaska's harbor, Dick refuses him.

Now continue with the story.

"By God, then," Ramsey jabbered, "I'll pilot her out myself! I'll run your damn channel! I'll run your damn channel!"

"You won't pilot this," Dick told him. "The title has changed on you, Ramsey; you'll never find the way without someone to tell you where you are. Go ahead and pile up your bones when you go down. I'll take your people off. But the Seal will get out of this bay tonight."

"So that's the way the wind sets, 'Well, I guess that's the worst of all this thing, as—"

And there was no doubt about the fuel being gone. A faint surprise showed in the eyes of Dr. Shimazu as he perceived that Garrett Waterman's seal was still definitely alive. Little by little the body structure of the frame itself now remained to show what Garrett Waterman had been. First inspection found no sign of life in the face, or in the big skeletonized form under the blanket.

After a minute, though, they saw the gleam of the living eyes. In Garrett Waterman's eyes still lived the embuffed flame which had driven this man always to wild, extravagant, and uncompromising things.

Garrett Waterman spoke huskily to Tonga Dick. "You're a knockout, you little squirt, you are," he said. "What's the idea?"

Perhaps no one else in the warm seas had ever been able to dominate Tonga Dick as Garrett Waterman could. But Shimazu was amazed to hear Dick speak hesitatingly.

"Well," Dick said, without much effect, "I thought I ought to come back here."

Garrett Waterman's voice roared hollowly. "What the hell else should we do with this old man? Do you want to go with our own fast ship?"

"Didn't I say you meant to come?" This time the effect was galvanic. The old man's form, which had seemed dead whipped up on one elbow with a dreadful, inappropriate energy. Garrett Waterman's voice came like the ghostly shell of a rooster that once would have blown a mainmast down.

"Who, me, you, insufferable pup to say what we are going to do?"

As Garrett Waterman raised himself, Shimazu made a quick, instinctive movement if he wished never stop an effort which obviously was more than that ancient and wasted frame could stand. But Dick waved Shimazu with a gesture so casual that it carried an implication of utter finality. He knew, if Shimazu did not, that only one thing would ever stop Garrett Waterman from an unwisdom whatever.

"Damn your sassiness," Garrett Waterman said in a diminished voice. He eased himself back until he lay as lifeless as before. "And damn you," he added.

"Okay," Dick said. "Damn me, what then?"

"What is this girl?" Waterman demanded.

"Well," Dick began, "the fact is—"

"What's she like?" Garrett hurried him.

"Well," Dick began again, "she weighs about one hundred and twenty pounds, with kind of blue eyes, and—"

"Blonde and sallow," Garrett Waterman said on yet.

The outfit went like the old times, and the silence that followed gave Dick time to consider. He supposed that Garrett Waterman was assigning to Karen the attributes he had chosen to recognize in the family into which his son had married. Or, perhaps, the old man's resentment had been inspired by something even more unhappy than that.

"No," Dick said. "She isn't like that. There isn't anything like about her at all."

Garrett Waterman rolled questioning eyes upon Dick and waited.

"She has blue eyes, like I said but she has black hair; and she's the color of a gardenia, and she doesn't ever tan at all. There's no preaching about her—for all I know, there isn't even any morality. And she's more alive than anything you ever saw on yet."

"There was a silence again. "So that's the way the wind sets," Garrett Waterman said at last. "Well, I guess that's the worst of all."

"Doesn't anything ever please you?"

"From what you say," Garrett Waterman said, "the girl takes after me. What worse luck could you have than that, I'd like to know?"

"So that's the way the wind sets," Garrett Waterman said at last. "Well, I guess that's the worst of all this thing, as—"
